KENYA'S PARAMOUNT FLOUR

Is now recognised as being the finest flour obtainable in Kenya to-day—whether "local" or imported.

It is milled only from the best part of selected wheats.

It can always be relied upon, as it is consistent in quality.

It can be purchased at any grocers in 80 lb., 25 lb., 10 lb., and 5 lb. bags—the larger bags being more economical.

It is an UNGA product.

THE STOCK INDUSTRY.

To the Editor, "E.A. Standard,"

It would be an interesting comment upon two letters which have appeared in your volume recently dealing with subjects of general importance to the live stock industry.

Mr. J. K. Hill writes at some length, and with knowledge gained by experience, on the subject of the situation in the dairy industry. He is particularly concerned with the position of the small dairy farmer.

These days the dairy farmer is a struggling man. He is a small man, and he is a struggling man. He is a small man, and he is a struggling man.

The author writes with the hope of an appeal to the dairy farmer. He writes with the hope of an appeal to the dairy farmer.

This the city is perpetuated and it is a matter of concern to the dairy farmer. He is a small man, and he is a struggling man.

Deadlock Over Disarmament.

EFFORTS TO SURMOUNT DIFFICULTIES.

Discussions in London.

THE DIVERGENT POINTS OF VIEW OF FRANCE AND GERMANY.

British Government is continuing its efforts to find a way out of the present deadlock over disarmament... Following recent conversation in Berlin between Sir Eric Phipps, the British Ambassador, and Herr Hitler, further discussions took place in London between Cabinet Ministers, the Italian Ambassador, the Secretary-General of the League of Nations, and Sir Eric Phipps, who was specially invited to return from Germany for the purpose...

Britain, said Sir John Simon, had gone a long way in reducing armaments and he wondered if her own limited action had really made disarmament easier today.

most serious of the difficulties was the French demand for security as opposed to the German demand for equality.

Further Progress.

Paris, December 15. British Ambassador in Berlin Sir Eric Phipps, who is in London on short visit at request of the Government for a study of the disarmament problem, had a long talk with Sir John Simon yesterday, the Secretary-General of the League of Nations, and Sir Eric Phipps, who was specially invited to return from Germany for the purpose...

leading article in 'The Times' today remarks that the whole progress of the present disarmament activity in various fields and almost the sole point of view in the League of Nations is to get back to the draft convention.

'The Times' emphasizes that a collective peace system with equal rights and international supervision offers the only hope of agreement and the only alternative to the dangers of universal armaments competition.

Highly the 16th of the League of Nations, the British Government is making a gift of £1000 to Mr. Charles ULM, a Frenchman who has been working for disarmament in the League of Nations.

The Disarmament Conference will continue to engage the most serious attention of the British Government in the next few days. The Ambassador in Berlin, Sir Eric Phipps, who was specially invited to return from Germany for the purpose...

VIEW OF BRITISH M.P.'S ON PRESENT POLICY.

London, Dec. 15. (By WIRELESS.) The Palestine Commission of Members of the House of Commons has heard through Her Majesty's Government an account of the proceedings of a private meeting, presided over by Mr. A. G. A. and attended by 80 members of all parties. Mr. J. H. Thomas, the Secretary of the Palestine Commission, said that the promise of a national home for Jews was given after careful deliberation and consultation with other Powers. It was in regard to promises to the Arab population, Palestine was specifically mentioned and there were very few Jews who had emigrated from the Great War with substantial possessions as the result of Arab language of Iraq, Trans-Jordan and Arabia. There was no doubt that the Arabs had been treated fairly by the British Government since 1922 and 1931 the increase in the Arab population was more than double the number of Jews and the most striking fact of all was that the Arabs had not complained of any of the promises to them, places where Jewish immigration has been most active.

THE FUTURE OF LEAGUE OF NATIONS.

Secretary-General in London.

Mr. J. H. Thomas gave figures in support of his arguments and also referred to the increase in the number of Arab and Jewish immigrants since 1922. He said that the League of Nations was a great success and that the British Government had been successful in maintaining the peace in the Middle East. of the Chamberlain would at this stage lead to a decision by the League of Nations. It is not clear, however, whether the Chamberlain would at this stage lead to a decision by the League of Nations.

British Position.
 The British Foreign Office has been at work ever since its appointment with the terms of this decision. A detailed report of the progress of this effort is not available at the time when the full use of this diplomatic machinery had resulted, but it is thought that a degree of compromise that would justify the remaining up of the situation. The British position has been employed were best suited to the maintenance of the situation. The object was not to make an isolated announcement or to produce a sudden gesture. The object was to get all possible an agreement to be reached in a great number of articles. No Government would by its own single declaration, produce a solution of the Disarmament Conference.

British had given a long was, in including articles that had been considered if they were included articles, had would be a disadvantage. Again, in conditions, could be itself after the fundamental difficulties of the situation. The present and past situation of the Disarmament Conference, as far as Europe was concerned, consisted in the divergent points of view of France and Germany. The French demand for security and the German demand for equality. The recognition of these two points of view had been the most difficult stage of the Conference. The Government would not be able to solve this problem.

A New Situation.
 WITHOUT REVEALING THE AGENTS. London, Dec. 17. A new situation has been created by a series of disarmament proposals, introduced by Herr Hitler and internationalized to M. Fremont Poutet, the French Ambassador in Berlin, recently and brought to London by Sir Eric Phipps, also during the week-end of Mr. John Simon's house will show that the main points, according to the English, correspondents, compare these with the terms of the long term. It is thought that Germany may increase the long term. It is thought that Germany may increase the long term. It is thought that Germany may increase the long term.

THE RUARAKA TRAGEDY.

Some day he started back for the handies. On his way he passed the house of a woman named Wandu, whom he saw two young girls to whom he gave the sack of potatoes which were left for them for him. It was then about 1.30 p.m. On leaving them he passed through the walls of the station of "Ruara Kaba" on the way to the house of the woman Nduta with whom he had been living, arriving there at 3 p.m. but on finding her out he required of her children where she had gone and they told him that she was at a drinking bout at Mangi's house which was quite close to the hall, and which had passed on his way. The children told him that Nduta had gone the previous day (Saturday) at about two o'clock, and had slept there. Accused then left to go to her and found her very drunk, and after a while requested her to go back home with him but she refused that she was going to continue drinking and would spend the Sunday night there. He, however, insisted on taking her home, and she said she must go back to look after her children.

Accused was just about to leave her, but one, Wandu, requested him to take the woman away, but she also was very drunk. When she heard Wandu say this she also went and came back with her. Later he managed to persuade her to go with him, and she took her car ornaments and drove them down saying "I am not going." Also on returning to the house Nduta says on crying out "You dragged me away from the drinking bout, and made me leave the friends which had been brought me." Shortly afterwards she stated a paper which she had found her, but her son Wandu, said she needed in swaying this away from her. Accused asked Nduta why she had tried to strangle herself and she replied it was due to her being very drunk.

On the following morning about a mile across the hall he went to go and take possession of his potatoes, which he took later to the handies where he cooked and ate them. The next day (Tuesday) he went back to Nduta and slept the night in her house, and the following night he slept at a friend's house.

On Thursday he left to return to the handies and found that his house had been taken. He was informed that Mr. John Boyes was looking for him, as were also the police who had taken the knives away, because he had killed Boregana in Ruaraka, and Evans Karanjali (Mr. John Boyes) had given instructions for his arrest.

Accused, however, said he had not been willing to go to Kenia, but he was quite prepared to go to either Nairobi or Kyanja, and asked if European who was leading a group of men on a wagon at the handies to take him into Nairobi. On arrival at Nairobi he was met at the station by two men who arrested him, and was later taken to the office in charge of the C.I.D. who asked him why he had killed the boys.

I said I knew nothing about it, and had been accused for making "accused" statement. Accused had nothing further to say, but he asked to call four witnesses of his own tribe. The hearing was interrupted and adjourned until Monday.

ENORMOUS CLAIMS OUTSTANDING AGAINST SOUTHERN TERRITORIES.

New York, December 18. The Principality of Monaco is lodging an application to the Supreme Court for permission to sue the State of Mississippi for the repayment, plus interest of 100,000 dollars worth of bonds on which Mississippi defaulted over 90 years ago. Before the prosecution can proceed, the Supreme Court must first pass on a provision in the Mississippi constitution of 1835 prohibiting the payment of bonds.

A successful suit would doubtless be followed by enormous claims, especially by British and Dutch holders of Southern States' defaulted bonds.

VALUE OF PSYCHOLOGY IN INDUSTRY.
Special Series of Tests for "Rhythm".

REDUCED COSTS.
"STANDARD" COURSEWORK.
London, December 21st.
(By Air Mail)
Striking examples of the application of science in the industry including the value of rhythm, are given in the annual report of the National Institute of Industrial Psychology. Investigations of the human factor in industry have covered a wide field ranging from the labour organization in a gold mine to the selection of the most fitting work position. In one case the other side of a firm of glass manufacturers were reduced by 14,000 a year largely through the elimination of the repeated copying and remounting of plates in colour research.

Rhythm Inquiry.
A general investigation was conducted into "rhythm" for this purpose a series of tests has been devised using monocular visual and auditory rhythm, and rhythm of the hand. The degree of emphasis with which work is done is noted. The tests showed that of two groups of typists the more rhythmic group were 18 per cent quicker than the less rhythmic. The psychological tests showed that one could measure more quickly if given instructions in rhythm, and a new teaching scheme is being devised accordingly. Similar tests are being applied to those engaged in repetitive work and machine feeding. Among the particular tasks investigated were similar to many other industrial processes it is suggested that training in rhythmic methods will prove of practical value.

Understandings which made use of the services of the Institute during the year included the Post Office and Imperial Airways. The latter selection committee after a psychological investigation of their science and temperament in the Institute.

A Tanganyika Appointment.

Forty-one years of age, Mr. Gilbert came to Tanganyika as an Assistant Director of Agriculture on March 20, 1920 and has since held the post. estate. There have been various enquiries into agricultural finance but the plight of the farmer has not been adequately appreciated nor have international efforts been made to seek a solution to the present problems. It is true that so far-reaching a proposal as a policy of currency inflation based on charges on only from the deliberations of a committee dealing with a sectional problem but had the Committee been permitted full scope for enquiry, the country would have been better equipped to face an event from which there is no certainty of escape and are not dead at an early date. The position remains today. There is no real security of tenure for the tenant or the borrower and the condition that no application for protection from foreclosure can be made to the Court unless the farmer has been kept in full order and all interest charges promptly paid, is exactly the condition which many farmers are unable to fulfil. Some help of relief was given by the Land Bank but the very limited amount of money which the capital represents together with facilities from raising the interest rates of existing mortgages which might otherwise have been the case. The normal course is that a large sum of money—much of it borrowed from conventional banks who should be interested in the agricultural investment because it is not easy to get a loan to the farmers—goes to the bank and on account to the country and no solution of the problem of means of raising the interest rates of the mortgage of the existing loans which are a great trouble to the farmer. There has been talk of a simple scheme of little use to the banker and of no use to the farmer. It is proposed to set up a mortgage and to provide a guarantee and to provide a guarantee and to provide a guarantee.

ALTHOUGH nearly 80 years of age, "Happy" Houston, 116-year-old, was the subject of a newspaper article in the London Morning Post. It is claimed by the paper that he is able to identify the faces of all the people who have been in the world since the time of the first pair of Adam and Eve.

...the large and important coffee and sisal area near Nairobi, is planning for progressive changes in the place in plantation methods and during the past few years the district has built up a fine skilled labour force away from the Africans.

The area has weathered the storm and if cheaper money can be obtained for development and if prices, still sagging, rise once more to a reasonable level there is no doubt that renewed prosperity will follow.

THE DAILY INDUSTRY—THE BREED QUESTION

To the Editor, "E.A. Standard." Sir—It does seem a pity that your correspondence column should continue to be taken up on this subject. I am sure that you are developing a method for the development of the breed of the Kenyan, when we are in a position to get an influx of new material. I should think that nothing could make a progressive writer more diffident about trying his luck in Kenya than the fact that after a number of articles about the subject there should be this constant correspondence on the subject of the Kenyan breed. It is especially as each advocate of a breed is so sure of the fact that he will under the highly adverse circumstances to which they are subject to Kenya.

Redistribution Rates on the Railway

CONTINUES GOVERNING INTERESTS

Reduction from Road Competition

GENERAL MANAGER ON DISADVANTAGES OF SYSTEM

The General Manager of the Kenya and Uganda Railways and Harbours is prepared to recommend the re-introduction of distribution rates on the railway, providing that the railway is afforded sufficient protection from motor competition.

This statement was made by the General Manager in Legislative Council yesterday during the debate on a Motion for the re-introduction of the Chiragga of Goods by Motor (Prohibition) Ordinance. He added that railway revenue was not affected by the re-introduction or otherwise of these rates.

He pointed out, however, that distribution rates had certain disadvantages for those who used them, and that there might be other ways of dealing with the problem.

He would in any way, continued General Kibice, to re-introduce the distribution rates system if the production of road competition would only lead for a year or two. The railway must have a greater degree of protection than the present temporary form of continuing the Ordinance from year to year.

The Road Solution

An important question that has arisen in the course of the Kenya and Uganda Railways and Harbours Bill is whether the Government should introduce a system of distribution rates to be levied on goods transported by motor vehicles.

The question was first raised by the General Manager in Legislative Council when he was asked to recommend the re-introduction of the Chiragga of Goods by Motor (Prohibition) Ordinance.

He pointed out, however, that distribution rates had certain disadvantages for those who used them, and that there might be other ways of dealing with the problem.

General O'Duffy's arrest has caused a profound sensation in the Irish Free State, just as no disaster has revealed. He and two companions were detained last night at the Victoria police barracks, near which soldiers wearing dark helmets kept guard. It is understood that the premises will be brought to Dublin this afternoon and lodged in the Phoenix Hill sub-prison.

Improvement in British Finances

COUNTRY MUST BE BETTER OFF THAN LAST YEAR

More Work for Unemployed

SUCCESS OF PARLIAMENTARY DEMOCRATIC INSTITUTIONS

It is hoped that by Christmas as many as 800,000 unemployed would have been found work during the year. This forecast was made by Sir John Simon in a speech at Stoke-on-Trent during which he reviewed the present situation in Britain.

While former cheerfulness was not advisable, he advised a reasonable optimism: He pointed out that British finances were £40,000,000 better off at the end of the first half of the financial year than during the previous year.

Round the Shops.

NAIROBI Christmas shopping has lagged a little this year but is showing signs of brightening up. The remaining days of the week should see the usual eleven-hour crowds of anxious shoppers swarming through the shops wearing their usual straw parties, too, and it is surprising how large a volume of trade is done quietly beforehand in preparation for the cheerful gatherings in gardens and homes.

Lady Byrns.

Lady Byrns returned to the Colony at the week-end and was met at the Coast by Her Excellency the Governor. They arrived in the Capital on Monday. Lady Byrns, who has lately been absent from her holiday at Home, was accompanied by her daughter Mrs. Smith and the child's small son.

Round the Shops.

Here is a little preparation of information about clothes presented on the pages of the evening dress magazine.

The younger set—certain members at least—of the fashion-coloured stuffs and suggestive having been made in the same sense as with Paris. Queens in long gowns, they are, with faded and faded shades of blue, which light down the back and the sides. The bodies are draped, and the skirt is draped, and the two drapes, meeting at the back of the waist and then falling in a big bow.

Five to twelve dresses, with signs of departing this season. They are mostly single and made usually of crepe, or tulle, or silk, or wool, and other rich tones. Some are white, some are black, some are colored. Some are long, some are short, some are long, some are short, some are long, some are short.

A Useful Recipe.

Seven Souffle of Potatoes. One pound of potatoes, three eggs, three ounces butter, one and a half ounces flour, half-pint milk, one ounce lard.

Cook the potatoes in cold water overnight. Put them in a pan with the milk and add two ounces of sugar and a few pieces of butter and cook slowly till the milk is quite thick. Add the potatoes and the butter, and stir in the eggs with the egg-whites and the flour, and stir in the potatoes through a wire sieve, and mix in the juice of a lemon and the salt. Beat the egg-whites and add them to the mixture. Turn into a buttered soufflé dish, and cook in a moderate oven for half an hour.
