London, Nov. 10. — The United States has today announced that it will not be sending military advisers to the Congo. This decision, which was made after a long and difficult process, is expected to have a profound effect on the military operations in that country. The United States has been providing military advisers to the Congo since 1960, but this decision marks a significant change in its policy. The decision was announced by the State Department, and it is expected that it will have a major impact on the military operations in the Congo. ### Use of Private Rail Coaches

Several correspondents have written recently criticising the use of private coaches by Government officials at the expense of the public. These correspondents are in error. It is the views of the Railway Administration that the use of private coaches is a necessary and a desirable feature of the railway system.

The Railway Administration has a large private coach service. For technical reasons, and the absence of certain essential requirements, it is also necessary to use private coaches. These coaches are used for the transport of passengers in their present form. They are also used for the transport of passengers in their present form. They are also used for the transport of passengers in their present form.

WHY OUR DESERT AIR FORCE IS UNBEATABLE

(By Harry Zinder, Special Correspondent)

THE Middle East Air Force's main aim is to keep the desert air force in a state of readiness for any emergency. It is not a force that is built up for any particular purpose, but a force that is built up to meet any emergency that may arise.

One-branching tactics

The desert air force, we are told, is a force that is built up to meet any emergency that may arise. It is not a force that is built up for any particular purpose, but a force that is built up to meet any emergency that may arise.

A LETTER FROM LONDON.

Sir Edward Grigg On Future Of Colonial Empire

London, November 25. SIR EDWARD GRIGG, writing in The Observer, on the Colonial Empire points out that Mr. Winston Churchill's views on the future of the British Empire are in fact in line with those of the American people...

Looking disinterestedly to the future of the Empire, Sir Edward Grigg says we cannot afford to repeat the error in Rome of regarding the Empire as a mere collection of islands...

Through the years of our Empire there is general approval and admiration for the policy which has been strengthened. There is nothing surprising about this approval...

But what changes? Through the years of our Empire there is general approval and admiration for the policy which has been strengthened...

If you wish to obtain as high a yield per acre as possible and a McCormick-Deering Potato Planter is the best insurance that your seed will get the right start.

McCormick-Deering planters deposit the seed with an accuracy that is no practical except by machine methods. The difference in yield between a row of potatoes that is properly planted and one that is improperly planted often times pays the cost of the planter in a single season. Improper planting is an inexcusable waste of land, time, and seed.

We have a few planters still available. Better obtain yours today. Next week may be too late.

'Good equipment makes a good farmer better'

DEVELOPING NEW LAND: Part III.
BREAKING THE GRASS

(By L. A. ELMER, Asst. Agricultural Officer)

WHEN new land is to be broken, it will not be a waste of time for the farmer to stroll over the ground and estimate how the breaking should be done with reference to the nature of the field. An hour or two spent in this way may save many days of good toil in the years to come.

The direction in which the first furrow is to be ploughed is as a rule, new land can be ploughed in any direction. The second ploughing should be at right angles to the first where the width of the field or the slope permits.

Thus, the third and last ploughing will normally be done the same way as the first, which must therefore be across the general slope of the land, on a day or two.

It is risky to plough up and down hills on land which has even a gentle slope and it is to be cross-ploughed and cross-ploughed. A common feature is an old animal cattle track overgrown with grass. If there is a slight asperity in the track, it may do for a discharge drain for storm water when the terraces have been made and it should therefore be left and not touched with the plough.

There is a little doubt that in years to come few farmers will consider breaking land without first consulting the local Government Service, as to the way the land should be broken with reference to conserving the soil. If the new farmer has any doubts about what he is doing he will do well to write for advice before commencing work.

With these and similar thoughts in his mind, the farmer will now set to work. The first furrow should be a useful width for ox teams is 35 feet. The second furrow should be for the quick completion of the work, 20 feet wide. The third furrow will be of 10 to 15 yards narrow in order to save fuel and time in turning.

It is necessary to mark the land out in parallel strips to avoid having a rough odd piece which would otherwise be left. The average driver can handle quickly to a

DISTRICT FARMING NOTES

UMBAINGANI

Mr. Chapman had a very successful season throughout October, with rainfall of 10.5 inches. The temperature has not been high. Grass is very green and there is no danger of grass-disease near. There is a good deal of available labour for put on the construction of the new Government works. This work is of paramount importance to the district and all plantations and farm buildings in the district should be completed by the end of the year.

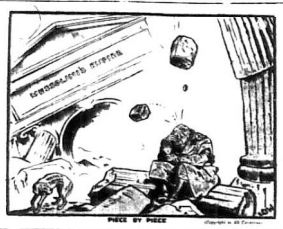

The Agricultural Production and Settlement Board is in the process of making a survey of the district and it is believed that one of the main objects of the Board is whether producers are getting the best out of their particular implements, spares, etc. The Board does not ask if any producers are being up in Kenya or produce to the maximum, the provision of finance at an equitable rate is a first necessity. The low price prevailing for crops in Kenya has been a big factor in the production of this crop. The price of getting only 5/7 1/2 per bush, a good deal of work will be available.

As yet no money people, both in Kenya and in England, are still to be seen. The money growers are getting a bag for their produce this year. This is however entirely erroneous, as the increased price does not come into effect 1944, though naturally in Southern Rhodesia are in fact receiving 2/- a bush for their produce. The price for a bush of 7/6. No wonder there is a growing feeling of optimism. The European-grown maize is not wanted in Kenya. The best increasing production. There are still large acreages

KENNEL NOTES

(By MARGARET DOLLERY)

A VERY nice piece of news has come from the other day. Mrs. Vider's "Wire Princess" had been run over by a motor car. The driver was very sorry and had her dog killed and taken by her veterinary. Mrs. Vider's dog was a very nice dog and had been bred from the best blood. She had been bred from the best blood and had been bred from the best blood. She had been bred from the best blood and had been bred from the best blood.

THE MAINTENANCE OF BROAD BASE TERRACES

It is a fact to think that once terraces have been properly made they can take care of themselves. All terraces must be ploughed well before the main rains, and extra steps made up. One or two rows should be specially treated to look after terraces and slopes, and to look out for damage after heavy rains. These boys should be kept at the work and farm roads.

CAUSES OF FAILURE.

- (1) Excessive water coming from outside the field.
- (2) Outlets of terraces blocked or not sufficiently wide.
- (3) Water from an upper terrace finding its way back on to a lower one from outside and banking up the outlet of the lower one.
- (4) Accumulation of soil brought down between terraces and blocking the channel.
- (5) Frosts or other implements passing from one part of the field to another cutting a hole in the terrace top.

PREVENTION.

- (1) The owner himself should make a careful search after heavy rains for signs of extraneous water.
- (2) Outlets must be at least 12 ft. wide and be given more slope than the actual terrace, the end being opened up to a drainage channel. Channels should be allowed to grass over but grass should be kept reasonably short. After first rains look for areas and make steps blocking the outlet.
- (3) Care the end of the terrace well out from the field and make sure the water cannot pile up on a lower terrace.
- (4) Grass must be taken in ploughing to see that a furrow is not left just below a terrace which will gather a lot of water and discharge it with enough volume to cause wash between the terraces.
- (5) This also applies to the open furrow which will occur if the terrace is always ploughed in one bearing.
- (6) Wherever possible, drivers should, in passing from one terrace to another, pass right outside in the grassland, and not over the terrace or outlet.

PLOUGHING TERRACES.

- (1) It is best to put a special plough on to this job and to do all the terraces of a field before the terraces are tacked.
- (2) A four-wheeled tractor plough should be used if possible, as it is less likely to slip sideways on the terrace. Plough the terrace about 30 ft. wide over all, throwing towards it. At every alternate ploughing the furrow between terraces should be ploughed in two halves so as to avoid making a large open furrow in the middle.
- (3) A one-way harrow plough makes a first-class job of finishing off the terrace and when made to throw uphill adds materially to the light furrow.
- (4) If the first ploughing is not sufficient to keep the terrace so, a terrace grader can be run over all terraces before the main job of ploughing is between started on. In this case, after grading, the terrace can be ploughed and the ploughing continued as ordinary.
- (5) The care even of any terrace breaking is essential to search for the cause right up to the top of the field and all repair work must start at the very top. It is useless merely to repair a breach with nothing up and dealing first with the cause of the breach.
- (6) Properly made terraces seldom break from the mere weight of rain falls on the soil itself. The causes are good. If ploughing terraces with seven, put a really good driver with the same team regularly on the job.

SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 23, 1943

BEEF SUPPLIES

For some time past it has been noted that the supply of beef in Kenya has been outstripped by the rapidly increasing demand. The Government has been unable to supply the market from Kenya sources and has had to import beef from other sources. The price of beef has risen to a level not seen since the war.

Poultry And Egg Prices

The present controlled prices of poultry, chickens, and eggs are being reviewed. The Government is considering a revision of the prices to reflect the current market conditions. The price of eggs has risen significantly due to the shortage of feed and the high cost of transport.

Under THE STANDARD CLOCK

Part 3 of 311 Public Works... The Government is continuing its efforts to improve the infrastructure of the country. The Standard Clock project is a key component of this program, aimed at providing reliable timekeeping services to the public.

Commonwealth Discusses Colonial Development

Colonial Development was discussed in detail at the resumed session of the Commonwealth Conference on the 22nd. The subject of special machinery should be set up to devise policy, he said, and with that in view, the conference should be organized on a permanent basis to deal with the problems of development in the colonies.

Mr. J. H. Williams, in his speech at Toronto, dealt on the need for a common purpose among the Colonies. The proposal is to set up a permanent machinery to deal with the problems of development in the colonies. The machinery should be organized on a permanent basis to deal with the problems of development in the colonies.

Earth Tremor

A slight earth tremor was felt in Nairobi at about 11.45 a.m. yesterday. The tremor was felt in the city and in the surrounding areas. The cause of the tremor is not yet known.

70,000 BOMBS ON ONE COUNTRY

The Ministry of Agriculture stated yesterday that farmers in England are being offered a subsidy of 50 per cent on the cost of fertilizers. This is a significant measure to support the agricultural sector during these difficult times.

Municipal Staff Salaries

The Nairobi Municipal Engineer has submitted a report on the salaries of municipal staff. The report indicates that the salaries are significantly below the market rate, which is causing a high level of dissatisfaction among the staff.

Emergency Cases

The Government has announced that it will provide financial assistance to emergency cases. This assistance is intended to help those who are in need of immediate relief due to the current economic conditions.

LABOUR PROBLEMS

During the recent period of labour unrest we refrained from any comment which might prejudice the negotiations for settlement. The Government has got round an agreement with the unions but no one will be deceived by the slogan of a present activity. If recent happenings are to provide any lesson we might just as well learn them now and not have again to be subjected to manipulations to meet the unexpected.

The settlement of labour disputes is, in the first aspect, a political problem. The Government has got round an agreement with the unions but no one will be deceived by the slogan of a present activity. If recent happenings are to provide any lesson we might just as well learn them now and not have again to be subjected to manipulations to meet the unexpected.

American Parachute Troop Landings in North Africa

(1) The start of the air-land expedition: Men of the Army's Airborne Command rush to enter the huge transport planes while guns and machine guns are quickly placed aboard. One ship carries one mortar, one machine gun and 15 men. Others will transport one howitzer, one machine gun, one mortar, one machine gun and equipment; motorcycles, 4 bicycles, and 17 men.

The United States army has long been preparing for an airborne war and an intensive programme has been under way in the United States to harden and train for eventual combat thousands of parachute troops and airborne troops of the United States Ground Force Airborne Command. The troops must be able to go aloft in planes, land by parachute and effectively place enemy areas under attack. They are transported and landed by gliders and operate in cooperation with the United States Army Air Force. These four pictures demonstrate the training United States airborne troops are receiving in preparation for an airborne war.

(2) The parachutists land first and then come the big transporters which the airborne infanteries. No time is lost in unloading the jeep-driven anti-tank gun (foreground) which is being rushed into action. Split-second teamwork and efficiency are necessary.

(3) Advancing through enemy territory may require crossing small streams. Their guns laid high to keep them dry, these steel-hulled transporters wade across a river with full loads. Each must carry full equipment, for once landed in an attack on the enemy, every man must be prepared to 'run his gun.'

Health Planning

[From Our Correspondent] The world's health planning is being given a new impetus. The Commission has been rapidly and effectively studying their problems arising from the health of their populations. Already from the memoranda they have received and sent before them, he said, there was beginning to appear a basic concept—namely, the close interdependence of the health, agriculture and industry, and in any plan aiming at an organized service for the entire country.

Lord-Commissioner continued: "To limit the spread of disease and to increase its resistance to the attack of the housing conditions. This is a task of the highest importance to the health of the nation. To ensure rehabilitation we need the aid of the Department of the Interior."

Colonel Gluckman, that local authorities must formulate in any future health plan for South Africa. A close partnership had also to be established and cooperation entered between all branches of medicine, between the medical profession and the public, and between the governing authorities and those who were governed.

At the meeting the suggestion was made that a period of six to twelve months should be undertaken to study the various aspects of the health of the nation. The raising of educational standards for nurses and the inclusion of physical culture in their training was also urged. The appointment of a health visiting team member of the Hospital Board was suggested, and also that all hospital services in all hospitals and health centres be supervised.

American Parachute Troop Landings In North Africa

Washington, November 21.—The new despatch routes for shipping Administrator, pointed out today that United States Larders and the Allied invasion which opened the door for the African larder had the equivalent of millions of tons of shipping to the supply facilities of the United Nations.

Not only does food of the Mediterranean stimulate the long trip around the Cape of Good Hope...

Film Of Rommel's Failure

From Our American Correspondent
Hollywood, Calif., Nov. 21.—Eric von Stroheim, noted film director, is preparing a picture on the German general, Marshal Rommel, in his last days of command in the desert, entitled, "Five Graves to Cairo."

Stroheim's picture is expected to supply the Middle East, he said, with North African news and strategic information not available to us at present. The picture can be utilized without using body needed shipping space to transport them.

He pointed out that although Morocco is essentially agricultural, its economic magnificence consists of lime phosphate and iron ore.

Health Planning

At a luncheon at the British Legation, London, Nov. 21, Lord Colville (Gloucester), Chairman of the Committee, has been raised to project into the very core of their problems and to the beginning of their investigations. At this point the general picture had received and the evidence given before them, had been beginning to crystallize a basic concept—namely, the inter-relationship of the State, provincial, local, authorities and agencies in the health service for the entire country.

Lord Colville (Gloucester) continued to limit the spread of disease and to improve the health of the people by making overcrowding and insanitary conditions a primary responsibility of the Department of Health.

It could hardly be stated, added Lord Colville, that local authorities must figure prominently in any future health plan for South Africa. A close partnership had also to be established and cooperation ensured between all branches of medicine, between the medical profession and the public, and between the governing authorities and the people.

Nursing conditions and a proposal for a new nursing school were discussed when the South African National Health Services Commission met in Pretoria recently and continued the inquiries it is making into every aspect of the South African conditions.

At this meeting the suggestion was made that a period of six to twelve months preliminary training in schools should be undergone by first student nurses started work in wards.

The raising of educational standards for nurses and the inclusion of physical culture in their curriculum of a home visiting service, and the inclusion of a health officer as liaison officer was considered to be essential, also that the medical staff should receive first medical and hospital services in all hospitals and nursing homes in South Africa.

It was further advocated that medical men, public speakers and psychologists should educate the people on health matters. Medical medical examinations should be made of the different sections of the community and educational institutions should be included in the examination of the public, should be carried out in the public health officer's health service, and should be included in medical examination and treatment.

This story also provides ample training for the American public. Additionally, it has helped to bring to the attention of the world of the United States and Britain the value of the situation as revealed by the fact that possession of the French North Africa ports on the Atlantic makes it easier for the United States to keep sea lanes from the South Atlantic open and safe.

Colourful Figure in Union's Political History

Durban, Nov. 29.—(W.E.A.S.)—General Hertzog, former Prime Minister of the Union and one of the most colorful figures in the history of the country, died at his home at Durban on Saturday morning, Nov. 29.

General Hertzog had undergone an operation for a long time and his progress after the operation was slow. He was 80 years of age.

The tributes to General Hertzog were many and varied. The Prime Minister of the Union, Mr. Jan Smuts, said that General Hertzog was a man of great courage and a man of great vision. He was a man who had done much for the Union and for the people of the Union.

TO PREVENT WASTAGE OF LAND

By Sir Basil...

The question of the reclamation of the Government of land is not merely a matter of land reclamation but also of the prevention of wastage of land. The Government of Kenya has taken steps to prevent the wastage of land by the issue of a new Land Use Ordinance...

Adventurers Landlords... Where large areas of agricultural land are available, the Government should consider the possibility of developing it into a scheme for compulsory reclamation...

Settlement and Development... In an Ordinance under (1), (2) and (3) the Government has provided for the reclamation of land in two ways...

For Pasture Consideration... The Committee is further of opinion that the work of the Commission should be directed towards the compulsory reclamation of land...
