St. Mark's, Parklands: Pioneer church celebrates 50 years of worship

SPECIAL SERVICES ON SUNDAY

Many guests assembled throughout the world have happy memories of St. Mark's church, Parklands, Nairobi, where special services will be held on Sunday to commemorate the 50th anniversary of the laying of the foundation stone.

The foundation stone was laid by the Governor of Kenya, Lt. Col. J. Hayes Sadler, on September 29, 1907. Building took four months to complete. On January 25, 1908, the Chaplain of Nairobi, the Rev. W. M. Falloon, conducted the first service of worship in the church. At that time the Bishop, the Rev. William G. Peel, lived in Mombasa. It was not until October 9, 1910, that he was appointed by His Majesty Bennett aide to consecrate St. Mark's.

Church records show that St. Mark's was the first Anglican church in the Colony. The first service was held in the Congo. The first service in the Colony was held on June 1, 1807, when Richard Mansel and George married Blanche Lush. Originally, the church was part of the Nairobi Cathedral, which was the Cathedral of the East. It was separated from the Cathedral in 1910, and was named St. Mark's. The church was built on a site which had been occupied by a native village.

Memorial services dedicated
In 1911, St. Mark's became a separate parish in the Diocese of Nairobi. It was then known as St. Mark's and St. George's, and was a temporary church. The church was named St. Mark's in 1912, and was dedicated to the Holy Evangelist, St. Mark. The church was built on a site which had been occupied by a native village. 'HUMAN RIGHTS' ISSUES IN SERENGETI GAMELANDS
By Lt. Col. F. G. MOLLOY
Director, Tanganyika National Parks

OVER the past few years north of the Serengeti National Park has appeared in connection with the proposed reorganisation designed to deal with the creeping encroachment of the Masai occupation. The Serengeti Committee, set up by the Government, has been making a study of the problem and has recommended that the park should be divided into two main game concentrations. Access to the Ngongoro Crater floor has been given to the Masai, but the Masai have been asked to leave the park by the end of the year. The Government has been asked to consider the possibility of a game reserve in the area of the park which is now being occupied by the Masai. As is customary at this time of year, there is a steady flow of visitors to the park. The park is a beautiful area of land, and it is a pleasure to see the Masai people living in the area. A GROWING INDUSTRY HELPS TO SOOBE EAST AFRICA'S EXPORTS

Cutting up cars or salvaging ships—they are just another part of the job

By RONALD WILKINSON

ON the face of it, one can imagine no more mundane job than that of dealing in scrap metal. It evokes mental pictures of dimly lit hawkers pushing rickety barrows down dingy back streets, doling out small change for rusty pans, kettles and lock-trades.

But there is little link between the late Mr. Chatterjee's barrow and the widespread operations of the East African Marketing Co. across remarkable extraordinary to those of other African territories. The word "extraordinary" is by no means an overstatement. A recent description of a firm which has built up a heavy export business shipping to all parts of the world, is a far cry from the picture of a small-scale trader.

For the past few years, the East African Marketing Co. has been the leading exporter of scrap metal from East Africa. It has built up a reputation for its operations in East Africa, and is now a well-known name in the industry.

The firm's operations are based on a sound knowledge of the spot market and qualities of metal. They must be able to get prices for their metal, and they are also able to handle the shipping and packing of scrap metal.

There is a heavy demand for scrap metal in the world, and the East African Marketing Co. is well placed to meet this demand. The firm's operations are based on a sound knowledge of the spot market and qualities of metal. They must be able to get prices for their metal, and they are also able to handle the shipping and packing of scrap metal.

Crude reality

There is nothing remarkable about crude reality. It is not a new concept. It is a fact of life. It is a reality that we must face. It is a reality that we must accept. It is a reality that we must live with.

Heavy ones

Day after day, the scrap metal industry is faced with heavy ones. It is a heavy burden that must be carried. It is a heavy load that must be borne. It is a heavy weight that must be lifted.

Unknown value

There is a hidden value in scrap metal. It is a value that is often overlooked. It is a value that is often undervalued. It is a value that is often unrecognized.

Separating the metal

In the scrap yard waiting for their appearance are used to separate components from various and other machinery, particularly where alternative use of metal was indicated.

CAR DESIGN OUTSTRIPS ROADS

These are revolutionary days in motorizing. In your car you are now being driven through the air. It is not a new concept. It is a fact of life. It is a reality that we must face. It is a reality that we must accept. It is a reality that we must live with.

ACID INDIGESTION?
Take my advice...

"I'm often asked what I do for my upset stomach, indigestion, acid indigestion, flatulence, bloating, etc. In fact, I take a little of the Milk of Magnesia... it's what I use myself."

"A tiny Milk of Magnesia is a mild laxative as well as a neutralising agent. It keeps the system sweet and regular. Acid indigestion, flatulence, bloating, etc. are all cured by it. It's the ideal for baby's 'windgut' too. It settles the stomach at once."

FOAL GAINS QUICK AWARD: SIDELIGHTS ON ROYAL SHOW

HIGH SOCIETY, seen (left) with his owner, Miss Gladie Mangle, is today a very proud foal. He went to the Royal Show with his mother, April, and Mother won first prize in the class for pony mares, on foal or with foal or foal — one of the early prize-winners on the show. And High Society didn't let Mother down when he won a first himself in the foal class.

With the Governor is the Administrator Sir Bruce Hutti. The balloon, which rose at the rate of 1,000 feet a minute, supplied signals through its radio and radar apparatus of wind direction and strength, temperature and humidity to the Meteorological Department's officers at the show.

Careers guide for Kenya boys and girls

ADVICE - AND A WARNING

A booklet which gives valuable advice and information on about 120 careers in Kenya has been prepared by the Kenya Director of Education to help boys and girls to choose a profession, a career, a trade, a business, or a job.

A perfect fit between the boy's own aptitudes and the requirements of a particular profession or trade is essential for success. If present, this situation may be changed by the boy's own efforts.

Some professions are already crowded, and the range of studies in the field of higher education is widening.

There has, for example, been much interest lately by students in studying for the legal profession, but it is likely there will be many lawyers in the future.

Henrietta proves that girls ARE useful in boats

By ROSA WRIGHT

HENRIETTA has been learning to swim, and she is a really quite good. She practised for a long time with her red swimming tyre round her waist, and she came the previous day when her Daddy said she could swim out of it. "You are quite safe now," he said, "so long as you don't try to swim too far."

And of course don't go in the water unless there are grown-ups with you. During the summer holidays Henrietta went to a swimming school, and she had a very good time. She was allowed to swim every day, and she was very good at it.

One day Uncle and Jimmy came down to the lake. They were fishing, and Henrietta was with them. She was very good at it, and she was very good at it. She was very good at it, and she was very good at it.

Henrietta felt very sad. She was very good at it, and she was very good at it. She was very good at it, and she was very good at it.

Henrietta could see the car. She was very good at it, and she was very good at it. She was very good at it, and she was very good at it.

Henrietta was very tired and upset, and felt glad the had got home. She was very good at it, and she was very good at it.

Don't be a fisher, send it to the Fisheries Editor, and you'll win a prize.

EMMA THE ENGINE GETS A ROYAL COAT OF ARMS

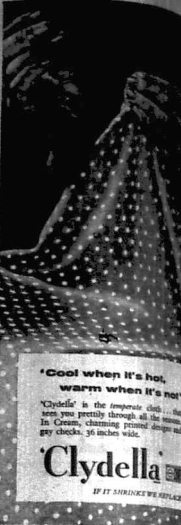

By ANN PERRY

"CHUFF CHUFF" was a glorious day," whistled Emma as she hauled the heavy engine into the garden through the green country side. "Good morning, cows," she said as she approached a big meadow. She slowed down, and puffed past as they stood looking at her. "Thank you, Emma," the cows purred. "How nice of you to slow down for us. We hate all the noise and dust some of the engines on the line make as they pass." Emma was a small, good-looking engine.

She loved her job although she was a bit of a mess, and she was very good at it. She was very good at it, and she was very good at it.

Emma was small but very good natured. She was very good at it, and she was very good at it. She was very good at it, and she was very good at it.

Emma was very tired and upset, and felt glad the had got home. She was very good at it, and she was very good at it.

A STORY OF A COMMUNITY'S FIGHT AGAINST THE ELEMENTS

ONE of the best films made in Britain in recent years is The Kingshipper, a tale of two young boys in a lonely community in Nova Scotia. Now another film by the same director, Philip Leacock, comes to Nairobi—and the setting is again a lonely part of Nova Scotia. Based on a script by Neil Paterson, High Tide in Noon (Theatre Royal) has much of the atmosphere and some of the charm of its prize-winning predecessor.

Back to Mackenzie Island (now called the Canadian town of Lunenburg), and maintained some youth and spirit. High Tide in Noon (Theatre Royal) has much of the atmosphere and some of the charm of its prize-winning predecessor.

But under the surface things are changing. The island is "flooded out" by the population, and families begin to leave. High Tide in Noon (Theatre Royal) has much of the atmosphere and some of the charm of its prize-winning predecessor.

DO YOU KNOW WHAT'S ON YOUR ROOF?

Many householders have their roofs painted without troubling to specify what kind of roof protection is to be used. Practical men use Laykold. Laykold gives you a heavy-duty roof coating that forms a tough skin all over the roof. Made with bitumen, specially for the job, it protects iron-work from rust, ensures you a water-tight home, and protects for a long, long time.

PICNIC LUNCHEONS UNDER THE TREES

CHETLAND picnics were being shown by Mrs. E. F. Kinnally of Naro Moru, who was seen one day enjoying lunch under the trees of the members' enclosure of Naro.

A Thomson's Falls trio who found a shade retreat on the grass to picnic consisted of Mrs. C. L. Wray, Mrs. E. Dolg and Mrs. M. S. Carr, whose sister, Mrs. C. Carr, was taking in some classes and acting as a judge in the show.

Other visitors from the Thomson's Falls district included Mrs. Donald Smith, who brought along with her a pair of sheep, and Mrs. J. O. Wray, who brought along with her a pair of sheep.

We're going to have a white Christmas

The leafless lanes of England are silent, save for a snapping twig or the hoarse rattle of a robin. The dark fields have settled patiently for their long winter sleep. In the North Country snowflakes scurry across the moon, sweeping the sheep into a huddle. Turkeys and geese lounge fat and festive in Sainsbury's Market and people are saying to each other: "We're going to have a white Christmas."

On Christmas Day your friends and relations at home in Great Britain will be thinking of you. HALF YEN'S NEW CHRISTMAS IS PRINTING PRESENTS—especially those you are far away—it brings home so much nearer to you. It's all so simple. WE are always hearing about the alarming cost of golf green clubs one certainly don't tend to expect a green deal lighter in the pocket. But I often think that perhaps it is not the cost of the golf so much as the cost of what lies behind it.

Some of the figures involved are really astonishing. One Westworth Golf, for instance, in modernizing and enlarging their club, the nine efficiency and conveniently make in the 192-175 acre golf course which alone costs £1,000,000, the equivalent of two countries before the war.

Across the water, Purinton, which improved their clubhouse and 18 holes, had to find some £24,000. Now, Winton Heath here had to find some £20,000. The members — by no means a select. Visitors like myself who have been going to the golf club and the golfers and their wives and children. It is a fact that the cost of the clubhouse is not the only cost. The cost of the clubhouse is not the only cost. The cost of the clubhouse is not the only cost. The cost of the clubhouse is not the only cost.

The 1962-63 season has already long led to a record in the number of clubs which have been closed. The 1962-63 season has already long led to a record in the number of clubs which have been closed. The 1962-63 season has already long led to a record in the number of clubs which have been closed.

BROKEN legs, sprained ankles, pulled muscles... that is the story up and down the country as the English Soccer season has started with its biggest crop of injuries in years. Ever since the Chelsea and England winger, Frank Blundell, broke a leg in August the stretcher-bearers have been finding plenty in staying in.

Last year the Leicester attack ran up 109 goals in one season, the second highest total in the League, and held an unbeaten home record until nearly the end of March. This season, they are at the bottom of the table and only Arthur Bowley has appeared really dangerous in attack.

33-year wait

Two teams to watch in the First Division this season are Portsmouth and West Bromwich Albion, who recently scored nine times against Manchester City. Portsmouth, who had to fight hard to avoid relegation last season, are in a much better position recently they have been feeling their way towards 21-year-old Crawford is one of the chief reasons for Pompey's power this season. Twelve months ago he was fighting terrorists in the Malaya jungle. Recently he has been terrorising First Division defence.

MAKING WAY FOR THE YOUNG ONES

WITH the retirement of Warwickshire's leg-spinners Eric Hollis and Ian Johnston, Doug Wright of Kent, becomes the most senior first-class cricketer in England. Hollis, who has taken five more wickets (2,316) than has aged 37 years, retired first-class cricketer 25 years ago. Wright is also a leg-spinner. Next in seniority are Cyril Walker of Lancashire (2,251) and Bill Edrich of Middlesex (1,851).

Points from the week's leaders

SECOND HOUSE, ROYAL SHOW AND CULTURAL CENTRE

MAJOR points from three of the week's leaders are reprinted below for up-to-date readers.

Upper House
MONDAY, SEPTEMBER 19, 1927.

A PASSING allusion to the financial system of the government, made by Mr. Slade in a recent speech, has passed almost unnoticed, certainly without public comment. In a series of 10 or 15 years of government in and out of office, there are precedents for an Upper House, but the notable exception is the House of Lords in Britain and the House of Commons in the United States, whose forms represents the different conception of the outcome of a party's political usefulness of a Second Chamber. The House of Lords is ever watchful to protect fundamental principles and the rights of minorities; can exercise the power of delay against hasty and hot-tempered measures; and by its very composition (of hereditary peers and those raised to the peerage by personal distinction or public service) brings the influence of many mature second thoughts to bear on official lines. On the other hand the Senate has powers equal to those of the House of Representatives, and its respects greater than the House of Representatives.

reassure the public as far as administrative charges are concerned. The members have had time for adequate preparation for the results of a mass referendum. It is this year's Show which has attracted the attention of the public, and it can only be said that the results have been rather disappointing.

Design by dream
NECESSARY, however, that the Cultural Centre, the art of the future, should be expressed in design. Otherwise the result of an offshooting movement. One might say that this is the interest in current affairs can be unaware of the controversy that has raged around the issue of an "artistic dream" and the committee's approach to the job in hand, incorporating a phrase "non-traditional style" in its appointment. What the ordinary person wants, and what the building does not offend with breath of content or the public's taste, is the Museum that will never be a neighbouring College and Theatre. Simply that which conforms with its setting.

Show legislation
ROMANCE increases in NEARLY 40,000 people paid at the gates of the Royal Show in 1926. The total this year fell to 25,000. The committee has to persuade the takings, all of which are for educational and improve standards all round. Our comment is that it remained to be seen whether the result was that the committee had achieved its purpose. Gate receipts are down on last year. It could be argued that the show would have suffered even more had the similar attendance had the lower admission fees. It is strictly an actual proposition that the higher charges kept many people away from the show. The committee may fairly conclude that there is justification for the highest charges on members' party tickets. The business of judging is over. The Show becomes a fair at which you can meet country. This year the prizes divided from 300,000. Though some families and a commercial concern over the concessions for conducted parties, which made entrance possible for 2/6.

That was with the architect's terms were asked to do when they entered the building. The Cathedral, the result of the design, may be, as in speaking terms with the Gothic and half-timbered styles ("traditions" could be used in this context of any round building). The old, well-known, and unmistakably modern refinements. That should touch architectural work.

THIS Indian touring cricket team, under C.C. left Nairobi on Wednesday night to return home after a most remarkable and successful seven-week tour of East Africa. During that time they played matches in all four Territories and gave immense pleasure to many thousands of cricket-lovers. Not only were they first-class cricketers; they were equally good sportsmen.

They were equally pleased to meet on and off the field and to be expected to play in the future. They would go to the Cape and to the Transvaal on Wednesday, Thursday and Friday, and on Saturday, Sunday and Monday to the Transvaal. They will then return to the Cape and to the Transvaal on Wednesday, Thursday and Friday, and on Saturday, Sunday and Monday to the Transvaal. ONLY about two in every 100 Europeans in public service employed full-time in public service in Kenya were earning less than £200 a year in 1956.

The Economic Institute states that fewer than five in every 100 privately employed took home more than the figure and more than 100 women in that group were £120 and £150 respectively. The trend of rising salaries throughout Europe must weigh heavily on the minds of Kenyan workers who are still on a low scale. The ILO's European Bureau states that during 1956 the average increase in the salary of public servants was 2.7 per cent. In Kenya, the average increase in 1956 was 2.7 per cent. Wit and wisdom in a family story told by dialogue

By J. HUMPHRIES

ONCE again Miss L. Compton-Burnett has turned up with one of her strange but fascinating family stories. This new variation on her theme is entitled A Father and His Fate. She is a faithful hand at readers, including myself, and she remains unknown to many, perhaps a result of an introduction after a rough description of her novels. It is the most economical of writers, never wasting words on descriptions of places or appearances, nor indeed on the shape of marriage.

A CONTROVERSIAL DRAMA ON EFFECTS OF 'BRAINWASHING'

ONE of America's most controversial subjects, that of the guilt or innocence of the returned Korean war hero accused of collaboration with the Communists, is given powerful treatment in 'The Rank', which opens at the Playhouse, Nairobi, next week.

Paul Newman, in the title role, is the young sergeant who is accused of collaborating with the Communists. He is the young sergeant who is accused of collaborating with the Communists. He is the young sergeant who is accused of collaborating with the Communists.

The man who never was, in the true story of the daring plan to break through the Soviet Wall during the Second World War by British naval intelligence to divert German troops from Sicily so that Allied forces could break the Continent with as little resistance as possible.

Seen through the eyes of an American spy (Clara Grahame) who is accidentally involved in the scheme, it is a thrilling story of men so dedicated to the success of their operation that they show no personal feelings to interfere with it.

The production of the original picture was a combined Anglo-American operation. Producer André Hecht and writer Robert Ross, whose original title was 'The Rank', were joined by British novelist Nigel Balchin who contributed to the outstanding screen play.

To balance the American side of the ledger, Hecht chose as his star the American actor who portrays Ernest Borgnine, and as his leading lady, the English actress who plays the part of the imaginary 'Poppo's' head (a small Southern town) was located in Brunswick.

The Lady Mary Baring was present at the fashion show arranged by the Marchesa di Bulgari and which was held in her charming Keren home.

A collection of dresses, designed especially for Florence Fashion in Nairobi by Barbara Bana, Dramatic, of Rome, was presented to an invited audience which included the Marchesa di Bulgari.

Five attractive models showed the gowns to great advantage — Dorey Jeffries, Shirley Van West, Pricilla Terrell, Bianca Barker and Lee Farvay, while the Marchesa herself presided.

The audience consisted of some of Nairobi's smartest women. It is to be noted that the models were dressed in a variety of styles, some of which were quite new.

E. JOHNSON, patron of Nairobi Swimming Club, writes of the history of water polo in Kenya and encourages more success for the sport.

THE first recollection I have of water polo was at Mombasa in 1927 when an E.O.S. went round for all players to turn out and practice for forthcoming visits by H.M.S. Birmingham and Enterprise. The practice was very haphazard and usually took place at Embakasi. Sharks were often seen in the channel and the junior member I had to tug the ball if it went out into the channel.

It was positive that the duck out and back up system, with the ducks at the top, my legs might be supposed off, but I was not a champion swimmer. The warm and hazy sun water made the training very pleasant and sunny happy evenings were enjoyed by the local team. The players were always put up with swimming and, only rarely, with a game and dance and the most of them were of the most attractive girls until the first war.

In 1911 I had been transferred to a new school. In 1912 I had been transferred to the new Government Club. Many of the players of those days are well-known. I was a member of the club when it was founded. I was a member of the club when it was founded. I was a member of the club when it was founded.

Unbroken record

The Water Polo Club proposed and its water polo team defeated the Mombasa Swimming Club, an unbroken record for many years. The club was founded in 1911 and has since then been a leading force in the sport.

THIS is another of those weeks when the sporting calendar will be varied and many different games, past and future, will be prominent events in which racing, cricket and lawn tennis are among the highlights. There will be some signs to indicate that the season is in full swing, and it is to be expected that the sports will be more successful than in any previous year. The season is not yet started in the actual proportion of the year, but it is very high and will reach over the top of the week certainly.

Soccer revival
A lot of sections of the community are represented in the soccer revival, and the African and European teams are the main attraction.
