Special police sent to keep border guard

Standard Staff Reporter
KANDA has sent its Special Provincial Police Force to Idahama, in the Congo border, "because of military anarchy in Kivu Province."

KING RETURNS AS STRIKERS MARCH ON BRUSSELS

BRUXELLES, Belgium (AP) - King Baudouin returned to Belgium last night as a wave of violence swept through Brussels, savaged by strikes.

A Belgian military plane had been standing by for a sortie for two days to King and Queen Fabiola, who have been married for just a fortnight, back home.

In his capital, thousands of strikers marched through the streets, smashing windows, shooting and setting fire to the execution of the Prime Minister.

The two provincial police forces, composed of men who had been recruited from north and south, were sent to Idahama to keep the Congo border.

EMPEROR SHOWING SIGNS OF FATIGUE

From Nairobi
A SPECIAL commission of investigation has been set up by Emperor Haile Selassie to conduct an exhaustive inquiry into the recent revolt which endangered his rule in Ethiopia.

A Provincial Governor, Col. Temrat Yigoyen, has been appointed head of the commission. He will be assisted by several Ministry of Justice officials.

Maximilian the Emperor, who is still showing signs of fatigue since the revolt, has been holding daily discussions with serving senior officials over the reformation of the Government.

Special courts
Special military and civilian courts are expected to start work in the near future. It is understood that a number of officials will be given an opportunity of being heard.

Kenya geologists survey for Seychelles

ADRIAT IN SEARCH OF ON VOYAGE ROUND ISLANDS

Standard Correspondent

A MEMBER of the Kenya Mines and Geological Department, Mr. Brian Baker, who is on a visit to the Seychelles, made three days' collecting in a motor launch off the coast by which he was returning to the island.

During a geological survey of the outer islands of the Seychelles group, Mr. Baker and his Geological Assistant, Mr. C. J. Piggott, were blown off course by a squall, the schooner, the Argo. They landed at Public Island off Aldobran, where a radio message alerted the s.s. St. Quency to pick them up.

Mr. Baker's trip also included the chance recovery of a propeller lost from the schooner La Divorcée in near gales of water. It was too deep for the crew to retrieve, so still-fishing with ropes brought the propeller to the surface where it was used to the schooner.

Several other interesting items were found and deposited in rock-lined boxes which were returned to the Seychelles by the s.s. Quency.

The writer asked Mr. Baker whether the islands outside the main group which are uninhabited are being surveyed.

He replied that he had not visited them, but that he had visited many of the islands and that he had found a small population of labourers, several of whom were of African descent. He said that he had also found deposits of phosphate, guano, and other minerals, and that he had found a few fossils.

Other islands he is free and the writer said that he had found a few fossils and that he had found a few fossils.

Cruiser vanished

An example of the prevalent problem here is the disappearance of the German cruiser, the Argo, which was sighted in the Indian Ocean in the first week of the month. It was reported to have been sunk by a British submarine.

It is estimated that the British submarine, the Argo, was sunk by a British submarine. The British submarine, the Argo, was sunk by a British submarine.

Dynamite approach

The manifesto says that the movement, which started in the past, is now being approached by the dynamite approach. The dynamite approach is now being approached by the dynamite approach.

Gunns wasted

In his preliminary report Mr. Baker says that the gunns of the islands which have been expended in the past, the output of gunns would have been much greater if the dynamite approach had been used.

Many of the gunns

Many of the gunns of the islands which have been expended in the past, the output of gunns would have been much greater if the dynamite approach had been used.

Legal appointments for two Kenya

Two Kenya men have been appointed to legal posts in other parts of the British Empire. One is a barrister and the other is a solicitor. Mr. G. M. O'Connell, a barrister, has been appointed to the post of Deputy Attorney-General in the Colony of Sierra Leone. Mr. O'Connell was born in Kenya in 1914 and studied law at the University of Cambridge. He was called to the bar in 1941 and practised law in Kenya until the outbreak of war, when he was employed with the Territorial Army and later worked in the Ministry of Defence in London.

Mr. O'Connell is now 28 years of age and has been practising law in Sierra Leone since his appointment. He is a member of the Sierra Leone Bar and is also a member of the Kenya Bar. He was called to the bar in Kenya in 1941 and has since practised law in Kenya and in other parts of the British Empire. He is a member of the Kenya Bar and is also a member of the Sierra Leone Bar. He was called to the bar in Kenya in 1941 and has since practised law in Kenya and in other parts of the British Empire.

HE HAD A SHAVE FOR IDENTITY PARADE

WHEN Mwangi Karanja was told that he was to appear in a police identification parade in four hours, he promptly shaved off his drooping mustache and exchanged jacket and boots with another prisoner in the Harambee House. When he was asked the reason in a Nairobi magistrate's court yesterday, he explained that he was time late and a shave, Karanja, who pleaded "guilty" to a suspected robbery with violence, was sent to prison for 18 months. He was also fined 10 shillings for not appearing in time for the parade. Other officers were on duty in River Road on the night of December 12 when they saw Karanja and saw other "bush" men.

Union branch members starve

A branch of the Kenya Quartz and Allied Workers' Union, which is affiliated to the African Federation of Labour Unions, has been formed in Mombasa. Temporary office holders are: Mr. Joseph Dingo, chairman; Mr. Kamau Njiru, secretary; and Mr. Aliah Oloo, treasurer.

Mr. O'Connell is now 28 years of age and has been practising law in Sierra Leone since his appointment. He is a member of the Sierra Leone Bar and is also a member of the Kenya Bar. ## AN IMPARTIAL DAY-BY-DAY CAMPAIGN SURVEY

As in previous General Elections, the East African Standard will try to present an impartial survey of the campaign, which officially begins with nominations for the constituencies on Jan. 6.

The following is an outline of the arrangements which will be made to ensure that all views are given full opportunity to state their position.

Reserved seats at election

Below are given details of the election in the 17 European, Asian and Arab reserved constituencies which together will return 20 Members to the new Kenya Legislative Council.

Three constituencies will each return two Members— Nairobi West (New Europeans), Nairobi Central (Two non-Muslims) and Kisumu Town (one Asian non-Muslim and one Muslim).

Disunity not fault of U.K.

Mr. Richard B. Freund (above) has been appointed as American Consul-General in Kenya.

It will be impossible to cover all the political movements and opinions in other areas. The report outlines the views of the parties on the main issues.

Mr. A. B. Shabazz, who is now prevailing among the Coast people, said that the British Government had made every necessary arrangement for maintaining peace and unity among the Coast people.

WEEK-END STANDARD

ONE of the cane-cutters (above) at work at Mtwani. The Mtwani sugar industry employs some 4,000 African workers—many of them Luo from the surrounding Central Nyanza Reserve, and about 1,500 from further afield, employed on contract. Top right, a general view of the Mtwani Sugar Mills, near Kusumu, with a row of cane trucks awaiting to deliver their contribution to the mill. The Nandi Escarpment can be seen in the background.

REFINERY PART OF PLAN TO INCREASE SUGAR OUTPUT

ON the edge of the great Kavirondo plain, that curves about the Kenya shore of Lake Victoria, and beneath the link 3,000-ft-high, embattled wall of the Nandi Escarpment, immense fields of giant-tufted sugar cane shimmer in the sun, resulting in the occasional breeze that disturbs the heat. It was here, at Mtwani, in Nyanza Province, that the foundations of East Africa's sugar industry were laid more than 40 years ago, when an Australian company acquired land about 20 miles from the lake shore for the manufacture of white sugar.

Today, the Asian family which owns the estate, plans new developments to increase Kenya sugar production considerably over the next few years. Mtwani Sugar Mills, at the firm is called, is to build the first sugar refinery in East Africa, due to go into production in 1961.

This project, together with a mechanized specific factory, will cost £200,000, giving the firm a total capital investment of £2,300,000, by 1963.

Already the largest sugar estate in Kenya, Mtwani produces an average of 800 bags of plantation white sugar a day—more than enough to sweeten a cup of tea for the entire population of Nyanza Province.

The estate, which is managed by Mr. D. K. Hindocha and his four sons, has increased its average output since 1950 by seven per cent when the company began to plant on 12,000 acres today.

SOIL ANALYSIS

Sugar production in the same period has risen from 2,000 tons to 20,000 last year. Irrigation on a wide scale is used.

The firm's rapid and remarkable progress started when it took over from the erstwhile Nyanza Sugar Co. Ltd., the Australian concern which acquired the land in 1919.

Before this local exploitation of sugar cane was confined to the production of "rasberry", a dark coloured wild made by a simple concentration of juice. In open pan.

When Mr. Hindocha and his family took over, only two varieties of cane were grown and there was a daily output of 80 bags of sugar.

KENYA'S largest sugar estate at Mtwani—described in the accompanying article—is to be the site of the first East African sugar refinery.

One of their first actions was to analyse the soil. Then, after establishing a drainage system and fertilising the land, new varieties of cane were planted.

The met with considerable success and today there are five principal varieties under cultivation and a further 90 types in experimental plots.

There is an up-to-date laboratory under a qualified soil chemist. Cultivation methods have also been greatly improved and the use of insecticides to handle insect pests is now common.

The chief engineer and the only European on the estate, Mr. J. G. Glimmer, has 15 years' experience as an engineer on some of the world's most renowned sugar estates.

When he joined the company in 1952 he adopted a policy of modernisation until today the factory has some of the finest equipment in East Africa.

The company recognises the great contribution which the 4,000 African workers on the estate have made to the progress and prosperity of the firm.

TRAINING SCHEME

There is a comprehensive welfare scheme and a training programme for essential workers.

Attention is provided in each of five residential camps to include a school, sports, club, Department and a dispensary with a nurse-trained driver. The firm also has a 22-bed hospital with a qualified doctor and staff.

A library with the latest newspapers and journals is available to every employee and there are also evening classes equipped with up-to-date facilities for show and other games.

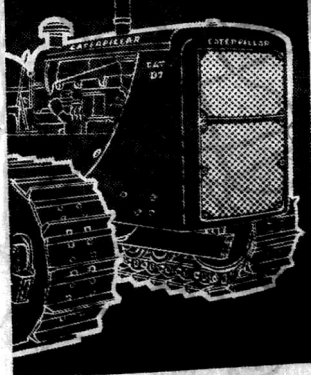

As a social service, supplied by the company, provide workers with a wide range of welfare programmes. In fact, Mtwani has become almost a self-contained estate.

The processing completed, Mtwani sugar is bagged and carried by the conveyor belt to the warehouses.

TO MARK THE BRITISH YEAR

FOR an unique salubrious in the British character every victor should see something of the annual customs, festivities and superstitions which are observed up and down the country throughout the year. They can be taken or special foods, and they are literally thousands of them.

Many are purely local and confined only to one particular town or district, but a great number are of national-wide appeal, and the commonest almost anywhere. To be in Britain on July 13 you will find people, and especially country folk, tapping the hammer and wishing the weather with an anxious eye.

For it is St. Basil's Day, and according to belief it falls on St. Basil's the weather will be wet for 40 days afterwards. Bishop of the East of England.

To be initiated in the rite is considered that is the Oxford or Cambridge University row down on the Thames between Lady and Marling every day. Saturday a week or British people, but it is the Boat Race.

No other rowing event has the status of the Boat Race. Naturally, thousands of people flock to the banks. But millions who have never actually seen the race never will, and who have no opportunity of either university take ardent sides in the contest and even wear special favours—pale blue for Cambridge, dark blue for Oxford. Why? We just do not know.

The Boat Race is a very great day for football fans and of the most popular of its kind in the world. But there is another reason for the tradition of the Derby.

THE DERBY
 Tremendous interest is taken in the Derby, a classic race, but the Derby is the one of its kind in the world. It is a day in which the people practically everywhere who are not normally opposed to the Derby, whether they be in the Derby or elsewhere, are horrified at the idea of anything but the Derby. The Derby is a day in which the people practically everywhere who are not normally opposed to the Derby, whether they be in the Derby or elsewhere, are horrified at the idea of anything but the Derby.

EASTER EGGS
 The observance of the fourth Sunday in Lent is Mothering Sunday. The custom is to give the mother a gift in the form of a cake. In the old days such gifts had its own recipe for this cake, hard crust of soft bread.

Nowadays, animals are given rich fruit cakes topped with white icing but no sugar. These cakes, brown-topped buns marked with red wax, while dough could be eaten on their own, and their origin goes back to the 14th century when Thomas Becket, a monk, was killed in a street in London. He was killed by a knight who came to the abbey gate.

THE STORY OF PAUL (Adapted by Stuart Whitman, Don Taylor, and Virginia Lindford)
 Stuart Whitman comes over convincingly as Paul, a devoted lover and husband, and connoisseurs will agree that he deserves his rapid rise to stardom. His performance is the very best he has given in any of the 20 pictures he has made for the studio.

The film is ably directed by Henry King, who will be remembered for such excellent work as 'The Sign of the Cross' and 'The Sign of the Cross'.

Zanuck produces film on Normandy invasion

PRODUCER DUFFY F. Zanuck has announced that he will produce and direct 'The Longest Day', the screen adaptation of Correllia Ryan's best-selling novel about the Normandy invasion of June 6, 1944.

Zanuck, by Zanuck's as the 'most ambitious' motion picture ever undertaken since the birth of a nation, he will start filming in the United States in the fall.

He will oversee four directors from the viewpoint of the four armies which took part in the invasion.

To accomplish this Zanuck will have four directors from America, Britain, France and Germany. The quartet will be in charge of the four different military campaigns that made up the invasion.

Illustrations of a Black Government

PREFERENCE PURGED FOR LOCAL PRODUCTS

The Kenya Government, while encouraging the use of local products in its employment structure, is holding to a policy of not claiming yesterday.

It was one of the many criticisms of Government Ministers of members of the Association for the Promotion of Industries in East Africa that the attention of representatives of the Ministry of Works and Technical Services is directed to the Government.

Mr. Frank T. Henson, of Nairobi, said that the Government has a definite bias in favour of employing labour in other countries and that over-employment was no acute.

USE OF COLONY'S TIMBER

The Government's buying of imported timber for all their construction projects when local timber might be used just as effectively in many cases and make economic sense for many now unemployed.

"Not only that, but if standards should be in relation to the material available locally," Mr. Henson added. "If the Government based its purchases on the quality of local timber for the old-established industries."

CRIME REPORT

Escaper's helper in custody

When Nairobi police re-arrested an escaped prisoner, they also got a companion trying to free him. The man was using a hacksaw.

The first man, known as a 'sumo', was caught on two police stations on the road between Nairobi and Nairobi. He was in possession of a hacksaw, which he was using to cut through a lock on the door of a cell.

Street Attack

Mr. Saul Nandi was approached by a man in a white shirt who was carrying a gun. The man was asking for a lift in his car in River Road, Nairobi. Nandi refused and the man started shouting and threatening him. Nandi was hit on the head and the man fled.

Gun STOLEN

James Mueche pleaded guilty to the theft of a gun and ammunition from the Nairobi-Nairobi road. He was remanded until January 5 for trial.

Wife stabbed to death

Mr. N. G. Mwangi was charged with the murder of his wife, who was stabbed to death in Nairobi. The case is scheduled for trial next month.

Thieves had home key

Police have broken into the home of a man who had given them a key to his house. The man was charged with the theft of a television set.

Nairobi Arrest

A man has been arrested for robbing a woman with a knife. He was charged with the theft of a handbag containing money and jewellery.

SHOW DELAYED

The Nairobi Exhibition is being delayed until late in the year. The organizers are waiting for more exhibits from other parts of Kenya.

TIME TO RE-EVALUATE ESTIMATE OF MAN, ROTARIANS TOLD

The three gifts of faith, might and fellowship were the motto of the Rotary Club in Nairobi. The club is now asking its members to re-evaluate their estimate of man.

THREAT TO KADU HEAD BY YOUTH OF KANU CRITICISED

Standard Staff Reporter, Nairobi.

Mr. M. N. Mwangi, a prominent member of the Kenya African National Union (KANU), has threatened to resign from the party if a youth leader of the Kenya African People's Party (KAPU) is elected to the leadership of KANU.

Mr. Mwangi's statement was made at a meeting of the party in Nairobi. He said that he was deeply disappointed by the youth leader's actions and that he felt that the party would be discredited if such a leader was elected.

When the bride price rose, youth clubs took on in Machakos

Standard Staff Reporter, Nairobi.

When youth clubs were first started in the district, they were intended to provide a social and recreational outlet for the young people. However, in Machakos, the clubs have taken on a new role as a result of the rise in bride prices.

The clubs have organized a series of events and activities to help the young people meet and mingle. They have also provided a place where the young people can discuss their concerns and problems.

18-month course

Kenya is to launch a 18-month course for young people who are interested in the agricultural sector. The course will cover a wide range of subjects, including crop production, animal husbandry, and farm management.

Lack of cash

Only one estate in Kenya is reported to have a surplus of cash. The estate is the Kenya African National Union (KANU) estate, which has a surplus of cash due to the sale of its assets.

Billy Eckstine returns — once more with feeling on two LP's

By JOHN MITCHELL

THINGS are looking up on the pop front. Last week we had a "Hot King" Cole album; this week another great singer with a jazz background, Billy Eckstine, has returned to us with two LP's. Born in Pittsburgh 46 years ago, Eckstine was hired at 17 to play with Earl Hines' orchestra in 1938, occasionally playing trumpet as well. His style was from his own hands — an authentic, Miles Davis, Charlie Parker and Sara Vaughan in there for good.

He had his first big break in 1942 when he substituted for a singer who had cancelled on a tour. Eckstine's performance was so good that he was hired for good. He has since then become one of the leading vocalists in the world. His style is a blend of jazz and pop, and he has a voice that is as powerful as it is beautiful.

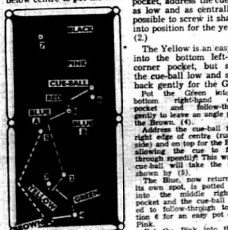

His new LP's are a collection of his best work. They are a must for anyone who loves jazz or pop music. They are a true masterpiece of the art of singing.

TAKE YOUR CUE

SET UP the balls in the positions illustrated in this week's diagram and master each individual stroke. Then concentrate on positional play, joining one stroke to the next until you can clear the table. Don't just follow my instructions — think about them and note the careful planning involved in moving from one position to another.

DO YOU KNOW?

1. ... 2. ... 3. ...

When potting the Blue into the middle-left pocket, address the cue-ball as low and as centrally as possible to strike it sharply into position for the yellow.

The Yellow is any easy pot into the bottom left-hand corner pocket, but strike the cue-ball low and across the middle of the cue-ball to clear the table. Don't just follow my instructions — think about them and note the careful planning involved in moving from one position to another.

When potting the Blue into the middle-left pocket, address the cue-ball as low and as centrally as possible to strike it sharply into position for the yellow.

EVERYONE sets a New Year resolution. How to keep them.

improve themselves in a few months. With very few exceptions, however, the resolutions are broken or forgotten almost before they are made. This is because most people do not make resolutions that are realistic and achievable...

BY DAVID HAINSFIELD
The resolutions have been broken.

A decision to take up a new year resolution is a decision to change your life. It is a decision to give up old habits and to adopt new ones. It is a decision to face the challenges of a new year with a fresh mind and a determined spirit...

Balkanisation or unity East Africa's choice

THE year 1961 was a year of challenge to Tanganyika and the rest of East Africa. Mr. Nyerere said in a broadcast New Year message. The challenge was: "Is free East Africa going to be a united Eastern Africa, or balkanised Eastern Africa?"

ZANZIBAR RESIDENT APPEALS FOR CALM

IN a New Year message broadcast to the people of Zanzibar the British Resident, Sir George Moore, appealed for calmness during the election and post-election period.

Advocates of chaos "As we face the New Year of 1961 it is important that we begin this year with a clear mind and a firm purpose."

Same faces "But I do not think we shall need them and I consider that the people of Zanzibar need a new Government in the form of a new Government."

Wishes, from Moscow The British Prime Minister, Mr. Harold Wilson, has exchanged New Year wishes with Mr. Nyerere.

Mr. Nyerere's New Year message to the people of Tanganyika and the rest of East Africa was broadcast on the radio and television.

During 1960 Tanganyika had one of the most successful years in its history... The year 1960 has been regarded as Africa's year.

The New Year is likely to see the establishment of East and Central Africa... The year 1961 will be an important one in Uganda's history.

EMPEROR'S TROOPS WILL GO SOMALS

Troops open fire on nomads

At least 100 Somali nomads - mostly women and children - have been killed and 60 wounded in clashes with Ethiopian troops, according to a Mogadishu radio report.

The exchanges occurred in the Ethiopian-administered territory of Danot, part of Haud which adjoins the Somalia frontier.

The Mogadishu broadcast, heard in Aden, also reported that Ethiopian troops had arrested more than 20 Somali girls and seized a Somali ferry with 14 passengers. It is alleged that Ethiopian reinforcements were being sent to border areas and frontier posts.

Disputes over grazing areas, and the frontier. Reports also indicated that Ethiopian fishing there was being curtailed.

The Somali Government has asked a stronger frontier guard.

Protest Note to the Ethiopian Ambassador.

According to one of the Somali press reports, the first clash occurred on January 1, when Ethiopian authorities confronted Somali nomads grazing in a Somali area.

STRIKE-BOUND BELGIUM FACES HEALTH THREAT

A Belgian anti-striker strike entered its 12th day. The Ministry of Health said yesterday that the growing risk of epidemics on the streets were a "danger to public health."

With doctors among the strikers, the Ministry issued a special decree empowering provincial governments to requisition labour and equipment to carry out collections. It also made the secretary-general of the Public Services available to the strikers.

"We will eat dry bread if necessary, but we will not give in to the strikers," said a spokesman for the strikers.

MARKET 'SIX' CUT TARIFFS

Africa urged to cut coffee output

PRODUCTION of certain commodities in Africa, including coffee, needs more careful regulation, the C.I.S. has urged yesterday. The real problem in Africa is not to produce more, but to produce what is needed.

BORDER DANGER

AGAINST the background of the recent report in Addis Ababa and the new clashes between Ethiopian army forces and Somali nomads in the Ogaden Province, some observers may be forgiven for thinking that the American State Department announcement yesterday to Empress Haile Selassie was his "outstanding contribution to world peace."

But the situation merits more than a slight nod of the head. There are some who have a sound knowledge of Ethiopia and the new frontiers between Ethiopia and Somalia. The Somali Republic is a new state in independence. It is a very special case in the world. There is no doubt that the former British Somaliland had many contacts and ties with the former "Trust Territory of Somalia" but many of these ties were broken when the British Somaliland was merged with the former British Somaliland and the former British Somaliland was merged with the former British Somaliland.

Remaining Mau Mau detainees to be released soon

Common tongue for Africa CONFERENCE ON ENGLISH OPENS IN UGANDA

TIMING NOT CONNECTED WITH GENERAL ELECTION

ONLY about 20 Mau Mau detainees still remain in detention camps, a Kenya Government spokesman said yesterday. He emphasized that the timing of their release had nothing whatsoever to do with the date of the General Election but depended on whether or not their home districts were prepared to accept them.

MINISTER LIKELY TO MEET KANU MISSION

He had been told of a report circulating in Nairobi to the effect that all detainees were to be released before the General Election.

SAISFACTORY PROGRESS

Explaining the process for their release, he said detainees were repatriated to their districts as and when they became acceptable to the authorities there.

Perms Special by Demyr

THE 12- or 18-month choice of permutations to suit your customer's hair is the key to success in block perms. Others like a permanent, either two or three ways. But the most popular permutation is the 12-month perm.

Three correct results

For the sake of convenience the blocks are divided into three groups, and it should be borne in mind that they can be written out in full on the coupon. Each block contains at least three correct results in any one permutation. This means that any two blocks with four correct results, provided three numbers are correct.

AUSTRALIA LEAD IN TEST SERIES

Failure of West Indians' batting on easy pitch

AUSTRALIA took a 1-0 lead over the West Indies in their five-match Test series when they won the first Test by Melbourne yesterday by seven wickets, with a day Test in Brisbane, the second Australian test against the West Indians, also won by seven wickets, on Saturday. The West Indies batting, exhilarating in Melbourne, could not be blamed for the long series of poor scores by their batsmen. It was the first time since the first Test against the West Indies in 1950-51 that the West Indies were bowled out in a Test match. The West Indies, who were bowled out in a Test match for the first time since 1950-51, were bowled out in a Test match for the first time since 1950-51.

TV SERVICE IN KENYA NEXT YEAR

Public corporation to be established

KENYA is to have an independent broadcasting corporation which will take over the existing Kenya Broadcasting Service and establish a television service.

The announcement was made yesterday by the Minister for Information and Broadcasting, Mr. Harris, who told the East African Standard that the necessary legislation for the setting up of the Kenya Broadcasting Corporation would be introduced in March and that Nairobi would have a television service a year afterwards.

The statement said the Government thought television could benefit rapidly developing countries, notably in the field of education, and that the introduction of a television service should not be delayed.

But at present the Government had no funds to start and operate the service and the necessary equipment would have to be found from commercial sources.

ANTI-RED CABINET INSTALLED BY LAOS ASSEMBLY

How Brian learnt about Night Starvation

BRIAN works in an office at the office of a big estate agent and he was good at his job. Promotion was not far off. But recently his friends had noticed a change in him. He seemed to become very unenergetic, and tired at the end of the day. His work began to fall and he made stupid mistakes.

At first, Brian thought it was just temporary and would pass away. Then he saw a newspaper article about night starvation. He read about it and decided to see the doctor. The doctor told him that he was suffering from night starvation and that he had to change his diet.

So Brian bought some Horlicks and began taking it. He slept really soundly, and he felt better and better. He began to work more and more responsibly. He was promoted for a bright future.

Brian was delighted when he heard the news "May be now we'll be able to get a bigger house". And the doctor said, "thanks to Horlicks."

BRITAIN BAN SOVIET HORSES' Fine record of Impala senior men's side

Entries for Grand National unlikely to clear 'hurdle'

RUSSIA'S three horses entered for the world-famous Grand National at Aintree on Monday will not be allowed into Britain. This was made clear in a statement issued by the British Horseracing Board, explaining the ban on importing horses from Russia and other countries because of African horse sickness.

The horses, it said, could be imported from countries where there is danger of the disease. The list of countries included Russia. The ban is absolute "as long as any country is included in the order," the Ministry explained. "If we are satisfied that a country is not out of the danger area, it would be taken out of the order."

Ministry's ban imposed

The Ministry's ban imposed on September 15, was based on the fact that there is a danger of African horse sickness in the Grand National countries. The horses, it said, could be imported from countries where there is danger of the disease. The list of countries included Russia. The ban is absolute "as long as any country is included in the order," the Ministry explained. "If we are satisfied that a country is not out of the danger area, it would be taken out of the order."

Indian team to visit Kenya

The Indian team, consisting of 15 players, including eight batsmen, is expected to leave for Kenya on Monday. The team will be led by the captain, who will be accompanied by a coach and a manager. The tour is expected to last for several weeks, during which the team will play several matches against the Kenyan team.

Commercial Soccer fiasco

The commercial soccer fiasco in Nairobi has been a disappointment for many fans. The match between the Kenyan team and the Indian team was a draw, which was not what either side wanted. The match was marred by several incidents, including a controversial goal and a red card. The result has led to a loss of confidence in the commercial soccer league.

KRISHNAN WINS

Krishnan has won the title in the commercial soccer league. He has been a consistent performer throughout the season, scoring several goals and playing a key role in his team's success. His victory has been a surprise to many, as he was not considered a favorite to win the title.
