Competitors winning exports race

CHANCELLOR TELLS OF WAY TO RECOVERY

BRITAIN was warned by the Chancellor of the Exchequer, Mr. Macmillan, in a television broadcast on Saturday night that it was being outpaced and underbid by "the Germans, the Americans, the Japanese and other people." Defending his latest measures to curb inflation, he said that the flow in Britain's prosperity was going to be taking some of Britain's share of the exports and other people, who were not competing actively with us until recently, are doing better than we are.

The world's trade is growing all the time, but our share of it is creeping downwards all the time. If we do not get a big share of it in a few years ago, we will be getting enough to pay for our imports."

Mr. Macmillan said: "Why aren't we doing as well as our competitors? One reason is that we are spending so much money here that too many goods are being produced which ought to be sold abroad. Besides, our goods are faster than other people's and that makes our goods harder to sell. Too easy to sell at home, too hard to sell abroad—all the result of too much spending."

Britain could not deal with the money by devaluing the pound, as she did in 1949. He said: "Apart from any other thing, it would shake the world's faith in the pound, which is worth a great deal of money."

WRECKED IN EXPLOSION: FOUR DEATHS

Cigarette lit near 27 tons of gunpowder

DAR ES SALAAM POLICE INVESTIGATE MYSTERY

Three men and a woman were killed and eight others injured — four of them seriously — when a gunpowder explosion wrecked a bus 30 miles from Dar es Salaam on Sunday night. All the victims were Africans.

The bus had stopped at a leshop at Ute where the driver, truck collector and a few passengers got off. Misses A to M, a passenger in the small first-class compartment, had a packet by his side with 27 tons of gunpowder in it. He lit a cigarette with a match and three minutes later the explosion occurred.

Misses was among the dead, and Dar es Salaam police, although last night discounting any suggestion of a plot to blow up the bus, was investigating the mystery of how he came to have 27 tons of gunpowder, especially as a bus company has a ban on such goods. They are even certain by the District Officer, but not for such large amounts.

One of the dead was the driver, who was sitting behind the driver's cabin, was blown off in his bid to get behind the partitions separating the first-class from the second-class compartment. He was lying on his back with a foot and powder burnt marks the whole of the inside of the bus.

The driver's car was blowing from the passenger side of the bus. The driver's car was blown off the road and the bus was damaged, but not seriously. The driver's car was blown off the road and the bus was damaged, but not seriously.

Uganda plans more power projects

Survey below Owen Falls

SURVEYS of the Victoria Nile have shown that there is a potential hydro-electric output of 500,000 K.W. in the 18-mile stretch of the river below the Owen Falls. This amount of power can be generated in either two or three stages, Mr. W. D. Fenton, chairman of the Uganda Electricity Board, said yesterday.

At present it is believed that three dams could be built, the first one having an output of 100,000 K.W. per annum. A detailed examination of a number of sites for power being made.

10,000 CAR WORKERS GO ON SHORT-TIME Sale by U.S. of surplus cotton stocks

EFFORT TO WIN BACK MARKETS

THE U.S. Secretary of Agriculture, Mr. Tamm, has announced that the United States would offer its stocks of surplus cotton on the world market at competitive prices beginning on August 1.

By this move, the United States has indicated a new effort to restructure its cotton markets throughout the world. The aim is to export about 5,000,000 bales of surplus short-staple, or upland, cotton on a competitive basis with other nations.

The Agriculture Department has already sold about 80,000 bales from a 1,000,000 bale surplus cotton programme in the past.

Mr. Tamm announced that the United States would offer its stocks of surplus cotton on the world market at competitive prices beginning on August 1.

He said: "I think we will be effective in getting back the cotton we lost, and that cotton will sell at a price well above the price we would have received if we had sold it on the spot market."

Mr. Tamm said he was making the announcement to permit the domestic cotton industry and foreign buyers to make a more forward sale purchase.

STORY INTO THE ORIGINS OF MAU MAU Government accepts Member's demand REPORT'S FINDINGS TO BE MADE PUBLIC

A MOTION calling for an inquiry into the origins, methods and growth of Mau Mau was accepted by the Kenya Government in Legislative Council last night.

The Chief Secretary, Mr. R. G. Turnbull, said there would be an examination by "a suitably qualified person" appointed by the Government. A report of the findings would be made to the Government.

The motion was moved by Group Capt. L. S. Briggs (Mount Kenya), who had urged that the inquiry should also consider whether deficiencies in the Government should be made public.

Mr. Turnbull said that the Government intended that the report of the inquiry should be made public. If any of the findings were based on secret documents, however, it was inevitable that part of the report would have to be withheld. He welcomed statements from Group Capt. Briggs and Mr. Humphrey Slade (Aberdeen) that they were not seeking public hearings. The Government could not have accepted the motion if it had been a case of a public inquiry, he said.

During the motion, Group Capt. Briggs raised a question on the subject of the Mau Mau incident in December, 1952. At that time the Government was unable to supply information on the subject. The Government was asked to give information on the subject. The Government was asked to give information on the subject.

BY SHIP AND PLANE - TO A GAME PARK

A visit to the Queen Elizabeth National Park in Uganda

Only a limited amount of time to spare and a longing to get away for a short week more pleasant places to visit than the Queen Elizabeth National Park in any way to get there by an inclusive air trip from Nairobi to the park. And drives through the park are included in the cost of the holiday, so we were able to afford a week for the holiday, so we from Nairobi by lake steamer and on the plane at Entebbe, and its luxury progress up the

SALT INDUSTRY

The lodge consists of a series of log-houses made from the trunks of the Mukoko tree, which grow on the south side of the park, connected together, with dirt roads made from the log trunks, which grow inside the lake.

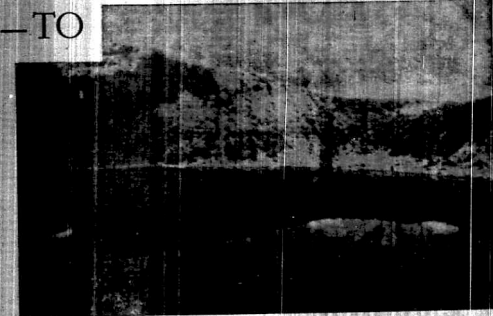

From the verandah of the lodge where I sat on that first afternoon, I watched five large elephants marching peacefully on the low right bank of the lake. Slowly they plodded down a track on the left bank. Then, came a water-buck and even a pair of meerkats, while in the water itself, which had looked like a feeding hole, began to move about in two small ones, a pair of crocodiles and one appeared above and then went and a hippo swam in.

Next day, we drove over to the salt pans and saw a herd of Kudu antelope surrounded by it, but the possibility of any kind of big game was not seen. The only thing I saw was a herd of Kudu antelope, a pair of crocodiles, and a pair of meerkats. Later in the afternoon, I saw a pair of crocodiles and a pair of meerkats.

HUGE CRATER

Driving up a small tree above the salt pans, we saw the horn of a huge crater, the bottom of which is filled with a large amount of bright white salt. From the shore there were great banks of salt, some of which were very pure, some containing slowly of red and black iron ore.

Was not in the shallow water were men, women and boys gathering the salt and bringing it to the shore on rafts. With us on each salt wagon, in the store of the park, was a salt-bath industry, where the three of salt-bath men were attempting to the country's salt. Which was used with salt and left to

THE WATERFOWL

Some of the fish is smoked by an ingenious, primitive method which consists of stacking the kipper-like on top of a bed of long sticks and over a wood fire which burns in a hole in the ground.

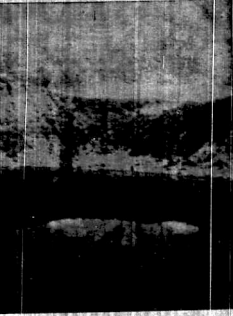

DUST-BATH

The last time to see an elephant is in the late afternoon. One day, we were fortunate enough to have to halt in two positions for parties first of all, and then of all, to cross the road in front of the house.

At about, one of the huge water-bucks led by her mate, the Queen Elizabeth National Park. On the right bank, on the shore of the lake, the water-buck was seen in the ground.

Later, when we were in the Kanga Channel, we saw a pair of black and white swans, a pair of black and white swans, and a pair of black and white swans.

The most interesting geological feature of the park is the explosion crater, which is an area of about 80 square miles. The top of the crater is about 1,000 feet above the level of the sea. The crater is filled with a large amount of white salt.

from Lake George to the west of the lake, the water-buck was seen in the ground. The water-buck was seen in the ground.

It was on a very quiet night when we were there that we noticed a great many of the birds in the distance.

The most interesting geological feature of the park is the explosion crater, which is an area of about 80 square miles. The top of the crater is about 1,000 feet above the level of the sea.

This article, in the "Holidays in East Africa" series, is by Barbara Mackintosh.

The 26-mile drive to Mervy Lodge was over dry, rising ground, devoid of tall trees, but plentifully dotted with large euphorbia, many of which were covered in small pink, cream or yellow flowers, growing out of their sharp, silvery branches, and low bushes on which the elephant fed.

SWITCHBACK ROAD

It was a hot, busy day and the afternoon breeze was blotted out by a pall of heat rain and cloud which rises up the hills in places and extends a good distance into the air. The road was a series of sharp curves, and we were able to see the lake and the mountains in the distance.

The Queen Elizabeth National Park was declared a park in 1909. It was the first national park in Uganda. It was the first national park in Uganda.

From Nairobi it was a 16-hour drive to the park. The drive was over a dirt road, and we were able to see the lake and the mountains in the distance.

Colour, New Silhouettes And Fine Finish

By DOROTHY FOX

THE Spring Collections of the members of the Incorporated Society of London Fashion Designers were outstanding this season for their colour schemes. For the designers and for the excellent quality of cut and finish, those whose speciality is suits, contrast themselves the "star classic" a field in which no one can touch world.

This time was no exception, but more women showed a greater shorter jacket than last season, which had been shortened by about two inches.

Casual elegance

Jackets for the most part included either their accented waist line and more of the skirt, particularly those of the Hardy Amies, were rather cut with their swinging lines, a smooth flow line had been introduced in this line, but the jacket in general has been a little more formal.

In suits, Michael showed the much has been written, the collar and blouse line of the skirt tapered into the line which was certainly extremely becoming, the skirt being a simple and elegant line.

The same line fit to the collar of other blouses, particularly by of Lachance and John.

THE PRINCESS LINE A SMART FIT

FASHION is largely a question of fit, and there are few styles which do not move smartly fitting into this Princess Line dress.

Under line of the dress tapers to a small waist, and the skirt flares to an attractive full skirt.

Easy laundering. The dress is made with a synthetic fabric which is easy to wash and does not require special care.

MORE COMPETITION FROM ITALY

"THIS month I introduce yet another Italian film star wondering how much more competition he is going to come their way."

The name of Italy's latest only young actress is Luciana Castellani — and remember the name for I predict — as with Sophia Loren — that Luciana is going to have a very big career. Her film, "The Girl in Paradise," with Placido Domingo, and "The Girl in Paradise," with Placido Domingo.

As for Luciana you may have seen her in passing as Luciana Castellani, sister of Oscar Castellani, in "The Girl in Paradise." Of all Italian stars I've met she seems to have that certain something. I put my bet on Luciana.

If Italy is now making of Luciana Castellani — starting with "I predict" — she is destined to be a very big star. It is not surprising that she is now making a name for herself in Hollywood.

ONE DECISION SAVED THE COMET

THE telephone rang at my home on Sunday afternoon, January 16, 1954, with the report of the first mysterious Comet accident. The second occurred on April 8. After less than two years of operation, which had been full of promise, all Comets were withdrawn and an investigation, unprecedented in the industry, was immediately begun. No ordinary curiosity of safety aspects would have been adequate—that had been done.

These Prisons Are Paradise

Inside the prison, inmates are kept in large, airy cells... The cells are large and airy, with plenty of light and ventilation.

Poley Goes On Safari...

I think we ought to go on safari," said Poley, the white Teddy bear, to his friend Sparty Dog. "You know, Sparty Dog, I've got a new idea. We'll take Poley's bicycle and ride to the top of the mountain. I'll take the bicycle and you'll take the dog. We'll see what we can do." Poley was very excited. He had never been to the top of the mountain before.

"We should have been going to the top of the mountain before we were here," said Poley. "I've been thinking about it for a long time. I want to see what it's like. I want to see the top of the mountain." Poley was very excited. He had never been to the top of the mountain before.

"Do you remember the bottle-catcher?" asked the boy. "I do," said Poley. "I remember it very well. It was a very nice bottle-catcher. I liked it very much. I liked it very much. I liked it very much." Poley was very excited. He had never been to the top of the mountain before.

Great wealth may lie under Nepal's rugged mountains

IN the Himalayas Mountains, between Tibet and India, in Nepal—the least known of the United Nations' newest members—has been located the richest source of minerals in the world. It has been brought into the news from time to time by expeditions to climb Mount Everest and other Himalayan peaks.

But the first of the United Nations' newest members to be known to the world is Nepal. It is a small country, but it is rich in minerals. It is a small country, but it is rich in minerals. It is a small country, but it is rich in minerals.

THE ULTRA-RICH IN BRITAIN ARE DWINDLING

BRITISH taxation is slowly but surely doing away with the really ultra-rich, while British property is slowly doing away with the numbers of the comfortably rich—the business executives who can afford a lobby farm in the country, a luxury flat in London, and private schooling for the children and a fair amount of expensive holidays abroad for the family.

KENYA'S PIONEERS IN THE MUSIC WORLD

MUSIC WORLD

It is a far cry from the days of 1910, when the first production of "The Firebrand" was presented by the Parklands Sports Club and "Glorious Sports" was a week-end party, complete with rickshaws and a brass band. It was the first of the "Pioneers" at the National Theatre.

Great popularity

At that time, two people were being deeply interested in musical entertainment. Parklands and have realized their great popularity.

White Paper on Kenya taxation

"rather pathetic"

ATTACK BY COL. GHERSI

WHITE PAPER on the Kenya Treasury for 1938-39 reform described in the Kenya Legislative Council by Col. G. Gheresi (Member for Kiambu) on Wednesday, as an "astonishing" lack of imagination, and a rather pathetic attempt to evade all the responsibilities of the Government.

Colony can afford that, if it is to be a self-sufficient country, it must be able to pay its own way. Col. Gheresi said that the White Paper was "rather pathetic" because it did not provide for any increase in the revenue of the Government. He said that the Government should be able to pay its own way, and that it should not be dependent on the British Government for its revenue.

10 YEARS OF PROGRESS BY ALL-KENYA FIRM

One European Employee £1,000

Now a £100,000 business!

Has grown being short of success stories, but few can compare with the amazing growth of 'C.B.V.'

Started by three young local men, two the sons of pre-War One Pioneer, Mr. C. W. K. K. and his brother, they pooled their resources in business, and by the 1st March, 1946, saw their little business flourish.

Freddie and Keith Campling and Hank Van der Wal were worth £1,000, but their greatest assets were their energy, ability and a boundless capacity for hard work.

Taking over the small shop on the outskirts of Nairobi in Westland in which Keith Campling had been conducting the radio business since his return from the B.A.F., the activities of the Company started with radio, tubes and servicing, and a motor car repair station with an Italian technician-German assistant, Mr. Keith Campling, however, had purchased the salvage business of a "Tom-cob" (two-car) aircraft, originally imported by Mr. John Carberry just before the War, taken over by the B.A.F. and used as a personal plane by the C.O. of the station. It was rebuilt, painted and made ready for use in the East, and it was rebuilt, painted and made ready for use in the East, and it was rebuilt, painted and made ready for use in the East.

The agency for "Piper" was obtained in 1941, two small Piper Cub two-seater trainers came through up from South Africa, and, with periodic deliveries of U.S.A.F. types, considerable work of repair and maintenance was done by MacDonald, Lee Oliver and son and assisted.

The maintenance and repair workshop handles not only aircraft but also motor cars and trucks.

CAMPLING BROS & VANDERWAL LIMITED

Headquarters of the C.B.V. organization and the C.V. 'On Road' department.

MR. H. K. CAMPLING

MR. H. VAN DER WAL

South African-born, but now resident in Nairobi, Mr. Campling's distinguished career in the B.A.F. was a personal plane by the C.O. of the station. It was rebuilt, painted and made ready for use in the East, and it was rebuilt, painted and made ready for use in the East.

A holder of the rank of 2nd Lieut. in the Royal Air Force, Mr. Van der Wal was a member of the B.A.F. and was in charge of the C.B.V. 'On Road' department.

It is believed the most important and comprehensive requirement of the C.B.V. is to be met in Africa. The need of it should be made up of "Bomber" types, Coastal, Bomber and Fighter, with operating bases and workshops in Nairobi, Mombasa and Dar es Salaam.

The Company's flying training schools have trained some 250 pilots. On the whole, the aircraft are in good condition and are well serviced. The Company's aircraft carry 2,000 to 7,000 passengers monthly. These passengers have included raw Africans who have been trained since 1940.

A portion of the C.B.V. fleet, including the Blenheim 'Tink' and a Comet and a Blenheim.

Comet Air Charter & Agency Ltd., now subsidiary of "C.B.V." "Comet" is the only regular charter service to operate the Lake Air Charter service from Dar es Salaam, and this has been one of the main reasons for the success of the C.B.V. service.

Less recently, perhaps, but well deserving of notice is the progress of the electronic and photographic division under the care of Mr. Newbould. This policy has been one of personal service and careful attention to ensure the provision of the best equipment, backed by a maintenance organization of the first order.

The staff of the administration and financial aspects of the business, which now has a share capital of £100,000, is headed by Mr. H. K. Campling. The company has a staff of 100 employees. The company has a staff of 100 employees. The company has a staff of 100 employees.
