International television not yet feasible

ANY large-scale international exchange of live television broadcasts is unlikely to be achieved in the near future, according to the British Broadcasting Corporation, which is conducting a survey of the possibilities of the kind of service now being provided by the European Broadcasting Union in Europe.

No equipment

It is one of the chief difficulties, according to the survey, that the present state of television equipment is such that it is not yet possible to establish a regular international service. The survey, conducted by the B.B.C. and the European Broadcasting Union, is the first of its kind in the world.

THE TWO MOST PRECIOUS DOCUMENTS IN THE UNITED STATES

The two most precious documents in the United States are the Constitution and the Declaration of Independence. They are the foundation upon which the nation is built, and they are the source of the rights and liberties of the people. The Constitution is the supreme law of the land, and it sets out the structure of the government and the powers of each branch. The Declaration of Independence is the statement of the people's right to self-government and their rejection of British rule. Both documents are essential to the existence of the United States as a free and democratic nation.

Living Issues

The living issues of the day are the most important and the most controversial. They are the issues that divide the people and that require the attention of the government. The most important living issues are the rights of the individual, the role of the government, and the future of the nation. The rights of the individual are the rights of life, liberty, and property. The role of the government is to protect these rights and to promote the general welfare. The future of the nation is the subject of much debate and discussion. The people are concerned about the economic situation, the social conditions, and the political system. They are looking for solutions to these problems and for a better future for themselves and for their children.

Preserved for All Time

The Constitution and the Declaration of Independence are preserved for all time. They are the most precious documents in the United States, and they are the source of the rights and liberties of the people. They are the foundation upon which the nation is built, and they are the source of the strength and the unity of the people. They are the documents that have made the United States a free and democratic nation, and they are the documents that will continue to make it so in the years to come. They are the documents that we must cherish and protect, for they are the documents that define us as a people and that give us the right to self-government.

Basic Writings

The basic writings of the United States are the Constitution and the Declaration of Independence. They are the most important and the most controversial. They are the issues that divide the people and that require the attention of the government. The most important basic writings are the rights of the individual, the role of the government, and the future of the nation. The rights of the individual are the rights of life, liberty, and property. The role of the government is to protect these rights and to promote the general welfare. The future of the nation is the subject of much debate and discussion. The people are concerned about the economic situation, the social conditions, and the political system. They are looking for solutions to these problems and for a better future for themselves and for their children.

Rule of Law

The rule of law is the foundation of a free and democratic society. It is the principle that the law is supreme and that everyone is subject to the law. The rule of law is essential to the protection of the rights and liberties of the people and to the maintenance of the social order. It is the rule of law that makes the government accountable to the people and that gives the people the right to hold their government accountable. The rule of law is the principle that has made the United States a free and democratic nation, and it is the principle that we must continue to uphold and defend.

Remembered Day

September 11th is a day that is remembered by all the people of the United States. It is the day that the world was shocked by the attacks on the World Trade Center and the Pentagon. It is a day that has changed the lives of millions of people and that has changed the course of history. It is a day that has reminded us of the fragility of life and the importance of peace and unity. It is a day that has inspired us to work for a better world and for a more just and equitable society. It is a day that we will never forget, and it is a day that we will continue to remember and honor.

Port Congestion

Port congestion is a major problem for the United States and for many other countries. It is the result of the increasing volume of trade and the limited capacity of the ports. It is a problem that causes delays, increases costs, and disrupts the supply chain. It is a problem that has become more acute in recent years due to the economic downturn and the increase in global trade. It is a problem that requires the attention of the government and the shipping industry. There are many ways to reduce port congestion, including increasing the capacity of the ports, improving the efficiency of the shipping industry, and developing new ports and shipping routes. It is a problem that we must solve if we are to maintain our position as a leading trading nation.

STOKE SEEKING ANOTHER STAN MATTHEWS

First Division 'giants' battle in London

By ANNE QUICK

STOKE CITY, largest club in the bottom of the First Division of the Football League and looking as though they will stay there, are seeking another Stanley Matthews. "That man will never find one," says Manager Don McVie, "so you must hope he will one day be good enough."

Mr. McVie, after seeing his team beaten 3-0 by a 12-man-old English side, said that the 11-year-old club had been completely destroyed by the transfer of Matthews to Blackburn in the summer of 1936. "That was the departure of George Mansfield to Bristol. And we have never recovered since," he said.

Matthews has been one of the club's great stars and he has a good record of 100 goals in 150 matches. "That man will never find one," says Manager Don McVie, "so you must hope he will one day be good enough."

HIGH COMMISSION ESTIMATES

Expenditures up by £287,176

ESTIMATED expenditure of East African High Commission for next year is £2,371,176 more than the current year.

When this money will come from — and where it will go — is revealed in a 116-page book published yesterday which tabulates both revenue and expenditure.

Everything is covered — from the 1945 Budget which the British Government will contribute to the £2,371,176, which a Grade A African clerk will get for his year's work with the East African Industrial Research Board.

Changes from the revenue figures is the fact that the highest of financing the services is falling on the British Government's African territories. The British Government's contribution has dropped by over £250,000.

Here is the revenue summary breakdown:

	1945-46	1946-47	1947-48
Kenya	1,000,000	1,000,000	1,000,000
Uganda	500,000	500,000	500,000
TOTAL	1,500,000	1,500,000	1,500,000

From the Colonial Office to Africa

There is something intrinsically refreshing about the fact that the new Governors to be appointed to East Africa are not "Colonial Office men" in the ordinary sense of the word.

It is natural of course that some people both here and in the United Kingdom, will wonder why there should be any departure from the usual procedure and why the Colonial Office has not furnished the usual list of names to the Director of Information Services at the Colonial Office.

Mr. Cohen's appointment as the first Governor of the new territories is a political statement of the highest importance.

Mr. Cohen has a long and distinguished career in the Colonial Office and has been in the forefront of many of the most important developments in African territories during the past few years.
