CRICKET: MATCHES IN NAIROBI Two Good Wins For Gymkhana

Gymkhana won a couple of well-merited victories in their matches last week-end. On Saturday playing on the Civil Service ground they defeated Civil Service by 7 wickets.

At home on Sunday, they beat South Africa by 10 wickets and the School sides obtained a similar triumph in pre-war days. Amongst them were A. D. Chalmers, A. J. Daves, A. M. Goldhawk, J. G. D. Gordon and others.

Cricket Service Match XI and were dismissed for a total of 125, all out only four bats reaching double figures. The first was a dismissal, one, A. J. Feik, one of the opening batsmen, before the first run, with only 2 on the board, then F. C. Burt, who shared the lead with the total of 75, not out.

H. Davidson, who went in first and made the highest score of the side, was joined by L. A. Sheppard and the pair put on a somewhat brilliant complexion on the game, adding 67 runs before the latter fell. Then H. A. E. Toal, 19, and B. H. Cranston, 21, were the only other bats to make a showing and the total was dismissed for 128.

H. F. Howe, 17, and C. W. H. Hinton, 17, shared the bowling honours. Gymkhana opened with N. Train and W. H. Brooker and the pair put on 72 before they were separated. Brooker then being dismissed by M. Cranston for 34. Train joined by M. Brunsden and they went on to make the highest score of the day with 59. Cranston had successful time behind the wicket-keeper's pair players.

Against a fairly strong School of batsmen side of the Gymkhana ground on Sunday, the home XI had a successful day, winning by wickets. School batsmen led off by wicket, and the pair put on 26 before they were separated. After, however, wickets fell steadily and the side was dismissed for 125, all out.

A. D. Chalmers, 17, F. D. Cranston, 22, A. E. Daves, 12, G. C. Hodgson, 12, and J. L. Crawford, 13, were the only batsmen to reach double figures. Apparently the School bats were lacking practice, for a more healthy line-up up to their respective marks.

D. P. Austin, 7/42; B. K. Cranston, 2/28; and C. W. H. Hinton, 1/41, shared the honours, one of the School bats being run out. A. H. Knicker also struck a couple. Gymkhana made a poor start, but winning 117, 274 and 274, and it was not until about mid-afternoon, when A. H. Knicker and J. D. McDonald got together that they began to show the bowling efficiency. The fourth wicket added to run of the first 10, and with five wickets in hand they ran out eventually made 218, all out.

With the match won, F. C. Brooker indulged in a slight spell of levity, hitting, making 4, including two double figures. Top scores were made by A. H. Knicker, 41; F. C. Brooker, 40; J. D. McDonald, 35; and B. K. Cranston, 21. A. M. Goldhawk, with 113 overtook the best of the bowling and took 9/68. On one period his analysis read: 6 M; 11 W; 3 B; 1 J. Crawford took 3/44 and A. J. Daves and G. M. Babcock, 1/77 and 1/22, respectively.

HUGGY: Thrilling Charity Match At Parklands

FINE FORM OF VISITING SOUTH AFRICANS quarter line a fair chance. D. O. Williams in the wind, when he had to hold himself. In possession of the bat, he was seen to swing the full back in great style but he had a few more to be seen and a dismissal from behind. A free ball in his side, however, closed the match.

Williams also saved a dangerous situation when he took back a single with an attack on top of him, but he was later driven by O'Connell who delayed his pass to Venter and the latter stroked down the touch line and was only plucked late towards the end.

No quarter was given in the second half and both teams fought hard. Venter used his height to full advantage in the line-outs and the down country was generally avoided, but their centre, who was seen to be in the ball and resort to kicking the ball, was given a polished display all full back. TENNIS: The Kerube Cup Tournament ["STANDARD" COMMENTARY] A most enjoyable tennis tournament took place at Kerube on Sunday, August 20. The occasion was the annual tournament for the Kerube Cup.

By permission of the donor, Mr. Robert M. Kalamanda, the rules of the competition were altered to suit the local conditions and members invited partners from other districts in preference to those of their own club. The number of entries exceeded that of any tournament held at Kerube. It occupies taking part.

Excitement was high and competition spirited, and with several matches, interest was maintained up to the very last game. The tournament was divided into two sections, which gave a culminating battle—albeit a most satisfactory ending from the spectators' point of view—and there were a number of spectators present.

The finals were won by Mrs. Struan Robertson and Mr. Dixon, and Mrs. Struan Robertson and Mr. Campbell. The finals were keenly contested, the victory going to Mrs. Robertson and Mr. Dixon, 6/4, 6/4. The day's outing made a welcome break in the enjoyment derived from it, especially rewarded the wife of the famous Dutch poet and the wife of the famous Dutch poet.

use COOPER'S "IMPROVED"

Such risks are too great for the careful farmer. That is why most dairymen and breeders of pedigree stock prefer to rely on Cooper's "Improved." They have learnt how to get the full value from the time and labour spent on dipping. They know that Cooper's "Improved" has practically no adverse effect on the milk-yield of sensitive cows, and that their best animal will not suffer any ill-effects caused by scabbing or stock.

FOR SHEER FOOD VALUE Getta Cadbury's 1/2 lb block

Four Cooper's "Improved" into your dipping tank and see how soon a tick larva is felled on the surface. Dip your cattle in it, and see how wet they emerge.

These points are your signs of safety. They indicate an abundance of excellent ingredients. They show that you are using the "kindest" dip for sensitive animals and yet the world's greatest tick-killer.

Successful dipping depends very largely on the wetting power of your dip. The wash must wet every patch of the animal's greasy skin—and every tick within its reach. Failing this, the dip simply runs in patches, allows a lot of ticks to escape, and sends the animals where the animal's glands concentrate.

A YEAR OF WAR
A Confident Empire

Twelve months ago the then British Prime Minister, Mr. Chamberlain, made the historic announcement that once more the British Empire was at war with Germany, that we should be fighting evil things in the three years struggle for which the British Empire was at war. One of these years has gone. It has been the worst in all history. For seven months following the crushing of Poland great armies looked at each other across a strip of land dividing the great fertile fields ever built. It is a mere incident that these were never used for the purpose for which they were built. Perhaps we can draw from that the reflection that all our conceptions of this war were wrong, that in twelve months, a mere moment in history, there have had to be violent re-arrangements of our great emotional experiences, such as mankind has never before known or faced. That we should have come through these experiences still sane is less tribute to the civilization we have created than to the infinite capacity of the human mind for suffering and change, and a capacity too for concentration on the tasks of the moment which too often an appreciation of the future or too critical an examination of the past. Today we have no time to think, and very little desire for thought. The world stretches out before each of us as if we were along a very narrow path and all we have time or vision to see is the road ahead of us. Today the struggle on the next hill top, a strange oblivion respecting life as it is lived on either side of the path.

This year will leave its mark upon us all when we have time to remember the past. Today it hopes. There has been no stranger year in all history. Events have moved so fast from one grotesque fact to the next that we have had no time to keep them in perspective. Poland went under, and we understood that because we had time to reflect upon it and its cause. But Norway, Denmark, Holland, Belgium, and France were crowded upon each other with an almost fantastic rapidity. Some where else in the world, so we are vaguely aware, Russia was moving her great bulk, absorbing the Baltic States. They had come into the war and there was a quick realisation of an increased scale and scope of the struggle of the war. The Middle East began to interest us and Africa. Europe no longer had much meaning. Standstill in the sea was Britain, a fortress alone, with a shadowy Empire behind that rapidly took shape until we saw our effort spread across the world. The Balkans flickered in the news and out again. The United States had a background to it all, and some where in the remote distance, a battle in China reminded us of a conflict which had three years old.

But now the picture is clear. The British Empire is suffering the most serious attack that it has ever known. The Axis Powers are gathering over Europe but each day suggests to our minds their growing impetuosity. The United States, which has not yet materialized. The world is in a state of tension.

Over 400 guests attended a Sherry party for members of the Overseas Forces at Government House, London, last night. Some 200 of them were in uniform.

Mr. Joseph L. Chamberlain, Chairman of the party, presided. The party was sponsored by Major General Lintell and introduced the Duke of Atholl, Vice-Chairman of the party.

In his speech of welcome, the Duke of Atholl expressed the regret of Lord Curzon, Chairman of the Committee, for his unavoidable absence, and said that he had a very high regard for the work of the Overseas Forces.

In further days, he continued, he would have referred to Douglas Haig, Lord Curzon's Secretary of State, and to the other members of the Committee, but he had to do so in a very brief and simple manner.

He then turned to the toast of the Overseas Forces, and said that he was sure that the members of the Overseas Forces would be very glad to hear that the Government was so anxious to show its appreciation of their services.

Helping the Cause

The Economic Council has carried a stage further in its appeal for the British Government, Lending for Victory is one of the most important aspects of Britain's wartime financial policy, and the more people have been doing since the rate of a million pounds a day since the outbreak of the war. The system is a compromise with the Keynes scheme of compulsory loans, and in combination with high taxation and restriction of home consumption of manufactured goods plays an important part in financing the war.

EXPORT TRADE COMES FIRST

The active sustained conduct of export trade is a vital necessity to the British war effort.

The General Electric Co. Ltd., of England, with its large interests in the world's markets, will play a large part in that effort.

The firm policy of the Company is, after having satisfied Government requirements, to give primary consideration to those of its overseas customers. With its vast manufacturing resources the G.E.C. has entire confidence in its ability fully to meet those requirements with no mere delay than existing circumstances impose.

The General Electric Co. Ltd., in contribution to the country's war effort, is determined not only to maintain but considerably to increase its export business.

HOW THE KENYA "REKKIES" WORK

Usually the "Rekkie" patrol sets out before dawn, cars disappearing into the darkness down the road. They plan to do the first part of the journey before the light comes. When they reach their objective—and their job is usually pretty clear-cut—before they start on their return journey they set out a certain distance behind to cover the advance of the scouting party.

The "Rekkies" expect trouble the first stage of their life. Their reconnaissance may be made on foot. But after all, mobility is their main asset and so in practice they may be seen to be driving on the road. It is a dangerous job when you do not know what is waiting for you behind the next bush or round the next bend of the road. It may be a handful of Italians who will fire a few wild shots and bolt; it is just as likely to be a bad battalion and a great number of guns.

Risky Return

When the advance has been completed the "Rekkies" draw into the cover of the bush and wait there on the quiet until the forward scout comes back with the information they have sought. Then back the story goes by wireless telephone to the headquarters of the infantry Commander and the job of the reconnaissance Squadron is done. All they have to do is to get back and that may be even more exciting than going out. If they have been spotted they may be packed away in their own tanks. Their essential task and the reconnaissance is safely back where it is wanted. The job they have been on for a few hours may and with their eyes well back for them, or less at the least. But if they have been taken a couple of days and there is no chance to face an enemy company alone in the bush.

Their job is to get information from the enemy. They have to get it if possible without being seen and without being involved in a contact with the enemy. Both men and vehicles are very valuable for that.

An expedition from the Sergeant or a Rifle regiment is given every day. That is, it is not a formal one in the E.A.W.I. Best Room Memorial in Nairobi.

STAYS ON THE JOB!

Shell Motor Oil stays on the job — it gives your motor the best protection it is capable of giving you. It is refined by the best methods and comes to your motor. When the motor is running the oil forms a thin film, which protects the parts, and is constantly renewed by circulation of clean oil. It does not burn, it does not evaporate, it does not oxidize, it does not form sludge. It stays — but doesn't make your motor run slower — for all this it merely flows, and it circulates in the engine, forming a continuous, strong, complete lubrication in pistons and bearings.

PIERRE COT,
 formerly Air Minister of France and University Professor of French Constitutional law, explains how De Gaulle of the Pétain Government will affect the French population.

VICHY: The National Assembly has given Marshal Pétain the right to modify the French Constitution. The Marshal has lost no time, on the contrary he has given proof of an exceptional confidence. His decision has dealt a blow between the political and administrative and the foundations of which had been laid by the French Revolution. It is a reversal of the French Revolution. It is a reversal of the French Revolution. It is a reversal of the French Revolution.

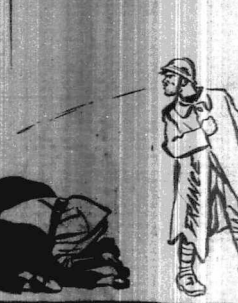

With political power, Pétain will be able to handle the situation of the country. He will be able to handle the situation of the country. He will be able to handle the situation of the country. He will be able to handle the situation of the country.

Two Masseys Co-operate

THE careers of Mr. Vincent Massey, High Commissioner for Canada, and his brother, Mr. Raymond Massey, actor, have hitherto been widely divergent. They have now been united in a manner unprecedented in the Dominion of Canada.

Mr. Vincent Massey has been appointed by the Ministry of Information and the Dominion Film Corporation to be in charge of the Canadian film production of an epic, "The Masseys," which is to be produced in one year. Mr. Vincent Massey is also to produce the film.

The unit which is to make the film is directed on the way to Canada, under the leadership of Vincent Massey, who is a former member of the Dominion government in relation to the Dominion of the Masseys.

The film should be released by Christmas. It may prove to be the first of a series of feature films which will be taken in the national film, and thank to the Government, his chance to rest has at last come.

over ages. It must also be remembered that East Africa is heavily involved in its own war effort, which must in a growing measure have been met on local resources. The adequate maintenance of that effort is either a matter of life or death, and it is not possible to neglect it because it will be carrying a full and heavy burden.

We hope that the East African Government will use an opportunity to acquaint the public with the details of the proposed War Loan scheme. Much well organized and directed publicity will be necessary to the sale of the Bonds to be secured and we must try to reach the public through the radio, the press and the cinema.
