Italy Rejects Protectorate Proposal

TO GO HER OWN WAY WITH ABYSSINIA

Objections to League Mandate

MAIN AMBITION TO OBTAIN CONTROL OF RAW MATERIALS

It is stated from Rome that Italy rejects any suggestion of a League Mandate or Protectorate over Abyssinia on the grounds that with British and French influence in the League, those countries would have too great a share in the administration of Abyssinia for Italy's liking.

An inspired article in a Rome newspaper states that Italy will go her own way, irrespective of the League. The paper adds that expansion unaccompanied by military measures might end in another Adua.

Negotiations are proceeding in Geneva, between Britain, France and Italy with a view to discovering a peaceful solution of the disputed matter. It is considered that the latest attitude of Italy is not calculated to help the peacemakers.

Further Talks at Geneva

Geneva, July 31.—The fateful talks behind the scenes on the Italo-Abyssinian dispute have begun with Mr. Anthony Eden seeing the Abyssinian delegate to the League, Mr. Teclé Hawariate, and the Italian delegate, Baron Alibi. It is understood that the conversations are in good shape, but it is too early to say that they are promising well.

Council's Rights Mr. Teclé Hawariate, the Abyssinian delegate to the League, and Mr. French advised the Council that he intended to attend a private meeting of the Council tomorrow afternoon. Mr. French is a member of the Council. The proceedings were private and the meeting lasted for half an hour. When Mr. Litvinoff, the President, read the agenda including the signature of the League, Mr. Hawariate made reservations as to the scope of the discussion. Mr. Hawariate stated the Ethiopian case, and insisted that the question of land ownership should be settled. He also made general reservations of Abyssinia's right to raise the whole question.

Therapon M. Laval suggested an amendment not to increase the number of private members. Mr. Anthony Eden concurred, and remarked that in no circumstances could the Council vote to extend the scope of the discussion to be limited. Immediately afterwards Mr. Litvinoff, Mr. Laval, Mr. Eden, and Baron Alibi met in private. The Council will meet at 5 p.m.

NO LEAGUE MANDATE! Italy to Pursue Her Way Alone

Rome, July 31.—The idea of a League Protectorate over Abyssinia has been cold-shouldered and is described here as "a most strange proposal." It is considered that Britain, France, with their big influence in the League, will not vote to increase the number of private members. Mr. Anthony Eden concurred, and remarked that in no circumstances could the Council vote to extend the scope of the discussion to be limited. Immediately afterwards Mr. Litvinoff, Mr. Laval, Mr. Eden, and Baron Alibi met in private. The Council will meet at 5 p.m.

A GREAT TRIBUTE TO BRITAIN

Speech in London by Col. Deneys Reitz

FINE EXAMPLE

[BY WIRELESS.] Rugby, August 1.—Colonel Deneys Reitz, who once fought against the British in the South African War, but who years ago commanded a British battalion in the Great War, first in Africa and later on the Western Front, has been one of the overseas delegates attending the Conference in London of Empire Parliamentary Associations. He paid great tribute to Britain in the world, and in the Empire. He referred to the indomitable courage with which the British people had faced the social and economic troubles which followed the Great War, and rightened their sails, and themselves. He finally overcame their pessimism, and he said was the admiration of the world.

Tribute to Britain

He described the British Commonwealth as possibly the best example of a League of Nations in the world. It was pointing that it was possible for men who differed on many things to stand together as a league of higher ideals. Speaking as a man who belonged to a "tribe" of men who had once fought against Great Britain, he said that in South Africa they had not only respected their country and their liberty, but had given their lives for their freedom. He said that they had enjoyed under British rule, and he said that they had fought against the British.

LAKE STEAMERS

The railways are making certain alterations in the Lake Victoria steamer traffic one of which is to effect improvements in the "Ruina" and transform her into something like a miniature "luxury liner." It is proposed to construct a ball-room and a swimming pool and this should very definitely encourage people to take the "Round the Lake" trip more often than is done at present.

UKUGANDA COTTON

It is expected that they will bring back a large quantity of cotton and sugar, and will also be able to secure a large amount of information regarding the cotton and sugar industries in those countries.

AN IRON AND STEEL AGREEMENT

Limit on Imports into United Kingdom

BRITISH INDUSTRY TO BENEFIT

[By Wireless.] Rugby, August 1.—The agreement between the British Iron and Steel Federation and the International Steel cartel, signed in London yesterday, is expected to give considerable impetus to the British steel industry. Its effect will be to limit iron and steel imports in the United Kingdom from the cartel countries to 670,000 tons in the first year and 520,000 tons in each subsequent year—compared with 2,800,000 tons in 1931 and 1,500,000 tons last year. It is estimated that the British steel industry will as a result be enabled to provide direct employment for 40,000 additional men and indirect employment for thousands more. "GOLD" RUSH ON BANKS OF CLYDE

["STANDARD" CORRESPONDENT.]
London, July 15.
(By Air Mail.)
There was a village "gold" rush at Bowling, on the banks of the Clyde this week, when hope of fortune drew men, women, and children to the riverbank to a spot where slates had been stacked.
A girl who was playing near the slate dump found what she thought were signs of gold, and she reported the news. Her father accompanied her back to the "claim" where she succeeded in smelting other "suggs."
The gold however, was nothing but a girl's playmate from the West Highlands state. Another man for it is the "Y.M.C.A."

Road and Weather Report

Mr. Gillon-Fenzi writes as follows:
There has been very little rain this week anywhere in East Africa. Kisumu, Eldoret and Mt. Kenya, principally in the area between Mt. Kenya, Eldoret and Mt. Kenia, in Uganda and Tanganyika nearly all stations show a nil return. This means, therefore, that nearly all East African roads are dry, and in fair to good condition.
In Kenya the heaviest rainfall this week has been at Eldoret, Nariva, which had two inches, followed by Eldoret, Keru, the Nairobi, Naivasha, Soy and Thompson Falls with 1 1/2 inches. Mombasa, Eldoret, Malo and Ripkaren River which all had 1 1/2 inches. Most roads are in fair to good condition, the main exceptions being that the Eldama Ravine-Eldoret road and the Thompson-Kakamega road both of which are laid in natural gullies and the increasingly important area, runs from Kisumu to Nakuru, and from thence on to Eldoret. These roads are in poor condition. This road has been so bad during most of this year, that to get through, one is obliged to detour via Kericho and Rotik or via Kisumu. The most important road has now been done by road. The road was made, but it still leaves very much to be desired in the section which runs across the Rift Valley. I do hope, therefore, this may be altered in the near future. Practically every station in Tanganyika is in fair to good condition, and all roads are in fair to good condition.

THE CEREAL MARKET

Situation Practically Unchanged

The following weekly cereal market report, dated July 30, has been issued by the Kenya Farmers' Association (K.F.A.):
Maize
The position is still much the same as last week. America is still leading the market and does not justify the price rise. In fact, we would say that probably the reason for the price rise is that the United States is the main producer which is guaranteed to the farmer by the Agricultural Adjustment. The shipments from that country this week are the largest recorded so far for the season and are in the neighbourhood of 1,000,000 quarters. America has about 1,600,000 quarters but, of course, this was contracted for some time ago.
There has been a little more trade passing in South African maize this week and British maize has taken place in No. 2 South African maize to the United Kingdom at 10/14 and 10/15 and 10/15. Latest reports from South Africa give the total figure for this year's crop at 18,000 bags, which is about 25 per cent less than that of 1934. East African maize 'K 2' is valued at 10/4.

Wheat

Trading in wheat has been slow. The prices have remained practically unchanged. Conditions throughout northern Europe are generally favourable, but the new crop in the United States has been done by rain.

Barley Harvest in the Congo District
 [STANDARD CORRESPONDENT.]
 Bongoi, July 29.—
 July has in fact been a better getting in and off all through the month, the total amount of grain to be quite up to the average. With some considerable rain without rain and a south east wind blowing from the mountains on the north and a westerly gale. A hail storm on Friday last stripped the leaves off a number of maize at Bougat, and rain was generally recorded on Monday. Very plentiful maize had every chance of coming so long as the odds are excellent. It indicates a very fair yield.

Paul has had free access to God's Word. Him from our world, which has no other, is a free liberation. He has not the slightest excuse. It is precisely to show us innumerable instances of the power of the written Word. God's witness and every one who has been quite at liberty to turn a deaf ear to His voice and to His Word. But we think of the consequences. We may not all be required to exert a universal influence as St. Paul; but tremendous issues are at stake in this connection, to the Heavenly Vision.

MAJOR GREGG'S ARTICLES

To the Editor, "E.A. Standard," Sir—Major Gregg's articles make Kenya like a four cylinder motor car which for 12 years has been trying to run on three and finally two cylinders, while the Elevated Members seem hours as the appropriate remedy. I believe that the natural wealth of England consists of iron and coal mines, somewhat worked out and some agricultural land that is becoming deteriorated by the system of concrete roads and bally more necessary in the country and in some of the incident members of an overworked population. Owing to this fundamental poverty, English lands, though seldom sold, have been transferred to the hands of foreign owners, how on earth do 40 million English live? I believe I am right in assuming that the English have lost more money than their own and draw more interest than they pay and are therefore on balance a nation of borrowers, drawing their income by having what they need and maintaining the expensive fact necessary to protect their food supply and collect from overseas the money which is their means of support.

Under these circumstances low commodity values and high interest values are most to the English but position to be considered as Kenya which have to produce more commodities than they need in order to sell their surplus at prices kept low by the English and so pay the heavy kept high for the English. No wonder then that many of our masters were some time ago referred to as "British Imperialists". No wonder they got fagged and invented body line going to revenge themselves on the Australians who by default have won the world. No wonder they divided King John and his dental restorations. He knew how to deal with such folk and their decay.

Yours etc PAUL CLARKE. Mwanza, July 26, 1935.

A THOMSON'S FALLS MEETING

To the Editor, "E.A. Standard," Sir—I hope you will allow me to correct the partial version of what I said at a meeting at Thomson's Falls on June 29 which was reported in your issue of July 12. My friend, Mr. W. Street did not go down one of being contented. He knows there is no foolishness of that sort about myself. This is what I said "that as a lot of agricultural farmers had had their crops wiped out for three years in succession by beasts, followed by the worst drought in that thirty years, that the motion before the meeting was inadequate. It was for a remission of rent for two years. I suggested four years where necessary. I said that in order to make it easy for the Government to make this concession those who had been able to pay their rents should not claim to participate in the concession. I mentioned in order to show that was not a strict Ape that I had gone down 6000 in these years and very nearly out but that, due to no effort on my part I had become prosperous and so had been unable to do anything for the Government."

WORLD CHAMPIONSHIP MATCH

The Journal of the Netherlands Chess Association announces that a match between Dr. A. Alekhin (holder) and Dr. M. Ewe (challenger) for the Chess Championship of the World has been definitely fixed, the guarantee-fund having been successfully raised.

Presumably most of this money has been found in Holland, of which country Dr. Ewe is Chess Champion, as one of the conditions is that the matches are to be played in Amsterdam and other Dutch towns, beginning in October.

The terms of the contest are that 3 games shall be played each week and the winner shall be the first scorer of 12½ points, of which 6 must be won games. The arrangement designed to prevent an unreasonable number of drawn games. In the Laaker-Capablanca and the Capablanca-Alekhin world championship matches, drawn games did not count, the conditions being that the title should go to the player first scoring a certain number of scoring draws in addition to wins worked out in the Alekhin-Bogoljuboff match played in Germany about two years ago and won by Alekhin, but we cannot recollect whether any stipulated number of won games was stipulated.

SAMUEL REBESKOWY

In 1920 the Polish infant chess prodigy, then 8 years old, played 40 games simultaneously in Birmingham winning 16, drawing 10 and losing one. In June of this year Rebeksky, who has been in contact with his parents for the past decade, again visited Birmingham and this time played 24 games simultaneously, winning them all in 3½ hours.

He is now 19 and he is justifying the expectations formed of him when a child, for he beat Capablanca for the 19th World Chess Open tournament at the Varnmouth E. C. P. Congress in July. The result has not yet been recorded in Nairobi, but in the list of entries for the 20th World Chess (World) are his only serious rivals. He is not yet 21, and in any means in the world chess picknick class, he seems to be well on the way to it, and he is only 23 years old.

OBITUARY

"H. K. Handasyde, the well known Scottish player, who lived in Paris, died suddenly of a heart failure on May 24, at his French home, 16 rue Poiret-de-Nersey, Paris.

"Much of his early life was spent in Africa, and during the war he served in East Africa as an officer in the King's African Rifles, but he retired in 1920, and joined the newly-formed British Chess Club in Paris, and was the leading player in the circle right up to his death. He studied in the organization of various chess clubs in the French capital, and will be greatly missed by a large circle of friends.

"This announcement from the "British Chess Magazine" will be read with much regret by some of the older members of the Nairobi Chess Club, who will remember the late Lancelot Handasyde very well. He was a military member of the club, and a regular attendant of the meetings whenever he was stationed in Nairobi. One of the strongest players we ever had, he did much to improve the standard of play, and his games with the late Mr. J. H. Clark were always full of excitement and interest. He was good at simultaneous play and often took on all comers. The three games we played with him were in Mombasa in 1922.

INDIAN CHAMPIONSHIP TOURNAMENT

The following matches will be played in the K.I.R. and H. Indian Institute on Saturday, August 3, at 4.15 p.m. at the Fourth Round: A. Malik and Aman.

S.S. Khasler and Baktat Ali, Peer Buz and N. N. Dhalpyp, C. M. Patel and K. S. Meshani. The first named have the white pieces.

KENYA TENNIS CHAMPIONSHIPS

Review of Mixed Doubles

A VERY OPEN EVENT

The Mixed Doubles event has an excellent entry of twenty-nine couples, and here again the field that should be served up should be of excellent quality.

Last year's winners, Haywood and Mrs. Haywood, will not be defending their title although the number of players who have previously figured prominently in the event will be decreasing.

The last eight should be: H. D. England and Mrs. Davies; Dunoon and Mrs. Davies; Cunningham and Miss Keeling; J. England and Mrs. Collington; Orin and Mrs. Orin; Allen and Mrs. Allen; Hopkins and Mrs. Hopkins; Lathbury and Mrs. Lathbury.

Of these J. England and Mrs. Collington are likely to have a stiff battle if they meet Scrabble and Mrs. Vernon, who would first of all have to dispose of Tare and Miss Tannahill.

Orin and Mrs. Orin will meet both Scrabble and Mrs. Vernon in their first match and this is not likely to be a walkover.

Lathbury and Mrs. Lathbury are expected to beat Hildebrand and Mrs. Hildebrand, and Mrs. McNameara and Mrs. McNameara.

For the semi-finals one would suggest: H. D. England and Mrs. Davies; Cunningham and Miss Keeling; Allen and Mrs. Hopkins; Dunoon and Mrs. Davies.

H. D. England and Mrs. Davies will have to go all out to beat Dunoon and Mrs. Davies, who have previously won several championships.

Miss Keeling is given the preference over J. England and Mrs. Collington; Cunningham and Miss Keeling are given the preference over H. D. England and Mrs. Davies.

For the final H. D. England and Mrs. Davies are the favorites, but Mrs. Orin should cause through cunning.

Cunningham and Miss Keeling are given the preference over H. D. England and Mrs. Davies.

WEEK-END EVENTS

Enterprise Rugby Cup Games

Kenya Bisley Meeting

The week-end is probably the biggest sports week-end of the year in the capital with the tennis championships, Bisley Meeting, Nairobi races, Cavalry and Cranworth Polo cups fixtures, and the Rugby weekend, when the last stages of the "Enterprise" Cup are played for at Muthiga.

Bisley concludes on Monday, when the presentation of prizes takes place in the afternoon, while the tennis championships will continue until Wednesday afternoon.

The polo opening yesterday and continues this afternoon and again tomorrow morning, with the finals on Sunday afternoon starting at three o'clock.

Tomorrow afternoon the semifinals of the "Enterprise" Cup are played at Muthiga commencing Sunday there at the final starting at 5 p.m.

This weekend Bank Holiday week-end draws a big crowd of visitors into the capital, perhaps the one period in the year most suitable apart from Easter, when this is the Hill golf tournament.

The following are the principal fixtures over the week-end: RUGBY: To-morrow—Enterprise Cup semi-final—Ruiru vs. Bulwer; 4 p.m.; Eldoret vs. Arusha, 5 p.m.

On Sunday—Final Enterprise Cup at Muthiga, 5 p.m. POLO: Association Tournament at Ngong Road, at 2.50.

Kenya's Coffee Industry

How Great Men Began

MONTAGU NORMAN

An Extremely Unsatisfactory Outlook

HEAVY LOSSES OF CAPITAL AND INCOME

Many Planters Facing Ruin Under Existing Conditions

HIGH COSTS, DROUGHT, PESTS AND FALLING MARKETS

MILES OF COFFEE: A view of one of Kenya's coffee growing areas. Photo: H. K. Binks. Enormous acreages of coffee are in danger of being entirely abandoned if existing conditions continue.

(FROM A CORRESPONDENT)

No one in this country can shut his eyes to the fact that the present position of the Kenya coffee planter is extremely unsatisfactory and that the outlook, instead of promising to improve shortly as it was hoped, is very discouraging. Considering that coffee growing is one of the main industries of the Colony, its condition is of vital importance. We have already seen heavy losses of capital and income incurred here by growers of flax, maize and soot, and it is impossible for the many whose livelihood depends on the growing and selling of coffee, to take the present state of affairs calmly or to look forward to the future with confidence.

Personally, I feel that few people unacquainted with the coffee world, know exactly how or why these depressing conditions have arisen, nor what difficulties the settler has had to face since those early years, just after the Great War, when many came out here to start life as coffee planters, full of hope and enthusiasm. I think, therefore, that an account of my own experiences, I take mine as a fairly average example of those of my local growers—may serve to enlighten the general public as to how matters stand.

With respect to the figures there, it is obviously impossible to regard these as exactly typical of every case. Some planters came out with much more capital at their command than I did; some with less. Some have had slightly better luck at times in regard to the rainfall on their estates, or the prices obtained for their produce in the London markets. Some, because on a large home, have had much heavier losses and are more deeply involved with mortgages and loans than they cannot pay off; while others have had to give up their estates altogether. However, I think that what I have been through myself can be taken as a fair average sample.

I first arrived in Kenya in 1919, bringing with me my entire available capital of £8,000, which to about 10 tons, which I was able to sell on the London market. In 1923, Rupee, China and other agents' fees, etc., had been deducted.

Out of this first income I had to pay the year's labour and my own living expenses and mortgage interest, which left me practically nothing to the good.

Drought and Mealy Bug
In 1925 the crop nearly failed altogether owing to drought, but I got 15 tons of the estate and sold it again at an average of £160 net.

My land brought me in no return whatever for the first four years, while my expenditure, on general improvements to my estate was very heavy and ran to at least some £4,000, towards which I raised a further loan of £10,000. This included the making of estate roads and bridges, planting 20 acres with trees for fuel and timber, building a stone dwelling house for myself and family, labour, wages, coffee, pulp, factory, stone houses and sheds. Building at that time, owing to funds' wages and price of materials, was at least 100 per cent. higher than it is to-day. My factory alone, which is not a large one, cost me over £200, and I had labour and living expenses to pay as well.

The Currency Change
In 1921 Government suddenly altered the valuation of the Rupee, which action nearly doubled my liabilities and the rate of interest on the mortgage.

My first young crop was picked four years after ploughing, i.e. in 1924, and this only amounted to about 100 tons of coffee.

Our living expenses, I may state here, were never above some compatible with an ordinary standard of comfort, usual among educated white people with a family of three or four children to provide for, as they included clothes, doctors' and dentists' bills, and my return journey to England. Even, I can truthfully say, that even in our best years, there was no extravagant living among the majority of the commercial coffee planters like myself.

In 1923 the coffee market dropped about 40 per cent. to an average of £50 per ton, due to a severe competition. This was also a year of floods, when the crops suffered from an excess of moisture. With this drop in the market, planters started to cut down their expenditure, budgeting to come out on an average of about £100 per ton, when they were able to do for a year or two until suddenly faced with a further decline in selling prices to small proportion which still leaves them with the bulk averaging about £50 to £70, and most of us are not doing even as well as that.

Running expenses have now been kept to the bone, with the result that young cultivation and manuring can seldom be done as formerly, which means an inevitable deterioration in the Colony's main industry, though we are well aware that only the best quality coffee will fetch a

Effect on Natives
The planter tries to help natives, but the only remedy open to him, apart from his own living, is by cutting wages, the consequence is that the native is suffering. He finds it very difficult, often impossible, to pay his taxes for though he tramps from place to place in search of work the planter cannot afford to employ the labour which they badly need, although thousands of men are out of employment.

Some of these poor wretches are today walking 200 miles and more from their homes, or are paying railway fares to Nairobi, before they can be taken on again by other masters who are obliged to employ them away either to make the long journey back to their homes on foot or to start at the expense of their friends until repatriated at the cost of the Government.

Stringent Economy
Though many Government officials and others in the colony try to imagine that the coffee planter lives in the fat days of the land I know I do not but dozens of cases of homes where the owners once lived on the fat of the land in other countries, but where the most drastic economies have now been instituted, even in the usual daily needs. Imported groceries in the store cupboard are things of the past, "made-in-Kenya" the rare exception rather than the rule. More important still, children cannot be sent to school or college in Europe, nor can very expensive Home be afforded. A very occasional two weeks' holiday in Mombasa, living in beach camps rather than in comfortable hotels, is the only change that is possible, which is often of vital necessity for health reasons. Perhaps an occasional cinema, little or no entertaining of friends and even the cutting out of games and sports which cost money.

The only means of transport, the motor-car, often run on part finance, but to be maintained, but this we only use on those occasions when estate business, urgent shipments or medical requirements, make it absolutely necessary to go into Nairobi. Our own and our children's clothes are home-made and shabby, the only thing keeping her eye into Kenya's capital.

As for that very important matter—the education of the children—the local education authorities, and the kind Sisters of the Loreto Convent, best know where the money comes from and who educate and provide for the sons and daughters of many of the planters here.

Though there are some hopes of apparent prosperity, it can be safely inferred that that picture for the future is in receipt of a pessimistic view of the situation at Home is helping with

To be a descendant of three famous banking families should be a tremendous advantage, but it would seem, also sufficient to determine your career, rather than the ease of the Hon. Montagu Norman's choice.

Montagu Norman's choice nearly determined the fate of the country, instead of finance should predominate in the appointment of the man of abilities. Montagu Norman, like another great economist, H. Keynes, went to Eton and then to King's College, Cambridge, but he remained single until 1912, when he married Miss Keynes, who was the highest aristocratic honour, Mr. Norman was awarded a cross by the Army. He entered the City office of J. P. Morgan and had been awarded the D.S.O. It is interesting to note that when the South African War broke out in the South African Republic.

In South Africa, he proved himself a born soldier, and a dash of his war work was well rewarded. The turning point in Mr. Norman's career was the outbreak of the war, when he was appointed Governor and succeeded in holding the position for five years.

Mr. Montagu Norman has been in the position for over five years. The position of Governor of the Bank of England used to be one of the most important and influential in the country. Mr. Norman's appointment as Governor of the Bank of England was a very important one, and it is said that he rarely does that. Mr. Norman is a brilliant financier who has not made a personal fortune.

He attacked the Bank staff by making them work, and working himself. He has never, apparently, used any money to buy himself a house, and it is said that he rarely does that. Mr. Norman is a brilliant financier who has not made a personal fortune.

As for that very important matter—the education of the children—the local education authorities, and the kind Sisters of the Loreto Convent, best know where the money comes from and who educate and provide for the sons and daughters of many of the planters here.

A Heavy Burden
Today, many of us are overwhelmed with high rates of interest on loans and mortgages, heavy freight charges, and the high cost of living.

It is interesting to note that when the South African War broke out in the South African Republic.

Though there are some hopes of apparent prosperity, it can be safely inferred that that picture for the future is in receipt of a pessimistic view of the situation at Home is helping with

LUCIFER GOLF COMPETITION

["STANDARD" CORRESPONDENT]

London, July 17.

LORD Cromwell, as Chairman of the House Sugar Beet Output Committee this week spoke when the Committee considered its despatch to the Government Saturday to protest against the proposals of the Green Committee majority report to discontinue Government assistance to the sugar beet industry. He said that he asked no special terms or favour, but merely for the same terms that industrialists in the great war had got and getting—that they should be defined against unfair competition, have the right to pay a reasonable wage and give a reasonable return on money invested.

"We ask the Government for their support," he added. "And I do not believe we shall get it."

The Kenya Golf week is now proceeding at Brancaster and I hope to send some details this week. Colonial circles are now discussing the result of the Lucifer golf meeting and I am afraid experts seem to think that although a lot of Kenya people turned up they did not do much over themselves with glory. It is a little surprising that Stanley had not been accompanied by a visitor from India since the greens there are not so good.

Captain R. Pringle, who is completing his N.R.A. meeting in London, has just returned from a number who on Sunday made a pilgrimage to the grave of Sir H. M. Stanley, the African explorer, at Putney. It is generally believed that Stanley is buried in Westminster Abbey, where a label perpetuates his memory. The stone which marks Stanley's grave in Putney Churchyard was brought from Central Africa. Capt. Pringle and party had spent a considerable part of their service in the Sudan, where they had met Stanley.

Mr. J. D. Gibb has left London to join Mr. Gibb in Kenya.

The Kenya Appeal spoke at the Rotary Club of Westland East on Tuesday, July 9, and on the evening of the 10th at the Rotary Club of Woking. He also addressed the Woking Rotary Club on the 10th at lunch.

TO-MORROW

League of Mercy's Play Day in Nairobi, the first since July 25, 1919. Considering the hard and distressful times that the country has passed through during the past four years, it is something of a record that the League has managed to carry on its good work, aided only by the generous and strenuous efforts of our country and local committees, and in making any demand on the general public of Nairobi. At the moment however the financial resources of the League have fallen below the League's needs and the necessity for money is being felt more and more—and there are many such cases as a year or two very many.

The Committee therefore has decided that a Play Day be held in Nairobi, and it is earnestly hoped that those who will be present after work or stopping without contributing in some measure to the fund for emergency cases—being such as its inception in 1910, has done, will be generous and will help, the extent and respect of the Club.

The League of Mercy fills a special niche in Kenya. Its practicality indeed, lies in the fact that no committee appeal or help has been disregarded or unacknowledged. It is the need for help, for food, clothing, medical or dental aid, or passage money. It has held, and does hold, the pocket money of children and old people, and

"There is a white cotton material with raised spots in cherry colour or Mediterranean blue. Here is a practical little morning dress of this material, with white collar and cuffs, and buttons and belt to match the spots."

CHEAPNESS FIRST!

It is many a season since the useful "little" frock was so picturesque, a new view, and so on, will be introduced on to a suitable foundation and, in addition to being attractive in regard to colouring, it also makes a frock interesting and novel.

Only a few models seem to have come from Paris, so far, but if the idea makes the appeal which the designers promise it will offer interest and possibility. Favourite features from the sewer's own garden or the countryside in which she is specially interested might easily be adapted to the patterning of her frocks.

LADY ALICE SCOTT'S PICTURES

Princess Alice Buys Sketch of Kenya

Lady Alice Scott, very next in black and white, check and a tiny hat perched on top of her head, completely with projecting veil, was at Walker's Gallery for her private view of Kenya, water-colours, "Marigold" do "The Sketch," July 10. There was a large family party, including her mother, the Duchess of Bouchan, and her brother and sisters, Lord George and Lady Augusta Scott and Lady Beryl Phillips.

Lady Alice's pictures are memories of her latest visit to the United States, where she has an estate near Spago. The colours are delightful, and her technique is definitely improved on the show she had two years ago, though this was most successful, since she sold nearly all the pictures. I particularly liked No. 17, "From the Glass Window of a House, Mend," which was bought by Princess Alice, and there were two paintings of Mt. Kenya. Sir Fiers Shillington's farm which was very attractive.

The many water-colours included Lord and Lady Alford, the Duchess of Norfolk, with her young daughter, Sir Hede Clifford, Lady Violet Astor, who bought a picture, and Sir William Gowers, the Crown Agent for the Colony, who also acquired one.

A Good Finish

The small dressmaker will be able to achieve results every bit as smart as her expert. Particular effort will be made that stitching is done as neatly as may be by hand; that buttons are sewn on in their correct position; that sleeves are put in as carefully as the skirt hem is turned up; that the completed frock is finished with the most delicate and effective pressing in the approved tailor's style.

If the dress is in the nature of an experiment, a cotton material would be a wise choice. It is easier to handle than silk and more easily finished if the dress is being made by machine. This year's cottons are so attractive, too, that by far the greater number of the models suggested for home wear are made in one or other of the few new and designs. There is a white cotton material with raised spots in either cherry colour or Mediterranean blue which is inexpensive, has sufficient body to be worn plain or to be made to represent the frock looking better after its first wearing. Paper, gingham, cotton crepe, or other popular materials.

In silk and crepe there is a new idea in patterning. NAIROBI GIRLS' SECONDARY SCHOOL SPORTS

Keen Competition Between The Houses BEALE GAINS HAMILTON CUP

THE girls of the Nairobi Secondary School were favoured last Saturday afternoon by ideal weather conditions when the annual athletic sports were held in the school grounds. The occasion was entirely enjoyable, and a very large number of guests witnessed a series of well-organized events, some of which besides displaying the prowess of the competitors, were both original and amusing.

Among those present were Mr. Phillips, Mr. and Mrs. E. G. Morris, Mr. Winslow, Mr. and Mrs. E. How, Mr. Justice Webb and Mrs. Nicholson, and the Dean of Nairobi, Captain Nicholson, Mr. Atley and Mr. Forrest judged the events and commented the results. Capt. Evans, the announcer, and Mr. G. Park was the starter.

Everything went exactly to schedule, and, where necessary, Miss Kirby, the School Principal explained the nature of the race and what was required of the competitors. There were some surprises in the back races and in this respect were particularly enjoyable and were won by the girls who had been regarded as the least possible movement of the body.

The races which caused the most amusement were the Jubilee Race—a creek in which the girls had to swim speedily with needles and cotton, red, red and blue ribbon, and then run in pairs with the ribbon seen together—the balloon race, and a race for bags of sweets organized for their victory.

The competition between the three school houses, Beale, Darling and Nightingale, was very keen. Each house had its special sports partners both among the girls and the victors and there were constant cheering shouts of encouragement from all over the field. The girls accepted defeat or victory in the true sportsmanlike spirit—a very pleasant feature in an altogether pleasant function.

In the last race, the School vs. Old Girls, Rita and Marie, the girls belonging respectively to Miss Knappan and Miss Chalmers, the visiting Beale and Nightingale girls, soon dominated with the colour of their House, ran too, and entered into the spirit of the thing remarkably well. In the end, Beale came first with 27 points, followed by second with 19, and Darling just one point behind.

At 4.45 there was an interval and everyone adjourned to the dining room for tea, sandwiches, and delicious home made cakes for which Mrs. Angus and the domestic science girls were responsible.

The Hamilton Cup The prizes were presented by Mr. E. G. Morris, and Beale was awarded the Hamilton Cup for the House gaining the most points in the sports.

POPULAR NOVEL BOOK SOCIETY'S LATEST CHOICE

"The Seven Arms" by L. A. G. Strong (Gollancz)

THIS dust cover of this novel is adorned by the coveted "red" which the Book Society's choice.

We expect, and of course justly, Mr. Strong a tale of a romance part of a Western world, a vigorous life almost unspoiled by the more civilising influences of people urbane and sophisticated, yet upright and of stout endurance one amid the struggle for existence.

"The Seven Arms" is the story of Josie, a girl born out of her time. It comes to the reader as a book takes place over a hundred years ago, for the treatment and dialogue are entirely modern. All the things in the story is there own sense of unreality, or of the girl who seems to separate our own times from times past and gone.

"Even to-day in the West," the author tells us, "you will hear tales of a girl who went across the further when he went off to the followed the water, returns with him afterwards in great grief. The man was her mother and the battle was not Waterloo, but a spurt from those two girls, the story true; and the girl was Jeanie Dan."

"From childhood Jeanie's courage and independent spirit rose to meet the greatest of her own day. In her mind Hugh she thought she dreamed the qualities of a man, and so she stepped herself to him with a new sense which did not blanch even in the face of the horrors of the battlefield to which she followed him, she never wavered for a moment, and she was completely at all times."

Now you know Harry simply won't leave things alone. Here he is at the helm of the Buena's dingy. Soon after that, Harry brought his big 'cello round to the 'pedals'.

Then they all heard the strips pink and pink, and before he knew what had happened he found he had cut his 'cello right in two!

Bill sank thankfully down on a locker, mopping his steaming forehead with a piece of clean white. "Thank you, sir," he murmured. The chief eyed him curiously, but just stopped to make himself heard. "Did you sign on at Dundee?" "Yes, sir. I've just reported for duty."

Bill knew that he could trust the chief, and told him the whole story right up to Larsen's strange behaviour. "When do you think he'll put me ashore, sir?" he finished at last.

Andy nodded at once. "It's a great pity," he said, "that you should have been picked up at all."

Andy looked at his watch-case again. "It's difficult to tell, but I'll have you on my mind, lad. Not only difficult, but indecorous. Pete Larsen has got long arms and longer hearing. He stopped, so that his mouth was close to Bill's ear. "You won't be seeing your home for many a long day."

Bill's mouth sagged open and abruptly closed again. Somehow he couldn't grasp the full meaning of what was said. "You won't be seeing your home for many a long day," he said.

Scouting For Men

Continued Progress of the Rover Movement

BRANCH ESTABLISHED IN NAIROBI

CARRYING ON INTO ADULT LIFE THE TRAINING OF EARLY YEARS

The Scout Movement aims at turning up honourable, useful citizens with a real sense of their responsibilities and the training of Will, Skill and Scout is designed with this end in view. The Chief Scout, Lord Baden-Powell, however, did not intend the Scout Movement to pass when a boy reached school-leaving age, and the Rover branch of the movement was brought into being to meet the need for continuity beyond the age of 17½ years.

The Rover is intended to be the culmination of the Cub and Scout training, and for a experienced Rover to slip into his place as an officer, the ideals and principles of the movement. He is still a Scout, but with adult responsibilities.

The motto of the Rover is "Service" and every Rover, before being invested, is required to promise to undertake some form of social service. He may meet with Scouts or Cubs, or with other organized bodies engaged in social service, such as the Red Cross Society, St. John's Ambulance, Boys' Clubs, Church work, etc., or may fulfil his obligations as an individual in quite personal work in many spheres he pleases; but whatever he does, "Service" is the keynote.

Movement in Kenya

In Kenya, practically all the Cub Packs and Scout Troops are attached to schools, and are chiefly of interest for Scouts after they have left school, a very real one. Consequently these boys have years past, been a continuous leakage from the movement of boys reaching the age of 17 years and upwards. Naturally these boys will have retained very good ideas of their Scout teaching, but they have missed that real spirit of Scouting which can only be obtained in close connection with the fellow members on the same principle.

It was felt to be very desirable to introduce the Rover Movement in Nairobi. A Monarch already has the Athletic Boys' Club in Nairobi is intended to start with a Nairobi Rover Crew, and Mr. D. Broad, who is at present acting as Assistant Scout Commissioner for Kenya, and has had many years experience in England as Scoutmaster and Rover Leader, undertook to organize and act as Leader of the Crew, assisted by Mr. Gilbert, who is also Scoutmaster of an African Troop at Ikoma School, Kabete.

A few ex-Scouts were accordingly approached and were very willing to form the nucleus and, thanks to the assistance of a number of the authorities, the use of some empty rooms in the Old Health Office at Government Road was secured. These rooms would allow the small funds which can only be obtained from a few contributions to be held since the beginning of January.

"Laxity" is a comparative term, and in the early days this Rover Den has been, perhaps, somewhat primitive in regard to the little amenities of life. It is hoped that any young fellows with happy recollections of Scouting, who has a desire to recon-

CURRENT BRIDGE TOPICS

(By Grand Slam.)

During a game of double-dummy which in the latter half of the nineteenth century, which was much in vogue at that time, many an expert player in Vienna about which I wish you the best of luck in your endeavor to present an interesting 20 cards at his disposal declared that he could take all thirteen tricks— a seemingly impossible feat. A bet was made—and won by the player who had undertaken to take every trick—the method used—frequently called the "Vienna Coup"—was one of the many variations of a "Squeeze" now generally known as "The Squoze."

This fascinating coup achieves what, to the uninitiated has all the appearance of a conjuring trick (owing to the fact that a more or less accurate knowledge of the opposing hands is necessary for its success, the squoze must have been comparatively rare even when only since Bridge arrived on the scene, where the placing of the cards is somewhat easier, and where one player laid the foundations of playing 26 cards, that his spectacular coup has been developed. The basic principles of squoze play are by now fairly well known, to lead a winning card to which the opponent cannot follow suit, and thus force him to choose a discard from one of the suits any of which will cause him to lose the remaining tricks.

Here is a squeeze position in its simplest form:—

A	Y	Z
A J	H A	H
A J	C U S	H
Y	H H	H
Y	C T C J	H
Y	H H	H
Y	H C Q A	D K

Diamonds are trumps. Z leads the Ace. If A discards a Heart Y throws a spade, or if A discards a Spade Y then discards a heart. Here a squeeze position in its simplest form. Y now rakes the remaining diamond tricks.

Problem No. 19

10	4	854

Examples of the double, triple and grand coup will be given later on. As the squeeze position is used frequently, players will improve their game by being on the watch, and when they recognize a squeeze position to take the fullest advantage thereof, and I can assure them that there is no greater satisfaction in a game than to force opponents into discarding a card which holds up a suit.

Answers to Correspondents

R.M. Torres—Solution to problem No. 16 is correct. The opponent of the Act. Governor, Mr. A. de V. Vander C.M.G., O.B.E., being a having considerable experience as a Scoutmaster and holding the post of Chief Scout Commissioner for the Colony, never fails to demonstrate his very real interest in all branches of the movement. The newly formed Rover Crew have received several marks of this interest on the occasions of His Excellency's attendance at their week-end camps.

On the Saturday preceding His Majesty's Jubilee, the Rover Leader carried out the ceremony of Investiture for all those members who had joined in the early part of the year, and although His Excellency must have been in the midst of arrangements of time to attend this function at the Rover den and took part in the ceremony, remaining thereafter for a thoroughly informal and cordially dealt with the members.

It is unnecessary to say that these demonstrations of His Excellency prove a great stimulus to Scouting and the officers which were given in his honour that we were quite much a response to that interest as they were an appreciation of his generosity in presenting the Rover den with sets of carpentry tools and a work-bench for the Den.

The principal meeting night of Thursday at 8.30 in the Old Health Office in Government Road will be open to all members of the public. The Rover den is presenting the Salvation Army (Army premises) though there are generally some members present on Monday evenings at the same hour. The Rover den is presenting the Salvation Army (Army premises) though there are generally some members present on Monday evenings at the same hour. The Rover den is presenting the Salvation Army (Army premises) though there are generally some members present on Monday evenings at the same hour.

So the Rover Movement is established in Nairobi and it is safe to say that it is justifying itself. It is hoped that any young fellows with happy recollections of Scouting, who has a desire to recon-

The following extracts are taken from the "East African Standard" (founded 1904) for the week ending July 31, 1915.

Desperate fighting is taking place on the Narow River front and the Russian forces are putting up a magnificent fight to save Warsaw. Heavy and repeated Russian attacks have been repulsed. Both Russian Mackenzies and German Howitzer armors are held up and have been known to attack at several points. On the Western Front the enemy suffered a severe reverse in the Vosges area while on the Italian front action is continuing to creep and artillery operations and some air engagement. The Admiralty reports that our navy have taken five Italian destroyers and a mine sweeper. The Italian forces are reported to be advancing on the Italian front and must eventually be from dunnage. PROGRESS ACHIEVED IN THE PAST QUARTER OF A CENTURY

Twenty-five years ago, the average motor car owner did not drive more than 5000 miles a year. His car was made to last, and it was his duty to make it last. He did not worry about the engine, or the transmission, or the wheels, or the tires, or the oil. He only worried about the cost of the car, and the cost of the repairs.

Now, however, the average motor car owner drives 10,000 miles a year. His car is made to last, but it is his duty to make it last. He does not worry about the cost of the car, or the cost of the repairs. He only worries about the cost of the oil, and the cost of the tires.

TRAFFIC LIGHT WHICH CONTRAVENED LAW

Motorist's Novel Defence in England

A MOTORIST arrested for failing to stop at a traffic light when the red signal was showing put up a novel defence at a London court recently, and won his case. Mr. Charles Harte-Jones, of Canterbury, the driver surprised the court by pleading that, as the word "Stop" was not incorporated in the red light, he committed no offence by driving past it. He quoted a section of the Road Traffic Act to support this view. The Bench upheld his plea and dismissed the case with £25 costs against the police.

Most of Them Legal

An official of the Ministry of Transport explained later that a certain number of signs erected at various parts of the country before the Act came into force did not bear the word "Stop," and a few of these were still in existence. Most of these signs were authorized by an Order of the Ministry, and in these cases they are legal. Inquiries are being made to discover if any of these signs are still in existence. If so, it would appear that the decision of the Bench was incorrect.

MORRIS EIGHT'S TRAVELLING FEAT

Trials Under Bad Weather Conditions

BUT CAR PROVES ITS WORTH

A Morris Eight has achieved yet another success, this time, in the shape of a 3,000-mile journey accomplished in about a week, in bad weather, from Cape Town to Johannesburg and back.

Friends tried to dissuade the motorist, saying the journey was impossible, at least impracticable for so small a car, but their challenge was accepted. The Morris Eight was accepted.

From almost the first they encountered rain, then more rain, and still more rain. Johannesburg was reached through the Free State. For the route to be taken by competitors, in the Cape and Natal trial, they stopped here and there en route to complete arrangements for competition controls and permits for motorist.

The traveller pulled up at Johannesburg at the end of their 1,000 miles journey, their running time being 24 hours—an average of 92 m.p.h. For the total distance of 3,000 miles, the average was 100 m.p.h. The total distance covered was 3,000 miles.

When the Morris was headed for home, no better luck in the matter of rain was met with. In Johannesburg, motorist held up a double banner to the maximum hotels warned the youths against going on. Rivers were full, and the level being 67.

24 HOUR DASH THROUGH UTAH SALT FLATS

British Motorists' Triumph

DRIVER NEARLY OVERCOME BY HEAT

Three British motorists triumphed in breaking their record of 24 hours in Utah.

The previous record, held by the American driver, Al Jenkins, was 127.22 m.p.h. or 0.0353 miles per mile at 147.0 m.p.h. and 1,000 miles at 144.93 m.p.h.

The new records made in a British motorist, John Cobb, T. P. Douglas-Richards, and C. J. P. Dolson—set up a new world record for a 24-hour dash.

With Dolson driving, the car ran 2,110 miles at an average speed of 132.92 m.p.h. Cobb himself took over for the first run.

COMMENTS OF THE WEEK

By The Motoring Editor.

I wonder if there is any use to be made of dust, because it is not pleasant in any way, and it is in any way profitable. I am sure that the inventor of the dust is a man of small fortune, and it is a pity that he should have invented it. It is a pity that he should have invented it.

In the dry weather these dust patches—and they extend for two or three miles at a stretch—can be very dangerous. The driver has all ways to be on the qui vive as a dust is quite easy to get into if one is not careful. But not so easy to get out of. Again, these dust patches often hide fairly deep foot-holes, which, if negotiated at excessive speed may well result in the breaking of a spring, or some other injury to the car.

Of course, we must banish those dust heaps, but when the rain comes we perhaps look upon them with a kinder eye. The rain turns them into treacherous mud pools calling for just as careful handling of the car as in the dust. So far as the latter goes, however, the mud pools at least disclose the foot-holes, so that the driver need not run the same risk of a spring breaking, or some other part of the car suffering injury.

How many drivers ever think of giving the right of way to the car proceeding up hill? Frequently I have seen cars ascending a fairly steep hill being forced to almost draw up because a car coming downhill has encroached on to the wrong side of the road, or is holding the other up through some obstruction blocking the way. The car going uphill should always be given the courtesy of the road. After all, it will not mean any more than perhaps a few seconds delay, and that is nothing. I feel that all motorists appreciate the observance of this particular little piece of road etiquette. Of a car is seen climbing a hill or being balked by a slower travelling ing vehicle in front, while another instead of slowing up to let the climbing car come on, keeps on its way until the driver of the ascending car has to change, or stop in order to let the other car pass.

Another very bad practice is that of passing on hoods, particularly when climbing a hill. It is no common thing to see a car ascending a hill and swinging out to pass another vehicle entirely oblivious to the fact that another car may be coming down, and the chance of the car trying to pass on a hood being abandoned is to pass or means unhilly. It is a dangerous practice endangering to pass on a hood, and one which can be dealt with as such. It is all due to the selfish desire to rush, everyone trying to shove a couple of seconds off his previous time, or else trying to save a split fraction of a second on the way home, or to a get a match, and if the latter, then in all probability he will have to wait at least ten minutes on the foot-ledge and get away. So that all the rush and speed and the consequent risks which are run can be seen as in vain.

I wish some really stringent action could be taken against those heavy lorries which are invariably overloaded, and often loaded so high that when corners are being taken the load swings dangerously from side to side to the annoyance of motorists. Surely there is some legislation as to the height the load can be piled up to, or something.

Another dangerous thing is the protruding of long iron bars and wooden poles from the rear of a lorry. Often these protrude for some sixteen and more feet, and at night time can be positively dangerous. These lorries with loads protruding from the rear should be made to have efficient rear lights, not tucked away well under the car and hidden from view so that the back end of the car is nothing but a black blob in the headlights. Very often when the tail light is visible it is in an anomalous looking place that it can barely shed its light on to the plate, which is invariably obscured owing to dust.

HIS EXCELLENCY OPENS THE PROCEEDINGS

Value of Publicity

FURTHER FUNDS FOR GOVERNMENT RESEARCH AND INVESTIGATION INTO INDUSTRY

The Kenya Coffee Conference, attended by planters representing all parts of the Colony opened in the Memorial Hall, Nairobi, on Friday, when Mr. R. S. Wollen, presided.

The proceedings were formally declared open by His Excellency the Acting Governor, who during the course of his address announced that proposals had been put forward by the Director of Agriculture for better research and investigation into the industry. These proposals had His Excellency's fullest sympathy, and they would be reflected in the forthcoming draft estimates.

He congratulated the Coffee Board on the work it had accomplished and on the phenomenal progress that had been made during the past year. He emphasized that the world's best coffee is produced in Kenya.

Valuable Work of Board

The 1935 Coffee Conference, an increase in our tourist traffic. This again should mean an increase in the demand for Kenya coffee. For every tourist automatically becomes a consumer of Kenya coffee and his friends to become consumers also.

Organized Marketing

"The instability of the market which has resulted in the fall of prices to which I have already referred, has led me to suggest the need for organized marketing which, if done with some foresight in your Board's Report which I have read with the deepest interest, is a step in the right direction. It is due to the old established channels of marketing that the industry has been unable to meet the demand for its product in recent years. It is the duty of the Board to see that the necessary steps are taken to secure the best possible returns for its efforts."

"I am very grateful to you for doing me the honour of inviting me to open this Conference, and to the Director of Agriculture for his address. I think that one of the first steps to be taken is to secure the best possible returns for its efforts. I am sure that the industry will be able to do this by the adoption of the following measures:—

World's Best Coffee

"In times such as these it is well to consider our assets. One of the most valuable assets that we can and do have in Kenya is the best coffee in the world. It is our duty to see that this asset is properly marketed and that the best possible returns are obtained therefrom."

Liquoring Quality

"I have referred already to the superior standards of the best Kenya coffee and it is obvious that the maintenance of this high standard is of the utmost importance. It is therefore with particular interest that I have read the Board's Report on the subject of liquoring quality. It is the duty of the Board to see that the necessary steps are taken to secure the best possible returns for its efforts."

"I am glad to observe the close cooperation between the Department of Agriculture and the Board. It is the duty of the Board to see that the necessary steps are taken to secure the best possible returns for its efforts. I am sure that the industry will be able to do this by the adoption of the following measures:—

ter-optimism and direction of the Board's investigation, and sympathy. It is my intention to have the Kenya coffee industry placed on a permanent basis by the Kenya Legislative Council.

Board's Good Work

"As I have said, I have read with the deepest interest the Board's Report for the year ending June 30 last. It is a most valuable contribution to the knowledge of the coffee industry and it is to be congratulated on the work it has accomplished and on the phenomenal progress that has been made during the past year. He emphasized that the world's best coffee is produced in Kenya."

"The existing situation is unsatisfactory to all parties. To obtain the best results the Board must work as one unit and members must be able to express individual views without fear or favour. In present circumstances this is difficult. It is the duty of the Board to see that the necessary steps are taken to secure the best possible returns for its efforts."

Individual Policy

"Reverting for a moment to the question of advertisement, I would like to suggest that the industry should be able to express individual views without fear or favour. It is the duty of the Board to see that the necessary steps are taken to secure the best possible returns for its efforts."

Board's Finances

"Chapter III deals with the Board's finances. It is to be congratulated on the work it has accomplished and on the phenomenal progress that has been made during the past year. He emphasized that the world's best coffee is produced in Kenya."

Chairman's Address

"The actual expenses of the Board have increased and that increase is accounted for entirely by the maintenance of the standard of the coffee. It is the duty of the Board to see that the necessary steps are taken to secure the best possible returns for its efforts."

Chairman's Address

"The actual expenses of the Board have increased and that increase is accounted for entirely by the maintenance of the standard of the coffee. It is the duty of the Board to see that the necessary steps are taken to secure the best possible returns for its efforts."

The Annual Report

"After His Excellency had left the Conference, the Chairman presented the Annual Report of the Board for the year ending June 30 last. It is a most valuable contribution to the knowledge of the coffee industry and it is to be congratulated on the work it has accomplished and on the phenomenal progress that has been made during the past year. He emphasized that the world's best coffee is produced in Kenya."

The Fourth Test Match at Manchester

WYATT'S CHALLENGE TO SOUTH AFRICANS REFUSED

Game Ends in Tame Draw

ENGLISH CAPTAIN DECLARES AT LUNCH ON TUESDAY

The fourth test match at Old Trafford, Manchester, ended in a tame draw, when there was every prospect following Wyatt's declaration of a keen and exciting afternoon's cricket.

Wyatt's challenge to Wade and his men to go for the runs was not accepted. The tourists never attempted to try and get them. At times the visitors had a "barracking" mood, particularly when ninety minutes was occupied in scoring 65 runs.

Thus with one test remaining to be played South Africa have one day to their credit so that they cannot under any circumstances lose the rubber.

Bowlers Dispirited

(Standard Correspondent, Reuter's and Wireless.)

The fourth test match between England and South Africa opened at Old Trafford, Manchester, Friday in brilliant but uncharacteristic weather. The wicket was in good condition. There were 24,000 spectators when play commenced. England were without the services of A. Mitchell, the first South African batsman, the first South African bowler, the first South African batsman, the first South African bowler, the first South African batsman, the first South African bowler.

The English score was 105, the South African score was 105. The English score was 105, the South African score was 105. The English score was 105, the South African score was 105. The English score was 105, the South African score was 105.

It was mainly due to stout play on the part of three batsmen, Viljoen, Campbell and ... A short spell at the wicket before stumps were drawn for the first time. The second innings were attended by an early disaster. Southwick got before he had been out only a single run on the board. Southwick (21) and Barber (21) played out time.

A Tame Ending. London, July 30. The fourth test match between England and South Africa concluded at Old Trafford, Manchester, Friday, petering out into an uninteresting draw, and that after the tourists were given a sporting chance to force a win was to "sit on the apron" of the South African batting to get the runs. The pitiful attempt of the South Africans to get the runs, particularly when it took an hour and a half to get

It was evident from the start that the tourists were determined that no effort was to be made to force a win, but rather to play a draw, thus leaving South Africa with the victory. The tourists were to play, so that whatever happens, they cannot lose the "rubber".

A Missed Chance. On Monday following lunch play was very slow and generally bright. The wicket was not too bright, but missed a chance to play a draw. After surviving the first day's play, there was criticism of Wyatt for not bringing in a new ball earlier in the first over with it shattering the wicket in the middle-off.

Right of the Farmer

Dealing with the rights of the farmer, the report found that the farmer in Kenya was not free to sell his produce, but was bound to sell to the Government at a price fixed by the Government. The report stated that the farmer's right to sell his produce to whom he pleased was not only depraved but nullified. While the farmer's right to sell his produce to whom he pleased was not only depraved but nullified, his right to sell his produce to whom he pleased was not only depraved but nullified.

Unless the form of government was so modified as to give the people a very great measure of control over their own affairs, no improvement was possible. It was felt that this country was in a position to establish a happier relationship about the Government and the people. KENYA TENNIS CHAMPIONSHIPS

Ladies' Singles and Doubles

UNUSUAL INTEREST IN BOTH EVENTS

Spoken does not permit of a long review of the remaining events, both of which will be of more than usual interest. In the ladies' singles, there are a number of new names, and it is impossible to predict what will happen in the series. Three of the last four are likely to be Miss Hopkins, Mrs. Lathbury, and Mrs. Roberts. The name of the third semi-finalist is so uncertain that one can only "wait and see." In this section there are two newcomers in Miss Aiken and Mrs. Price, whose forms is unknown at the moment. The final should be between Miss Hopkins and Mrs. Roberts, the present holder, and if this match comes off it will create enormous interest. Mrs. Roberts is now a well known figure on the tennis courts, and never having been extended in a match it is impossible to tell what she could do when really all out. She is essentially a back line player, and it would be interesting to see her meet an opponent who would do the attacking and come into the net or lobbed back to the base line.

Ladies' Doubles

The holders of the ladies' doubles title, Mrs. Mator and Mrs. Thompson, are both away this year, and the semi-finalists may be Miss Hopkins and Mrs. Davies, Miss Hiker and Mrs. Stokes, Mrs. Lathbury and Miss Keeling, Mrs. Roberts and Miss Brader. In this case Miss Hopkins and Mrs. Davies should reach the final. The other semi-final would be a great battle between Mrs. Lathbury and Miss Keeling and Mrs. Roberts and Miss Brader. If the latter couple get into the final Miss Hopkins and Mrs. Davies should just win. The following is the programme made up for today as far as it has been possible to arrange matches. All competitors should note that they are expected to be present at the courts from 2 o'clock onwards, as matches will be put on as and when they can be arranged.

FLOWER SHOW AT NYERI

First Effort by Local Branch of Society

A SUCCESSFUL VENTURE

The Nyeri and Nanyuki branches of the Kenya Horticultural Society held their first show in the Nyeri Club on Saturday last. The interest and success of the enterprise was great and it is to be heartily congratulated on the success achieved. Nyeri is famous for its flowers, and although it was said before the show that it was being held in the wrong month, and no one would have anything to exhibit the entries were very good indeed, 122 in all, and when the show was opened there were, happily, any blank spaces to be seen.

The hall looked most attractive, the centre being filled with the table decorations, all of them very pretty, and in numbers and average cost going far towards beating Nairobi. On either side were the best flowers in a large class, and as a background Mr. Graham Hill's beautiful show of roses and other flowers. These showed no signs of having travelled over a hundred miles, which was a great deal for the way in which they were packed.

It was with great difficulty that space was found for all the exhibits and another year it is probable that some other site will have to be considered.

The Classes

The judges found the Cut Flower class very difficult to judge as the majority of the exhibits were very level and there was a lack of arrangement which prevented some of the better flowers being shown to advantage. One or two exhibitors had forgotten the rule that no shrubs were allowed and put in ferns and heliotropes.

There were only two entries for cypresses, but probably there were not many out and it is hoped more will be seen another year.

In the bulbous class Mr. Graham Hill's exhibit was one of the finest he has staged. Local competitors made an attempt at putting up a collection, but as bulbous flowers are out of season, no doubt when the show is held at a different time of year there will be more entries.

There was quite a number of entries in the Shrub class and these on the whole were quite well staged, but some were too crushed and didn't show the flowers to advantage. Mrs. Cairns' exhibit which won Lady Marjolein Blake's Challenge Cup was clean and good, the almost spray lovely and the tree lupin very charming. Mrs. Lauer's exhibit was very well staged, but the varieties shown were quite common ones.

In the class for any other plant or flower the pentstemon was disappointing but the stocks which got first prize were very good as they are difficult to grow. The Begonias were very pretty. Mrs. Phillips the only exhibitor in the Gladiolus classes showed beautiful flowers with lovely colorings.

The sweet peas were very nice and the jany class good. Dahlias were not very good, but there were only two exhibits, but it is rather late in the season for them and there will probably be better another year.

An Attractive Exhibit

In the new and noteworthy class Mrs. Murray's variegated peacock fern was very attractive. The chrysanthemums were very nice and the delphiniums quite good but exhibitors should take care to take off soft shoots and old flowers.

Fruit and Vegetables

In the fruit class there was a very special dish of strawberries exhibited by Mr. Oskott. The judges said they were the best yet seen in Kenya and were as good to eat as they were to look at.

The vegetable classes were a little disappointing, and one exhibit in the six kinds was cut out of show by the judges because of the gross size of the cabbage, tomato and turnage. These were not suitable for a Horticultural exhibit or for table use. The others were very good and also to be noted. The tomatoes were of large size.

A Pine Show

After giving out the names Lady Marjolein Blake congratulated the Nyeri and Nanyuki branches in their first show and said that of all the first shows held in the country there is easily to be first place and that in fact the staging was the best seen in any first show, though it was still not perfect. She suggested that before the next show the exhibitors should make stands and sit on their chairs and flowers.

The judges were of local exhibitors, but they did not expect to have any outside and great credit is due to Mrs. Murray for her very successful arrangement of the show. Mrs. Murray's exhibit was very nice, but she did not show any seeds, which is a pity. Another very nice exhibit was the geraniums of Mrs. Cairns, which were very well staged.

Lady Marjolein congratulated Mrs. Murray and said that the two ladies from Nairobi who had come to judge in the first show had been loud in their praise.

One thought everyone would like to specially thank Mr. Graham Hill for coming up with a long distance and showing there on such a comfortable condition after their journey.

Prizes were always a difficulty and Nyeri had been exceedingly lucky this year in being given so many useful prizes. It is to be hoped that a yearly sale of plants will be held in future years for a prize fund and probably something of the sort would have to be held here too.

She said her own exhibit and the other judges had enjoyed coming up and they hoped they would be asked to come again. She hoped their teams would get bigger and bigger and continue to be a real success.

Mrs. Parker, Chairman of the Nyeri branch, in a most little speech thanked Lady Marjolein and the six Blake for coming up to judge and also Mrs. Bennett and Miss Hall for coming to help before and in the judging.

Nyeri has also to thank Mrs. Parker for being instrumental in collecting so many prizes.

The winners of the Kenya Horticultural Society's Challenge Cup for the national number of entries are Mrs. Phillips of Nairobi and a new winner of was the 1936 year.

There are about a hundred orders during the afternoon and a very successful session, which helped to increase the funds of the Branch, the total after the evening being £400.00 being Mr. Hill.

In East African shillings which would no longer be at a parity with sterling shillings.

The Hon. Mr. Shambaugh-Dean started by sternly rebuking me for the picture black, and in the same breath proceeded to paint a very much more ideal picture of starvation and destitution amongst both European and Indians.

I gathered from the rest of his speech that he already apparently lies in "resignation to the inevitable."

Referring to me, I should like to tell him that I trust I never showed any annoyance at attempts made to show the "redskins" under which the Indian farmers have already stressed, I endeavoured to paint the picture as a whole, in which of course Indian farmers are included.

I will next deal with the remarks of the Hon. The Colonial Secretary. He began by saying that the intention of the motion was to ensure European Members adopting the Minority Report. I cannot remember any Member having said anything of the kind. It certainly did not. Our grievance against Government is that they have not shown any signs of appreciating the fact that they demolished I admit, chiefly in the Minority Report, but equally in the Majority Report.

The Hon. Member also expressed his astonishment at our finding any fault with Government in that they had not fully considered the recommendations of the Committee and had accepted those and the 20 recommendations.

Reason for Disaffection. The first and foremost ground for our disaffection lies, as I have already said, in the very major factor that the White Paper has laid no way any appreciation of the true position of affairs. What is the effect of Government's acceptance of the Committee's recommendations? We find that only months after the Report has been published, which seems an unduly long period for the necessary revision of its recommendations.

The Hon. Member then said that he had been told by me in vain for constructive suggestions. I thought I had mentioned quite a number of which had been adopted in other countries, such as loan conversion, suspension of sinking fund, increase in the proportion of mortgages on farms. Railway construction in the exchange value of our monetary unit, and other. I have also some recollection of a recent motion defeated in this House dealing with the responsibility for devising methods of relief should surpluses with Government to that it has always been understood that Government is responsible for the welfare of the citizens. We are quite ready to take our share in the responsibility if we can do so.

South Devon is Warm in Winter. You need not fear the English climate in the winter. one of its members of that Committee specifically invited the Colonial Secretary whether a convention of this subject within their terms of reference and the reply was in the affirmative.

World Conditions. The Hon. Member then went on to say that it was ridiculous to accuse Government of being responsible for world conditions. Who made such an accusation? The suggestion we did make was to the effect that Government had not really been active in endeavouring to derive measures to remedy the effects of such world conditions. The Hon. Member also added that the original conditions affecting our industries could not be helped without Government action.

The Hon. Member then went on to say that it was ridiculous to accuse Government of being responsible for world conditions. Who made such an accusation? The suggestion we did make was to the effect that Government had not really been active in endeavouring to derive measures to remedy the effects of such world conditions. The Hon. Member also added that the original conditions affecting our industries could not be helped without Government action.

The Secretary of State started by strongly representing what had been made to him in Uganda. In view of my experience it seems to me somewhat surprising that the Secretary of State should admit that he has never seen any representations made by the inhabitants of these Colonies. The Secretary of State paid no attention to the representations made by Uganda on the income tax question.

Lack of Knowledge. "He then said that it would not affect world prices if we sold our produce by one method or in this manner, if I may say so, the Hon. Gentleman displayed some affect, which I do not wish to discuss. How could such a measure affect world prices? The basic intention underlying the proposal is not to affect world prices, it is to affect internal prices."

"Now the Secretary of State continued to a question which went Home from this country that he was not a monetary authority, or why he paid such meticulous attention to the advice of persons who obviously were not qualified to give an opinion."

"In my statement I emphasised that the matter should be considered by economic experts, I now perfectly well that it is no monetary authority, and even so they would not venture without a great deal more information to give any opinion as to the advisability or otherwise of this country adopting such a policy. I have, however, made an effort to state this subject, and the effects of such a policy on other countries, and I am putting forward these replies to Government's statement made on Tuesday to show that adequate reasons were put forward in that statement to justify definitely rejecting that particular method of relief before it had really been examined by some opportunity of studying local conditions in this Colony."

"The Hon. Member, I understood him, suggested that this method of relief was proposed during the Committee's deliberations by this Government, but that it was the Secretary of State's statement which was made by him in the House when the Committee was sitting. I should have said this came to the same thing, more especially."

The recent Coffee Conference having empowered the Coffee Board to prepare a detailed scheme of cooperative finance for the industry, and having decided that this shall be submitted to the industry by way of a Referendum with a view to its passing into law if supported by a sufficient majority of Coffee Planters, it is proposed to communicate with Owners of Coffee Plantations who are not entirely satisfied with the lines on which the Coffee Board is authorized to act. With this end in view, such owners are asked to send their names to - P. O. K. DELAP, P.O. Box 1123, NAIROBI. It is proposed to invite those interested to attend a Meeting towards the end of this month to discuss the whole matter, in order to arrive at some common course of action, and by doing so to prepare for the Referendum. It should be emphasized that the action proposed is in no sense one of opposition to the Coffee Board, or to the cooperative movement, from which, on the contrary, very benefits are expected to accrue.

EXPRESS TRANSPORT COY., Gentlemen,

I feel sure that you will be interested to learn of our success in the Nairobi Show of the Kenya Horticultural Society, which comes I feel sure as a result of using your Coffee Compost. My wife and I gained both Cups for the Amateurs winning the greatest number of points in the Show.

The way your Compost brought on the garden was wonderful and has indeed justified the trifling outlay in using it.

Yours sincerely, Original letter could be seen in our office
