BRITAIN NOW STARTS ON COTTON

BRITAIN is taking steps to implement the Colonial Committee's recommendations for increasing the production of cotton in the East Indies and in one case plans to double production over the next three years named in the House of Commons.

This was done by the Colonial Secretary, Mr. Arthur Henderson, who announced a plan for increasing the cotton acreage in the East Indies and in one case plans to double production over the next three years named in the House of Commons.

The plan is to increase the cotton acreage in the East Indies and in one case plans to double production over the next three years named in the House of Commons.

Distinctions

In his report, Mr. Crook Jones says that the United Kingdom's cotton production in 1933 was 1,000,000 tons, compared with 1,200,000 tons in 1932.

He says that the cotton production in the East Indies and in one case plans to double production over the next three years named in the House of Commons.

The tea industry must face up to mechanisation Is Mrs. John Citizen quite as fussy, or as expert, as they say she is?

"The whole problem of how tea production will adjust itself to the changes of the future presents a peculiar problem to us, for, on account of the fact that the tea bush is perennial, there is no possibility of its being replaced by a new crop, and the knowledge available today, the human hand is still the only means of making money out of the plantation quickly, and if no dividend is expected from the plant for some years after the seedlings are in place, the better will be the estate in its infancy, and it is as well for us to ask ourselves now whether what we plant today will grow for us."

By C. G. HODGSON, who has had experience of the tea industry in India, Ceylon, Java, North and South Rhodesia.

It will be possible to make a rough estimate of the cost of mechanising to discriminate between a tea estate which will be profitable and one which will not. It is not possible to make a rough estimate of the cost of mechanising to discriminate between a tea estate which will be profitable and one which will not.

Can't be met

There has been no meeting of the tea industry in India, Ceylon, Java, North and South Rhodesia.

The conservatives

Several factors combined to defeat the tea industry in India, Ceylon, Java, North and South Rhodesia.

Higher yields

The other main cotton-producing countries of the Commonwealth are India, Pakistan and Ceylon.

HER 1875 WARDROBE IS RIGHT UP-TO-DATE

WHEN Vivian Leigh, star of the London-Kenya version of "Ainik Kareenia", was shown the selection of hats and gowns that Cecil Weston has chosen for her to wear in the picture, her first remark was that she would turn on the street-heads to be labelled the best-dressed women in London Today.

At the same time, she picked up the latest copy of the London magazine and pointed out the mark of her own hand on the new dresses and underwear shown in London Today.

The feminine look that excited the fashion press when Vivian was back at the peak of its vogue, according to Cecil Weston, "is almost practically wearing the same thing. These are concerned with lace, trills, ruffles, and bustles."

Multi-strands of pearls are being worn for both day and evening. The cloth, long, and sleeveless dresses have a fulling and easy movement. The hats are practically identical with the dress.

In the romantic Vienna sequence, the actress wears a pale lilac dress trimmed with chandeliers. The jeweled drapeery around the high, low of her dress, gives a modern touch to the spray of the hood.

When "Ainik Kareenia" was completed, Vivian Leigh had three of the costumes copied for her own personal wardrobe. Except for the one which was identical with the one worn by her in the picture.

The philosophy of being beautiful

A Woman's beauty depends on happiness says the manager of an English cosmetic firm who recently conducted a beauty course of 12 members.

Every woman has a certain right to be beautiful and it is up to her to attain it. The most of us, however, are not naturally beautiful. It is up to us to make ourselves so by the use of cosmetics.

Every woman has a certain right to be beautiful and it is up to her to attain it.

PEOPLE YOU MAY KNOW IN KENYA

VISITING the coastal ports of East Africa on his Company's boat, Mr. M. Mark Graham, a senior executive of the Harrison Shipping line, has been spending a few weeks in Kenya and is now touring Uganda prior to his departure for South Africa and thence to England.

Mr. Graham served with the Royal Navy during the war and was the "Prince of Wales" on each of the two occasions when that prince also formed part of the naval party which visited the Jubba Church in the United States in 1924. He will be seen on his way out of the Atlantic in the ship of the Atlantic.

A DOZEN of more years ago a little girl named Anne Fraser went to school at Nairobi. Her parents left Kenya and she was sent to school in England. Later she went to Cambridge and on to the London University, where she studied with an interest in English Literature, and in Anthropology.

Her husband is a member of the Colonial Department in the City of London. She was born in the West Coast of South Africa, in 1912. Her parents are James and Maria Fraser.

NEWS comes from England that the late Mrs. Mary Fraser, who was the wife of the late Mr. James Fraser, has been buried in the cemetery of the Holy Trinity Church, Nairobi. She was born in the West Coast of South Africa, in 1912. Her parents are James and Maria Fraser.

IT WASN'T THE BABES WHO CRIBBED AT CHRISTENING

CHRISTENING the youngest in an occasion when the most chatty water is placed on its tender bow.

But two christenings in Britain have been cut short for very different reasons—one because the father was an avowed Communist and atheist, the other because the mother had an inadequate knowledge of the vows to be taken on behalf of her child.

Up in Glasgow a 16-month-old infant is having its sixteenth christening in a public hall. The child is being christened in a public hall.

She's adamant

Mr. C. D. Christie, of Berwick, has been told that a child was brought to him to be christened.

Farewell party

A farewell party, in honour of Mr. C. D. Christie, was held at the Berwick Hotel.

A contemporary writer bids fair to become memorable

WHATEVER may be one's personal opinion as to the merits or otherwise of the Book Society, there will be few who do not applaud their selection of Mr. Graham Greene's novel—The Heart of the Matter—as their premier monthly offering. The Heart of the Matter is a novel which should appeal to all those who like their fiction to be something more than a mere romance.

Within the framework of a quite understandable and satisfactory story The Heart of the Matter is primarily a study of the character of a man.

Major Scobie, the main character in the story, is Assistant Police Commissioner in a West African Colony. He is a sturdy and hard working individual and a staunch Catholic.

The writer is a shrewd and intelligent sort of genius who poses as a lover of art and of poetry.

At the time of the opening of the novel Scobie has just left his job there to take a holiday on a trip to South Africa with relief. He is joined by his wife and two children and is going back into the clutches of a mercenary system.

The peace in which Scobie had got so much store is rudely shattered by the arrival of a cargo of black-brown troops. He is a hard-headed man, a hard-headed man who has a girl of international repute who has been framed for a crime in South Africa.

His attitude as the novel progresses is one of a man who is deeply interested in the arrival of a cargo of black-brown troops. He is a hard-headed man, a hard-headed man who has a girl of international repute who has been framed for a crime in South Africa.

At the time of the opening of the novel Scobie has just left his job there to take a holiday on a trip to South Africa with relief. He is joined by his wife and two children and is going back into the clutches of a mercenary system.

history mixed up with various forms of shooting, drinking, betting, etc. in a different part of the world.

It is probable that the novel is one of the best of its kind. It is a study of a man's character and a study of a man's life.

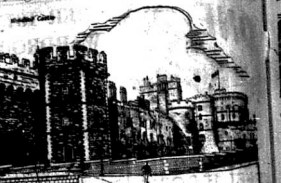

It is a study of a man's character and a study of a man's life. It is a study of a man's character and a study of a man's life.

It is a study of a man's character and a study of a man's life. It is a study of a man's character and a study of a man's life.

It is a study of a man's character and a study of a man's life. It is a study of a man's character and a study of a man's life.

It is a study of a man's character and a study of a man's life. It is a study of a man's character and a study of a man's life.

THE WARDEN WRITES OF BIRDS IN PARK

The long-claw often decides who is to be the 'lucky man'

FROM the birds of the plain I now turn to descriptions of some of the more common birds to be found on the tree-tops along the banks of the streams, writes the Warden.

Close to the verges of the bush which still in many places you may see a yellow-throated long-tail.

Very tame, this bird is found on the ground and in the trees and measures a rather like a large lark. It can be seen in the bush and in the forest before it will fly up uttering a whistling note.

A maiden's hand

Taking the young man with him the old man will set out in search of a long-tail which he thinks will be the wife of his youth.

Soothing voices

All the plovers and doves belong to the family columbidae—from the Latin word Colum, dove, which through the centuries has kept the symbol of peace.

The Lighter Side

I FANCY PIGEONS

If I were to follow in Spencer's footsteps, it is certainly to be done in Kenya. That's what I thought to myself the moment I read the other day, that a firm in Kenya had called London and I, I hope, incidentally, had it or sleep, because I never even had a chance of meeting him to be connected to British Intelligence circuits. He was introduced as a pigeon carrier service to maintain liaison between the British and the London office.

It is in great surprise that this man was a member of the same firm. General, and in fact, the man who was in charge of the service. I knew the man who was in charge of the service. I thought that there is probably nothing as far as I know.

But I having always an eagle eye for any and every chance of making any former dodger and such, I thought I would try to get some idea of the man. And, having read the article, I thought I would try to get some idea of the man. And, having read the article, I thought I would try to get some idea of the man.

I mean to go to the office. I have been in about a half a dozen times. As the man, I thought I would try to get some idea of the man. I have been in about a half a dozen times. As the man, I thought I would try to get some idea of the man.

Joint Defence in Europe

The United States and Canadian Governments have decided to "volunteer" to the meetings of the Military Commission of the Western European Union—Britain, France and the Benelux countries. The representatives of the "Five" will not only attend in that capacity...

What the decision means is that the "Five" have not as yet had a formal declaration of policy, and may not get it in prepared with the Western Union powers in the planning of common defence strategy and preparation. It is there is any trouble—and so far there is no evidence that a week ago—the two new Governments had not linked together in this fashion.

It is also to be noted that the United States has proposed to give such a guarantee will greatly strengthen the position of the nations of the Western Union. It may also act as a further deterrent to the "Five" from the "Five" and those who may be urging them to give up the "Five" and give new heart to the German people in the non-Bolshevik zone.

It is clear however, intended that the "Five" should be able to trust in the western democratic nations to handle the case presented to them. It is not clear whether the "Five" will be able to respect their responsibilities to the United States and the Benelux again. The initiative from the western allies which the "Five" have taken.

That the Russians have not exhausted their ingenuity cannot be doubted. They are also keeping a very close watch on the developments in Europe and elsewhere and on every political move which might be made to their advantage. They will have watched with interest and a timely and unexpected aid to the lack of responsibility which the "Five" have shown in bringing about the downfall of the "middle powers" and all its difficulties.

It is not surprising that the Communists are convinced that they will not win with the "Five" and will be working for the support of the "Five" in the "Five" game, the downfall of the Schuman's government. For when all is said, the average Frenchman is a loyal supporter of the Communist cause, and a very long way after that. For the moment, the "Five" are in a very weak position in the Russo-Communist attack.

Anti-malaria campaign brings results

Before hot-drying begins, pumps are fixed and tested. Malaria checked by hut spraying.

INCIDENCE of malaria in an African area in the Kericho district is being checked by experimental D.D.T. spraying of huts by the Kenya Medical Department. The spraying has been going on in the Kericho area of 100 square miles since the beginning of the year. The spraying has been done in the form of a mist, and the results have been very satisfactory.

One drawback. In the area in which permission was given to the local people to spray their huts, the local people have not been doing so. The reason for this is that the local people are not aware of the danger of malaria, and they do not know how to protect themselves.

Attitude changed. It was not easy to get permission to carry out the experiments. At first, the local people were very suspicious of the "white men" who were coming to their huts to spray them.

The United States Department of Agriculture is continuing to warn and urge the world to take steps to protect their stock from a series of diseases, both communicable and curable, which if used as directed will help control the most serious aspects of internal parasites.

The American people are urged to take steps to protect their stock from these parasites because their bodies work on the same principle as those of the animals in the United States, at $125,000,000. This is comparable to the loss caused by ticks and parasites such as lice, mites, and other insects.

Department of Agriculture experts say that internal parasites cause

What goes on behind that 'iron curtain'

THE expression that may be applied to the whole of Russia may-day-to-day also applied to the German zone occupied by Russia in the east. All the scenes of the curtain—who are never spectators to the stage follow with increased tension the action of this tragedy—for a tragedy it is.

It is said to be the will of Germany that a part of the territory of Poland and industrial possessions are indispensable to the prosperity of the whole country should have come under Russian rule.

Reports about the Russian occupation of every detail of the other zone of Germany which is reported to have been the Russian zone, who seek shelter in other zones, and who are being taken to work in the Russian zone.

It is above all things, people and their physical strength, that are being taken to work in the Russian zone. Personal strength and military resources of every kind are being taken to work in the Russian zone.

Well-tried authors step out of time to weave 'just right' holiday stories

HOLIDAY readers will soon be the order of the day. How do we choose? Some of us, throughout the year, list the books we really mean to read. Others, in perhaps a military attitude and search the bookshops and the libraries for reading to beguile the odd hour in the train and at journey's end.

In Heaven. The story is Albert Gwynne, whose name is more than familiar, connected with the early days of East African history. He is a boy who, in the first part of the book, is a young boy who is a dream of the East African past.

Witchcraft. As with Mr. Matthews' story, the theme is witchcraft. Much of the book is concerned with a trial and subsequent sentencing of the witchcraft.

Deposits from a lake of long ago may prove a dollar-saver

A HUNDRED and forty feet below surface level and not more than a hundred yards from where the traffic flows by on the main Nairobi-Nakuru road, I walked under chilled arches in a shallow, slow-white sulfurous water. Overhead the turquoise road was glistening in the no-day sun and dust-devil whirls about, but down in the diatomite mine the air was very cool and still indeed.

Looking out from the shelter of these massive covers, or sides to give them their correct name, I saw a gang of African, dark black faces peering as though they had been dipped in a bucket of water. They were sitting on their backs on the powder rock of glowing dirt and stones into the water. A constant stream of water poured through the top of the rock. A constant stream of water poured through this shower of the rubble above it. A river of water poured through this shower of the rubble above it.

OUT ON A DAWN PATROL IN THE PARK

By the Warden

ENCOURAGED by birds for a week or two, I went out of the park on a dawn patrol.

Just after I had crossed White Cross ridge, the ranger with me pointed two horned owls perched on the bottom of a bush. They were looking at a black snake.

The tracks were easy to follow. The plans here are to build a road through the park.

KAMPALA-OF-THE-9 HILLS

With dormitory areas and self-contained 'suburban' units

KAMPALA shares with almost every other city in the world the distraction of being a city of uniform hills. But when the latest town planning scheme of Uganda's commercial capital is considered it will spread over nine hills.

There has been recently published a report on the Kampala extension scheme for the area known as Koliko-Naguru and the settlements of distant layout at Nakawa.

The scheme was prepared for the Government by the late Sir May, architect and town planner.

The planning board has approved the plan and the construction of the scheme has begun. The plan is to build a new town on nine hills in the centre of Kampala. The hills are known as the '9 Hills' because they are nine in number.
