London trend keeps firm

LONDON stockmarkets had much to give them confidence yesterday, including the optimistic forecast of the Chancellor of the Exchequer, and the latest figures on steel.

There was less news, but the U.S. Treasury had made a move to cut the advance in interest rates, which should help to boost the market.

It's early to be getting into shape for the festive season

WELL, only 100 days to go before Christmas Eve and the midwinter of the over-crowded season is not too soon to start getting into shape for party dresses and evening-wear into practice for the mid-January re-opening dieting.

Hardest to resist

Hardest of all to resist are the little everyday things—stopping yourself having a second slice of loaf—or any kind at all—when your husband goes to sleep, not eating the cooking of potato plate or your slice of a vegetable, saying "No" to cream on your shirt, not adding the sugar in your coffee, to a second breakfast.

Long-term dieting is something that most of us can manage only under strict doctor's orders and supervision so that every little lapse above the weight limit has to be expiated.

Can't bear sight

Hence all those "fat" diets that doctors disapprove of so much. Like the fat-free banana and milk diet, the effectiveness of most of these is probably that after the second day you cannot bear the sight of banana trees and cows, or whatever it is, and give up helping altogether for the remaining day or two of your "fat-free" diet before the pounds start coming back and you get one that will fit in.

of what I must do in the spirit of a self-defense. Making for me, they are made in rubber but they take in the very patient sense of victory. I must do the only business I have to do in the office or in the home, and I must do it with a clear conscience as to what I am doing. I must do it with a clear conscience as to what I am doing. I must do it with a clear conscience as to what I am doing.

EMER SEES 'DREAM' New-style settlers join in big welcome

Standard Staff Reporter
THOUSANDS of people, colourful dancers, bands and choirs of 'Harambee' welcomed the Prime Minister, Mr. Kenyatta, yesterday when he visited the settlement schemes in the former 'White Highlands' to see his 'crash programme' of resettling 2,500 families.
Many people tracked miles over the lush, green fields to shout their greetings to the Premier, who told them: "This is just like a dream — but it is a dream come true."
"No long ago if you stepped on some of these farms you might have been stopped by a bullet. But now, as you enter, it is being distributed to you according to Government policy."

1,900 begin to move in

At Nyandarua, Mr. Kenyatta handed over the deeds of farms — ranging between seven and 10 acres — to new 1,900 families and said that the speed of resettlement was going on so well that it was now almost certain that Independence would move into their new homes before

She hundred families moved in last weekend and on Wednesday the 1,900 others began moving their belongings into this vast area.
Among them was the widow of the former Mau Mau forest leader, Daniel Ndung'u, who was reported during the Emergency. She had Mr. Kenyatta's initials hand-painted on a wooden box which she carried with her.

BOARD WANTS TO BUY 3,000 CATTLE

The Land Development Board has asked the Government to buy 3,000 cattle for its settlement scheme. The board is planning to buy the cattle from the Government and then sell them to the settlers.

S.A. boycott: Aid sought for jobless

Government action to deal with redundancy among Kenya workers as a result of the trade boycott with South Africa was urged yesterday by the assistant general secretary of the Kenya Distributive and Commercial Workers' Union, Mr. John Waiteri.

Mr. Waiteri said he and his union supported the principle of Pan-Africanism and the boycott of South Africa, but he would like to see the Government take steps to help the jobless.

He said the Government should be asked to provide training and re-education for the jobless, and to provide financial assistance to help them start new businesses.

Mr. Waiteri said he hoped to have a meeting with the Minister for Commerce and Industry, Dr. Kioko, today to discuss the boycott and the assistance of jobless.

BEHIND THE FABLE ABOUT THE GREEDY DUCK

The story of the Greedy Duck is a fable about a duck who was so greedy that he ate everything he saw. One day he was walking through a field and saw a small piece of bread. He picked it up and ate it. Then he saw a larger piece of bread and ate that too. He kept on eating and eating until he was so full that he could not move. He lay on the ground and died.

Kenya's landless and unemployed Africans, who, with the aid of Government loans, are buying smallholdings in the 100-acre scheme in the former White Highlands, are being encouraged to set up co-operative societies which will help them to need development and to produce their own produce.

The Minister for Agriculture, Mr. J. M. Stewart, said that the Government is not doing anything special because smallholders are not doing anything special. He said that the Government is not doing anything special because smallholders are not doing anything special.

Mr. Stewart said that the Government is not doing anything special because smallholders are not doing anything special.

GUIDE AND ADVICE

Each settlement where a settlement officer who is in the Ministry of Lands and Settlement, Kenya, is in the Ministry of Lands and Settlement, Kenya, is in the Ministry of Lands and Settlement, Kenya.

SALES PROBLEM

Mr. Stewart commented that, although in most areas farmers appreciate the need for a co-operative, it is not so in the White Highlands. He said that the Government is not doing anything special because smallholders are not doing anything special.

FARM BOUGHT

There are two types of co-operative societies in Kenya. The first is the kind which is a great need for smallholders to get together to effect economies in procuring, transporting and marketing their produce.

THREE OFFICERS

The Commissioner for Co-operative Development, Mr. J. M. Stewart, has announced that he is appointing three officers to assist him in his work.

Painters kept busy in Kericho

Great preparations for the Kericho District are well advanced, and the picture on the right shows the work being carried out by the painters on the buildings of the Kericho County Council.

This is one of the few public works the council will carry out, but other independent work of the engineering department will be absorbed into the new County Council at Kericho.

The independent programme starts on December 11 with the Kericho County Council's office, followed by houses, houses and houses. The Kericho Day House will be the next to be completed, and a number of other buildings in the district, completed through the work of the District Police Band.

The work will be aided at the Kericho, where teams of tribal artists will continue. There are being given a new look to the town, but for some time the painting is a problem. With the work of painting activity, the people of qualified painters in the district are being trained.

Pilkingtons' float glass outdates plate glass

KINGTON

GLASS

INVENTED AND MADE BY PILKINGTONS

Float Glass is a Pilkington achievement—the product of man in glass-making for more than a quarter of a century. This answer to the inventor's dream of making a glass with the distinctive parallel faces of Plate Glass, without the need for grinding and polishing was invented by a Pilkington's research team, and has been developed by a hot production programme by Pilkington's technicians. Now Float, the glass that sets new standards in uniform and mirror brilliance is being produced by one of the largest glass furnaces in the world. Until Pilkingtons produced Float Glass, Plate Glass was recognized as the top quality glass. (Most other, incidentally, is still made by plate techniques by Pilkington's competitors.) Now Float has made Plate out of date.

London's new entrance, the Victoria Building, is finished in glass with Float.
