SHELL MULTIGRADE MOTOR OIL

X-100 10W/30

Motorists will have noticed that we have not been advertising our Multigrade Motor Oil of recent weeks, the reason being that the demand so far exceeded our expectations that we wished to make sure that those discerning motorists who had already changed from other motor oils to Shell X-100 10W/30 were in no danger of experiencing any shortage of stocks.

Ample stocks have now arrived in the country both in one-gallon cans and in bulk (40-gallon drums), and these are available at all Shell Service Stations and dealers.

Those motorists who have already changed over to our Multigrade Motor Oil, Shell X-100 10W/30, need no further introduction to this oil and will only be interested to know that their findings have been confirmed by a very considerable number of East African motorists. It is those here who have not yet tried this oil we would like to mention here some of the more obvious advantages it affords:

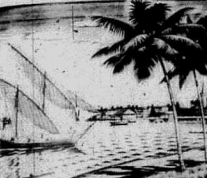

(a) by being a 10W oil, when starting in cold weather the oil is in a condition which enables it to circulate immediately throughout the engine of the car, start. A normal SAE 30 or SAE 40 grade would take a little longer time to warm up and to permeate the bearings.

(b) Again by being a 10W oil, the friction made the engine run very much less than with a heavier oil, with a corresponding decrease in the energy expended in turning the engine over. In other words, distinct economy in petrol consumption is obtained.

(c) Shell has again been the leaders in providing the public with the benefits of motor oils, and it is now up to the public to take advantage of the fact that Shell Multigrade Motor Oil X-100 10W/30 is freely available throughout East Africa.

LEGS ILLUSIONS

Steps Toward Glamour

By Jean Wiseman

LOVELY legs are rightly an illusion. That is, the latest admission from Hollywood is that, with the exception of Jean Miller and Marjorie Reynolds, the stars claim to have naturally perfect legs. The fact is that the women who wear the most beautiful and most charming tips have had their legs made for them by the most expert leg-makers in the world. The secret of their success is not in the tips themselves, but in the way they are made. The leg-makers use a special process of waxing and painting the legs to create the illusion of perfect legs. This process is known as 'leg-making' and is a highly skilled art. The leg-makers use a special wax that is applied to the legs and then painted to create the illusion of perfect legs. ### Making a new start...

THERE is something very refreshing about starting a New Year—rather like driving off at the start of the mill course, having got into difficulties in the month at the previous hole, and taken an unenviable number of strokes to complete it.

One source of inspiration from the world of sport is the fact that the greatest athletes are those who start a new year in a fresh spirit. They do not let the mistakes of the past year weigh on their minds. They start with a clean slate and a determination to do better. This is the secret of their success. As I was driven to the cinema I saw a man sitting on the ground with his head in his hands. I went over to see what was wrong. He said he was a student and had just failed his exam. I gave him some money and he went away.

It was a very odd experience. I had never seen anyone like that before. I was a bit surprised when I saw him sitting on the ground. I went over to see what was wrong. He said he was a student and had just failed his exam. I gave him some money and he went away.

TALKING RADIO By Henry Reuter

COULD it be with the visit to East Africa of Mr. D. F. Woffersham, head of the Broadcasting Section of the Colonial Office, that there is fresh hope that Kenya will soon have its own broadcasting station?

The chief reason of Mr. D. F. Woffersham is that the African Broadcasting Corporation is now in a position to take up an appointment with the African Broadcasting Corporation, and that Peter Clancy is continuing to work for the Corporation.

It is the Corporation's task to set a standard for the station. With Cable and Wireless staff working on it at an alarming rate, and the future of the station still in doubt, it is not surprising that the Corporation is not yet ready to take up an appointment with the African Broadcasting Corporation.

There's POWER in your engine - use it!

The motor spirit of to-day needs ICA - only SHELL has it

In every car, in your car, deposits in the engine's combustion chambers will rob you of the full power of your motor. IF YOU LET THEM, these deposits glow red-hot when the engine warms up and cause power-crippling pre-ignition. They also foul spark plugs. How can you beat them? BY CHOOSING SHELL WITH I.C.A.

I.C.A. does what even the most powerful motor spirit cannot do - it makes these deposits harmless and stops power loss right at the source. Only Shell has it. That's why Shell with I.C.A. is the motor spirit that gives you full power all the time.

THE MOST POWERFUL MOTOR SPIRIT YOU CAN BUY

WEEKEND SPORT COMMENTARY

by Charles Disney, Sports Editor

Dad, why does Mum always buy us Meridian?

THESE are the days for comment on the show-up of the individual University Rugby starting team. The fact that the East African XV last Saturday in London was described as the greatest movement for the sport in the world is a very interesting fact. It is a fact that is worth noting, especially in the light of the fact that the team was composed of players who were not only of the highest calibre but also of the highest calibre of character. The fact that the team was composed of players who were not only of the highest calibre but also of the highest calibre of character is a fact that is worth noting, especially in the light of the fact that the team was composed of players who were not only of the highest calibre but also of the highest calibre of character.

Kenya lose thrilling Rugby fixture on Nakuru ground

From a Special Correspondent

It was a remarkable display of rugby that took place at Nakuru on Saturday when the Kenya XV defeated the British XV 17-10. The match was a thrilling contest, with the Kenyan side showing exceptional skill and determination.

The Kenyan team, captained by Peter... (name obscured) led by a strong performance from the forwards, who provided a solid base for the backs. The scrums and lineouts were particularly impressive, with the Kenyan players showing great strength and technique.

The British team, on the other hand, struggled throughout the match. Their backs were unable to find any rhythm, and their forwards were out of sync. The Kenyan players capitalized on these weaknesses, scoring several tries and conversions.

The match was a clear demonstration of the progress made by Kenyan rugby in recent years. The players showed a high level of skill and teamwork, which is a testament to the hard work and dedication of the coaching staff and the players themselves.

Manchester C. win F.A. Cup 'mud-lark'

MANCHESTER CITY, last season's Premier League champions, won the F.A. Cup on Saturday with a 2-1 victory over Tottenham Hotspur. The match was a classic 'mud-lark', with both teams struggling in the wet conditions.

The game was a tactical battle, with both sides trying to control the tempo. Manchester City's midfield was particularly effective, with several key passes leading to goals. Tottenham's attack was hampered by a solid defensive display from the visitors.

The victory marks Manchester City's fourth F.A. Cup triumph, a feat that has earned them widespread acclaim. The players and staff are proud of their achievement, especially given the difficult weather conditions that made the match so challenging.

'Ballot ballyhoo' does sport more harm than good

THE battle between Gordon Pirie, British trackstar, and the sports writers continued all last week, with Pirie accusing the press of 'ballot ballyhoo'. Pirie, who is a three-time Olympic champion, claims that the media's excessive coverage of his achievements is doing more harm than good.

Pirie argues that the constant focus on his personal life and achievements distracts from the sport itself. He believes that the press should focus more on the technical aspects of the sport and the progress of other athletes, rather than just celebrating a few stars.

The sports writers, on the other hand, defend their actions, claiming that they are simply reporting on the facts. They argue that Pirie's achievements are significant and deserve the attention they are receiving.

The controversy highlights the tension between athletes and the media. While athletes often seek the attention and praise of the press, they also fear that it can become overwhelming and detract from their performance. It is a delicate balance that must be struck.

KARIBA BIG ATTRACTION FOR BRITISH INDUSTRY

Hope of sharing contracts

THE biggest attraction in the Central African Federation for industrialists in Britain is the Kariba hydro-electric scheme. Mr. P. C. Aldridge, Director of the Federation of Rhodesian industries said last Saturday after his return from a mission sponsored by the Southern Rhodesian Government to attract new industries to the Federation.

Through the Federal Government he does not expect to hear from the International Bank until the end of the month about the application for a loan for the Kariba. Mr. Aldridge added that most British industrialists have knowledge of the scheme and many were exceptionally interested in it from time to time.

One detail he said, was their hope of sharing in the contracts for producing steel and high-tensile steel, and cast pipes and other supplies, as ensuring a large market for their products in the Federation.

Heavy industry

They regard this prospect of cheap power in the Federation, together with the potential for producing steel and high-tensile steel, and cast pipes and other supplies, as ensuring a large market for their products in the Federation.

First Defence Council

The Hon. Minister of Defence, Sir F. M. Young, announced the formation of a new Council to coordinate the defence of the Federation. The Council will be headed by the Minister of Defence and will include representatives of the various departments of the Government.

Blantyre welfare centre

The Blantyre Welfare Centre has been officially opened. The centre will provide a range of social and welfare services for the community, including a day centre for the elderly and a youth club.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

WE have just read of the premiums for car owners to the Federation College.

I would suggest that it is most unwise to put such an inducement without regard to the individual's own interests. Would not there have been people to stop the motorists with their claim cards, and would not there have been no claim for a number of years, would continue to pay.

After all, the latter represents a large sum of money, and is not a negligible sum. It is not a negligible sum. It is not a negligible sum.

DILEMMA OVER BANK RATE

Flow of funds to London

Signs that British inflation is responding to treatment that the Government may shortly begin to relax some of its pressure on the economy. These hopes are premature, but there is reason to believe that the authorities will not wait until the time is ripe for a general relaxation of anti-inflationary pressure before they reduce the Bank Rate.

South African move

It is not surprising that the South African Government should have taken the lead in the move to reduce the Bank Rate in the first quarter of 1935.

ROBINA WRIGHT'S Story For The Children Pixie Twinkle And The Fairy Lanterns

Pixie Twinkle had a very important job in Fairy Village. He made lanterns and lanterns for everyone. If any of the fairies had an accident with a lantern or a lamp, Twinkle could repair it and make it shine more brightly than ever.

It was a very big order for Twinkle. He gave a special party each week for the Fairy Family. Every day he sold lanterns to the fairies. Twinkle was very busy. He had to make lanterns for the fields and meadows too.

LUCKY STRIKE WASN'T SO LUCKY. WORKMEN digging on the right of the former of a 'wreck' in Commercial Road, Portsmouth came upon a 'wreck' of a sort. It was a good time digger, and one of the things he found was a small bottle of water. It was about 100 years old, and was made of glass. It was filled with a clear liquid. Twinkle was very surprised. He had never seen anything like it before.

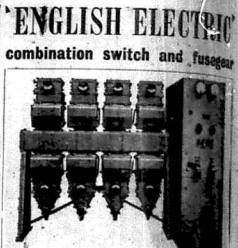

WINNERS of the painting competition took place at the 'D'Oscar' Centre, all of Scotland.

30 YEARS
As if there were not already enough troubles and squabbles in the world of 1926, this week brought the first hint of the right to come in Spain. Little scraps of news filtered out of the country and it was obvious that the country was in for a rough time before long.

Benito Mussolini near the President while he was inspecting a marching band, and his banners began to appear here and there, at the end of the week, the Government began to sweep in for a power soon afterwards.

In Albania, meanwhile, Italy was being accused of using poisoned gas against the native people, and protests against it were made by the League of Nations. A German officer of the I.A.R., who had been stationed in the Province of Albania, was captured by the Italian Government, they captured a large mountain range Lake Titicaca, which they reported if their forces were successful.

These disturbances were still going on among people who were fighting relatively to do with the war. Italy had just would talk but only with the League and on the basis of peace and vaccination. The only thing, however, that was published showing that he had not fled from his country. The British and the American press were full of reports that the man who had been taken away to a mining a safer country.

One unhappy miner was a German who went to England on leave and was fired for deserting due to the influence of the British. He explained to the court that he had drunk "nothing like the amount of whisky I can take in East Africa" and that he had been "driven out of the country" by the British.

Britain produced the world's first single-engine bomber, the Fairey-Battle. It was so fast - more than 100 mph - that no existing fighter could catch up with it.

In Kenya, the Bishop of Kenya, the Rt. Rev. H. S. Herwood, retired after 18 years service in the Colony. An African Dr. S. Salama, formerly a foreigner, received a promotion to the post when he accepted the evidence given by him. In Nairobi, the first-ever African branch of the Government was set up. It consisted of 12 members, and the first meeting was held on the 15th of the month.

40 YEARS
The war in East Was was having its effect on East Africa in diverse ways. Nairobi, for instance, had been out of gasoline for several weeks and the people were beginning to complain about it. At home, the people were beginning to complain about it.

France, the battle of Verdun, which was being fought in the greatest battle in the history of the world, was still raging bitterly, but neither side seemed to be getting anywhere very fast. Each side was making little snags out of it by claiming that the other side was not advancing.

Relations between the U.S.A. and Germany were growing worse every day. The American Government announced to the world of diplomatic relations completely if Germany did not stop attacking neutral merchant ships in the Atlantic.

The residents of Tanganyika were complaining bitterly about the state of their country. The road in Salisbury Road was so thick and deep that people were carrying their bicycles on their shoulders and getting by one another's feet.

CHANGES PROPOSED IN IMMIGRATION LAW FOR KENYA Government seeks to direct policy AIM THE PROTECTION OF AFRICAN ARTISANS

IMPORTANT changes in Kenya's immigration policy are proposed in a Government Bill which was introduced in the Legislative Council this week by the Chief Secretary, Mr. R. G. Turnbull.

If the House approve a motion of which notice was given by Mr. Turnbull, and adopt the recommendations, an Immigration Control Board and Appeals Tribunal will be abolished and the Government itself will assume responsibility for control of immigration policy through the Principal Immigration Officer.

The Government proposes to encourage the permanent immigration of persons whose contribution to the economy of the country will be of "substantial value". It will exclude from permanent entry those who cannot make any substantial contribution - by way of introduction of new capital, special skill - or by introduction of new methods of production.

The report continues: "It is considered that the adoption of such measures will be expected to result in an increase in immigration of persons whose contribution to the economy of the country will be of 'substantial value'."

At the time when the Government is considering the question of permanent immigration it is considered that the Government should be advised by a body of persons who are familiar with the local conditions which are of importance to the Government.

The Government proposes to create a body of persons to be known as the Kenya Immigration Advisory Council. This body will be composed of representatives of Government departments, the principal employers in the country, and representatives of the African community.

The Government proposes to create a body of persons to be known as the Kenya Immigration Advisory Council. This body will be composed of representatives of Government departments, the principal employers in the country, and representatives of the African community.

The Government's task, the report states, has been to find a middle path. The extreme view would be to restrict immigration on economic criteria - to restrict it to a limited number of persons whose skills are of value to the country.

Although the fact that an immigrant is not a citizen does not make a positive contribution to the economy of the country, coupled with the fact that the local market with its limited capacity to absorb immigrants must inevitably be overburdened.

Kenya's output of sisal

'not impressive' MINISTER CALLS FOR MORE RESEARCH

PRODUCTION from the 271,000 acres under sisal in Kenya was not impressive, the chairman of the Kenya Sisal Association, Mr. A. Lawrence, told the annual meeting in Nairobi this week. Output in 1954 was 10,000 tons, an increase of about 10 per cent on 1953.

Mr. Lawrence said he wondered whether it is industry research with enough impetus towards improved methods of growing sisal that would be most applied, and whether the steady advance in production, he suggested, was only part of the way along the road to sisal's ultimate future.

He said he must apply other methods for the increase in production of sisal. He said that the Ministry of Agriculture had to be convinced that sisal was a crop with great future possibilities. He said that the fact that sisal was a crop with great future possibilities was not enough to get the Government to invest in sisal. He said that the Government had to be convinced that sisal was a crop with great future possibilities.

NARABLY half the 21,000 workers recruited for the sisal industry in 1954 deserted either on their way to their work or before commencing their contracts, the chairman of the Kenya Sisal Association, Mr. A. Lawrence, said.

He warned the association's annual meeting in Nairobi that desertions had cost the industry about £250,000 last year. # Scout Movement's New Lease Of Life In Nyeri

By DUDLEY FREEMAN

TO be a Boy Scout in Nyeri 15 months ago was to invite any nearby terrorist to exterminate his party arm. The words "Be Prepared" held a sharper significance than perhaps Lord Baden-Powell intended when he chose them for the Scouts' motto.

That the Mau Mau invasion of Nyeri was all too unexpected. Scouts had been recruited in a town of 10,000 in a vain attempt to create a "white child" for standing Scout troops.

No one could explain this aspect of terrorist policy and the white thing became even more puzzling when it was revealed that some African Scouts, however or otherwise, had been training guerrillas.

Mr. Ben Tuya, who became full-time Scout Executive Commissioner of Nyeri in January last year. Since then, Scout troops in the area have increased from 17 to 54.

Full-time job

ANYWAY, the barbarians had the desired effect: in an area around Nyeri of more than 200 square miles, only 11 Scout troops were left in 1952 when Mr. Ben Tuya was named as full-time Scout Executive, Commissioner of Nyeri, in January last year.

And a number of these troops were functioning at half-strength in an atmosphere of distrust and utter outright condemnation, awaiting the situation opportunistically.

Abuse Scout's charge at the grounds of Lord Baden-Powell, founder of the Scout movement, when in memory of the 70th anniversary of his birth, Lord Baden-Powell, who left for Nyeri in 1942, was being facing Mwanja Kigwa.

Led by the head of the Police Training School, Kenya, African Scouts, today, march through the streets of Nyeri during a recent rally.

and a struggling movement was rejuvenated by the sign of hundreds of hours to join the Scout movement. There were 1,770 Scouts in the area and 50 troops.

In fact, so many boys, especially Africans, were joining that Mr. Tuya was forced in order to keep a constant administration, to temporarily halt new recruits a recent.

This changed attitude towards Scouting stems from the time Government gave permission to non-terrorist Africans and persuaded them to turn against Mau Mau domination, quickly evaporated, and once again recruits began to enter the Scout movement.

Recently, so many African Scouts wanted that a

Natural

AFRICAN children show a natural aptitude for Scouting. And in such pursuits as tracking, woodcraft, and wilderness survival, over-coming obstacles, and their greatest challenge.

Many of the present 50 troops in the Nyeri area have been formed as a result of spontaneous action by groups of children in spirit and village. Their wish to form a troop had permeated through Scout channels in Nyeri and throughout the area.

Mr. Tuya feels that a Scout is a boy who is a good swimmer, a good runner, and if he is trained in the Scout way, he is given a chance to start. For two months, the boys (and in Scout's activities) were trained as Scouts.

Official recognition bestowed only after the boys have shown that a the qualities needed to form a permanent troop.

A major problem has been the shortage of trained Scoutmasters. To rectify this, Mr. Tuya has sending five representatives to a camp of African-Scoutmasters in Nyeri.

Another difficulty, confined to the Nyeri area because of terrorism, has lingered longer there than in most parts, has been the absence of week-end camps. This has had a retarding effect on the movement.

For the past three years, a week-end camp by Boy Scouts in the Nyeri area would have been restricted to Scouts with an opportunity, they would severely have missed.

But restrictions are eased, week-end camping will resume again in Nyeri. It has already re-started in the suburbs of Scouting in Nyeri for the rally commencing the 10th anniversary of the birth of Lord Baden-Powell, and the anniversary of the Scout movement.

TALKING RADIO By Henry Reuter

RECENTLY in this column I have found it necessary to wag what has been described as a "ministerial finger" in the Chief Secretary for an apparent lack of decision and a complete lack of official information about the future of broadcasting in Kenya.

I have also found it necessary to level criticism at the general quality of the programmes.

Engaged as we have been in recent weeks, in important matters of policy affecting the whole of Kenya, there has been little time available for criticism of individual programmes.

Cable and wireless broadcasters have been disappointed by this. The Forest station also has asked me for constructive criticism. If it were to obtain the programme it has asked for, it would be done in future. If it were to obtain the programme and quality of service the majority of listeners would be bound to know, and me a brief letter.

Highlights of last week's programme will bring news from Muga. Also, a number of the best week's programmes will be brought to the attention of the Kenya Branch, 12th and 13th, which will be reviewed by the station and broadcast to the public.
