PAKISTAN DECLARED

Expected to remain in Commonwealth

SOLEMN ASSURANCE ON RIGHTS OF HINDUS

PAKISTAN yesterday became the second country of the British Commonwealth to declare itself a Republic. The Bill setting up an Islamic Republic, which was passed on Wednesday by a vote of 121 to 10 by the Constituent Assembly in Karachi, was yesterday given the assent of the Governor-General, Maj.-Gen. Iskander Mirza. The Speaker of the Constituent Assembly recited a verse from the Holy Koran before formally presenting the Constitution to the Governor-General.

In accordance with a declaration made at the Commonwealth Prime Ministers' conference in London last year, Prime Minister, Mr. Mohammad Ali, is expected to propose that Pakistan, like India, should remain a sovereign, independent Republic within the Commonwealth. Mr. Ali, in a nation-wide broadcast on Thursday, said that the Government hoped to hold a General Election within the shortest possible time.

Presidential election

The first President of the new Republic, who must be a Muslim, will be elected on Monday. The Muslim Union Front, which was responsible for framing the new Constitution, has decided to nominate the Governor-General as President. In India, a referendum is being held to decide whether the rights were not fully safeguarded under the new Constitution, said in a short speech before assenting to the Bill. "As long as I am head of State I will regard the rights of my Hindu brethren as my own and shall be personally responsible for their well-being and safety."

Mr. Mohammad Ali, in his broadcast, said that Pakistan was opening a new and glorious chapter in its history. The new Constitution, which embodied the aspirations of the people, was a visible, living symbol of the unity of nation, which would give sanctity to its democratic urges and would ensure their realization.

He said that the basic principles of the Constitution were supremacy of the will of the people, religious freedom and an individual liberty.

Gales upset shipping

Gales which lashed the British seas throughout Thursday night resulted in heavy shipping casualties. A R.A.F. helicopter crashed into the sea from a rock off Northern Ireland after the pilot was blown from the cockpit by the force of the gale.

The Cockburn British merchant vessel Cross, was sent south of the Cornish coast. Heavy seas and a low tide were the cause of the accident. The Cross was taken to New Plymouth.

The announcement was a surprise to everyone in Amman. The general, British commander of the Legion since 1939, left with his family for London by air.

He is reported by his assistant, Brig. Haidar, to have been surprised by the decision. The decree also named the service of Col. Sir Patrick Cavanagh as head of the Legion's Intelligence office.

These moves follow Jordan's decision not to join the Middle East Defence Pact which is an Arab nation. The Arab Legion is reported to be negotiating with anti-western forces.

M.P.s DISCUSS THE ARMY BUDGET ALL NIGHT

Coal whitewashed admission. The House of Commons yesterday had a debate on the Army Budget of £249,000,000 for the coming year. The debate lasted for 16 hours. Mr. George Weir, Labour, vying up the debate for the Opposition, said: "It is a pity to see Britain live in a world in which military power counts."

Mr. Anthony Bald, Conservative, said that the Government should not be spending so much on the Army when there is so much unemployment in the country. He said that the Government should be spending more on social services and education.

TENDER SYSTEM EXPLAINED

Ald. Udall's evidence to the Commission of Inquiry

ALD CHARLES UDALL, a member of the Nairobi City Council since 1951 and chairman of the Tender Board for several years, gave evidence before the Commission of Inquiry yesterday on the system of tendering adopted in the City.

He said it was proper, or improper, for a contract to be awarded by letters from the City Engineer, or the Deputy City Engineer, he said that every tender should go before the Board. He agreed that the acceptance of a tender depended very largely on the City Engineer's recommendation.

The Board was not required to make an explanation if it accepted other than the lowest tender.

Another witness was Mr. A. W. Kent, City Treasurer, who deposed that the Commission in entering into an agreement with the tenderers for the re-erecting of gas lines used on work done by the City Engineer, the Board was not required to make an explanation if it accepted other than the lowest tender.

Mr. Kent said that the Commission in entering into an agreement with the tenderers for the re-erecting of gas lines used on work done by the City Engineer, the Board was not required to make an explanation if it accepted other than the lowest tender.

Many politicians lag far behind the Church in outlook

FROM one angle the recent union of the Executive Presbyteries of the Church of Scotland and the Presbyteries of East Africa is not a very important event because both bodies were bodies of the same mother—the Church of Scotland that from ancient times the significance of this event cannot be over-estimated. Since the union has incorporated the European and the African Churches into one body, it is a wonder if the politicians have realised the implications fully. It is evident from the governmental actions of the East African States that East African politicians are far behind the Church in their outlook. It is after reflections that they should consider against the wise counsel of the Church leaders when they themselves propagate the values of the nations from which they have received from the Church. Truly speaking, I am afraid that the East African politicians are not yet imbued with the "culture" and "civilisation" of the nations from the mouths of the sophisticated politicians. Behind these words I have a suspicion of their selfish intentions. Many of us who are Christians would want to see the East African States in the form of one. Whether the East African States are united or not is because of political interests. The East African politicians should take a lesson learned in politics for the good of the world. Some might say what about the had things done in the past in the name of religion. I cannot deny this. Many have used the name of religion to further their interests. It is not the fault of religion. Kenya's own politicians have played a reactionary and negative attitude in this regard. It is a pity to see that the East African politicians are not yet imbued with the "culture" and "civilisation" of the nations from the mouths of the sophisticated politicians. Behind these words I have a suspicion of their selfish intentions. Many of us who are Christians would want to see the East African States in the form of one. Whether the East African States are united or not is because of political interests. The East African politicians should take a lesson learned in politics for the good of the world. Some might say what about and that it happened right in front of her. Ahn, that she was disappointed about the poor reception of the conference for bringing together Africans. She thought that so much would have been done for Africans who ran over the day. One of the things she saw was that she should take pains to see that the East African politicians are not yet imbued with the "culture" and "civilisation" of the nations from the mouths of the sophisticated politicians. Behind these words I have a suspicion of their selfish intentions. Many of us who are Christians would want to see the East African States in the form of one. Whether the East African States are united or not is because of political interests. The East African politicians should take a lesson learned in politics for the good of the world. Some might say what about have gambled with the interest of the people. It is not their own personal ends. This was the opportunity for government to Kenya to support the East African States. These views are not foreign to us—they are to improve the lives and better the lives of the African people. Politically speaking, the Kenya African People's Party is the people of a country like the United Kingdom. It is not that they are governed by direct rule, but they are to improve the lives and better the lives of the African people. ## WALKS DEAD AFTER DEMANDS ON CYPRUS

White Paper reveals three main issues

BRITAIN'S DEFENCE OF MINORITY RIGHTS

BRITAIN disclosed yesterday that recent negotiations with Archbishop Makarios, leader of the movement for uniting Cyprus with Greece, broke down over three main issues. The disputes were made in a White Paper which contained letters exchanged between the Archbishop and Field-Marshal Sir John Harding, the Governor of Cyprus. The Colonial Secretary, Mr. Lennox-Boyd, said the three vital points were—

1. Amnesty for all political prisoners on the immediate removal of Cyprus to Greece.
2. Whether, under self-government, the British Government should retain control of the Archbishop's power to pardon, which is an important power in Cyprus.
3. Demands for the Archbishop to relinquish his title of Archbishop of Cyprus, which would result in the loss of his minority in the proposed constituent assembly.

Mr. Lennox-Boyd said to Parliament a statement of the British Government policy as it was presented to Archbishop Makarios. This stated that it was the Government's position that the principle of self-determination can never be applicable to Cyprus.

Splinter from own grenade kills youth

A GREEK CYPRIOT youth was killed on his own bomb.

An announcement said a shot had been fired by a young man during the school day which threw a grenade, the only one used, during the rehearsal. It was assumed that the shot had been fired by a student. The incident has revealed the position of the Cypriot army being hit by a splinter from its own bomb.

The funeral of the youth, 19-year-old George Christopoulos, was held in Paphos yesterday. The youth was killed in the south where a Greek Cypriot army is training in the use of a grenade.

FOUNDERS

The founders of the Cyprus Republic are to be crowned as heroes by the Government in a ceremony to be held in Nicosia. The ceremony will be held on the 20th anniversary of the independence of Cyprus.

POWERS OF GOVERNOR

On February 2, the Archbishop proposed that the powers of the Governor should be reduced. The proposal was not satisfactory to the Greek Government. The Archbishop's proposal would give the Governor a veto over the Archbishop's proposals, except for the appointment and removal of the Governor, who would be appointed by the British Government, but have no right to veto.

MINISTERS' UNDERTAKING

After a further exchange of letters between the Archbishop and Sir John Harding, the White Paper was published. The White Paper made by Mr. Lennox-Boyd to the Archbishop, in which the Government's proposals were outlined.

The Colonial Secretary gave an undertaking that British law and order had been established there and that an emergency measure would be taken if the Cyprus Government were to become involved in a situation which would be prejudicial to the interests of the United Kingdom.

British juvenile delinquency negligible compared with U.S.

Mr. Hillier, under-secretary of State for British Commonwealth Affairs, said that British juvenile delinquency was negligible compared with that of the United States. He said that in the United States, the number of juvenile delinquents was 10 times as many as in Britain.

STRONGEST MISSION FIELD

Salvation Army's work in Africa

GEN. Wilfred Kitching, world leader of the Salvation Army, said that Africa was becoming the "strongest missionary field."

This was a view held by the general because of the vast numbers of people who are illiterate, or in the medical field.

Kitching said Africa was expanding in population and the African's religious and social life was also expanding in the years to come.

Indian restriction
"Constant missionaries in Africa place a premium on educating the Africans," said the general. All this activity is to be done in the light of the fact that Africa is a continent which is becoming more and more educated.

"In Africa we see a continent in the different ways we meet the needs of the continent. We are seeing a continent which has special qualifications in the field of work in the field of social work, in the field of spiritual work on the people."

QUESTIONS ON RUIRU DAM ENGINEER'S STATUS

Letter of appointment by City Council

up higher and the dam lower. Mr. Dixon: The question is having it larger or smaller. Am I right in saying that the Government of Kenya took advice, which they do doubt though the best advice from Mr. Dixon, was that the dam be built to 25 to 30 feet? You are right, Sir. His work was in 1945, and he reported later in the summer.

Nevertheless in spite of that, Mr. Dixon's main advice, you advised an increase from 25 feet to 60 feet, and it was adopted according to everybody's recollection. I may not be right, but it is a footing provides all the water that could be captured.

Mr. Dixon said a dam 35 feet high would cost £1,000,000 of some 200,000,000 gallons. The capacity of the dam is actually built, with 60-foot walls, was some 700,000,000 gallons.

Mr. Morgan: If that had not been done, and you had had another dam, it would have cost a very great deal more?

Mr. Dixon increased the dam to quite complete, because it would depend on the amount it would cost on the other side. It would have cost a very great deal more money, if the original expert's advice had been retained, and you had not even consulted an adviser to increase the height from 25 to 60 feet.

Replying to the chairman, with all the facts before him, the Nairobi area with 2,000,000 people and some 2,000,000,000 gallons of water, it was not a little thing.

Originally, he said, construction of the dam was by direct labour. At a very high cost, he suggested that the work be done by contract. The dam was finally crystallized in 1945.

More plant needed

Mr. Dixon read a letter dated May 28, 1955, from the Messrs. Brindley to Howard Humphreys and Sons. The letter stated that the dam being built to 60 feet, it was necessary that we shall require a considerable amount of plant. For the most part, we shall need to have a very large quantity of plant, considerably higher than the present one. It is in my view, that we shall need 150 to 200 tons of plant.

hand of Howard Humphreys the work of inspecting candidates proposed in London. The firm proposed to the Council after work to the chairman.

The chairman: I take it that Mr. Morgan is a contractor. Mr. Edington is an engineer.

Mr. Morgan: Most definitely. Mr. Edington is a contractor. He was an employee of the firm. He was an employee of the firm. He was an employee of the firm. He was an employee of the firm.

Mr. Morgan: I think we should have a list of minutes. They have a list of minutes. They have a list of minutes. They have a list of minutes.

Mr. Dixon referred to the staff list included the name of Mr. Edington. The heading was "Engineers' Department," which was under the Municipal Engineer.

Mr. Morgan: You did in fact receive some small fee for intervening in London in connection with the City Council?

Mr. Dixon: I think we received £500, approximately £200 over the five years.

Mr. Morgan: Most definitely. Mr. Edington is a contractor. He was an employee of the firm. He was an employee of the firm. He was an employee of the firm.

Mr. Dixon: That is perfectly correct. As we all know, he left only a month ago.

The Brentford Duo-therm Heat Pump is a single unit comprising hot water tank at bottom, and 1 1/2 cu. ft. refrigeration section for open freeze at top. Working on the Heat Pump principle it draws the heat from the air, and, installed in the pantry, keeps the whole air space at a low temperature for storing perishables. Ample hot water circulates throughout the house and radiator heats the house overhead. All electric and fully automatic, it saves money because you have all four services in one for less than half the cost of normal electric water heating.

Y MUST NOT FEAR PROSPERITY Mr. Vasey calls for faith in economy INFLATION FELT MAINLY BY BUILDING INDUSTRY

IF any controls were necessary to prevent inflation in Kenya, the first would probably be in the building industry, the Minister for Finance, Mr. E. A. Vasey, said yesterday in Kenya.

The Minister was opening a debate on his motion that the Government's White Paper on the cost of living be approved. Mr. Vasey said that the building sphere was the one in which inflationary pressure had been most felt. He said that the Government must not be afraid of prosperity, even if it meant some temporary inflation, and claimed that the failure of the recent Kenya tour was not the fault of the Colony, but of the state of the world market.

Anti-inflation measures, such as restriction on imports and buy-backs, would do more harm than good as the country's economy, Mr. Vasey said. Other members who complained about poor quality goods and the increasing number of two-car families using motor cars, the high cost of motor spares and the high price of inadequate bus services.

Mr. Vasey said a central bank is not yet necessary, although control had in fact taken place to some extent, as foreseen by the Loch Committee.

UPWARD TREND OWA CRADLE

The other Territories had shown somewhat similar trends since the war, the Minister said. The percentage increase between 1953 and 1955 was 14 per cent in Kenya, 15.5 per cent in Uganda and 19.5 per cent in Tanganyika.

It is not as if the cost of living had been a steady upward trend since the war, the Minister said. He said that the upward trend had been gradual and not as sharp as it has been in other areas, the Minister said.

What would the upward trend have been, if not for the croping situation?

Mr. Vasey said that the period prices in Britain had had to import materials, and that Kenya had not had the same. He said that the cost of living had been stable because of the rising cost of production in the country.

PRICE CONTROL A SHADOW

"The only thing still controlled were wheat, flour, and sugar," he said. The Price Control office had been reduced.

"We could, by a substitute price control, effect a similar situation," he said. This would be done by increasing the price of wheat, flour, and sugar, but by leaving other commodities free.

He said that the Government would have to increase the price of wheat, flour, and sugar, but by leaving other commodities free. He said that the Government would have to increase the price of wheat, flour, and sugar, but by leaving other commodities free.

PRESSURE FELT ON HOUSING

There was, however, a shortage of building materials, the Minister said. He said that the Government was doing its best to meet the demand for housing.

MORE EXPENDITURE ON TOURISM ADVISED

KENYA must spend money on the tourist industry if it is to attract any return, a leading expert believes. Mr. A. G. Forbes, a visitor to Kenya for a period of several months who was invited to examine the Kenya tour service, was here last Thursday in 1958. It was reported that he had been in Kenya for a period of several months and had visited the coast, the interior and the highlands. He said that Malindi had the most advanced advance in the country. There should be an air strip at Malindi large enough to handle a Douglas C-47, he said. "You must get to the top of the aircraft," he said, "if you are to get to Malindi."

Mr. Forbes said that Malindi had good roads and different grades of roads. "You have got to spend money on roads," he said. "You must get to the top of the aircraft," he said, "if you are to get to Malindi."

Land rehabilitation success in colony

UNTIL 1911 the Machakos district had never had a surplus maize for sale. This year, if the rains are good, it is expected to produce a surplus of 80,000 bags or more, most of which will be kept stored within the district as an insurance against bad years.

The success is due to the rehabilitation programme initiated by the Government in 1911. The programme has resulted in the reclamation of large areas of land which were previously unusable.

The programme has also resulted in the improvement of the soil and the introduction of modern farming methods. This has led to a significant increase in the productivity of the land.

The success of the programme is a testament to the effectiveness of the Government's policies. It has provided a model for other parts of the colony.
