Briton wins through to quarter-final

Title round today

VIC SHIKAS the 26-year-old American Davis Cup player, who has never won a major singles title, brilliantly won his way into the final of the All-England seven-rally championship at Wimbledon on Wednesday by defeating left-handed Moroccan, Abdelmajid Elmehrik, 6-4, 16-12, 9-11, 6-3, 6-2 in a splendid five-hour exhibition of aggressive tennis lasting nearly 2½ hours in the centre courts.

Unseeded Scott Nelson, 22, was an odd favourite to defend his title as the defending champion but was out of his stride after his first-round win over Denmark will play the second-seeded Ken Rosewall in the first round today. Norberto Pietrangeli, the Egyptian's first-round opponent, is another semi-finalist in the other semi-final on Wednesday. Henri Lecourt has to overcome the first Scandinavian to reach the Wimbledon singles final.

Feathers of the game, in which both were ranked in the top of the world, offered only a narrow opportunity as the number of correct volleys, placements and half-volleys passing shots were not so much in evidence as in previous years.

Greatest thrill

Two of the controversial incidents that gave Wimbledon its drama of the day. In the last 20 minutes of the 10th game, John McEneaney and P. Scott of the United States were tied at two each in the hands four times. McEneaney called a back-swinging shot and the field leaning the lead to Scott and hit a second shot before McEneaney through. They tied at three in the ninth. Scott then hit a forehand winner in the 11th game.

Indian Ocean strategy

FRANCE CREATES THREE DEFENCE ZONES

In the article, GEORGES MALLEY described France's strategy to meet the threat of a third world war. He noted, based on a report from the French Ministry of Defense, that the French Government has decided to create three defense zones: the Indian Ocean, the Mediterranean, and the Atlantic.

The zones were created by the French Government on July 1st, 1953. The Indian Ocean zone covers the area from the Indian Ocean to the Persian Gulf. The Mediterranean zone covers the area from the Mediterranean Sea to the Atlantic Ocean. The Atlantic zone covers the area from the Atlantic Ocean to the English Channel.

These zones will be defended by French forces, including the French Navy and the French Air Force. The French Government has also decided to increase its military spending in order to meet the threat of a third world war.

Jet Jindivics fly the range

Twelve British jet fighters flew a record distance of 11,000 miles in a single mission. The mission was a test of the Jindivic jet fighters, which are being developed for use in the Indian Ocean region.

The jet fighters were flown from the United Kingdom to the Indian Ocean and back. The mission was completed successfully, demonstrating the range and performance of the Jindivic jet fighters.

The Jindivic jet fighters are being developed by the British Ministry of Defense. They are designed to be used in the Indian Ocean region, where they can provide a significant threat to enemy forces.

BIBLE HISTORY IN PICTURES

By the Reverend Frank Bedford

THESE pictures give a short glimpse of the way in which the romantic story of the translation of the Scriptures into the vernacular of East Africa. The tremendous task has been accomplished of translating the Scriptures into 37 different languages.

When the first missionaries came to this country they realised that if the message of Jesus Christ was to be understood by the people, it was a great and complicated task which they faced and how well they tackled it. Some were scholars in Hebrew and Greek; upon others the task was laid unexpectedly, for it they were unprepared but no-one else was available and they made themselves scholars by their devotion to their intricate task.

Most of the languages were only spoken and had no written form. The Bible became the first literature of the African peoples of Kenya, Uganda and Tanganyika in this will soon also be true in Kisumu and Luo. Besides many other languages in which the New Testament is complete, it is very fitting that as the makers of Kenya Bible, work of men like Krapf, Pillinger, Steyer, Hurn, Batcher and a host of others who gave of their best for the Bible, which we then, irrespective of race or colour, should be available to all a little of this story. The rest is written on the pages of imperishable history.

On the left, Gordon H. J. and Mrs. Batcher see the translated United Nations Bible for the first time. Conant Batcher was one of the two main translators. Below "Bible women" at Port Purcell, near the Bay of Victoria, Uganda. This picture appearing in the illustrated Gospel of St. John at which (under caption) were sold at the time of the Parliament of Britain. Below left, the first translation of the Swahili Bible arrives in Tanganyika.

Above, Philip Wambua, son of the proprietors of the British and Foreign Bible Society in Mombasa. The other picture below belonging to the Rev. George Pillinger who translated the Bible into Luo. On the journey, he kept his hands under the driver's seat.

The Aden Customs official at Kaituma examines the new Bible with great interest.

The first copy of the United Nations Bible arrives by boat at Kaituma.

The new Swahili Bible reaches Kisumu on the shores of Lake Tanganyika.

A JOURNEY INTO THE PAST

I HAVE not been on a journey. A journey into the Past. My guide was Mrs. Marguerite Mallett who was born in the Victorian Age, or was born in Ceylon, British India, to celebrate her 93rd birthday.

I went to see Mrs. Mallett at her home, 11 Berkeley, St. John's Road, a few minutes' ride from the Victoria Station. From there I was transported to the past. The past which is so much a part of our lives, and which is so much a part of our lives, and which is so much a part of our lives.

First to Holborn

First she went to a home in Holborn, London. The year was 1840. She was the first of a family of a young girl. She was the first of a family of a young girl. She was the first of a family of a young girl.

She had hoped for a college education. But Mrs. Mallett's own opinion was to have her go to a factory. She was the first of a family of a young girl. She was the first of a family of a young girl.

Born raconteur

How she ran away, how she got her benefit, how she got her benefit, how she got her benefit. She was the first of a family of a young girl. She was the first of a family of a young girl.

EULOGIUM TO KENYA

KENYA dear Kenya, land of my adoption, I would not change thee, I've had it so long. O'er the Sahara's dry, barren, gasp-trembling frown, O'er the Sahara's dry, barren, gasp-trembling frown, O'er the Sahara's dry, barren, gasp-trembling frown.

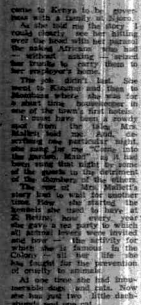

The gift have been so manifold, and plenty they were: Long years ago Africa first called to me. Long years ago Africa first called to me. Long years ago Africa first called to me.

90 years ago

She told me the tale of the beginning of her great love. She told me the tale of the beginning of her great love. She told me the tale of the beginning of her great love.

Met Disraeli

There were, they were, they were, they were, they were, they were. There were, they were, they were, they were, they were, they were.

90 years ago

She told me the tale of the beginning of her great love. She told me the tale of the beginning of her great love. She told me the tale of the beginning of her great love.

To the Editor of the Times

Dear Sir, I have the honor to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of the 26th inst. in relation to the article published in your issue of the 24th inst. regarding the late Mrs. Mallett.

Met Disraeli

There were, they were, they were, they were, they were, they were. There were, they were, they were, they were, they were, they were.

THE DEVELOPMENT OF THE SUDAN

NANCY CRAWSHAW, the writer of this article, is an English journalist who has made a special study of the Middle East.

WHEN British became responsible for the administration of the Anglo-Egyptian Sudan after its reconquest in 1898, they inherited a wilderness. Law and order had broken down and disease was rife. The first essential task was promoting security and encouraging trade by the development of communications in a region of nearly a million square miles which contained within its political boundaries the extreme of tropical jungle and vast areas of unexplored land. It was a task of no mean magnitude. It was not until 1914 that the Nile valley and the Sudan proper were over 2,000 miles and 100,000 square miles. After World War I several million square miles more were added.

THE SLOT MACHINE

Education. SINCE the ultimate objective of the Government of the Sudan is to bring the Sudanese people to a stage of self-governance, it is necessary to prepare the Sudanese for their responsibilities. The Sudanese people are not yet fit to be entrusted with the administration of their own affairs. It is necessary to educate them in the principles of self-governance and to give them the opportunity of exercising their own initiative in the management of their own affairs.

VALENTINE SELSEY rediscovered
THE SLOT MACHINE

On the platform of a Tube station in the West End of London it is possible once again to put face into one of the many slot machines which have done their duty since the early days of the 'sixties and pull out the familiar little drawer containing chocolate.

The slot machine which is so popular in the West End of London is a machine which was first invented in 1869 by a man named Charles Fey. It was a machine which was very simple in its construction and which was very popular with the public. It was a machine which was very successful and which was very profitable to its inventor.

The Kenya Drama Festival At The National Theatre

BY PETER ALLNUTT

THEATRICAL history will be made during the coming week when Kenya's first Drama Festival is held at the National Theatre on Monday and Tuesday, July 17 and 18.

The Molo-Turi Amateur Dramatic Society was formed in 1947 by a few enthusiasts and has grown steadily to membership by virtue of its consistent high standard of production. This society has one of the best theatres in Kenya, the Molo-Turi Theatre, which is situated in the heart of the city.

Future plans Apart from straight plays which they have produced in neighbouring districts as well as in Molo, the Molo-Turi Amateur Dramatic Society have produced a typical local drama and variety shows. Their future plans include the production of plays in the National Theatre and the building of a new Little Theatre in High School for which they are already under way. For the festival this society is producing "Faint the Stock Exchange".

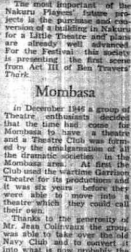

From Nyeri - home of the Molo-Turi Players - who have an excellent record of production, they are bringing to this festival a play called "Faint the Stock Exchange" which is a comedy in three acts. The play is written by a new playwright, Mr. Nyeri. The Molo-Turi Players are a well-known and successful amateur dramatic society.

The most important of the Molo-Turi Players' future projects is the purchase and conversion of a building in Nakuru for a Little Theatre and plans are already well advanced for the festival. This society is presenting the first scene from Act III of Ben Travers' "Faint the Stock Exchange".

Another scene from the production by Mrs. Wintour Ferguson, of Nyeri, of the children's play "The Problem with a Leg on her Mind". On the left, the Molo-Turi Amateur Dramatic Society's production, in December, 1951, of "Little Lulu's Toy".

The National Amateur Dramatic Society was formed in 1946, with Mr. Philip Mbatia as President, with the object of furthering the interests of Dramatic Art in Nairobi. The Society has always encouraged amateurs to the theatre and is a result of its activities Nairobi has found many first-rate performers.

In 1948 the East African Shakespeare Festival was first inaugurated and ever since that date the Railway Players have maintained their connection with the great productions of Shakespeare's plays. Their latest production was "Henry VIII", an outstanding success.

Railway Players Since its foundation the N.A.D.S. has produced some 10 full length plays and many shorter productions. In spite of the emergency the society's activities continue unabated and its recent production of Shakespeare's "The Taming of the Shrew" will be a most successful one.

Maeterlinck The name of James Maeterlinck is indelibly linked with the Railway Players and it is due to an small measure to him that they have been able to play in Shakespeare and the theatre, but also in the particular of progress in dramatic art. The Railway Players are presenting Maeterlinck's "The Blue Bird".

Thanks to the generosity of Sir Alan Cobden the group was able to take over the Molo-Turi Theatre for the festival. This society is presenting the first scene from Act III of Ben Travers' "Faint the Stock Exchange".

Africans' Yachtsman beats petition in Commons

THUMB-PRICKS in blood were used to identify one of the 120,000 citizens of Kenya who have presented a petition in the House of Commons today, through Mr. Fenner Brockway, a Labour member of Parliament.

Mr. Brockway said that in some cases the thumbprints were used to identify the names of the petitioners, that in many cases "hand in hand" the petitioners complained that a previous wrong was being suffered by the people of Kenya through the operation of 1875 square miles of the most fertile land. This had retained ownership of the native reserves with "disfranchisement" of the natives.

Y. O. Ombao, who supported the petition, said that the petitioners were of African descent and were of African origin to receive of African citizenship.

Harvards Over The Aberdares

TODAY'S picture page is a salute to the four Harvards of the Royal Air Force which constitute the air striking force in the battle against Mau Mau.

On the back page Stephen Mitchell tells the story of the morning air offensive against the crews of these four aircraft as they are carrying out against the hide-outs and strongholds of the terrorist gangs as deep in the heart of the Aberdares forest lands.

The Mystery of Nairobi, Ken. Murder Trial continues to draw attention to the murder of Professor P. O. O'Connell.

After the final trial, the President of the Kenyan Government, Mr. J. M. O'Connell, is expected to be called to the witness stand in the trial of the late Professor P. O'Connell, who was murdered in Nairobi in 1952.

The trial is expected to be a landmark case in the history of Kenya, as it involves the murder of a prominent figure in the country's independence movement.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

RE: THE MURDER OF PROFESSOR P. O'CONNELL

It is interesting to note that the trial of the late Professor P. O'Connell is being held in Nairobi, Kenya, rather than in London, England, where the murder took place.

The trial is expected to be a landmark case in the history of Kenya, as it involves the murder of a prominent figure in the country's independence movement.

HARVARD'S OVER THE ABERDARES

By Stephen Mitchell

YESTERDAY HARVARD's football and hockey teams were defeated by the Aberdares in a 10-0 victory. The football team was defeated by a score of 10-0 and the hockey team by a score of 5-0.

With the recent results of the Aberdares in mind, it is not surprising that the Harvard football team is being re-evaluated. The team has been playing poorly since the start of the season and the coach is under pressure to make changes.

The Harvard hockey team has also been struggling. They have lost several games and are currently in last place in the conference. The coach is expected to make some changes to the team.

The Aberdares, on the other hand, have been playing very well. They have won several games and are currently in first place in the conference. They are expected to continue their winning streak.

COLOUR TELEVISION WITHIN TEN YEARS?

The British Broadcasting Corporation (BBC) is planning to launch a colour television service within ten years. The corporation is currently testing various colour systems and expects to make a decision by the end of the year.

The BBC is the only British television station to have a licence for colour broadcasting. It has been testing the PAL system for several years and has found it to be the most suitable for the United Kingdom.

The corporation is also testing the SEC system, which is used in the United States. However, it has decided not to use this system because it is more expensive and has a shorter life span.
