OUTSTANDING SUCCESS OF NAIROBI SHOW

All Records Smashed

VISITORS CROWD IN FROM TOWN, COUNTRY AND NEIGHBOURING STATES

The promise that the Nairobi Show would be the best ever staged by the Royal Agricultural and Horticultural Society of Kenya has been fulfilled.

In the words of the President, it is a show worthy of the Jubilee year in which it is being held.

With the exception of the produce classes which are always influenced by the period of the year at which a show is held, the entries in practically every class constitute new high records.

The total number of entries including the dog section of the show (where there are nearly 200 animals) is 2,092. Some idea of what this figure means may be gained from a comparison with the entries for the Royal Show which is being held at Newcastle this week where the number is 3,000 exhibits.

Excellent Public Support

In its comparatively short agricultural history, Kenya has witnessed many successful shows. The matter of strength of exhibits, variety of features and all-round excellence, the Royal Agricultural and Horticultural Society of Kenya have held the Nairobi Show which opened at the beautiful Kileleshwa Show Grounds.

which was as wide as the sweep of Kenya's skies.

Colourful Pictures

In the matter of the extensive show grounds there are about the most colorful and varied pictures which are one Kenya's most striking charms. Perhaps the things which best attract the eye are the magnificent horses and their riders, whose show pieces are fully graded and are particularly attractive to the public.

Striking Figures

Further proof of the generous support extended to the show was given by the Society's energetic Secretary, Mr. Bryan Hill, who had entries in the East African Club's open championship Dog Show, the entries in the various sections of the show aggregated 2,092. This figure, as well as the number of entries in the individual sections, easily surpasses the corresponding totals for previous years. Entries for the Royal Show which opened at Newcastle on Wednesday totalled 3,000, this providing still further testimony of the fact that Kenya agriculturists and exhibitors in other sections are not lagging behind other countries in the matter of the show which is promoted for their benefit.

The Oil of the Country

After the products of African industry, handicrafts in wool and in leather and cloth, the results of the work of the settler-farmer and dairy production are the most important. These are the products which Kenya's wheat and cattle fodder. A portion of the country is the best of the poultry breeds, while much of the beautiful and the products of the Hume Industries are the products of the country.

E.A. WILD BIRDS

Query of the Secretary of State [The Secretary of State for the Colonies, Mr. Malcolm MacDonald, is enquiring from the Acting Governor of Kenya and Tanganyika regarding the export of small wild birds from East Africa and particularly whether the principal species exported are insectivorous birds whose preservation is important. The question was raised by Mr. Oswald Lewis (Cons. Colchester) in the House of Commons on July 4.]

ENJOYABLE GYMKHANA PROGRAMME

Big Improvement in Standard

Particular interest was shown in the jumping, judged by Captain D. M. Lawrence which was well ridden and the standard of the jumping was a marked improvement was the installation of loud speakers, which was a great benefit to the public in following the events, the market by each competitor being broadcast.

There was a great improvement in the show on the standard of jumping. Horses were ridden and presented at the jumps very well. A higher percentage of good rounds and fewer refusals were marked features.

The rally on the part of the Committee in making the jumps more difficult undoubtedly increased public interest.

A Favourite Round The "A Jumping" was won by Mr. C. E. Fowles' "Dandelion" and "Jester." He made a faultless round. Second place was given to Mrs. H. W. Barstrop's "Washburn" ridden by Mr. Beatrice, who dropped 11 lbs. There was a tie for third place between Mr. T. H. M. Moore's "Morse" and Mrs. C. Bumpus' "Helen" ridden by Mr. Bumpus. The tie was decided over the "gait" Mr. Bollerup's "Gaming" and "Knocking it out." There was some fine jumping on the open class won by Mrs. L. K. Robinson riding for "Silvery."

REWARD FOR MURDER OF A REBEL!

[The Hon. Mr. Justice]

Deputy Commissioner has deposited with the Assembly a proposal to pay £2,000 to anyone carrying out the death sentence passed in absentia on M. Venkatesh in May.

If one of the escaped rebels who was sentenced to death in absentia carries out the proposal it is suggested an amnesty should be granted him in addition to the reward.

SUBMARINE POLICY

Denial of Assertion by Mr. L. I. George

[The Hon. Mr. Justice]

Mr. L. I. George's reference to the British attitude to the abolition of submarines in the recent Anglo-German conversations reported yesterday was declared to be absolutely without foundation by Sir Bolton Evers Russell, First Lord of the Admiralty, in the House of Commons today. The Minister added that it was contrary to the public policy of this country to plan the German representation and the British Government's policy of submarine warfare.

Britain had long endeavored to secure abolition and had repeatedly proposed it since the Washington Conference.

Mr. Lloyd George declared he had been told that Germany had offered to abolish submarines and that Britain was not prepared to accept the offer.

Mr. Fowles' "Dandelion" and "Jester" which gave her third place.

FINEST SEMI-FINAL IN POST-WAR YEARS

When Mr. Edward Woodworth "Labi" built well and truly, as the success of the play in London showed beyond dispute. The play from the opening address of the Council for the Plaintiff to the Captulation of the Council for the Defendants is full of interest and at the same time is full of humor. In the three acts, each carried a period of less than two days, without a single day of a man who has secured his country in the war and suffered greatly in doing so, as to be made of married, and not only his, but that of his wife and child. The same time the preface says is founded on a sequence of facts though the characters are entirely fictitious. That being so, it may be accepted that the plot of the play is logical and not in any way incredible. In the second act the interest quickens enormously as the war proceeds to a most tense and dramatic climax, and in the third act the interest is maintained by the action of the characters, hard hit by another and even greater shock, begins to re-assess itself and to recover some degree of poise and balance, the plaintiff's work up some in the witness box, save that which is given by what has already been said, is very delightful, and very human. It is obviously a happy thought, to give anything away of the plot would be most unfair both to players and to audience. Label and blanket are real life, too often exploited in real life, and finally depicted in Mr. Wood's play. (Continued on page 8)

Following is the result of the Princess of Wales stakes as received by Mr. Maurice Rosenblatt: FAIRBAIN 1, ADRIET 2, BLACK DEVIL 3.

Looking Ahead

Non-stop variety is the feature throughout next week at the Empire Theatre, presented by the leading and the most successful Vaudeville, complete with the "Metropolitan" Orchestra. This Company is made up of the best of the South—the "Balsaway" Company, which with "wholesome entertainment" will show and sing to their credit in this city. The company arrives in Nairobi tomorrow.

THE WEATHER

The following note on the weather was received yesterday from the Director of the East African Meteorological Service:— The only rain reported this morning was a drizzle at Nairobi and at Kisumu in Uganda. The weather is active over the Indian Ocean and showers and rain are falling over mountain slopes, inland, slowly descending are probable with the wind from the east during the evening and early morning.

UGANDA LEGISLATURE

At the Legislative Council held at Entebbe on Thursday last, His Excellency the Governor presided and there was a full attendance of members. The Hon. M. M. Patel, the new temporary unofficial Indian member and the Clerk to the Council were sworn. Through the night a search in which aircraft and a destroyer took part was made apart from an early patrol on the water no sign of the machine was found.

AIR ACCIDENT

A three-engined Albatross belonging to Sir Alan Cobham Airways with the pilot and one passenger on board was reported missing last night on a journey from Germany to Portsmouth. Through the night a search in which aircraft and a destroyer took part was made apart from an early patrol on the water no sign of the machine was found.

DANGEROUS DRIVING

On a charge of driving to the danger of the public D. E. Ekin of Nairobi was fined Shs. 100/- by the Resident Magistrate Mr. B. P. Pather on Wednesday. The accused pleaded guilty. The Britisher dominated the game with his speed and power, and the accuracy of his shot. He played with the greatest confidence and courage, and his magnificent and clever forehand drive he took the first set.

PRIZE BEATS CRAWFORD

In the other by tennis, the Australian, the Britisher won 6/2, 9/6, 6/4, 6/4. Perry had marvellous tennis and it was all that Crawford could do to keep the rallies alive and to gather momentum. The Britisher dominated the game with his speed and power, and the accuracy of his shot. He played with the greatest confidence and courage, and his magnificent and clever forehand drive he took the first set.

NATIVE MARKETING

Due to extreme pressure on space it has not been possible to publish a full report of the debate in the Legislative Council on the Bill to control and regulate the marketing of native produce. In the daily edition yesterday a summary was given. For country readers it will be of interest to record in the Week-end Edition to-day that as a protest against the Government's Native Marketing, four Indian Elected Members, Messrs. Shamsud Din, Saheb Doss, Mangal and Dr. De Soona walked out of Legislative Council on Wednesday afternoon, protesting against the provisions of the measure. The remaining Indian Elected Member, Mr. J. B. Pandya initiated his intention of staying in Council until the Bill had passed through the Select Committee stage in order that every opportunity might be taken to attempt to amend it.

Kenya's Problem

MAJOR GROGAN'S ARTICLES

To the Editor, "E.A. Standard,"

Sir,—In the course of his interesting and illuminating article, Major Grogan has referred to Henry Strachock's recently published treatise "The Road to Ruin" which he used to imply that the case for general devaluation has been established beyond question. But omits to mention the trenchant criticism of Sir Henry Strachock's brilliant essay which appeared in subsequent issues of "The Economist" and which showed that the conclusion that devaluation had in the countries in which it had been tried, were very far from being correct.

But there is one important still one should point out that it is very difficult to read into Sir Henry Strachock's article an endorsement for further devaluation in the "Starting Point" (which would mean East Africa), where he appears to think devaluation would almost be a foregone conclusion and hope for the future removal of Tariffs and Quotas. But he undoubtedly very strongly advocates devaluation for economic aid.

It is to be noted that the remarks were referred to by Major Grogan were referred to apply. The only passage to which the "quotation" appearing at the end of the article refers is on page 8 of his essay, where he says "I am of the opinion, which I believe to be correct, that as follows:—

"It is difficult to restore equilibrium between cost—and the price of raw materials. The experience of the world's leading countries presents an eloquent testimony on this point that the only other course open to them is to raise their internal level of prices correspondingly to bring them into harmony with their high level of costs. The only direct simple and cost-effective method of achieving this is by the bold measure of devaluation of the currency."

I have italicized the words which have been either omitted or changed by Major Grogan, without his giving any indication that he was doing so and I cannot help feeling this to be a questionable question in this way is a scarcely legitimate thing to do. This criticism neither affects the really essential matter in Major Grogan's article nor does it in any way detract from the agreement with large portions of the world's leading countries, in view of the overwhelming proportion of our scientific community can produce benefits commensurate with the degree of disturbance involved in the act.

My last letter with respect to the Bank has not been responsive for all our economic troubles has provided the usual crop of indignant protest. "Tanganyika" makes me what Mr. McKenna means when he says "Banks drive the policy of Governments and hold the bow of their hands the destiny of the people aided that any control, by the Government, would reduce that statement to a possibility. I am sure it would be much better if he asked Mr. McKenna because I don't know what he meant unless he meant what I mean in all which even if the statement was not correct, it was not necessary for publication that it was a guarantee of good faith, and is equally essential to ensure consideration.

It is disappointing to learn that a man like Mr. Dykes' ability gives him a simple fact misunderstanding and the English language unintelligible but one cannot help feeling that he puts himself at a disadvantage by commencing with the assumption that his opponent is wrong in any event and that even if he says the right thing he cannot mean it and must really mean something else. Contrary to Mr. Dykes' belief I do know the difference between "subscribed" and "paid up" and I am certain that I mean it. It is mainly because of the large capital of the first bank that it is not paid up that so many so negligible a portion of the money is available for use only to make loans. His reference to "Gulliver's Travels" is a good example of the very delights to which I referred, but Mr. Dykes felt that Mr. Dykes would do better to keep his "Gulliver's Travels" and his many of my friends.

In my opinion there is a very large amount of justification as to how effect can be given to the policy suggested by Major Grogan. I would Major Grogan explain to the members of the Executive of East Africa in what steps would be necessary to give effect to the change in policy which he suggests.

Yours etc.

To the Editor, "E.A. Standard,"

Sir,—Devaluation in your Tuesday's issue may be right about the whisky, so long as the duty is fixed on the gallon, but would not the Customs Department jump at the chance of increasing its revenue by changing to an ad valorem basis? Then the 40 shillings would become 120 shillings.

As regards interest on loans even though the shillings required do not so transfer from Kenya, but paid in London with the sale proceeds of exports, those proceeds would eventually be paid to the exporters in Kenya. In other words Government need not send for a million pounds in London but pay that amount to the banks in Nairobi for credit to the accounts of the exporters, and with a devalued shilling would save an extra 10,000,000 in order to meet the bill, and that sum will presumably come out of the taxpayer's pocket.

Can Major Grogan or "Devaluators" show how to pay back ad valorem short circulating Government can pay a million pounds in London with only 20,000,000 devalued shillings.

Parents of children being educated in England would be glad to learn the trick. Yours etc.

The foregoing letter has been sent by Major Grogan whose reply appears below.—Ed. E.A.S.

To the Editor, "E.A. Standard,"

Sir,—I am grateful to Mr. Hogan for his interesting attention to the fact that I should have indicated nineteen days in quotation from the Henry Strachock to indicate that I had no way whatsoever qualified his general statement, or alternatively should have stated that I had inserted comment forward to come between the words "paid" and "up".

I will see that this typographical omission is not repeated in the future. It is regrettable that Mr. Hogan did not present me with the traditional demand for 15/-, as the settlement of such an account would in those strange times render it necessary for me to go under an additional five and a half tons of steel.

DANCING CHAMPIONSHIPS

To the Editor "E.A. Standard,"

Sir,—Referring to the Dancing Championships being held at a local hotel during the next three or four weeks, at which the "Kenya" Championships I should very much like to know if the names of Kenya the different heats for same are taking place.

It is my hope that the so-called championships were called the championships of that particular hotel.

If there is a representative in Association I am surprised that Kenya has not been taken up.

Road and Weather Report

Mr. Galton-Ferris writes as follows:—

It is dry practically all over East Africa, most of the reporting stations sending in a nil return. Where moisture has been fallen mostly in Uganda, in the southern part of Tanganyika and in or near Mombasa, and the Central Kenya Highlands.

In Kenya the heavy rain-fall has been Eldama Ravine, Manafiki and Kericho with 24 inches followed by Thomson's Falls, Kisumu, Kilifi and Njoro with 12 inches. Ripharian River and Lamuka 11 inches, and Malindi 1 inch. Roads are in fair to good condition except in the vicinity of Lake Victoria where there are storms every afternoon.

In Tanganyika there has been practically no rain last week, but in Dar-es-Salaam, Tanga which had 4 inches and Babaka 2 1/2 inches the rest of the country dry, except at stations sending in a nil return. The great North Road from Arusha to Johannesburg (via Nyasaland) is in splendid condition, and anyone thinking of trying the trip should start now.

Gladia reports showery weather in the central and western provinces, but all roads are in good to fair condition.

KENYA RIFLE ASSOCIATION MALARIA - protect yourself from its menace TAKE 'TABLOID' QUININE

Exciting Cricket Match Nairobi European Primary School... [A correspondent] Kismu, July 2. Those who live in or near Kismu had much reason for exulting last week for it turned out to be one of the most interesting of Kismu has seen for many a day.

The Winner's Bastard's crew is almost perfect, on one target only did he fail to register a double, i.e., to have both his shot legs touching. Daults, also had a good earl, but not quite so accurate, except on his centre target where he had both shots practically from the same hole.

The Runner's Up Kenton College are perhaps unfortunate in that the competition coincided with their pending games and their members had not as much practice-time as they had had later in the year.

It is anticipated that the Prince of Wales School would take some beating, but unfortunately the team had to do with a very hot day, which proved to be too heavy, making it almost impossible to take a steady aim. Their shooting was really very much better than they will with practice and with lighter rifles be a very much improved team next year.

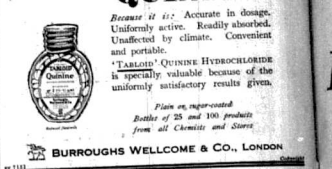

Girls' Teams It is a pity that none of the girls or mixed schools competed in these schools and given good shots. There must be something to practice and they would give a good account of themselves.

Handicap Average 91.00 Other scores: Brown, 88; Callaghan, 84; Kenton College: C. H. B. 91; 94; J. Hutchison 95; E. L. Preparations for this Year's Bisley Meeting

By
Captain
F. Vivian Ward

THE Kenya Rifle Association is now eleven years old and has frequently been asked for some information as to its origin. In 1924, following a series of weekly morning shoots organized by Major F. Corbett Ward (an outstanding rifleman and a first class shot) a few rifle clubs sprung up in Nairobi. They were: The Nairobi Rifle Club, the Civil Service Rifle Club, the Railway Rifle Club, and the Police Rifle Club. Following these, other clubs came into being in the up-country districts, and in July of that year a public meeting was held in Nairobi at which the Kenya Rifle Association was formed. Its objects stated briefly, were to encourage rifle shooting with the service rifle amongst European British subjects throughout the Colony, and a glance at its records will show how well this purpose has been carried out.

representing over 450 members—a very large number who one considers the small total of the European population of the Colony. Each rifle club has a representative on the Council of the Association, and ex-officio members are the O.C. Troop, the Senior Staff Officer, K.D.F., and two officers nominated by the Defence Force.

The First Meeting

The first Bisley Meeting of the Kenya Rifle Association was held in August 1925, this year being the eleventh of its series, and from an annual meeting of from two to three days it has now grown into a seven day meeting, with its own camp erected on the K.A.R. range, which, by the kindness of the O.C. Troop, has been lent for the purpose.

A large camp arises there for the meeting, and competitors come from all parts of the Colony bringing their rifles and trophies which are shot for at the meeting. For many people this is the only holiday they can afford each year. Camp fees are very low, catering—on safari lines—can be done quite easily, or there is a caterer in attendance who provides meals at very moderate charges. It is an attractive open situation, healthy and pleasant, and above all there is that spirit of camaraderie which one always finds at open air meetings. As a holiday it is probably one of the most inexpensive forms one could find, and even riflemen could find it very enjoyable. This Year's Event

The Bisley Camp this year opens on July 31, and shooting commences on Thursday, August 1, when the Ladies Cup, the Girls Cup, the Least Boys' Cup, and the Rover competitors are to be held. From then until the evening of Monday, August 5, competitors will be proceeding from 7 o'clock in the morning until evening, and on Tuesday August 6, the final stage of the Manning Cup will be shot.

On Wednesday morning, August 7, the Kenya team will shoot for the Overseas 300 Yards Post-Range Match, as the conditions of these last two events preclude their being shot on the same day. It means a week of concentrated shooting with its prizes divided into three classes—"X" (Paper), "M" (Medium), and "T" (Trophy), so that all grades have a chance to win in their respective sections. Since this system of classes was first introduced there has been a noticeable increase in the number of entrants, resulting in a more successful competition than in any previous year. As the Tyro knows that he will be competing only against his fellow

(4) A new competition called the Parker-Hale Prize (after the name of the donor) for which the first prize is a complete shooting outfit valued at £10. This will be shot for at 200, 300 and 400 yards on hand-arms. Hand-arms will be awarded on the scores made on previous days of the meeting.

(5) There will be two consolation prizes for those who have not previously shot at a Bisley Meeting, and who are not successful in gaining a prize at the meeting. There is a new Cup presented by Messrs. Deedes, Ltd., which will be awarded for the best aggregate scores at the Championship of Kenya (1st and 2nd stages), the "Red" African Cup, the McCallum Cup, the Parker-Hale Prize, and the Girls' Cup.

Mr. Chamberlain said he hoped to make a pronouncement during the summer of the decision of the Government on the subject.

AGE AT FIRST CALVING

A Point of Economic Importance

Essential to the Breeding of Better Stock

DEPENDENT ON VARIOUS FACTORS

The Lack of Scientific Data

The age at which the heifers of the Dairy Breeds have their first calf varies appreciably with the breed and also varies from country to country for individual breeds...

Type and Conformation

It is extremely difficult to give uniform standards for type, character, conformation of udder etc. of the heifer...

Significant Points

The foregoing survey of the points which require attention in the heifer's progeny testing...

Ultimate Production

An attempt was made by Ellis to study this subject using groups of Jersey and Friesian heifers...

REQUIREMENTS OF THE LONDON MARKET

The following article by Mr. John J. Panting was given to Mr. R. S. Wyles, Chairman of the Coffee Board of Kenya...

Confidence Destroyed

One has heard of a man's love of dried goods when he is entrusted with the sale of his produce...

Continuity of Supply

I would say that the majority of producers and especially to the Kenya Planter that the remedy for more than 75 per cent. of his troubles lies in his own hands...

The Highest Grade

The home market requires coffee of the highest grade not only in regard to its artistic cultivation and liquoring quality but also in respect of the material quality of the beans...

THE MARKETING OF KENYA COFFEE

Importance of Co-operation

QUALITY THE FIRST CONSIDERATION

REQUIREMENTS OF THE LONDON MARKET

As a practical farmer in England with a long experience of the problems which face the primary producer and the buyer of coffee...

Stocks of Unwanted Coffee

The industry must learn to re-estimate the value of its stocks of unwanted coffee...

Evolution of Standard Types

The industry and the individual planter must recognize that the coffee market can be successfully produced...

No Push Behind It

Producers should be made to realize that the coffee market is not a static one and that the producer cannot afford to be satisfied with the status quo...

Stringent Regulations

My experience of the Co-operative movement both in England and in Kenya is that it is only clearly that the degree of success attained depends entirely on the co-operation of the producers...

Vital Importance of Grass Covers

AMERICAN METHODS OF TACKLING A WORLD-WIDE MENACE

BETTER ADJUSTMENT OF FARMING PRACTICE

The following article by H. H. Bennett, the Director of the U.S.A. Soil Erosion Service, appeared in the Journal of the American Society of Agronomy... (Article text continues)

Much has been said and written about the powerful effect of forests, in controlling runoff and increasing absorption of rainfall...

Combination of Control Methods. It is unfortunate that some specialists have taken the position that erosion can be effectively controlled only by one method...

Annual Loss of Soil. The result of careful measurement from representative areas of 12 major soil types of the United States country show on the average that where grass grows five times more erosion is absorbed and 65 times more water filtered...

Relation of Grass to Land Desiccation. During the summer of 1934 numerous ranchers asserted that the rate of desertion of the past 15 to 20 years, following the steady depletion of the grass...

Soil and Water Losses. For example, on an 8 per cent slope of the Shelby soil in the rolling part of the north Missouri corn belt, the average annual loss of soil over a 27-year period has been at the rate of 0.62 tons per acre...

Grazing by Goats. It might be well to quote here part of a letter recently received from K. B. Sandifer, Director of the Nevada State's production service in north-western Nevada...

Vegetative Methods of Control. The evidence is sufficient to convince anyone that vegetation must be preserved on all erodible lands...

Co-operative Bases. Field terraces (embankments adjusted to the contours) are being constructed in some localities...

Loss of Fertility. Every farm is surveyed in advance of actual work by specialists in soil chemistry and soil physics...

Co-ordinated Erosion Control. Here is the first attempt in the history of the country to put into effect a plan for the control of soil erosion and food control projects...

Soil Conservation. On February 23, 1934, the most astounding losses of soil occurred in the vicinity of Santa Paula, Calif., as the result of a heavy rain...

COMPLETE CESSATION OF MILKING

Results of American Experiment

From time to time dairy farms are confronted with the problem of how to dry up a cow efficiently because it is desired to fatten her as quickly as possible...

There has, however, been little experimental work done on the subject and the following notes are the results obtained by Wayne, Eckhart and the University of Minnesota...

The methods mentioned above were studied and were designed to accomplish milking, intermittent milking and complete cessation of milking.

The first step was to find out the amount of milk produced and the repliers from 230 farmers showed that 76 per cent adopted the complete cessation method...

Experiments on the different methods were then conducted under the conditions of the farm at the commencement of the next lactation period and the results of production.

A Safe Method. The results of experiments using 19 cows show that complete cessation of milking can safely be resorted to as a method for drying up cows producing up to 50 lbs. of milk daily...

MOTORING TOPICS

A Bus Service For Mombasa

EXPECTED TO BE IN OPERATION EARLY NEXT YEAR

Agreement Ratified

TWO ROUTES WHICH WILL BE EXTENDED TO MAINLAND

In the course of the next few months Mombasa will know and appreciate the benefits of a bus service. It is the hope of the Government Motor Transport Co. Ltd. and the Municipality of Mombasa, which is to be the operator, that there will be no delay in the start of the service, which is expected to start in early January.

Since the buses were introduced in Nairobi they have proved of immense value to the public, and this value is still growing. More and more use is being made of the services, which, from a moderate point of view, have already proved to be a very successful service. It is therefore, in the opinion of the Government Motor Transport Co. Ltd., that it is essential to extend the service to Mombasa.

Smaller Than in Nairobi

The service in Mombasa, of course, will be much smaller than that in Nairobi. It is possible that there will not be more than four or five routes at most. The service will be started with a total of seven buses, and as the needs grow this number will automatically be increased. It is intended to meet the public demand. Just as was done in Nairobi, the principal routes will be undertaken first, and gradual extension made.

Negotiations for a bus service have been in progress for some considerable time, although it was not until several days ago that the agreement was ultimately signed. Originally it was intended to combine the service and the bus, and was to be a single and independent organization. The question of the bus service, however, has by no means been settled. During the present negotiations it was decided to consider the bus service as a separate unit, and to have the bus service under the control of the Municipality of Mombasa. The bus service will be operated by a separate company, and the bus service will be operated by a separate company.

Getting "Bus-Minded"

While the service in the Port town will be lower in number than in Nairobi, it is safe to say, nevertheless, that it will be a big help to the public of Mombasa, and will be a big appreciation of the advantages of these services. It has taken the Nairobi public some time to get "bus-minded," if one may use such a term, but without a doubt today they have learned the advantages of these services, and are deriving from their use. It is an economic means of travel, and of great value to the public, and, in fact, instead of getting the shopping, to be seen

PROGRESS OF MOTOR CAR DEVELOPMENT

What is Known as "Knee Action"

ACHIEVING GREATER COMFORT

Again and again, in the progress of motor car development, it is found that many of our best designers bring up new problems, and that something else, formerly satisfactory, is no longer good enough.

Thus the automobile brought a "good road" movement. Good roads brought better automobiles—millions of them. Highway in turn, were improved. And designers strove to take advantage of the increased mileage of good light units the designers began to think that roads which formerly looked woefully smooth—and indeed, were smooth—were a decidedly poor idea. Bumps and dips were not a nuisance at all, because they were not a nuisance at all.

Or, to put it in another way, people suddenly realized that they wanted a more comfortable ride, without knowing the reason.

Now, the old leaf spring used by automobiles for years had to serve two purposes. It had to support the car and hold the bumps in the road and to hold the front suspension in alignment, easy steering. To do the latter job, the front springs had to be about three times as stiff as the rear springs, and in consequence, when the car went over a bump the front suspension was forced to travel at a different rate than the back end. When the car was traveling fast enough to exaggerate small bumps, this was uncomfortable for passengers.

COMMENTS OF THE WEEK

(By the Motoring Editor.)

I may be considered somewhat in the nature of a hyper-critic, but I cannot help feeling that a majority of the streets in and around Nairobi the lighting can best be described as anemic on the whole. Indeed, there are many villages in Great Britain to-day, where the benefits of electricity are unproductive which can be used, where the street lighting would be a blaze of glory as compared with that to be in Nairobi. In some of the residential areas of the capital the street lamps might well be removed, so poor is the light they give. It is true that there are few lamps, but stronger bulbs would be much more efficacious than the present ones.

Good street lighting is a necessity to pedestrians as well as to motorists. Admittedly, the latter have few reasons to call upon, but few really care to keep them at full beam, cars stopped up their power and dimmed lights. In any case, where there is good lighting there is no reason why anyone should have dimmed lights. It is sufficient for anyone's purpose to have a lamp which is to travel through town with headlights full on, that, indeed, as great a danger as having no lamps at all. They blind the following motorist, and confuse the pedestrian.

Surely something can be done to improve the lighting. It is the present method of street lighting, which calls for it, and the better for all concerned.

And while, in this subject of street lighting, and the question of full and dimmed headlights, there is a type of driver who is a veritable nuisance on the road, and that is the one who, when the water is full, immediately swings out into the centre of the road, and then, immediately after, turns to pull into the side, and probably ditch him into the bargain. I know several drivers, who, when travelling on dim, have more than enough sense to give up their own headlights, but for all our purposes are quite sufficient. They cannot switch on to their side lights because they are insufficient, but the other driver, by dimming courtesy so decides to have it out of him.

There is nothing to prevent the driver already on dim switching on to full, then dimming again, just to show that he is on dim, but it does not do it, and it is a nuisance to the other man's wrath down upon himself as the result.

It will be thought that I am all glibness and glosses that speak, but these things need ventilation. When in so many of us, in the motor, when the lights are switched on, they are properly parked, and then along comes another car which is already parked in the next match from his car, and not the least of us. The last man says to himself or to another, "Whether the car is already parked or not, if he never worries whether the end of his car is such that it is an impossibility for the other to see it."

This is not an uncommon practice. People walking along in the dark, when the lights are switched on again, the action invariably disconnects the "approach" beam, which the man who blocks out is left "blind." It is a bad habit, and the action should be definitely put down as something to be avoided, and it is the "common danger."

400,000 New Drivers Each Year

WHAT DRIVING TESTS HAVE REVEALED

["STANDARD" CORRESPONDENT] London, June 6. (By Air Mail.)

The Minister of Transport has revealed that out of the 38,824 applicants who had come forward for driving tests—which, he said, were a million and a half—only 10,045 had passed the beginning of March, 1,045 had passed the beginning of April, and 1,045 had passed the beginning of May.

Mr. Horne-Belsham, who is addressing the National Safety Council, which opened at Park Lane Hotel, said: "Naturally it will take many years before we can say that every motor driver has come up to a minimum standard of proficiency, but as 400,000 are coming on to the roads every year, and we are rejecting on the present basis nearly 10 per cent, we can obtain some idea of the perfectly needless risk to the public safety that was previously run."

A small beginning, but been made with cycling traffic, and the results were equally striking. It is shown how popular they have been. No less than 94 per cent of the cyclists on Western Avenue were using their lights. "It is alarming," said the Minister, "to find, at a time when accidents to other road users are decreasing, those to cyclists are increasing. Comparing the year 1952 with 1951, while the pedestrians killed and injured increased by only 10.5 per cent, the number of pedal cyclists killed and injured increased by 14.1 per cent."

Comparing 1954 with 1953, the total number of pedestrians killed and injured actually decreased by 172, or 15.9 per cent, while the number of cyclists killed and injured showed an increase of over 3,000, or 47.7 per cent.

MOTOR EXHIBITS AT THE SHOW

DODGE AND HILLMAN CARS

Messrs. Fisher, Simmes and Rodway, the well-known motor dealers, have a special display during the Agricultural Society's show. Hillman and Dodge cars will form the background of the stand, which contains some seven or eight cars, but at least four of them are of the popular Dodge type.

The stand is situated close to the ring, and immediately opposite the hand stand, with a view to the public safety that was previously run.

The decorative scheme has been well thought out, with a number of tables and chairs at the stand, affording shelter from the sun, for the use of the public.

The area of the stand is 2,400 square feet. Included in the car exhibits are two special hot body "Dodge" cars, each incorporating many new features.

75 per cent. Comparing the number of persons killed and injured on the roads of Great Britain during the 10 weeks ended May 1953, with those of the corresponding 10 weeks in 1952, the number of persons killed has been reduced by 172, or 15.9 per cent, while the number of persons injured increased by 3,000, or 47.7 per cent.

WONDERFUL RELIEF FROM MALARIA FROM ASPRO

READ THIS LETTER FROM AN ASPRO USER

The letter above contains a glad message of comfort for malaria sufferers which will free them from the ever present fear of the dread attacks. The writer, like many thousands of others, has experienced the wonderful, quick action of 'ASPRO' in its soothing method of banishing malaria at the inception of the attack.

'ASPRO' succeeds because, after ingestion in the system, it is a wonderful antipyretic (fever reducer) and antiperiodic. Malaria is a complaint of periodic nature, and 'ASPRO' not only reduces the temperature in a few minutes, but acts as a destroyer of the conditions causing the attacks.

THE SOLUTION

The solution was front springs as soft as rear springs—uncomplicated by "Knee-Action", or independent front wheel suspension.

In place of the old leaf spring, "Knee-Action" uses sturdy members to fasten the front wheels to the frame of the car. These members do an even better job of holding the wheels in perfect alignment on all types of roads than leaf springs have only one function—comfort—for the passenger, as soft as the rear springs. This makes the front-end motion of the car the same as the motion of the rhythmically over bumps in the road.

The result is a safer, more comfortable ride on all kinds of roads—and a definite gain for the mechanism of the car as well from the joints and jars of driving.

Problems were many in developing this device. Coil springs of larger wire than had ever been used in automobiles had to be designed and put in production. Materials had to be studied to find those that they can be made used. The completed design had to be tested thousands of miles on the proving ground. And now they deliver complete satisfaction on the road. And because all these problems were considered, "Knee-Action" has proved a decided success from the start.

South Africans Win Second Test

ENGLAND BEATEN AT LORD'S BY 157 RUNS

Tourists' Excellent Bowling

SUTCLIFFE AND AMES BOTH SUFFERING FROM STRAINS

South Africa won the second test match against England at Lord's on Tuesday by 157 runs. After leading by 90 on the first innings, the tourists declared their second closed at 278 for 7, and then dismissed England for 151 runs.

It was a great win on the part of the visitors. Bowlers in their spin bowler, played a large part in the success by the good work performed with the ball, while the batsmen were not so successful. Indeed, he carried his bat for a brilliant 164 not out, the highest score ever made by a South African in England in a Test.

England had Sutcliffe and Ames injured, but both were able to bat, the former having hurt the twelfth man as a runner. Their injuries in to way detracted from the merit of the tourists victory, which fully deserved.

Well Merited Win

(Standard Correspondent, Reuters and Wireless).

London, June 29. Closing three days and six hours, the second test match between England and South Africa ended on Tuesday at Lord's with a decisive victory for the tourists. The tourists were 157 runs ahead of the home team.

England's batting was good, but the tourists were better. The tourists were 157 runs ahead of the home team. The tourists were 157 runs ahead of the home team.

South Africa: Wade as captain, Cameron, Balakrishna, Bell, Crisp, Dalton, Langston, Rowan and Sutcliffe, with Wilson as twelfth man.

England: Sutcliffe, Hammond, Mitchell, Verity, Ames, Nicholson, Dalson, James Langston, and Farmington, with Wade as twelfth man.

Status of Governors Conference

PUBLIC APPREHENSION AT "COMPLETE SECRET"

An Official Assurance

GOVERNMENT SAYS ORGANISATION IS ONLY AN ADVISORY BODY

That the Conference of East African Governors was assuming too great an executive power and that its proceedings were attended by quite unnecessary secrecy was expressed during a debate in Legislative Council on a motion by Lord Francis Scott.

Government replied that the Governors' Conference was purely an advisory body; that none of its recommendations involving the expenditure of public money could be implemented without reference to the respective Legislative Councils; and that only those matters were confidential which obviously could not in the public interest be published beforehand.

Following a debate Lord Francis Scott withdrew the motion stating that it had been brought in order to bring to Government's notice public opinion on the question.

Debate in Council

At Monday's session of Legislative Council the Hon. Lord Francis Scott (Bibi Valley) raised the following motion: "That the Government should be asked to state whether the Governors' Conference is an advisory body or whether it is a body which has the right to make recommendations involving the expenditure of public money, and if the latter, whether its recommendations are subject to the approval of the respective Legislative Councils; and that only those matters were confidential which obviously could not in the public interest be published beforehand."

Lord Francis Scott stated that the Governors' Conference was purely an advisory body; that none of its recommendations involving the expenditure of public money could be implemented without reference to the respective Legislative Councils; and that only those matters were confidential which obviously could not in the public interest be published beforehand.

At present they represented the views of the territories they governed. He said that the Government had not given the territories the right to be heard in their own defence. He said that the Government had not given the territories the right to be heard in their own defence.

Government's Reply. Replying to the motion the Hon. Acting Colonial Secretary said that he would take the three points raised therein. The first point was that the Governors' Conference was purely an advisory body; that none of its recommendations involving the expenditure of public money could be implemented without reference to the respective Legislative Councils; and that only those matters were confidential which obviously could not in the public interest be published beforehand.

As to the second point, expressing alarm at the fact that the Government had not given the territories the right to be heard in their own defence. He said that the Government had not given the territories the right to be heard in their own defence.

Lord Francis Scott said that he was not satisfied with the Government's reply. He said that the Government had not given the territories the right to be heard in their own defence. He said that the Government had not given the territories the right to be heard in their own defence.

were not necessarily followed by executive action.

Necessary Secrecy

The most serious portion of the motion, said Mr. Pilling, was that regarding the alleged view of secrecy in the proceedings. He said that the Government could not accept this as being true of the actual proceedings. He said that the Government could not accept this as being true of the actual proceedings.

Questions of general public interest, he said, should be published. He said that the Government could not accept this as being true of the actual proceedings.

As to the possibility of the disclosure of matters of a confidential nature, he said that the Government could not accept this as being true of the actual proceedings.

The Hon. Shams-ud-Deen stated that he supported the motion but from a different angle. He said that the Government had not given the territories the right to be heard in their own defence.

When the debate on the motion was resumed yesterday morning, the Hon. H. E. Johnston said that he supported the motion but from a different angle. He said that the Government had not given the territories the right to be heard in their own defence.

Replying to the debate, Lord Francis Scott said that he was not satisfied with the Government's reply. He said that the Government had not given the territories the right to be heard in their own defence.

Supporting the motion, the Hon. G. H. Riddell (Kiambu) said that he was not satisfied with the Government's reply. He said that the Government had not given the territories the right to be heard in their own defence.

He said that the Government had not given the territories the right to be heard in their own defence. He said that the Government had not given the territories the right to be heard in their own defence.

FORCIBLE RESCUE OF POLICE PRISONERS

His Excellency the Acting Governor made a brief statement in Legislative Council on Friday on the progress of the Masai raid following incidents reported in the "East African Standard."

Before the appointment in view of disquieting rumours which had been spread in Nairobi, I had been asked to make a statement of the facts as they are known at the present time.

A full report of the raid is being prepared and will be published in the next issue of the Standard. The raid was a surprise attack on the Masai settlement at Nairobi.

On Tuesday the 25th inst. a body of young Masai warriors, estimated to be about 40 in number, for some reason not at present clear, armed with spears and bows, attacked the Masai settlement at Nairobi.

The Masai then fled and were pursued by the police. The raid was a surprise attack on the Masai settlement at Nairobi.

Regarding the enlargement of the activities of the Government's Transport Board, the Hon. Acting Colonial Secretary said that he was not satisfied with the Government's reply.

He said that the Government had not given the territories the right to be heard in their own defence. He said that the Government had not given the territories the right to be heard in their own defence.

Kenya's Emergency Taxation

GOVERNMENT'S "VAGUE" REPLIES TO QUESTIONS

Budget Plans Not Formulated

MATTER TO BE DISCUSSED ON MOTION BY ELECTED MEMBER

Two questions in Legislative Council on Friday, about Government's future taxation intentions, received what the questioner described as vague and unsatisfactory answers.

Government's replies were to the effect that it's Budget intentions for next year had not been formulated.

In view of the nature of the replies the Member for Nairobi North has given notice of a motion dealing with the subject.

Two Ordinances

Major the Hon. F. W. Cavendish-Bentley (Nairobi North) asked: In view of the fact that the Government has not yet formulated its intention with regard to next year's Budget, will the Government be prepared to introduce any Ordinances in connection with the Budget for next year's Budget?

RAS TAFARI APPEALS TO S.A. NEW KING FOR EUROPE

Outburst in the House of Commons

GOVERNMENT'S PEACE PLAN SEVERELY CRITICISED

Paris Now the Pivot

ALLEGED MILITARY PACT GIVING ITALY A FREE HAND

The British Government has been heavily criticised by all sections in the House of Commons for the suggestion to transfer territory and native people to Italy and Abyssinia as a contribution to the maintenance of peace.

Chairs rang through the House when a Conservative Member asked that Government should consider seriously the disquieting effect such proposals would have on native peoples throughout the Empire.

While Britain is taking soundings in Paris and while there are rumours that France will virtually give Italy a free hand, Ras Tafari has made a spectacular appeal to come to the aid of Ethiopia.

Question of Economic Pressure

The feeling which was widely expressed in the House of Commons on July 1 when Mr. Anthony Eden, Minister for League of Nations Affairs, announced on the return from Rome and Paris the result of his mission to Italy to assist in a settlement of the Italo-Abyssinian dispute found a further outlet this afternoon in a series of questions.

Mr. J. P. Dickie, the National Labour Member for Consett, recalled the Treaties of 1874 and 1896 under which on the withdrawal of Egyptian protection from Somalia the British Government voluntarily expressed a desire to place their territories under the control of Queen Victoria. He asked whether any negotiation had taken place between the Government of British Somaliland and the inhabitants of these areas which had proceeded to transfer to another sovereignty.

A Tentative Suggestion

Mr. Malcolm Macdonald, Secretary of State for the Colonies and the in-charge of the tentative nature of Mr. Eden's suggestion to negotiate. The interests of British Somaliland, there has been no suggestion that any further action should be taken.

As the course of a reply to other questions was pointed out by the Secretary of State that the principle of the British Somaliland in Somalia and not Zeila (the town mentioned earlier as the prospective Abyssinian port).

Mr. A. B. Wise (Cons. Member for Strathclyde) reminded Mr. Macdonald of the interest feeling which had been aroused on the occasion of the British transfer of Somalia to the Italians in a previous instance.

Answering a later question Mr. Macdonald explained the circumstances of the offer and said that Sir Strome Macdonald formerly received the suggestion the Government would immediately have been considered.

He assured the House that no other territory could become a part of the House of Commons being informed.

HAPSBERGS OFFICIALLY ASSURED OF WELCOME

Estates & Fortunes Returned

The Austrian Cabinet has decided that the Hapsburgs—the old ruling family of Austria—be allowed to return to the country and that their fortunes and estates will be restored.

Simultaneously there is a strong move for the restoration of the Monarchy, the chief figure being the Archduke Otto the prospective new ruler.

In Italy the restoration proposal is favourably regarded as strengthening Austrian independence. Berlin so far has nothing to say.

Archduke Otto's Views

Vienna, July 3. The movement for the return of the Hapsburgs to the Austrian Throne took a big step forward today by the decision of the Cabinet to rescind the law banning the Hapsburgs from Austria.

A Bill has been drafted giving effect to the Cabinet's decision. The approval of the decision by the House of Representatives is expected to be given on July 9.

Political circles are most sceptical regarding the Government's statement that "no far-reaching plans are intended."

SEARCHING FOR LAND TITLES

Government Unable to Reduce Fees

In Legislative Council this week the Hon. Mr. Caversham (Nairobi North) asked:

(a) Can the Government see its way to amend the Crown Lands Ordinance and/or the Registration of Titles Ordinance so as to allow a Power of Attorney to be registered under both Ordinances for an inclusive fee not exceeding Shs. 5?

(b) Can the Government see its way to alter the existing rules and regulations so as to allow a search fee not exceeding Shs. 2 to be levied on a search in both Crown Lands Registry and the Registration of Titles Registry and to permit of the searcher taking such copies and abstracts as he desires?

The Commissioner for Local Government, Lands and Settlements replied:

(a) The fee for registering a Power of Attorney under the Crown Lands Ordinance is Shs. 5 and for a Power of Attorney requiring registration under the Registration of Titles Ordinance is Shs. 10. Powers of Attorney which have been previously registered in accordance with the Registration of Titles Ordinance are recognised for the purpose of registering a document under the Crown Lands Ordinance without the necessity of re-registration under the latter Ordinance. Cases of double registration are, therefore, extremely rare.

(b) Several fees chargeable are Shs. 2 for a Crown Lands Ordinance title, and Shs. 6 for the Registration of Titles Ordinance. In practice the Crown Lands Ordinance Register is inspected to a much greater extent than the Registration of Titles Ordinance Register, because in the case of land registered subject to the Registration of Titles Ordinance the original Crown Grant contains endorsements of every transaction or dealing, and information as to ownership is available to the public without having to inspect the Register. In accordance with the usual procedure a searcher is not allowed to take copies and lengthy extracts, but no objection is made to short particulars being taken of any registered document, where complete copies are required these are supplied by the Registry on payment of the prescribed copy fees.

The fees chargeable for registration of Powers of Attorney and for searches under the Registration of Titles Ordinance are no higher

QUESTIONS ON THE ARSON TRIAL

Government Declines to Hold Enquiry

In Legislative Council this week the Hon. Mr. Dues asked:

(a) Will the Hon. the Attorney General state—(i) If he was requested to institute criminal proceedings for perjury against certain Crown witnesses who it was alleged had given false evidence recently known as the 'arson trial'?

(ii) Whether he is aware that in a recent prosecution instituted at the Magistrate's Court five of such witnesses were convicted of having committed perjury in the said case?

(iii) Whether he was served by the Supreme Court with notice of appeals and the records of the perjury cases in Criminal Appeals Nos. 11, 12, and 16 of 1935; and if the answer is in the affirmative will he state whether he made appearance and assisted the Court in such appeals?

(iv) Whether a request was made by Mr. Mangat that he should be allowed to represent the Crown in the above appeal? If so, what action was taken?

The Attorney General replied:

(i) The answer to the first part of the question is in the affirmative; action was taken beyond forwarding the letter of request to the Police.

(ii) The answer to this question is in the affirmative. Several of the convicted persons are appealed and so far one appeal has succeeded.

(iii) The answer to the first part of the question is in the affirmative. The answer to the second part of the question is in the negative.

(iv) The answer to the first part of the question is in the affirmative. The answer to the second part of the question is that no action was taken.

Alleged Interference

The Hon. Mr. Dues asked:

Will the Hon. the Attorney General state whether he is aware that—

(a) Four Indians were arrested without warrants by the Police on their way to the railway station services in neighbouring territories, and Government does not consider that any amendment to the law on the lines suggested is justified in the present circumstances?

(b) The letter referred to embodied a resolution passed by a meeting of Indians calling for a public enquiry into the circumstances leading to charges in the same trial.

The Hon. Mr. Dues asked:

(a) The answer to this question is in the affirmative.

(b) The answer to this question is in the affirmative.

No Enquiry

The Hon. Mr. Dues asked:

Will the Government place on the table the letter dated May 6, 1935, and received from the Honorary Secretary, Indian Association, Nairobi, along with the copy of the resolution enclosed therein?

The Attorney General stated whether the request contained in the said resolution was acceded to?

If the answer to the above is in the negative, will the Government state the reasons?

The Hon. the Attorney General:

(i) The answer to this question is in the affirmative.

(ii) The answer to this question is in the negative.

(iii) The reasons are set out in the reply used as the basis for a copy of which has already been laid on the table.

The letter referred to embodied a resolution passed by a meeting of Indians calling for a public enquiry into the circumstances leading to charges in the same trial.

THE CEREAL MARKET

Big Maize Demands on Argentine

Following in the weekly report, dated July 3, of the Kenya Farmers' (Co-operative) Ltd.—

Maize

Big business has been put in motion from the Argentine to United Kingdom and America, but there has been practically no change in the price level. Linnah's estimate of 45,000,000 quarters as being the probable amount of maize to be shipped from the Argentine this season was anticipated by the market, and no speculation had little effect on the price. The South African position shows little or no change. The latest Government estimate indicates that the exportable surplus will be between 250,000 and 300,000 tons. Linnah's estimate is for a surplus of about 500,000.

£ 2 is normally worth Shs. 17/6 per quarter.

What prospects for the new Canadian crop continue excellent and trade has been rather featureless. A few sales of Australian wheat have been made at considerably below the price which shippers were demanding for new issues.

Manitoba No. 34, 27/3.
 South Australian Abbot Shs. 20/7.
 O.B. Bards. Shs. 23/1.

Barley

Feeding barley is steady but an only meeting with a slow sale on account of the relative cheapness of maize. Sales have been made of No. 1 Canadian Western at about 17/6. The new Californian crop is unchanged at 20/6 for superior quality.

Olive Oil

Oats: Unchanged at Shs. 15/5. Hops: Unchanged. Due to the continued fall in Manchurian prices, the market is again easier and 65.10 is quoted for East African quality.

Peas: Japanese (11.12.6). Dutch Marrowfat £10.10.

Datties: Home—Malabar are practically exhausted and nothing is offering.

Cotton Seed: East African 64.11s.

Linnseed: Market slightly easier with East African values at £10. Sunflower Seed: 89.17.6 (97.6 for whites according to sample). Local Market unchanged.

Correspondence

The Editor does not accept responsibility for the views expressed in his correspondence in these columns and in all cases the name and address of the writer must accompany a letter, not necessarily for publication, but as a guarantee of good faith. Privacy is also essential to ensure consideration.

COFFEE PRICES AND CURRENCY

To the Editor, "E.A. Standard," Sir—Much learned talk on currency has appeared since I recently wrote the paper of your correspondence, almost every letter in turn leaving the reader, unless he is a student of political economy, convinced that the writer's views are the only correct ones—until he reads, on a succeeding page, a letter by an opponent. I am not a student of political economy, but have an uneasy feeling that no political economist really knows what they are talking about, because of the way in which the economic systems of the world are so inter-connected.

It appears that the inflation of our currency by 33 1/2 per cent has caused a serious shortage of coffee, which is not only a relief to the farming element of our East African, but also a relief to the commercial population and there would seem to be little doubt that the same measure of relief would thereby follow to such Kenya farmers and planters of coffee as are not dependent on the present situation for Empire coffee prices as one of individual competition, but also of competition against the combined weight of the vast bulk of non-Empire coffee producing countries. In other words, every individual coffee planter in the Empire today is galling the result of his own efforts against every other Empire coffee planter and beyond that, against the coffee production of the whole world.

How long will the individual survive in a world in which other industries are only surviving by intense competition, and standardization? It is notorious that the City of London has always been a free trader, careless whether the profits come so that they come. The same applies to the revenue which the City of London derives from coffee to-day. Our London merchants, and our London markets continue to supply impartially Empire and non-Empire coffee as they come, all prices which are ruling Empire producers down the road to ruin.

There is an alternative, and there is a road to hope and improvement for the Empire planter, but no longer as an individual producer, one against the world. That attitude must go and co-operation with a standardized Empire product must come. It must be emphasized and it is inevitable, that it is inevitable. If Empire coffee producers are ready to sacrifice individuality to standardized Empire production, then as Empire producers they are eventually coming to share in the benefits of the Government to want Empire Coffee, and gain in real amounts of Imperial Preference for Empire coffee, in the form of opposition from the City of London, which is not only a free trader, but also a free trader in non-Empire coffee. Without such sacrifice of individuality, we as coffee producers in the Empire, will be a dead weight and before long those who are hindmost will be in a sad hot business.

There are some today who demand reparation of former injustices, and are looking elsewhere as the introduction of Native coffee growing in the Empire, which might instead expand and unite to simple attention as an organized body composed of all cases in the Empire, and in the end is derived from coffee.

In the long run one of two things is bound to happen, and in both British capital is interested. In the Empire there is British capital invested in coffee from which British colonists are maintaining their existence. Outside the Empire there is British capital invested in coffee from which British colonists are maintaining their existence. Outside the Empire there is British capital invested in coffee from which British colonists are maintaining their existence.

Yours etc, J. J. Rowwell, A. Adnan, T. Fitzgerald, R. A. J. McGuire, S. R. Malik, P. B. Masale, P. E. Mitchell, P. F. Scavens, W. Stewart.

SUNDAY SPORT: A PARKLANDS' OFFER To the Editor, "E.A. Standard," Sir—With reference to recent correspondence appearing in your paper under the above heading, and the suggestion made by me in an earlier Sports Clubs that an earlier Morning Service be held at Parklands, I am glad to hear that it is to be held at 6.45 p.m. instead of 6.30 p.m., and that a Service for sportsmen be held as often as possible. We desire to reply that we are only too willing to meet the needs of sportsmen providing in their turn will respond to a similar service arranged for their convenience.

We have arranged to hold a Service for Sportsmen on Sunday, July 21, at 6.45 p.m. In the event of this Service being well attended, we shall be glad to continue on these lines. A collection will be taken at this Service and the proceeds given to the Children's Welfare Fund. Yours etc, G. V. W. ANDERSON, F. G. ROBINSON, Warden, St. Mark's Church, Nairobi, July 3, 1935.

LATE MR. P. R. SMITH: A MEMORIAL To the Editor "E.A. Standard," Sir—It is through a number of my friends that some form of memorial to the late P. R. Smith would be a suitable expression of the great esteem and affection in which he was held by the people of East Africa. During his long association with the public of the East African territories he never spared himself in any good cause. Mr. Smith's unflinching kindness and generosity to mention only two of the qualities which endeared him to all with whom he came in contact—never ceased to manifest themselves, and his untimely death deprived us of those who were a memory should it be felt, be perpetuated in some concrete form.

Before adopting such a heavy cost of these people should be considered the trading community of the East African territories. It is the duty of all of us to do our best to help the people who have been so severely affected by this legislation.

It is a pleasure to say that the House will not do us a little but even after bringing a reasonable one and agreeing to some cases a few died here has been obtained in discussing the details than by remaining silent. If they think that the House will not do us a little but even after bringing a reasonable one and agreeing to some cases a few died here has been obtained in discussing the details than by remaining silent.

the idea of the effects this Bill has unless one sees and signs of how the affected people will be affected. The Bill will create a half-hearted attempt was adopted but this cannot remove the wrong done thereby. The action taken so independently by the Government in the interests of the people by whom they are not that should fight the Bill, and the possibility can be and should put up the case to Committee as faithfully as they can. They will be sure to lose if they keep away and there will be at least a large number of members who will not meet them if they cooperate with the Government in the Bill if it goes out take place.

THE CALL OF KENYA To the Editor "E.A. Standard," Sir—Would you please be kind to include a notice of encouragement and goodwill to a young met of Kenya? Although one would not state so truthfully. You hear that sort of talk often enough at Annual Dinners. What I would like to see how we get a hold on the good old days, and that the country is not so far from the white man's side. The thing of whatever they start it. Meeting should be made a deplorable offence. It does no one any good. Take it from me, very few ever last in Kenya, who do not fight to get back.

Some ten years ago, I let such a graduation as first one occasionally, influence my mind. I became uninterested, shifted to the other side, and eventually moved for England. Although I left the country, I am still a Kenyan. I had a chance to return. I have been in years with one firm, have been in years with one firm, have been in years with one firm, have been in years with one firm.

NATIVE MARKETING BILL: THE INDIAN MEMBERS To the Editor, "E.A. Standard," Sir—I am not a member of the Indian community, but I am interested in the proposed Native Marketing Bill. It is a bill which will do something to help the Indian community, but it is a bill which will do something to help the Indian community.

THE EAST AFRICAN LEAGUE

ACTIVITIES IN THE TENNIS WORLD

The Forthcoming Championships

SOUTH AFRICAN PLAYER TO COMPLETE

From a lawn tennis point of view the second half of each year is always very full, and from now onwards there will be some event in progress almost continuously for several months.

The Mulhanga Handicap Tournament, the Harting Cup expedition at Makuyu, the Nyen-Champanis and the Nyen-Champanis Handicap tournament having recently been completed, the next event will be the Tinko championships on the 19th, 20th and 21st July next. These will be followed by the Ken's Championships in Nairobi from 1st to 7th August, the Coast Championships at Mombasa from August 27 to September 9, and the Rift Valley Championships at Nakuru from September 16 and 17th October. The Parklands Sports Club Handicap Tournament will commence on September 29, and will last for two or three weeks.

Sandwiched in between the foregoing fixtures will be the Nairobi and District Mixed Doubles League for the "Tromp Cup" on September 18 and the Victoria Doubles competition for the "Campbell" cup on the 24th, 25th and 26th October. The Parklands Sports Club Handicap Tournament will commence on September 29, and will last for two or three weeks.

Other fixtures for which definite dates have not yet been fixed are the "Sovereign Cup" Inter-Schools competition and the challenge round of the McMillan Cup.

The Championships

The great rallying point for tennis enthusiasts is always the Kenya Championships. The year's meeting being the fourteenth of the series. As usual, the club has a meeting with the Nairobi Club and Civil Service Club courts, the close proximity of fourteen courts belonging to these clubs greatly facilitating the running of a large event of this nature.

The organizing committee for the 1953 Championships are starting now in an effort to make that year a outstanding success, and although it is a vast somewhat early to make forecasts the prospects are brightly bright. The Kenya Lawn Tennis Association have been endeavoring for some time past to secure for a visiting team to come to the Colony, and were very hopeful that some players from South Africa might be able to make the trip. So far no definite news has been received regarding the proposed visit, although no answer either by cable or air mail should be arriving shortly.

It is understood that the flagship H.M.S. "Neroli" has some good tennis players on board, and this ship will arrive in Mombasa before the championships commence. It is possible that the Navy will be represented at the championships.

A South African Banking Player

In addition rumour mentions the likelihood of other noted players entering, while Miss M. Hopkins, who appeared in the South stream ranking list of 1952, has already signified her intention of doing so.

As mentioned above, the Kenya championships will commence on August 1, entries closing on Thursday, July 24.

Entries are being received by Messrs M. A. & I. Ltd. and Government House, Nairobi, and all entries should be sent to them accompanied by remittance, before that date.

RONEX

the x-ray of business

The new way for all records apperades the old "card-in-box" or ledger methods. Makes crystal clear facts, which, unless arranged on Ronexes, are obscure and difficult to arrive at. Amongst other advantages, Ronexes give you Control over every stage of your work, and enables you to see at a GLANCE—

Customer's Record.—You can see at once those who have not purchased from you for 6 months.

Ledger.—You can see at a glance those of your accounts which have not been settled for any particular period you wish to know.

Stock Record.—You can see in a glance (a) Those goods which are not moving, (b) Those goods which are dangerously low, (c) Those which are heavily overstocked.

Works Record.—You can see at a glance—(a) Exact progress of any piece of work at every stage; (b) All jobs in hand or uncompleted.

Plant for Profit or Pleasure!
PASTURES FOR PROFITS.
 One of the greatest difficulties about farming at present, declared Mr. Fisher, principal of the School of Agriculture, Coloma, was that people attempted farming on too big a scale.
 Mr. Fisher explained that if 84 a year were spent on fertilizing between $10 and $100. The yield of milk from an acre of ordinary unimproved soil would be about 100 gallons, but at Coloma 1,200 gallons of milk had been obtained from an acre of improved and fertilized Kikuyu, and this yield was likely to be exceeded this year.
 They had already shown that it was possible to do much better with a small farm property run than with a large one that was left more or less as it was found.
 Although it cost $24 annually to fertilize and improve one acre of Kikuyu grass, such an acre when improved was worth "anything up to $100. Calculating the price of milk at the low figure of 4d. a gallon, this yield gave milk of the value of $20, and if the farmer's total costs were $10 an acre, he still had a profit of $10 per acre."
 On fertilized land Mr. Fisher said that he had succeeded in obtaining 592 lb. of butter from three Jerseys on one acre of grass in one year, which represented a revenue of $29 2s., as well as the value of 1,100 gallons of separated milk. The cows also gained weight on that acre.

SPECIAL CHEAP RATES FOR MOTOR CARS.

During the months of July and August passengers' privately-owned and properly licensed motor-cars will be conveyed between any two Depot Stations at the special cheap rate of Cents 20 per mile, for return journeys only, irrespective of weight or make of the car.

This special rate is subject to the following conditions—

- (a) That one First Class or two Second Class Return Tickets are held by the owner of the car at the time of booking.
- (b) That the rate is applied between Depot Stations only. For journeys between Intermediate Stations the rate will be levied on the return mileage between that Depot and the Depot Station in advance of the Destination Station, while from an Intermediate Station to a Depot Station the rate will be levied on the return mileage between the Depot in the rear of the Forwarding Station and the destination.
- (c) That the full return charges at Cents 20 per mile are paid at the original Forwarding Station.
- (d) That motor-cars are conveyed at Owner's Risk only in shoted open wagons.
- (e) That the rate applies only to used and licensed motor-cars.

Further particulars on application at any Railway Office, Station or Port.

HOLIDAY FUND BEGINS A NEW WEEK

A GOOD START

Despite all the attractions and distractions of the past week, the public have not forgotten the fact that the claims of the children are still the subject of an Appeal.

The Holiday Fund has made another promising start on a new week with nearly £200 during the week-end including a donation from a Nairobi firm, a handsome cheque representing a collection kindly made by another firm at the Show, a welcome contribution from a Society and donations from country districts.

The aim this week is the modest one of £350. That is to say, the amount required in donations during the next few days is Five Hundred Shillings.

KING REVIEWS AIR FORCE

Impressive Scenes In Suffolk

Big Fly-past

GREAT DISPLAY WATCHED BY THOUSANDS

[THROUGH KENYA'S AGENCY.]
London, July 6.
In glorious weather the King reviewed the Air Force at Mildford Hall, Suffolk today.

There were 28 squadrons totaling 350 machines arrayed in a semi-circular formation, eight rows deep, comprising all types from giant bombers to small fighters with a speed of 200 miles an hour.

Hundreds of motorists from all parts of the country arrived at Mildford Hall night and slept in their cars. Later we crowds arriving in every sort of conveyance filled the public enclosure where hundreds of school children carrying miniature Union Jacks were given special seats.

The Prince of Wales flew his own machine from Fleet Bevelton to Newmarket where he met the King, the Duke of York, and Sir Philip Claville-Lister to motor through lines of cheering villagers to Mildford where the King in the uniform of Air Marshal mounted along five miles of aircraft, stopping occasionally to inspect special types of machines.

After the inspection the Royal party motored to Duxford aerodrome and joined the Queen and the Duchess of York on a day decorated with blue and silver, amid the cheers of a hundred thousand people gathered to witness the fly-past of 20 squadrons from Mildford.

Air Mail despatched from Nairobi on June 29 arrived in England on July 4.

Mussolini's Seaplane Struck by Lightning

DUCE, UNPERTURBED, MAKES A WAR-LIKE SPEECH

"Defeat of Black Races"

REFERENCE TO NEED FOR AVENGING BATTLE OF ADOWA

Signor Mussolini had a narrow escape from death when lightning struck the seaplane in which he was the pilot. The machine made a safe landing and immediately afterwards, mounted on a cannon, the Duce made an aggressive speech in which he inferred Italy's intention of attacking Abyssinia.

Meanwhile the possibility that the League may ban the transport of arms and ammunition to Italian territories in Africa is being discussed.

Suez Canal Problem

[THROUGH KENYA'S AGENCY.]
Paris, July 5.
It is understood that no secret treaty between France and Italy exists regarding Abyssinia and the Franco-British diplomatic conversation, France has not 'up to the present, made concrete proposals.

French diplomatic quarters are still convinced that a formula will be found acceptable to Signor Mussolini, and which will permit the guiding inspiration of French policy is anxious not to offend Signor Mussolini which in their opinion will drive the Duce to the very action it is sought to avoid. Therefore, the French Government favors a solution by diplomatic channels.

The Swiss Canal
London, July 5.
It is understood that the legal aspect of the question of the closing of the Suez Canal as a measure of reprisal against Italy has been examined by international jurists at Geneva where a solution by diplomatic channels.

Memorable Finals at Wimbledon

MRS. WILLS-MOODY GAINS HER EIGHTH SINGLES TITLE

Wonderful Tennis

SUPERB PLAY BY PERRY BEATS VON CRAMM

Memorable and history making matches were witnessed at Wimbledon on Friday and Saturday in the men's and women's singles. Both games were watched by crowds which filled Wimbledon to capacity.

Never in the history of Wimbledon has there been such a list of the women's singles as that between Mrs. Wills-Moody and Miss Helen Jacobs, both Americans. The latter twice stood at match point to achieve her life's ambition—a Wimbledon title—but failed.

Mrs. Wills-Moody kept her head wonderfully when bombarded by Miss Jacobs' superb volleying and serving. When the match finished the crowd accorded the couple an ovation the like of which Wimbledon has never known before.

A Great Ovation

THROUGH KENYA'S AGENCY.

London, July 5.
Fred Perry, holder of the Wimbledon singles title, retained the championship today when he defeated the German aspirant, Von Cramm, in three straight sets.

The first player to hold the title two years in succession since the introduction of the rule that the holder had to play eight rounds in the tournament. The match lasted 71 minutes.

The form displayed by the Briton showed that he had improved 12 since last year, and he was a worthy holder. His meeting with Von Cramm was his fourth, and the German claimed the game.

The sky was overclouded when play started today but the ground was fall to capacity. Perry took the first set in 21 minutes, and the German claimed the game. In the fourth Perry stood love 40, but serving brilliantly he made a grand rally to become 3-15. Sending over some delightful drives from both forehand and backhand, and putting about 100 miles an hour in his rhythm and game he led 7-1.

There was a dramatic opening to the game. Perry took the first set in 21 minutes, and the German claimed the game. In the fourth Perry stood love 40, but serving brilliantly he made a grand rally to become 3-15. Sending over some delightful drives from both forehand and backhand, and putting about 100 miles an hour in his rhythm and game he led 7-1.

Hurricane Serving

Hurricane serving on the part of both was a feature of the second set. The first six games went with the service and stood 10-15, and the seventh Von Cramm took Perry's service to love, but in the next Perry took Von Cramm's to love making it 4-40. Perry finished the set off in the tenth game with his glorious service and a backhand winner to lead 5-2 to love.

Perry appeared to be anxious to finish the game as quickly as possible, but Von Cramm had with striking drives to the corners of the court and the German at match point 6-15, but the German, by great drives which slipped Von Cramm and serving brilliantly brought 7-15 in Perry's favor.

The final game between Von Cramm leading 30-0, but the Briton re-

BRITAIN'S RETURN TO PROSPERITY

Chancellor's Cheering Review

"REASONABLE OPTIMISM"

[BY WILKINSON.]
Hugh July 5.

The Chancellor of the Exchequer, Mr. Neville Chamberlain, in the House of Commons today, moving the third reading of the Finance Bill said in the four annual Budgets he had introduced he had endeavored to conduct his financial policy in such a manner as would make it possible to remove the burden which had been imposed upon the British people in the financial straits of 1931, and which was the price that had to be paid for the recovery of their equilibrium, the restoration of their credit, and the fact that his budget had brought him very near to the completion of this task which could not have been carried through without the cooperation of all classes.

He had been careful to avoid the risk of increasing receipts before it was really secured. The reduction in the income tax last year had been more than offset by the increase in trade which had followed. The smaller sums available this year had been distributed mainly to income tax payers on lower scales than the amount of effect of this reduction would not have been more than £2,000,000, amounting to £18,000,000, as against £10,500,000, which was being paid in the current year. Over 11 million taxpayers would be affected by the decrease in income-tax and allowances.

In addition on Monday he had set out the new appointment of the fall restoration of duty in Civil Service salaries from which over 1,200,000 persons would receive benefit.

Mr. Chamberlain said that the best barometer you can have is industry in May. In May there were 4,000,000 more than there were in May last year. All these figures show a direction of the wind and happily they all point in the same direction. They are all hopeful and in my view they confirm and justify the policy of the Government which prevails.—British Official Wireless Service.

TRAIN SMASH INQUEST

Signalman's Error of Judgment

[THROUGH KENYA'S AGENCY.]
London, July 5.

The inquest on the victims of the Welwyn Garden City train disaster, resulted in a verdict of negligence of the signalman owing to the temporary lapse of memory of the signalman on the part of the Welwyn Garden City signalman.

Only in one respect, however, with regard to strokes was Miss Jacobs superior to her opponent, that was her volleying and her superb set shot.

Mrs. Wills-Moody led 3-11 in the first set but Miss Jacobs succeeded in making it 3-11, but after three more very closely contested games Mrs. Wills-Moody took the first set.

In the second set Mrs. Wills-Moody led 3-15, but Miss Jacobs took the seventh game to lead 4-3 after two splendid rallies in which Mrs. Wills-Moody went on to win the second set at 6-3.

The third set provided the greatest excitement. It was 2-11 then Miss Jacobs won the next three games to lead 3-2, only to lose the next game and the second match point but lost it when she served an over-hand ball which Mrs. Wills-Moody kept in the net at this vital period for her. The final rally was an excellent one in which Mrs. Wills-Moody got to match point scored and thus ended the memorable match. First memorable moment was when they accepted both players an ovation which was a memorable one which has never known before.

Mixed Doubles

Quiet and Miss Jozefowska beat the Australian couple, McFie and Miss Hartigan, in the quarter-finals. The match between McFie and Jozefowska was 6-1, while in the semi-final, Jozefowska and Hartigan beat McFie and Jozefowska 6-1, 10-11, 6-3.

Non-Stop Variety This Week

Excellent Films at all Theatres

Tonight at the Empire Theatre Jack Duff and his Vanderbilts make their first bow to a Nairobi audience. The entertainment they put on—according to all accounts put over very well—incomparable variety, music, comedy, and dance. Jack Duff will present his Matrimonial Orchestra, directed by Frederick Harcourt, from 1906-1905. It seemed unlikely then that he would ever become prominent in the talkie world, but here he is, polished, dexterous, and always delightful. This week he is to play the part of an ironist and woman hater Duke, Rembrandt being his first taste of the old days. It is difficult to imagine anyone who could play the part better. Sir Cyril Maude is at the Princess Theatre to-night in "Girls will be Boys."

"ONE need not look very far for personalities among the names connected with the pictures being shown this week. Noel Coward, Sir Cyril Maude, Athene Seyler and Edmund Gwenn have perhaps the first claim to special mention. Mr. Coward, is unfortunately not appearing at any theatre, but he is the author of "To-night is Ours," a continental picture which is being shown later in the week at the Capital Theatre and every scene bears the impress of one of the most distinctive and vital personalities of the present day. At 22, Noel Coward began his career as playwright and actor, and so gained a double success. Since that year, 1921, every twelve months have seen one or two Coward successes, and it will be remembered that when "Cavalcade" was produced at Decca Lane on the same night that the National Government was proclaimed in England, Mr. Coward sat with the King and Queen in the Royal Box.

Sir Cyril Maude's name calls up a host of associations connected with the Haymarket, London, which theatre he directed with success from 1906-1905. It seemed unlikely then that he would ever become prominent in the talkie world, but here he is, polished, dexterous, and always delightful. This week he is to play the part of an ironist and woman hater Duke, Rembrandt being his first taste of the old days. It is difficult to imagine anyone who could play the part better. Edmund Gwenn, short, not good looking, but with generations of actors and actresses in his family tree, is a "brilliant" artist, probably on the stage very much as he is in real life. One of his greatest screen successes was made in "The Good Companion." Here he had a great opportunity which he fulfilled marvellously, giving us a presentation of the kindly old countryman who getting "fed up" with his tiresome wife and exasperating family, sets forth and finds adventures of all sorts. Mr. Gwenn fits in the case of "Early to Bed," and one will look forward with pleasure to seeing him.

A SUGGESTION

IT has been suggested by picture-goers that the cast should be somewhat larger before the picture opens, and at the beginning of the second part of the programme. This plan was adopted some time ago, notably when "Cavalcade" and "Home Expenses" and "The Wandering Jew" were shown, and it certainly added to the enjoyment of the audience. Perhaps the powers that be in the Nairobi theatres will think the suggestion one.

Stars in their Courses CARBO AS GREAT A DECADE AGO AS TO-DAY

THE "E.A. Standard's" London Correspondent, writing by air mail on June 11 apprehends "The Thirty-nine Steps" as the best film of the week in London, saying at the same time that it does not follow John Buchan's book of the same name.

WE have an outstanding film in London this week named "The Thirty-nine Steps" with Madeleine Carroll and Robert Donat. It is shooting at the New Gallery. It is directed by a genius, by name Alfred Hitchcock. It is based on the book by John Buchan, but does not follow it.

"The Thirty-nine Steps" was written by John Buchan as the first of a series of stories told about a certain Canadian—Richard Hannay, a young man who quite accidentally finds himself in a whirlpool of incidents and difficulties through no fault of his own. The very covers in the screen version a row in an East End music hall, an international female spy, a master criminal seeking British air defence plans, a tall pursuit in Scottish glens and highlands, in the mists and under the sprays. We are taken on a exciting train journey, into lonely Scottish inns, and spend a night in a bedroom with our hero and heroine under the oldest and most amusing conditions, hand-to-hand, and mixing real love with pretence in the happiest way. We have as a grand finale a crazy show at the Palladium, in which tragedy appears and a novel happy ending. It is all great sport and very speed.

Meteorite Rise

Robert Donat has had, as a screen star, one of the most meteoric rises to fame. In this he justifies the high hopes entertained from his initial success. The part he plays in this picture is full of opportunities. The story is completely and vividly delivered. He plays opposite that radiant and unmatchable beauty, Madeleine Carroll, whose faultless performance is itself invaluable. He meets hardly anybody in the cast who is not in some way gifted, certainly one lacking in experience. Names like those of Lucie Mannington, Peggy Ashcroft, Godfrey Cambridge, and Frank Cellier will indicate the unusually high support. But it is the director who is the real star of the film.

A picture at the Empire "Joyless Street," is a novelty of the sort which is a little out of the ordinary, one Greta Garbo, makes her first bow to the public. The shooting of this picture is a courageous experiment. The onus is on it to prove divergent arguments. In the first place it must strive to show how progress film productions has leapt, even leapt, in these days. Garbo was so effective that there was every justification for halting her as a great performer. Garbo, who we see this picture will not be the least bit shaken in their faith in her. She comes through this exciting test, with flying colors. She proves that even as a mere girl she was already displaying magnificent ability.

A POSTPONEMENT

Owing to the serious illness of one of the principal members of the cast, Mrs. Eileen Leslie McDiville has decided to postpone the production of Mr. Martin Hodge's play, "The Wind and the Rain," until the first week in October.

166 Elephants Shot in Six Months

SHAMBA RAIDERS TAUGHT A LESSON

Meru-Embu Campaign

SKILFUL WORK FOR THE GAME DEPARTMENT

The shooting of 166 elephants in a little under six months is no small accomplishment.

The work was undertaken officially in order to rid the Meru and Embu areas of shamba raiding elephants who had become a menace not only to crops, but even, in some instances, to life.

Difficult Country

Major G. C. B. Elliot (individual, Bill Chapman of Kenya for the year 1962, 1963 and 1964) and Mr. Carr Hartley were authorized by the Game Department to clear the area and the task was carried out in such a manner that there was no needless killing nor were any of the beasts wounded and left by the wayside to die.

The campaign fully achieved its object and the situation in the Meru and Embu areas is now entirely relieved and no more movements are necessary in the area in question will be usual.

The country to be cleared was mostly scrub from ten to twenty feet high, with many of the trees and bushes hard and hazardous for the hunters.

Heavy calibre rifles were used. Major Elliott used a 450 Double B. Mr. Carr Hartley used a 450 Double B. for most of the night. The rifles were checked and in this connection Major Elliott stated that he had on occasion, under easy conditions, shot elephants with a .250.

BUSY DURBAN

Week-end Trains Bring 5,000 Visitors

Durban is being deluged with visitors for the July 7th and 8th.

Over 200 passengers—a total of 5,000—arrived at the Durban Station on the Transvaal and Natal Trains.

The shooting of 166 elephants in a little under six months is no small accomplishment.

Several Cabinet Ministers can be expected during the week.

PROBABILITY OF AN EARLY REFERENDUM

There has been very heavy rain all over the country since the North Kenya district during the last week, there have been less than 100 mm of rain. All rivers are in flood and the bridge over the Timau river, the main road, has been completely under water. A bridge further down river has been carried away. Even the Lugardi river, which adds another 100 mm of water to the Timau river, has been carried away and last Friday the bridge had completely disappeared under water.

There are clear indications of an impending strong movement within the cabinet in support of the scheme of amalgamation with Northern Rhodesia and Nyasaland, and the eventual formation of a British South Central African Dominion, which may also, it is contended, be the northern portion of the Bechuanaland Protectorate (writes the Bulawayo correspondent of the "Sunday Times").

Recent utterances by the Prime Minister of Northern Rhodesia and other members of the Cabinet strongly suggest that fusion between the three territories is being considered in the near future.

Year of Locusts

Cream supplies have risen very considerably and even higher than we had dry, warm weather for a few days. However, there is a possibility that there may be locusts for some years and all the eggs should be good, unless tomorrow we have close to 100 mm of rain.

Only Tentative

On the other hand the proposal has not hitherto been before the public here in the sense of being considered an immediately practicable or desirable aim, and on such occasions—as a general election—there is no reason to expect that it will be so widely broadcast as has not existed much popular enthusiasm.

Local Finance

Farmers on the Seririon river have been reharvested with late and some resistant cattle losses and some resistant cattle losses have been reported. So far no deaths have occurred among the flocks, although several attempts have been made to bush shoot and trap them.

Levelling Sale

At the sale held at Timau, on the 7th, the prices for cows ranged from (Continued in next column).

THE WEATHER

The following note on the weather was received on Saturday from the Director of the East African Meteorological Service: - A hot sun was shining brightly in Uganda. The Trades are still blowing strongly from the North of Malawi and further above may be expected on the Coast. Island chookie conditions will continue. Some showers may occur over the Highlands, but no heavy precipitation is likely.

Removal. The Mombasa Trading Stores, Nakuru, has removed to premises in Royalite House lately occupied by F. M. Bhaljee.

Proceeding be dealt at length with the historical association of Indians with Kenya, which, he claimed, entitled them to enjoy unimpeded trading rights here. These rights he stated were being taken away by the Government which he accused of limiting the number of licences. This would lead to licences being refused to traders, who today were able to obtain licences without any restriction.

Trade Pioneers. When Kenya was opened up beyond the ten miles east of the coast, the Indians were the first to take the risks and establish trade shops upcountry. They presented a formidable front, themselves in parts of East Africa which today were called Natives.

When the Government proposed to set up a commission to investigate the Indian trade in Kenya, the Government was accused of being biased. It was stated that the Government was not impartial and that it was not fair to set up a commission to investigate the Indian trade in Kenya.

While agreeing that the Bill was equally applicable to all, it was pointed out that when it was introduced it was not a racial measure. It was stated that the word 'Indian' was not mentioned in the Bill and that it was not stated in the Bill that Indians would not be granted licences.

The main argument against the Bill, however, was that it was wholly unnecessary at the present stage of development of the country. What was required at present was energetic efforts in the direction of increasing production. It was stated that the Government should be concentrating on increasing production rather than on restricting trade.

The Kenya Problem

MAJOR GROGAN'S ARTICLES

To the Editor "E.A. Standard," Sir—Major Grogan asks me to explain the monetary machine of East Africa and the steps necessary to restore some measure of internal equilibrium by means of the exchange rate of our local money unit.

The machine consists of a triumvirate of gentlemen appointed by the Colonial Office, from the Colonial Office and the Crown Agents. This Currency Board is a Central Bank for the East African Territory. It has three members: two Europeans and one African. It is the only body which can issue the local money unit.

If Mr A in London hands 100 English notes to the Currency Board, it becomes entitled to 100 East African notes in Nairobi. If Mr B in Nairobi sends 100 East African notes to the Currency Board, it becomes entitled to receive from the Currency Board 100 English notes in London.

The operative principle is that of the Board sees the 100 received from the London portfolio. It issues securities which are placed to issue in Nairobi. It issues a bundle of intrinsically worthless paper in Nairobi. It issues a bundle of intrinsically worthless paper to the Currency Board to enable it to sell their sterling securities on the market and pay back the 100 English notes in London. The 100 East African notes are a deduction to cover the cost of the operation.

The present Currency Board is composed of three members, one of whom is a European, one is an African and one is a European. The Board is not a Central Bank, but it is the only body which can issue the local money unit. It is the only body which can issue the local money unit.

charge moved to take remedial measures and continued that Sir Philip Curzon-Ledger had no monopoly of the world's wisdom. It would only be necessary to form a new Ordinance Council extending the exchange rates which the Currency Board could quote.

We could then take up one fine morning, find the Nairobi £10 discount on the East African £ and a 50% premium on the English, and our Colony in the happy position of being able to fight its competitors on even ground.

Your note, E.A. Standard, Nairobi, July 5, 1935.

To the Editor "E.A. Standard," Sir—I have read your interesting correspondence in the "Monday Factor in Depression" which has appeared in your column, and the title of the third of Major Grogan's articles on the same subject. Since, as you write in one of your Leaders, the correspondence "invariably tends to the fringe of the subject," it cannot be treated as a very serious contribution, but the article, because of the Major Grogan's reputation in the country, gives a different master.

Leaving aside his allusions to past history, which, after all is useful chiefly as a guide for the future, I find to note a few deliberate points in his statement. He has professedly used the word "statement," since my opinion on the article does not amount to an editorial, and that the language contained in my statement had been sent to him for his criticism.

I must confess that I am not a student of the subject, but I have selected only a few of the more vital points. The centre round which all economic theory revolves is "value." In Article I we are led to "a consideration of what is 'value,' but only tells us where it is inherent, not what it is or what it does. This may be due to the need for brevity, but when he proceeds to discuss the value of money, he has no prior case in very unusual circumstances. Price is a particular aspect of value—change value—expressed in terms of money. It is only for commercial use that we say "value," but only tells us where it is inherent, not what it is or what it does.

To the Editor "E.A. improvement would be worthy of note by your correspondent. I consider I and my colleagues are the best judges as to the interests of our constituents and we know exactly how to bring the measure in question to the attention of the public and to the benefit of the country as well as the benefit of a man. We will however go to every length to ascertain if our views are not those of our constituents. We have no doubt that the result of the debate will be the result of the debate.

The animals who expect to see the first of their kind in the local bodies of their brothers on the passage of the Bill, are not to be disappointed. It appears that they will be so disappointed when they find that the Bill is not a very serious affair and the result of their efforts are not so great as they expected.

Most of us forget the fundamental principle of the "White Man's Country."

Your note, SHAMS-UD-DIN Nairobi, July 6, 1935.

THE FUTURE OF TANZANIA

To the Editor "E.A. Standard," Sir—I have to thank Mr F. V. Neumann for printing out my note in the date of the British war. Neumann's ownership of Schleswig-Holstein was specifically acknowledged in the Treaty of London in 1923, and in the Treaty of London of May 1922 which was signed by England, France, Britain, Austria and Prussia. In order to ensure the stability of the Treaty of London, Prussia in 1924 introduced a law to the effect that Denmark should be allowed to strike Denmark. In 1906 Prussia attacked Austria in order to obtain the right to sell her land, firstly to Denmark, then to Austria, and finally to Prussia against Austria.

The Empire of "Hardenberg" extended from the Baltic to Hungary and from there to the Atlantic and the North Sea and included Alsace and Lorraine as a very small but integral part. The King of France, was Charles VIII, who was a member of the House of Valois, and was a member of the House of Valois, and was a member of the House of Valois.

Normal interests in Morocco were his own, and he did not intend to give them to any other power. I am sure that if he had any official authority to interpret the Treaty of Versailles, his opinion as to how and when to give them to any other power would be the same.

Herein F. V. Neumann and E. Bismarck are obviously concerned of the military principle that "a stick is the best defence." As a consequence of the Treaty of Versailles, a better understanding between our two countries. I think that there is very little question that we understand each other thoroughly. I think that we are in a position to understand each other thoroughly. I think that we are in a position to understand each other thoroughly.

the x-ray of business

The new way for all records supersedes the old "card-in-box" or ledger methods. Makes crystal clear facts, which, unless arranged on Roneodex, are obscure and difficult to arrive at. Amongst other advantages, Roneodex gives you Control over every stage of your work, and enables you to see at a GLANCE—

Customer's Record.—You can see at once those who have not purchased from you for 6 months.

Ledger.—You can see at a glance those of your accounts which have not been settled for any particular period you wish to know.

Stock Record.—You can see in 3 seconds (a) Those goods which are not moving, (b) Those goods which are dangerously low, (c) Those which are heavily stockpiled.

Works Record.—You can see at a glance—(a) Exact progress of any piece of work at every stage, (b) All jobs in hand so successful.

A unique system of Coloured Signals automatically flashes to you the vital facts and see the Roneodex in actual use at—
