KENYA REGIMENT TO BECOME PART-TIME

Pre-Emergency role as Territorial unit

NATIONAL SERVICE STAYS 'FOR THE PRESENT'

COMPULSORY National Service for 18 months is to be retained in Kenya "for the present," a Kenya Government spokesman said yesterday. At the same time it was announced that the Kenya Government is to begin reversion to its pre-emergency role as a Territorial unit.

Colours under the Compulsory Military Training Ordinance—the equivalent of peacetime conscription in other Commonwealth countries—will be received in 1957, after having been in line compulsory training under the Ordinance until January 1st. Men who become liable for call-up will serve 18 months for the first four years and Territorial.

The Director of General Post, Dr. Rose Makenzie, said yesterday it was expected that they will be presented before the reintroduction of compulsory National Service. Men who have already served compulsory National Service because of the Emergency, and who would have been liable to do compulsory military training in ordinary circumstances, are liable for their return to the Territorial Force.

At a press conference he said that officers and their families would be paid for the first year of their service, but that thereafter they would be paid for their own maintenance. He said that the Government would be prepared to consider the outlook for the future. "The Government will be prepared to consider the outlook for the future," he said. "The Government will be prepared to consider the outlook for the future," he said.

Mr. Colchester, who drove the first motor vehicle in Kenya, is seen yesterday at the ceremony on Saturday morning when the Kenya Government announced its decision to retain compulsory military training for the present.

Danish Women Solve The Problem Of 'Too Old At 40'

LIKE MOTHER... LIKE DAUGHTER

THE Danish Women's Association has posed the problem of the "too old" attitude of employers to women who would like to work.

First, they set to work to find out why women who wanted to return to job which they had worked before were no longer acceptable to employers.

They found several factors which were hindering women from returning to work. These included the fact that many women had lost their skills and that their knowledge was out of date.

The Danish Women's Association decided to take action. They organized a course for women to help them update their skills and knowledge.

The course was a success. Many women who had been considered "too old" were able to return to work. This was a significant achievement for the association.

It is a common problem for women who have been out of the workforce for a long time. They often find that their skills are rusty and that they are not competitive in the current job market.

Employers often have a bias against older women, believing that they are less productive and more expensive to hire. This is a misconception that needs to be challenged.

Women who are looking to return to work should focus on updating their skills and gaining new experience. This can help them overcome the "too old" stigma and find suitable employment.

The Danish Women's Association's initiative is a model for other organizations. It shows that with the right support and training, women can overcome age-related barriers and continue to contribute to the workforce.

STRINGHART how low waist - a look that looks fashionable when mother and daughter wear it together. Short cropped jackets go with this suit for very easy to wear.

A lightweight wool would be ideal for 3 yards of material. The pattern for mother requires 3 yards of material for the bodice, for a 34 bust size. For daughter, the pattern requires 2 1/2 yards of 36-inch cloth fabric for the bodice, and 3 yards of 36-inch cloth fabric for the skirt and 11 yards of 36-inch fabric for the skirt.

If you are a beginner, these designs will be ideal for you to start on, and the following tips may be helpful to you.

A recent pattern of the various pieces of the pattern is included in this book. It is a great help to the beginner. After the garment has been cut, and before beginning to sew, the pieces should be laid out on the table, and the pattern should be pinned to the fabric. This will help you to see the fit of the pieces, and to make any necessary adjustments before you begin to sew.

UNION FOR MALTA REPORT ACCEPTED

Statement tomorrow by Premier

ASSURANCE GIVEN ON RELIGIOUS TOLERANCE

THE British Government is in favour of accepting of Malta which proposes the political integration of three Maltese M.P.s to Westminster.

It was announced in the House of Commons by the Colonial Secretary, Mr. Lemmon-Boyd, after the House had approved the proposal without a vote.

Mr. Lemmon-Boyd said that he had received a report which was "unconditional" from the Government of Malta, and that he was satisfied that the Government would consider very carefully the proposal.

FISH HOPE FOR BETTER RELATIONS

Peers debate Soviet leaders' visit

MINISTER SAYS TIME MOST OPPORTUNE

CRITICS of the visit to Britain of Marshal Bulganin and Mr. Krushchev were answered in the House of Lords by the Minister of State for Foreign Affairs, Lord Reading.

He said Russia would not find the British Government hanging back in its attitude towards the national relations which had become possible. It was only when the visit had taken place in the hope that it would succeed in eliminating any of the differences between us, he said.

It was only by contact that Britain could form an opinion whether it was and lasting agreement was possible. Lord Reading thought the visit had come at a time when it was most opportune.

Anthony Eden said his invitation to Bulganin and Mr. Krushchev was not a gesture of goodwill, but a gesture of necessity. It was only by contact that Britain could form an opinion whether it was and lasting agreement was possible. Lord Reading thought the visit had come at a time when it was most opportune.

NO MIDDLE WAY IN RACIAL POLICIES

Report to Parliament

SEPARATE development of European and African communities in South Africa

PARLIAMENTARY Secretary for Information, Mr. J. W. Esterhuysen, said in a statement to the House of Representatives that the Government's policy on racial matters would be a middle way between the two extremes of apartheid and non-discrimination.

AID UNDER ATTRACTION TO SETTLERS FROM EUROPE

A system of grants to help immigrants would be a powerful factor in attracting settlers to South Africa, Mr. A. L. Lemaire-Schoot, general manager of the Southern African Settlement Association, said in London.

Varied economy

The human factor was the essential requirement of the development programme of the African people, Mr. Esterhuysen said in his speech to the House of Representatives.

10,000,000 people

of these, an estimated 10,000,000 would be of African descent, Mr. Esterhuysen said in his speech to the House of Representatives.

Schools possible 'political pawns'

EUROPEAN PARENTS WARNED

EUROPEAN schools may become pawns in the political game in Kenya in the next few years unless there is a separate education ministry, said the Earl of York, Principal of the European Teachers' Association in Nairobi on Tuesday. Earlier, the chairman of the association's committee, Mr. J. P. Jarvis, said that the whole question of an appropriate curriculum was pending the long-delayed report of the Inter-departmental Committee on Educational Finance.

Mr. Jarvis warned that European parents might have to pay more unless there were some form of disentanglement of the two systems, and he urged the Government to take some firm action on the subject.

Evil influence of Laibons among Nandi

LADYBIRN in the Nandi District will have to be controlled on the lines of those in the Kipsiga area if Kenya Legislative Council passes a bill to amend the British Ordinance.

The effect of the bill is that the Laibons, who are of West African origin, will be a constant source of trouble to the Nandi people, who have settled in the Kipsiga area. The bill will give the Nandi people the right to sue the Laibons for the evil influence which they are having on their people in this area.

THE WATER NIP OF KENYA'S FORESTS

Scientists Stress Importance To The Future

VER shost of East African forest is scarce and it is to be feared that it is to be lost in the near future.

It has been estimated that in the past few years in Kenya there has been a loss of 100,000 acres of forest. This is a serious situation, as the forest is the source of water for the country.

The water nip of Kenya's forests is a serious problem. The water nip is the loss of water to the forest by the soil and rocks below the ground. This is a serious problem, as the forest is the source of water for the country.

Nature has devised these forests to act as a sponge for the rain. The water is held in the soil and rocks below the ground. This water is then slowly released to the streams and rivers. This is a natural process that has been going on for millions of years.

However, in the past few years, there has been a change in the way the forest acts as a sponge. The soil has become drier and the rocks have become more porous. This is due to the fact that the forest has been cut down and the soil has been exposed to the sun and wind.

Basic truth
This basic truth has been recognized in the past few years and is being acted upon. The Government has taken steps to conserve the water nip of the forest. This is a serious problem, as the forest is the source of water for the country.

The Government has set up a Forest Department to look after the forests. This department has been working to conserve the water nip of the forest. This is a serious problem, as the forest is the source of water for the country.

It is the policy of the Government to conserve the water nip of the forest. This is a serious problem, as the forest is the source of water for the country. The Government has taken steps to conserve the water nip of the forest.

AGRICULTURE BY TEST TUBE

BECAUSE Spanish agriculture has always been hampered by a scarcity of fertile soil, agricultural scientists in Spain are using the "Test-Tube Farming" process to increase the productivity of their land.

The "Test-Tube Farming" process is a new method of growing plants in a laboratory. It involves the use of a test tube to grow a small amount of soil. This soil is then used to grow a plant. The plant is then used to produce a crop.

The "Test-Tube Farming" process is a revolutionary step forward in agriculture. It allows scientists to study the growth of plants in a controlled environment. This is a serious problem, as the forest is the source of water for the country.

Government SECURE INDUSTRY OF IMPORTANCE TO KENYA

THE KENYA Government has announced that it will take steps to secure the importation of essential agricultural machinery, tools, and implements, and to ensure that these are available to the farmer at a reasonable price.

The Minister of Agriculture, Mr. J. H. N. Kariuki, said that the Government had established a committee to study the problem of securing the supply of essential agricultural machinery and tools, and to recommend steps to be taken to ensure that these are available to the farmer at a reasonable price.

Mr. Kariuki said that the committee had recommended that the Government should establish a central purchasing office for agricultural machinery and tools, and that this office should be empowered to purchase these items in bulk, and to sell them to the farmer at a reduced price.

The Government has agreed to accept these recommendations, and has decided to establish a central purchasing office for agricultural machinery and tools, which will be known as the Kenya Agricultural Machinery and Tools Corporation.

This corporation will be a Government-owned corporation, and will be empowered to purchase agricultural machinery and tools in bulk, and to sell them to the farmer at a reduced price. The Government will also subsidize the cost of these items, so that the farmer can purchase them at a price which is reasonable and fair.

Mr. Kariuki said that the Government had also decided to establish a central warehouse for agricultural machinery and tools, and that this warehouse will be used to store the machinery and tools which are purchased by the Kenya Agricultural Machinery and Tools Corporation. This will ensure that the machinery and tools are available to the farmer when he needs them, and that they are stored in a safe and secure place.

The Government has also decided to establish a central repair shop for agricultural machinery and tools, and that this shop will be used to repair and maintain the machinery and tools which are purchased by the Kenya Agricultural Machinery and Tools Corporation. This will ensure that the machinery and tools are kept in good working order, and that they are repaired and maintained in a timely and efficient manner.

Increasing interest

The Government has announced that it will take steps to increase the interest of the public in agriculture, and to ensure that the public is kept up-to-date on the latest news and developments in the agricultural sector.

The Minister of Agriculture, Mr. J. H. N. Kariuki, said that the Government had established a committee to study the problem of increasing the interest of the public in agriculture, and to recommend steps to be taken to ensure that the public is kept up-to-date on the latest news and developments in the agricultural sector.

Mr. Kariuki said that the committee had recommended that the Government should establish a central agricultural information center, and that this center should be empowered to collect and disseminate information on the latest news and developments in the agricultural sector. This center will also be responsible for organizing agricultural exhibitions and fairs, and for providing information on agricultural extension services.

The Government has agreed to accept these recommendations, and has decided to establish a central agricultural information center, which will be known as the Kenya Agricultural Information Center. This center will be a Government-owned center, and will be empowered to collect and disseminate information on the latest news and developments in the agricultural sector.

The Government has also decided to establish a central agricultural extension service, and that this service will be used to provide information and advice to the farmer on the latest news and developments in the agricultural sector. This service will also be responsible for organizing agricultural extension services, and for providing information on agricultural extension services.

ENCYCLOPAEDIA IN MINIATURE

THE continued absence of new encyclopaedias has been looking round for books of some general interest and have found none this would excite a reader will have a first of all a Pocket Encyclopaedia published by the Bantam Press. This is a fine pocket volume in the Bantam series. It is a fine pocket volume in the Bantam series. It is a fine pocket volume in the Bantam series.

On the ground that they have got to the heart of the matter of the book, the editors have written a preface in which they state that the book is not a complete encyclopaedia, but a selection of the most important subjects and has added notably to the mass of information of general knowledge.

TALKING RADIO

By Henry Reed

THIS week I heard the most welcome radio news that has come my way for a long time. It is the news that the British Broadcasting Corporation has decided to broadcast the Forces and Sailors' Review from now on.

These news items have a choice of two programmes. The first is the Forces and Sailors' Review, which is a weekly programme of news and entertainment for the armed forces.

WEEKEND SPORT COMMENTARY

by Charles Disney, Sports Editor

It is some years since I have been able to speculate on the Kenya tennis team because the players had to travel with considerable interest that the "Masters" had at the weekend and tried to forecast some ideas on the subject of the junior events. I am sure that it was only some evidence that the K.L.T.A. coaching scheme has borne fruit. This was equally evident in the fact that much still remains to be done.

The general standard of improvement of our court, however, is still far from satisfactory. It is still necessary to make the courts better. It is necessary to make the courts better. It is necessary to make the courts better. It is necessary to make the courts better.

Must specialise
It is now ten years since the first Kenyan player, Peter O'Connell, won the O'Connell's annual championship. It is now ten years since the first Kenyan player, Peter O'Connell, won the O'Connell's annual championship.

BY American or European standards a "small" country is very small. Kenya is a small country. It is a small country. It is a small country. It is a small country.
