 Sir,—I am at the moment reading your issue of Physical Education by Arthur Henson, D.S.C. P.B.S., who is Lecturer in Physical Education at Edinburgh.

In view of the present interest in the subject of Physical Education in this country I venture to quote your article on the subject of Physical Education in the economy of nations, a subject which is of vital importance to the well-being of the world.

It is a well-known fact that the well-to-do in a modern State, in contrast to the well-to-do in a primitive State, are able to afford more leisure time and more leisure activities. This is due to the fact that the well-to-do in a modern State are able to afford more leisure time and more leisure activities. This is due to the fact that the well-to-do in a modern State are able to afford more leisure time and more leisure activities.

...then, there have existed in a technical, contemporary on the part of the Government, the fact that the well-to-do in a modern State are able to afford more leisure time and more leisure activities. This is due to the fact that the well-to-do in a modern State are able to afford more leisure time and more leisure activities.

Both Dr. G. V. Anderson and Mr. George Trapp recommend that the Government should take steps to improve the physical education of the people. This is a very laudable aim, and it is one which should be pursued with vigour.

...for an Inter-Territorial Committee with representatives drawn from the various territories. The fact that the well-to-do in a modern State are able to afford more leisure time and more leisure activities. S.E.C. in war - as in peace at the service of the Empire

Civil air transport is everywhere destined to leap ahead as soon as the war ends. For the present, however, plans must be held up because so many of the firms who would make the equipment for the factory, or the aircraft, or the aeroplane are busy engaged on war production. This is the case with the G.P.C., the Company in electrical manufacture, working in close collaboration with Government experts, the G.E.C. research and manufacturing organizations have made developments of the most scientific importance. When war priority ceases, however, the technical advances made by the Company in all applications of electricity, including the most important one of electronics, will be available in all every part of the world for the carrying out of complete electrification schemes of any magnitude.

WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 21, 1948

THE LEADERSHIP OF SILENCE

January 21, 1948, the twelfth anniversary of Adolf Hitler's rise to power in Germany, is a day which has come and gone without the usual and expected tributes having been rendered. That there has indeed been a tribute for the Allies, obviously the German Government, is a speculation which has had its origin in the question of whether or not it would appear in the form of an annual invariable custom in the anniversary of the fall of Hitler. Only once before during the war was the custom broken and that was in 1943, the Stuttgart Review.

With the situation in which Germany now finds herself being what it is, the great fact is that it is now having come without and through to something her article out of East Prussia and Latvia, her other frontiers in Italy and the Balkan States, and her territory held down and neutralized. Her economic life is completely paralyzed by the Red Army which has been in the country since the most amazingly sustained advance the war has ever known.

It is not surprising that the German people, who have been in the hands of the Allies since the end of the war, are now being treated as a conquered people. The German people are now being treated as a conquered people. The German people are now being treated as a conquered people.

"Well, Mrs. Paul, why do you decorate the Club Library like this?"
"Well, the library's empty, isn't it? I'm not disturbing anybody."
"Don't quibble, Paul. The library in this Club is always empty I admit, but it's a matter of principle. What's the idea?"
"Just letting of steam, old boy. Suffering from an attack of high spirits. Oh dear, I feel so happy I could..."
"High spirits, eh? After last night's festivity I'd expect to find you in a Turkish bath. Highest party I've attended this year."
"Call that a party? More baptisms, more trials, more..."
"Well, all I can say is I don't feel too lively after it. That's why I came up to the library—I need a little quiet."
"I thought you would, old man, when I saw how consistently you neglected the Book's Lane Club at the morning room on. You didn't even stir up with a straight plain of Rose's, as far as I could tell."
"Don't rub it in, Paul, I know it's my own fault."
"All right, old boy. Now I'm off for a drink. You can settle down with a good book. Something soothing. There are some good ones on these shelves."
