CORRESPONDENCE

TAXATION To the Editor, "E.A. Standard." Sir—The illustration that incurs the loss of the article from the pockets of the consumers does not seem to have been published in your issue of November 21, 1946. This illustration makes it clear that the loss of the article is the responsibility of the trader, and a levy should be placed on the article at the time of purchase.

For the financial Secretary can have the idea of the amount in arrears as at the end of the year. To the Editor, "E.A. Standard." Sir—I should like to refer to the "News" article which appeared in today's issue of your paper. It strikes me that the man who has been recently arrived from England and is at the moment finding fault with the people, the conditions and climate of our country, would imagine their hearts would be light at not having to come to everything they wanted the plentiful supply of food, the things they would have when other nations are starving. One could surely describe a man as a land of plenty in the amount of food that he has at the moment, if he is in England at the present time. He would be a winter with the shortage of coal which has been the cause of our winter. They have escaped this and yet they still find cause for complaint.

One must remember Kenya is still very young and it is not surprising that it is not prepared to try with the older States to build a Commonwealth. A Commonwealth is a group of States which are so united that they make laws for each other which are to be applied to the people of all the States. To the Editor, "E.A. Standard." Sir—It is doubtful if anyone outside the Income Tax Department knows of the amount of uncollected Income Tax in Kenya. It is estimated that the amount of uncollected Income Tax in Kenya is about £100,000 per annum. This is a very large amount of money which is being lost to the Government. My attention was attracted by the advertisement for the sale of the land in the district of Nairobi. The land is situated in a very fertile area and is suitable for agriculture. It is estimated that the land is worth about £100,000. It is a very good investment opportunity and should be considered by those who are interested in land.

During the war years our young people have been doing a great deal of good work for the country. They have been working in the factories, in the fields, and in the hospitals. THE WEEK'S WEATHER

Weekly Weather Notes and Forecast, Nairobi, November 23, 1945.

Notes on the Weather of the Period November 22 to 23, 1945:

At the beginning of the period a small but intense cyclonic storm was situated over the south of the Straits of South Africa with an eye of high pressure extending northwards.

In the equatorial region, however, pressure tended to fall slowly during the period, while to the north the tendency was also downwards with only minor fluctuations.

As a result there was a northward movement and intensification of the main zone of convergence.

Widespread light showers and patches of rain with localized heavy thunderstorms occurred in most areas of Uganda.

In Kenya scattered afternoon and evening showers occurred over the Highlands and in the Lake Area. In Tanganyika widespread showers and thunderstorms occurred in the Lake Area and in the Southern and Southern Highlands Provinces with scattered rain over the lower altitudes.

General reference for the Period November 22 to December 5, 1945.

Pressure has now fallen over South Africa and is likely to rise slowly to the north, possibly to remain low over the Sudan. Little change is therefore expected in the position of the Convergence Zone over Tanganyika, but showers lighter and more variable winds over Kenya and Uganda. The weather is favourable to local instability, especially in the Lake Area. Rainfall Forecasts for the Period November 22 to December 5, 1945.

Why? Well, ask yourself one question. How well did you SLEEP last night? If your sleep is broken and troubled, if you wake tired and become more tired as the day goes on, if you lose your temper over trivial things, it is usually because your sleep is doing you no real good.

For deep sleep you need the extra nourishment you get from a cup of Horlicks taken at bedtime. Horlicks contains energy while you sleep and so prevents that wake up refreshed, full of energy, once more the happy companion you intended to see tomorrow.

EDUCATION IN ZANZIBAR

[STANDARD CORRESPONDENT]

Because it is considered desirable that there should be more qualified Arabic teachers the Government of Zanzibar is now providing an increased number of suitable students abroad to receive their education.

The British Resident, Sir Vincent Girard, made this statement at an Arab bazaar which was held at the Residency during the festival of Id-ul-Fitr, when Sheikh Abdulla bin Ibrahim, speaking on behalf of the Arab Association and all the Arab subjects of the Sultan, cordially welcomed the new British Resident.

"I am glad to see that you are so glad to think the Almighty God that you are so glad to see a rise in the price of oranges."

It is interesting to note that the Government is also providing for the education of the children of the Arab subjects of the Sultan, and the Government is also providing for the education of the children of the Arab subjects of the Sultan, and the Government is also providing for the education of the children of the Arab subjects of the Sultan.

Bumper Glove Harvest

The British Resident made, said the most pleasant surprise at the exhibition was the bumper glove harvest which was paid for crops and accounted for that he was still in possession of silver and silver-plated cutlery.

There is a world demand for silver and silver-plated cutlery, and the bumper glove harvest which was paid for crops and accounted for that he was still in possession of silver and silver-plated cutlery.

There would also be a bumper glove harvest this year, particularly in Pemba, and he believed that the bumper glove harvest which was paid for crops and accounted for that he was still in possession of silver and silver-plated cutlery.

ZANZIBARI'S MINERAL POTENTIALITIES

Lead, Not Diamonds, May Be Most Valuable Asset

The following extracts are taken from a broadcast talk by the late Captain Johnstone, formerly Premier of the Mineral Resources Department of the Imperial Institute.

It is a fact of volcanic dust, with which the sea is covered, and the presence of natural gas which can be used for power.

Zanzibar has good supplies of all the minerals that are needed for the making of cement, and the making of cement is one of the most important industries of the country.

Another mineral of value is iron, which is found in the form of iron ore, and the iron ore is of a high quality.

The diamond-bearing pipe at the Williamson mine near Stoneva, which has a record of 100 tons of diamonds, is one of the most important mines of the country.

ZANZIBAR LEGISLATURE Amended

As I briefly reported at the time we have had a short session of the Legislative Council in Zanzibar in order to promulgate an amendment to the Decree which was passed in its promulgation.

The motion of approval was moved by the Provincial Commissioner, Mr. J. O'Brien, who explained that until recently it had been incumbent on officers to purchase 10 per cent of their cloths from the Clove Growers' Association whereas now the percentage would only be five. The change arose because some of the cloths from the Clove Growers' Association were of a higher quality than those in operation. The reason for the low stocks was that in recent months clove prices had been abnormally high, and the result of the minimum quantity method of purchase of the emergency cloths had been to reduce the stocks of the industry.
