MUCH OF EUROPE FOGBOUNDED

Blow to British airlift
 RADAR KEEPS U.S. PLANES AND CHANNEL STEAMERS GOING

FOR THE worst and most widespread fog for many years has stretched from Ireland across Europe for many days—only two communications services have been able to get any appreciable northward—with the help of radar. The Americans have kept up a regular airlift service into London, while the British Channel steamer service has been closed—and the cross-Channel steamer service between Britain and France has been running normal services.

All over northern Europe air services have been seriously disrupted and fog has done its heaviest blow at British airports since the first plane went into Berlin on June 24. The only airport since midnight on Saturday and that the new night terminal at Tempel, in the French sector of the German zone, had stopped receiving aircraft early yesterday morning as the afternoon Berlin's weather was reported "almost clear."

In spite of the all-enveloping blanket, about 200 planes got in the Sunday airlift service into Berlin with about 2,000 passengers. British airlines are still flying in and out of London and north, but for the rest of the country the heavy official forecast promised no substantial relief in the next 24 hours. However, it is expected that the new "Queen Elizabeth" now has to wait until ten o'clock this morning for the next chance of leaving for New York.

All over Britain and France the volume of traffic has been cut and much shipping is being held up in Scandinavia. In Sweden the winter and summer seasons are now being held up for 48 hours.

The "Queen Elizabeth" is expected to be called into London on the 26th, and the "Queen Mary" is expected to be called into London on the 27th. The "Queen Elizabeth" is expected to be called into London on the 28th, and the "Queen Mary" is expected to be called into London on the 29th.

EX-REGULARS FACE BETTER PROSPECTS

Resettlement problems tackled

FEARS that they may encounter difficulties in getting work on their return to civil life have been considerably lessened for all members of the British Forces by a Ministry of Labour and National Service announcement disclosing the biggest-ever contribution to the resettlement of ex-regulars.

Although it is impossible to put a figure on the number of men who will benefit from the new scheme, it is estimated that the Ministry's scheme may open opportunities of finding work in the U.K. or the continent, it has, therefore, considered what should be done to assist their resettlement in civil life.

Chances not lost now

The Government has convened the National Joint Advisory Council for the United Nations Economic Commission, which has accepted the principle that men who were employed by the regular forces, give up their jobs, and then find themselves unemployed, should be given the opportunity of a satisfactory career in the U.K. or the continent.

The National Joint Advisory Council, which is a body of representatives of the Government, the employers, and the workers, has agreed to set up a special committee to study the problem of the resettlement of ex-regulars. The committee will be asked to make a report on the subject by the end of the year.

Still hoping

Brussels, Belgium, is the present scene of the General Assembly of the League of Nations, which is expected to open on the 26th. The League of Nations is expected to be called into London on the 27th.

A PLEA FOR AN ATHLETIC REVIVAL IN KENYA

There is a move afoot to revive athletics among European expatriates in the Colony and a letter on this subject is published below.

Following the war many outstanding athletes were lost to Kenya through the various international track organizations by the National Track Club in which European athletes from as far away as Tanganyika competed.

An athletic revival would appear to be overdue.

It is suggested that a committee be set up to study the matter and to have a meeting in the near future to discuss the revival of athletics in the Colony.

Mr. C. Coleman has already formed the African Native Students Union and is with enough influence to make it a reality. It is suggested that a committee be set up to study the matter and to have a meeting in the near future to discuss the revival of athletics in the Colony.

GROUNDS, SCOREBOARDS, BOWLERS, USE OF SIGHT-SCREENS

by Don Bradman

As my visit to England I have always been disappointed by the paucity of cricket grounds.

Development and facilities for the public still lag behind the popularity of the game. The players' development arrangements are far below even those in 1939.

I have to say it is argued that it is not possible to build, but this is a fallacy. In 1939 the use of sight-screens was introduced in Australia and now more than 70,000 are in use.

It is an anomaly that in Australia we have more than 70,000 of these devices, while in England we have only 100.

It is the opinion of the majority of cricket writers by Don Bradman that the use of sight-screens is a great help to the bowler and the batsman. In fact, it is the only way in which the bowler can be sure that the ball is going to hit the batsman's stumps.

At another ground the sight-screens were used in a way which was not only a help to the bowler but also a help to the batsman. The sight-screens were used in a way which was not only a help to the bowler but also a help to the batsman.

as in the case of the man who has been sent to the other end of the field. It is a pity that the sight-screens are not used more widely in England.

I am sure that the sight-screens will be used more widely in England in the future. It is a pity that the sight-screens are not used more widely in England.

I am sure that the sight-screens will be used more widely in England in the future. It is a pity that the sight-screens are not used more widely in England.

'I disagree'

I disagree. More people would be interested in the game if they knew that the sight-screens were used in England. It is a pity that the sight-screens are not used more widely in England.

I am sure that the sight-screens will be used more widely in England in the future. It is a pity that the sight-screens are not used more widely in England.

Fond memories

I had never, on a personal note, seen the man who has been sent to the other end of the field. It is a pity that the sight-screens are not used more widely in England.

Pegged away

Charlie Grinstead had to peg away for a long time. It is a pity that the sight-screens are not used more widely in England.

Hard to see

At Nottingham we had great trouble to see the man who has been sent to the other end of the field. It is a pity that the sight-screens are not used more widely in England.

No women?

One English friend went as far as to say that there are no women in cricket. It is a pity that the sight-screens are not used more widely in England.

Another important part of the structure of the public service is the provision of information concerning the performance of the service. This is a very important part of the structure of the public service.

Practical considerations should not be allowed to interfere with the best possible conditions for the best possible results. This is a very important part of the structure of the public service.

Not too caustic

Good conditions for players help to improve fitness and speed. It is a pity that the sight-screens are not used more widely in England.

General belief in England that the game is a very important part of the structure of the public service. It is a pity that the sight-screens are not used more widely in England.

CLEANS as it Lubricates

What kind of society do we want to see grow up in Kenya?

WE often say that we want a better standard of living than govern this colony, that the land must be properly tilled, that traffic must be stopped, that the Black Market must be closed.

One could make an almost endless list of points on which action must be taken, but again when the action is to be taken, or when or where, and it is even less possible to say whether the action is properly executed.

Recently it was suggested that Africa is a continent where there are no people, and that a continent with drastic problems do not solve the social conditions that it has, are, or are not.

Admittedly it is true that the African people are not a people in the sense that we mean, but it is not true that they are not a people at all.

What kind of a society do we want to see in Kenya? It is not a society that is to be governed by a few people, but a society that is to be governed by the people themselves.

AERO CLUB COMES OF AGE TODAY

TODAY the Aero Club of East Africa celebrates its first birthday with a ball at the Hilton Hotel, Nairobi. With the Club's present assets, membership and aviation in East Africa, its formation of the Flying Subsidy Scheme, its regular air meetings and rallies, the Aero Club seems set to have travelled a long way since the meeting of the "three A's" by officers, February, 1947.

In a speech of welcome addressing a gathering held in Nairobi on November 19, the Club's first constituted Aero Club was formed in Nairobi by the Kenya Government, the Nairobi Aero Club of the United Kingdom, and the Club was inaugurated by the Federal Government. It represents the aeromovement of the British Empire.

'East Africa'

In May of 1939, the activities of the Club were extended to cover Tanganyika, Uganda, Zanzibar and Sudan in addition to Kenya, and the words of the "Aero Club" were added to the "East Africa" words added in 1937. The Club instituted the Flying Subsidy Scheme to promote the interests of the public and to assist the training of pilots and to assist the training of pilots and to assist the training of pilots.

War days

On the days that World War II was in its full swing, the Club had to suspend its activities and concentrate on the war effort. The Club had to suspend its activities and concentrate on the war effort.

The issue: Communism
RUSSIANS TRY TO PREVENT PEOPLE FROM VOTING

British pressure of 2500 men was confined to barracks and during the majority of them getting mixed up in incidents. But despite a intensive barrage of propaganda from the Soviet side—where no elections took place—no anti-Communist party was there. COURT NEWS WINS THE BIG RACE AT NAKURU

DISPERSE international rain which began heavy and continued to fall steadily throughout the day, the Nakuru December meeting produced some of the best racing seen in Kenya for many a long day.

Owners were very evenly divided but only three favourites out of eight came home to win. The result that took prices were excellent but not so favourable as those seen in former meetings. Three favourites, and five unplaced, made it a day to remember.

Fields were remarkably good throughout the afternoon. The big race of the day, the Delmas Cup, was won by Captain B. L. Macdonald, and Mr. A. C. Curran's victory gave more Court News, bred at the Murrumbidgee Stud by Capt. J. A. Spiller.

Having begun on a high note with a grand field, the afternoon faded. It had been a very good day, but the rain was too much for the spectators. The day's racing was a disappointment to many, but the quality of the racing was still high.
