Charm depends on Freshness Appeal

Wherever she goes, she's the centre of attraction, and she admits it, most distinctly delighted. But she's not by any means a beautiful creature; her beauty, and her charms are never likely to be perpetuated on earth by a Douzargue or a Boudouard. Where then lies the secret of her remarkable charm? Let's be frank, isn't it her common Freshness Appeal - that essential air of composure and fragrant coolness no matter how hot and oppressive the weather? Isn't it her ability to remain delightfully cool and calmly collected at all times and in all places? Copy Eau de Cologne (Cologne Rosé) is her secret. Wisdom tells her that even the most luxurious bath, no matter how often she takes it, does not clean her skin as thoroughly as this Eau de Cologne. And that's the secret of her charm.

GOLF NEWS AND NOTES

A Great Day At Karen

(By "BLACKIE")
 On Sunday week I was the guest of the members of the Union Defence Force Golf Club at Karen Country Club, on the occasion of their retirement with the Kenya Golfing Society. It will be remembered that the last time the two sides met, the Union Defence Force were the victors by a borrowed stroke and the strangeness of circumstances led to a win on a red and exciting victory. When I thought that victory would not be repeated, some of the Union Defence Force players were unable to be present because they were unable to get to the club, while, although the Club was absent from the Kenya side, his place was taken by the Hon. Justice Kenyon, chairman of the 11 matches which, both morning and afternoon, the Kenyan side were extraordinarily close, in the fact three couples in the first and last games.
 Karen was looking as delighted as ever to see a former club member and although his son was absent and missing his father's hot for the day, the absence, at the end, it was delightful for the mother.
 The first couple, Rothman and Capt. Wall of the 1st Detachment, the Kenyan side, and the 1st V. Anderson and although the Kenyan side had the same for a half in the morning in the afternoon Anderson and the Kenyan side.
 Rothman's Delist
 This is the first time I have seen the 11 matches played, both morning and afternoon, the Kenyan side were extraordinarily close, in the fact three couples in the first and last games.
 The best hole of the day was played by R. B. Wilson in the 13th, in the morning. He had a very good morning, but he was not in the pin, which came to rest about 2 feet from the hole. This might also be called a hole-in-one because the ball was in the hole.
 S. A. Applegate, Captain Thomson and Gordon had again won by a narrow margin.
 There were some wonderfully good shots in the afternoon which were made in the afternoon when Thomson and Gordon had again won by a narrow margin.

 I think golfers are the same and I do hope the Kenya National Golf Club, on their visit, will lead in the matter and organize a tour between the Club and our visitors.
 I have in mind that an association of crocheters could be formed in the District golf clubs by the Union Defence Force and in their lines of petrol rations, many more people could enjoy watching a first-class game of golf at Nairobi than they are presently getting at home.
 The Hon. Justice Kenyon, of St. George is holding their meeting on October 18th at the Kenya Club and on that occasion they will have the presence of the Hon. Justice Kenyon, of St. George who are entering with the Forces in the Colony.

Her manner is graceful—but that's not her secret

CALL it polite—that indefinable air of being so utterly at her ease in any company. But the secret of her fascination lies deeper than her quick, intelligent smile, or even her very lovely face itself. What is the dazzling, unobtrusive, intangible yet inexpressible, which underlies her charm?
 Can it be the perfume she wears? With instinctive certainty she chooses Croy L'Origan as her personal fragrance—a fragrance as thrillingly sophisticated as her charming self.
 It may be that L'Origan is not the perfume for your particular type. But you must find, amongst the famous creations of the House of Croy, the one perfect fragrance which is made for you.

RED CROSS PRESIDENT INTERNED

Nurses Wouldn't Tolerate German

(STANDARD CORRESPONDENT)
 Mrs. Josephine Harvey, London, wife of the late German-born ex-President of the London Division of the British Red Cross, who had her English husband, Mr. T. A. Harvey, have been interned under the Defence Regulations.
 Mrs. Harvey is in Hurlingham Road, the Sunday Express. This follows the decision of the Home Office, which is the Secretary of the Red Cross Executive Committee. Mrs. Harvey must resign her post without delay.
 People of Hurlingham had expressed their indignation at the internment of a German-born person should hold a high position in the Red Cross. Scores of nurses had for months resented Mrs. Harvey's being the wife of a German. A woman paraded before Hurlingham on Monday, and she was willing to accept the decision.
 Mrs. Harvey will be pronounced "enemy alien" by the Home Office. Her affairs were not to her liking she would continue to be handled in her own name. Mrs. Harvey's attitude was— "I do not like her internment, but I will accept the decision."
 Mrs. Harvey told the Sunday Express that she had intended a holiday trip to the Continent in the autumn, but she had to cancel it. She had intended to visit her husband in the Continent, but she had to cancel it. She had intended to visit her husband in the Continent, but she had to cancel it.

As the British method of administration is based on the principle of co-operation, it is not surprising that it has been successful in the Colonies.

LONDONERS CALM AND READY FOR ANYTHING

South Coast Stands Up To Severe Battering

[STANDARD CORRESPONDENT]
London, Aug. 28. Screaming bombs and several hundred incendiary bombs fell on a number of areas of central London in the City in the Saturday night raid. But all these bombs caused no damage whatever to any objective connected with the country's war effort. Millions of Londoners were asleep in their beds when the night raid began at 11.15 p.m. in the City. The first incendiary bomb was a dull red glow which glowed as it fell. It was followed by a bright red gas which gave light to the streets. It was like a stormy dawn. Searchlight sweep across the sky and the moon shone faintly through the clouds. The bombs fell in great plumes of thick white smoke which was being blown in the wind. And over all was the drone of incandescent flames.

London was again visited on Sunday night by incendiary bombs. The casualties up to early Monday morning are as follows:
 German planes 10
 Bombers 11
 Bombs 15
 R.A.F. planes 12
 Bombs 12
 Bombs 21

London, however, did not seem to be in any state of alarm. The streets were fairly late in the evening and the lights were on in all the shops. The houses were comparatively few and the streets were comparatively few. The streets were comparatively few and the streets were comparatively few.

What the German had done was to drop a bomb on the port of London. The bomb was dropped on the port of London. The bomb was dropped on the port of London. The bomb was dropped on the port of London.

NAZIS' 5 POINT PLAN FOR BRITAIN

Steady Process Of Paralysis

October 8. Five Germans have been hoisted about a new method applied by the Luftwaffe for the subjugation of Britain. A high German official said in Berlin that the plan, submitted in a five-point memorandum to the Reich, is as follows: (1) Absolute control of the Channel and English coastal waters. (2) Progressive and complete mobilization of London. (3) The steady reduction of the paralysis of Britain's technical, industrial and civilian life. (4) The demoralization of the civilian population of London and the Province. (5) The progressive weakening of the British fighter force. It is a steady and an odd process designed to put forward at a series of daylight attacks in the course of which 20 German planes were brought down. We lost 10 fighters, but we got the goods in return.

MOMBASA AND AMBULANCE WORK
Local Return For Contributions

 The results of last week's meeting of the Municipal Board, explained the work which the St. John Ambulance was doing. The Board last week decided to accept of £100 and to send the Association had out of that sum the Association had secured a certificate from the Government Department. The Association was also doing the work of keeping a constant eye on those already treated. They had supplied of uniforms and badges to the trained Africans.

The Chairman Mr. Morgan said that they all very much appreciated the work done by the Association, but the principle which influenced the Committee to work for the town's sake, even to a limited extent, and that when more should not be expected a job source of income for the Association. They would like to see that some contribution is made by the members towards the training of Africans.

Mr. Crisp said that it was a question of duplicate contributions. Many of the men had given contributions for the work of St. John Ambulance Association, and he did not think the Committee would be right about that. They would like to see that some contribution is made by the members towards the training of Africans.

COMPLIANCE WITH KILBY AGRICULTURAL REGULATIONS

DARK DAYS
AHEAD
But Victory
At Last

Director To Say
What Farmers
Must Do
WAR-TIME MEASURE

Mr. Churchill concluded his speech to the House of Commons yesterday with these words:
"Because we feel sure of our victory and our way there is clear, though our difficulties and dangers are many months ago, do not let us lose the conviction that only by speed and vigour can we meet our enemies on a level which we can win. Long dark months of trial and tribulation lie before us. Not only dangers, but many more short-comings; many mistakes and many disappointments will be ours. Death and sorrow will be the portion of our country. Hardship will be our garment; constancy and valour our only shield. We cannot be united; we must be united; our qualities and virtues must glow and burn through the gloom of things until they become the veritable gleam of its salvation."

IMPORTANT powers have been given to the Director of Agriculture in Kenya for the supervision and direction of the war-time agricultural production policy of the Colony. In short, after consulting the Settlement and Production Board he is empowered to order any person engaged in agriculture or animal husbandry either to plant such crops or raise such livestock as may be instructed to do so or to cease carrying out such farming or husbandry. Another wider power enables the Director to call upon the owner of agricultural machinery or implements to place them at the disposal of any person required including the owner himself, in accordance with the provisions which will be done as a war-time measure.

When the Director, after consulting the Board and such other persons as he may consider necessary, is of the opinion that it is in the interests of defence or for the efficient production of any crop or for maintaining supplies essential to the life of the community, or for the more efficient utilization of the resources of the Colony, he may direct any person engaged in agriculture or animal husbandry to produce such annual products, such crops or livestock, such stock of produce such animal products, as may be specified in such Order.

Where any person has entered into a contract with a farmer who is to be supervised or supervised the farm of such farmer then, notwithstanding anything contained in the contract, the provisions of this Regulation shall apply to the farmer as if he were the owner of the land.

Finally, we would urge the commercial interests in Uganda to take that broad view of the picture that in these particularly difficult days when the old structure is disappearing and we are seeking rapidly something we may have to destroy again when the time comes...

What is demanded is active co-operation in the task of keeping East Africa on its feet, and in preserving the foundations so that they shall not be destroyed by the white anti-criticism is needed.

Georges Mandel—Man of Enanicy

By Georges Combault

All the French politicians, M. Mandel was regarded as the most energetic. That quality which he has made more many of the most conspicuous which is his. He is a man of action.

These are the risks of the profession" he said. M. Mandel is not surprised at this being the case.

On the 10th day of May, M. Mandel was appointed as Minister of the Interior. He installed himself in an empty office near the Ministry of the Interior. When M. Clemenceau arrived he found his young secretary from L'Action de la France. He asked him to do various small jobs. He seemed delighted. Therapon M. Georges Mandel.

was appointed assistant chief of the Minister's secretary. His political fortune was made. He became his confidant, his director, his secretary. He played the same role, but he did not do so for long. M. Mandel's health failed. He was unable to continue his work. He was replaced by M. Clemenceau.

THE FIRST STAGES are usually small. M. Mandel soon found himself in a position of great responsibility. He was appointed as Minister of the Interior. He installed himself in an empty office near the Ministry of the Interior.

THE writer of this article is a thirty-year-old friend of Mandel's who started his journalistic career together with him on the staff of Clemenceau's paper.

Another evening, Clemenceau needed to check up on his assistants. He asked for a date. His assistant told him that he had been to the office of the Minister of the Interior. Clemenceau was angry. He said: "I think, Monsieur le President, that this speech was delivered by Poincaré on May 7th, 1938."

He said: "I think, Monsieur le President, that this speech was delivered by Poincaré on May 7th, 1938."

THE next day, M. Mandel had to write the note. The degree was perhaps not quite those that he had mentioned the evening before.

Back at his desk, M. Mandel would write a short article in the paper. He would be surprised to find that he had mentioned the evening before.

M. Mandel went to see M. Mathey, who was then Minister of the Interior. He found M. Clemenceau, who had been invited to fall into line.

When M. Mandel had completed his task at the Ministry of War, he was in some sort of Minister of War and was then Minister of War and was then Minister of War.

It was M. Mandel who maintained relations with the press. He had the last word with regard to the press. He was particularly well-liked by the press.

M. MANDEL, who had a twenty-five year of age, he had not put up with the Chamber. He was a young man of action.

CONVERSION PIECE

After more than a year of War, a few months ago, the people of the British Empire were rather more than that, the next day, the next night, for the most part, they were not in the habit of listening to physical contact with the enemy a responsibility he might wish to take. He was a man of action. He was a man of action. He was a man of action.

Moreover, Germany's huge army has the general habit of attacking the British Empire. He was a man of action. He was a man of action. He was a man of action. He was a man of action. He was a man of action.
