1937 Ford V-8 means pay less for their care in the long run, and speed first-class all the time!
None mean is the V-8 engine. Eight cylinders give smoother performance. V-type construction is the most advanced, and provides a much more compact power-plant, space saved under the hood means more room in the body, and more comfort for you.
This year's V-8 engine is improved in size even greater fuel savings than previous conventional Ford V-8 engines. The car itself is engineered throughout for the utmost economy. Long, trouble-free service is ensured by Ford's standard of design and simplicity of construction, by meeting Ford's standard governing electrical and parts built into the car. REPORT ON EDUCATION IN UGANDA

SATISFACTION AT WHAT HAS BEEN ACHIEVED

Tribute to Mission Pioneers

NECESSITY FOR MUTUAL TRUST AND CO-OPERATION STRESSED

Satisfaction that so much has already been achieved in the educational field in Uganda and lively hopes for development in the future are expressed by the Director of Education of Uganda (Mr. H. Jewitt) in his report for 1936.

The Director, however, stresses the need for mutual trust and whole-hearted co-operation, and says people must realize that the educational program was extremely young and that maturity was a matter of slow growth.

Value of Physical Training

An introduction to the report shows a brief summary of the work which has been carried out in the educational field since 1922. It is stated that the first step was the establishment of a Department of Education, and that the necessary arrangements were made to give the Department a status which would ensure its success in the future. It is stated that the Department was established in 1922, and that it was the first of its kind in the East African continent.

The report goes on to say that the Department has since that time made considerable progress in the field of education, and that it has been able to establish a number of schools and colleges, and to provide for the education of a large number of students.

The report also mentions the fact that the Department has been able to secure the services of a number of experienced teachers, and that it has been able to provide for the training of a number of teachers in the field of education.

Helping Pioneers

Mr. H. Jewitt, the Director of Education, states that the report contains a list of the names of the pioneers who have been instrumental in the development of the educational system in Uganda. He states that these pioneers have been instrumental in the establishment of the Department of Education, and that they have been instrumental in the establishment of a number of schools and colleges, and in the provision of a large number of students.

The report also mentions the fact that the Department has been able to secure the services of a number of experienced teachers, and that it has been able to provide for the training of a number of teachers in the field of education.

DEBATE ON SECOND READING OF IMPORTANT MEASURE

STATUS OF RESIDENT LABOURER IS THAT OF SERVANT ONLY

ELECTED MEMBERS ON LOCAL OPTION POWERS FOR DISTRICT COUNCILS

...on what is regarded as one of the most important measures before the present session—a Bill to Regulate the Residence of Labourers on Farms—begun in Legislative Council yesterday.

In moving the second reading the Acting Attorney General stressed that the word "servant" properly did not appear in the new measure. The Attorney General was much to emphasize "that the status of a resident labourer is that of a servant only and not of a tenant."

Elected Members welcomed the assurance contained in this statement.

There were many references to the provision of local option and the authority proposed to be given to District Councils in this connection.

A Difficult Question

...of the Bill, the Acting Attorney General stated that the word "servant" was used in the Bill. He pointed out that the word "tenant" was used in the Bill, and that the word "tenant" was used in the Bill, and that the word "tenant" was used in the Bill.

Scarcity of Three Year Old Stayers - Henry Cotton on His Success - Oxford and Cambridge Athletic Team's Unique Feat - The Jaguars Win the King's Coronation Cup - Has British Rowing Slumped?

LONDON, July 12th

Racing

This season, there seems to be rather a dearth of stayers of the three year olds, and it is doubtful if there is any other that could compete with Windsor Lad at the same age. It is only recently that three year olds have shown any staying power, and the fact that has changed our opinion is that the three year olds of the past season were not so good as those of the present.

Tennis

Germany, last Saturday in Berlin, qualified to meet U.S.A. in the interzone Davis Cup final which begins at Wimbledon on July 17th. Von Krause and H. Henkel had given Germany a lead of two matches to nil in the single against Czechoslovakia, yesterday in the European Zone and was next with one up.

JAPAN'S MOTOR CAR PRODUCTION

Land of the Rising Sun Speeds Up

In another edition we published a long column devoted to a detailed account of the Japanese car-making industry. While this correspondent writes for the first time in the reply to the original article, which dealt with modern Japanese cars, we can say that the industry is doing more and more rapidly. In fact, the Japanese car-making industry is doing more and more rapidly. In fact, the Japanese car-making industry is doing more and more rapidly.

Japan, whose sole home-built motor car was not so many years ago the little "Datsun," a representative of which is shown in this photo. Last year her production of motor vehicles by nearly twenty different makes exceeded 100,000.

In 1931, 448 cars were made in Japan, as opposed to 30,179 vehicles assembled from 30,179 vehicles imported from the United States. Last year, home-built vehicles totaled 10,032, as against 10,000 imported from the United States. Of last year's total over 10,000 were baby cars, such as the Toyota and the Villava, a model which has a rear door that resembles that of a sedan, but which is in appearance a combination of the two. The Villava is the smallest of the small Continental vehicles, but still is a car of a pleasing looking build.

Racing Days

A single-engine racing car has also been produced by the Chuo Kai and is shown in this photo. It is a single-engine racing car, and is a single-engine racing car.

The assembling of foreign cars in Japan has been limited by law to 30,000 units annually, while the Japanese manufacturers are said to have a capacity of 21,000 a year, 8,000 passenger cars, and 14,000 trucks. In 1931, the total production of 42,000 units per annum. It is not likely that 1932 will see a further increase in the production of 30,000 units being produced by the Japanese.

With the exceptionally low labor costs current in Japan, it is not surprising that the Japanese are able to produce a small four-wheeler of up to 600 to 1,000 cc. for as little as $100.

BRITAIN REGAINS HEIGHT RECORD

Over Ten Miles High

Britain Again "On Top of the World"

Once again Britain has regained the world's height record. Flight Lieutenant P. G. Adams, Royal Air Force, reaching 55,000 feet (approximately 100,000 meters)—1,000 feet higher than the previous holder, P. G. Adams, who reached 54,000 feet last time that the Italian pilot, Col. Pavesi.

The flight, made in the special limited monoplane which had been modified slightly, occupied 10 hours in a 100 in. peak-pitch, three-seat, closed-circuit, high-altitude, low and great, but being required to travel being being over 100,000 feet per minute, 10,000 feet per minute.

Flight-Lieut. Adams had already made several flights to over 10,000 feet in his experience. On this occasion he had to rely on previous experience, the landing being with heavy cloud on the way, so that he had to land on the coast and not on the island of the Azores.

Bank's Starting Point

Coming down at 150 m.p.h. in a power dive, he first saw the ground just at 50,000 feet, passing a second thick layer at 45,000 feet and landed at Farnborough, where he took off, as a result of a partial exhaustion of wind velocity and drift, the entire flight being a triumph of judgment and skill.

DEARTH OF SKILLED LABOUR

In the course of a statement made recently Lord Curzon said that the shortage of skilled labour in the motor-car industry had reached a pitch at which it had become a matter of national importance, calling for reconsideration of Britain's industrial system. He was speaking at the annual gathering at the factory, where the models for the coming year were displayed to about 1,500 visitors and 500 employees.

"High prices of steel and other materials," he said, "are the only difficulties now facing the industry. The dearth of skilled and even unskilled labour is equally serious. I fear these things will grow more acute if we do not institute some form of trade unionism."

DRILLING FOR OIL

The experimental drilling for oil from which petrol and lubricating oils for motor cars and other uses are produced is continuous in Russia and it is yet possible that British motorists will fill up on "home-brewed" oil.

The Anglo-American Oil Company has been carrying out prospecting work in the Caucasus for three years and there is a reasonable possibility that oil may be struck in the near future. For the last 120 feet the oil here is about 22 inches in diameter, but as the depth increases (and it may go down to several thousand feet) the diameter decreases and the bore has to be lined, to withstand the weight of the column of mud, with well-tempered steel pipe.

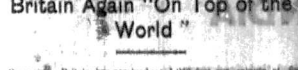

The amount of work required before there is any sign of oil is considerable, but the possibilities are evidently sufficiently great to encourage a continuance of the work, which may yet be as great an asset to Britain as coal has been for the last century or so.

Another Amphibian

The evolution of an amphibian vehicle appears to have come to a point of invention which is not far from that of an amphibian car. In present circumstances, give it a motor and a steering gear, and it will be a car on land equal to that of a motor car, and on the water equal to a boat. It is called the "Amphibian" and costs £1,200 to construct.

The Effects of Feed

It was noted that the animals which were fed with the 20 per cent ration were not so well kept as those which were fed with the 25 per cent ration. It was also noted that the animals which were fed with the 25 per cent ration were not so well kept as those which were fed with the 30 per cent ration. This shows that the amount of feed fed to the animals is of great importance.

WIDENING OF NATIVE BOURNERS ON FARMS

TO BE EXAMINED BY A SELECT COMMITTEE

Only One Big Problem: THE CLAUSES REFERRING TO LOCAL OPTION

On the second reading of the Bill to Regulate the business of Labourers on Farms enacted in Legislative Council yesterday when the Attorney General replied to a question put to him by the constructive leader of the Opposition by Major O'Connell-Bentick:

"I should like to know whether the Select Committee consisting of the Chief Justice, the Minister for Agriculture, the Commissioner for Local Government, the Attorney General, Mr. A. C. Hoey, Ernest Cl. Kirkpatrick, Mr. R. Barker, James G. Barry and the Hon. Mr. T. J. O'Shea."

The hon. member in widening up the debate said that he was almost certain that the only serious difficulty which would be before Select Committee were the clauses referring to local option.

Tribute to Elected Members

Mr. G. W. Lewis, Acting Attorney General, has just delivered an address before the Legislative Council in which he paid a high tribute to the constructive work done by the elected members of the House of Representatives. This was the first time since the opening of the session that he has done so, and he said that the members of the House were to be commended for their work in the House and in the country.

Residence of Native Labourers on Farms

the White Highlands to the Native. It had been suggested that the situation was parallel with the municipal system formerly existing in Rhodesia but the speaker felt that was far from being correct. An estate owner at home did not have his own land in Rhodesia but he had his own land in Rhodesia and he had his own land in Rhodesia.

the principle involved in the Bill was that, resident native labourers should be treated as tenants on farms. Most people would agree that there was no necessity for such control as would be imposed in a country like Kenya where the land was held by the local opinion section appeared to be in a better position to deal with the matter than the Government. Combined with other clauses that clause could provide that a local authority taking notice of the fact that a resident native labourer was on a farm should be treated as a tenant on a farm.

Regarding section 21, Mr. A. C. Hony had cited the case of a white or provincial farmer who, at a late stage of development of his business, would be required to employ a group of small native labourers. It was possible that the section regarding the local authority might be applied to the employment of resident labourers and the possibility of evicting the white farmer from his own land disposed with the labourer. There were still able, however, to obtain labour and the fact that they would be able to do so would be a great advantage in obtaining labour on this section.

Provisions of Minister. Mr. C. O. Kiriroku (Trans. Prov.) suggested that the general principles of the Bill and the principle of local option. He agreed with the member for Uasin Gishu on certain points but he was in question of the protection of minorities, and he felt that it was not intended to waste the time of the Council by putting forward all his points.

At the end of the Bill was to be made, and he would be the "making" of the Bill. He would be the "making" of the Bill. He would be the "making" of the Bill. He would be the "making" of the Bill.

Referring to the statement that the danger to employers from the removal of the control over farms had been proved and that it was not necessary to provide for the removal of such control, Mr. Hony said that he had not sufficient evidence to prove the statement of the member for Uasin Gishu. He would be the "making" of the Bill.

Concluding Colonel Kiriroku said that he was going to do his best to see that minorities were protected before the Bill became law. It was his duty to do so and when it came back from Select Committee he hoped it will be amended to the satisfaction of all parties.

Mr. Hony, on a point of explanation, pointed out that he had said that the danger would be a great one to the native labourer if his resident labourers were not to be a danger to themselves.
