put West Indies in strong Test position

WITH rain causing an early closure, and 284 5 wickets on the board, the West Indies can be regarded as having gained a decided advantage in the third Test against the M.C.C. which began at Georgetown on Wednesday. This was a magnificent recovery after losing three wickets for 45 runs...

Flooded pitch

After the early closure, the rain continued to come down as only a thin film of rain was left on the pitch in British Guiana and within 15 minutes of the start of play the pavilion ground was completely water-logged.

AND NOW— PERFUME 'MATCHES'

A TINY pinch, the size of a match, and containing exactly 3 drops of madame's favourite perfume, is the latest idea in this line. For the price of one bottle you buy a cardboard case which holds 100 pinches. They need not all be of the same kind either. Mrs. Manning, head of the Australian firm that makes and distributes the perfume, says that the rate of one pinch per second, or 36 drops, is the maximum time to be used to break the seal of the pinch. Use the new drops and there is no more to be said.

The matter of quantities of this madame's perfume is a matter of the imagination. But the fact is that it would not have a handling to be made in the usual way.

The Tardy New Look
RAY Shimmers (Mrs. Michael Manning) one of the members of the English tennis team now touring South Africa was amazed to see how late in the new fashion was appearing in the country. She suggested that South Africa, which is a few days behind the United States, should look to the United Kingdom for the latest in fashion. She said that she had seen in England despite all sorts of hindrances the New Look and she was sure that it would be there in a few days.

For the 'Ho'burg Girl
JULIENNE BROWN has after six or seven years. On March 1 she left her home in London to join the first batch married into the service. She is now in the service women's buildings in the Egyptian Service League and The R. This she shares with a number of double rooms, each with a balcony, on most floors. A restaurant room will open at 11.15, that is the time when all residents who use the R. arrive at a month.

At the new building, which is eight stories high, will have single rooms, double rooms and two-roomed flats. The flats with their kitchenette, bath and bedroom will be let at £10 to each for a month. When all sounds fairly reasonable, does it not think?

Some vegetarian dishes

Hot Flaxseed
Mix in 1 cup of peanuts without oil, and with 1 dash olive or olive butter and 1 tablespoon cream or butter (melted), add a good pinch of mixed herbs. Mix thoroughly and either add a little egg or sufficient milk to bind and make it workable. Pour in a shallow dish and bake in a hot oven. Fry in hot fat or butter. When cooked place a small amount of the fat and milk on the pan and brown a small amount of the water. Make a thick gravy. Add a little salt. Flour over the mixture and serve.

Hot Cottage Pie
Mix in 1 cup nuts with 1 slice bread and milk, pepper and, if liked, a good pinch of marmalade. Mix to a very thick consistency with milk. Put in a small glass dish with butter, cook slowly until almost set. Cover with potato flakes. Bake in a hot oven and a little baking powder. Turn over the mixture and serve.

Chowme Puffs
Mix one cup meal with heaped teaspoon baking powder and a good pinch of salt. Mix in 1 large tablespoon butter or thick cream and add 1 to 1 1/2 cups grated cheese (according to the strength of the cheese), a dash of cayenne pepper, make to a rather thick dough with milk. Have ready some very hot oil or hot fat. Drop in one spoonful and fry. If oil is used, drain on both sides. If oil is used, a vegetable fat is used, put into the water. Put in a small glass dish with butter, cook slowly until almost set. Cover with potato flakes. Bake in a hot oven and a little baking powder. Turn over the mixture and serve.

On February 28 at All Saints Cathedral, Mombasa, David (Duke) was married to Noel Gray (Miss Gray). The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Hardy, Salisbury, Wiltshire, England. The bride's gown was white with a full veil held back by silver rings and matching the bouquet at white.

The fashionable silhouette

(By Helen Fallett)
NOW that the fashionable silhouette is so low, and so simple, and so easy to wear, it is a pity that so many women do not take advantage of it. The skirt is so simple that it can be made in any material, and it is so simple that it can be made in any color. The dress is so simple that it can be made in any material, and it is so simple that it can be made in any color.

LINKS BETWEEN BRITISH SUBJECTS EVERYWHERE

THE World Empire Societies Conference was activated a year ago with the support of the Secretary of State for the Colonies. Its purpose was to coordinate on general lines the activities of the recognized Empire Societies, helping and disciplining of effort. The Conference meets periodically under the Chairmanship of Lord Clarendon, the present Chairman and the Chairmanship of the Royal Empire Society.

The same purpose

At a recent meeting convened was expressed that care might be some necessary, especially overseas, regarding the mutual relationship between the Societies, for, while they have the same general purpose, their organization and the lines on which they operate may be so different that members differ in several respects. It was decided to formulate the following agreed statement of aims and purposes to be adopted by all the Societies, in order to ensure uniformity of aim and purpose.

The Royal Empire Society is primarily a national society and was founded in 1885. Its headquarters are in London. It is the largest of the Societies and has a membership of over 100,000. Its objects are to promote the knowledge and appreciation of the British Empire, to assist in the education of the young, and to assist in the welfare of the Empire. AUSTRALIA OFFERS BRITAIN PLAN FOR MASS MIGRATION

Millions—not thousands— would go

FOR A mass migration of millions of Britons to Australia has been agreed by Mr. Philip Snow, Australian Minister for Immigration, and Mr. Arthur Morrison, British Minister for the Colonies, in a statement issued yesterday.

Elderly as well as middle-aged people

Consideration was being given to the question of sending out as well as middle-aged people to the Commonwealth. It was stated that the British Government would accept a mass migration of millions—not thousands.

The 'Melbourne Herald' has said that the Canberra Government had intended the facts to become public before the British reaction but added that the scheme had been approved by the Commonwealth Migration Advisory Committee.

The proposals for mass emigration will come before the British Cabinet at an early date.

Britain, fighting to avert economic disaster, suffers from a massive unemployment and is even importing European displaced persons to fill gaps in her labour force in various industries.

THE WORLD OF SPORT KEEN RACING AND CLOSE FINISHES AT NAIROBI

A GOOD crowd and some excellent racing characterized the first day of the Nairobi March meeting, run yesterday. Many spectators had been out until racing ended. The early morning rain was a good thing and only one horse scratched.

The racing was of the thrills of the afternoon, a length of the race being the feature. The favorite, Golden Fields, made the early running, but after entering the straight, he was overtaken by the runner-up, Blue Train, who won by a head. Blue Train's victory was a surprise, as he was not expected to do so well. The race was a close one, with Blue Train leading by a head, with Blue Train's victory being a surprise.

The latter showed a grand burst of speed, and he was able to overtake Golden Fields in the straight, and he won by a head. Blue Train's victory was a surprise, as he was not expected to do so well. The race was a close one, with Blue Train leading by a head, with Blue Train's victory being a surprise.

Good youngster

All youngsters turned out for the Nairobi Handicap, and Victor, a very promising grey filly, was the favorite. She was a good one, and she was able to overtake Golden Fields in the straight, and she won by a head. Blue Train's victory was a surprise, as he was not expected to do so well. The race was a close one, with Blue Train leading by a head, with Blue Train's victory being a surprise.

Hillocks postponed

The Brooklands hillclimb, arranged by the E.A. Motor Sports Club for Sunday, has been postponed owing to the rain, weather, and consequent condition of the course. The new date will be notified.

KENYA SPRINGS SURPRISE TAX ON ALL SUGAR

Price of milk is pegged—

One cent on every pound will bring in £30,000 a year, enable Government to pay producers more and finance research

WHOLESALE price of milk has been decentralised as a consequence of an agreement entered into between the Kenya Milk Producers' Association and the Government. The price of milk at the factory has been pegged at the following rates:—
28 cents a pint; dairy without container;
28 cents a pint; dairy with container;
30 cents a quart; dairy without container;
30 cents a quart; dairy with container.

People worried about rising prices

Mr. Troughan pointed out that by taxing sugar consumption, Kenya would receive part of the amount required to give Kenya producers a better financial return. By adding to the price of sugar, Kenya would be able to pay more than for the produce.
Mr. E. A. Vasey, Member for Nairobi North, after briefly commenting on the sugar situation in the Colony on the question of the general increase in prices, asked the Financial Secretary if the Government will consider a return to the producers; if he were satisfied that the industry was efficient.
Mr. G. M. Edye, Nyamata, asked the point that the Uganda Government had taken it upon itself to raise the price to the Kenya Government. The Financial Secretary replied that he had been into the Uganda with the intention of raising the price to the Kenya Government, but that it was entirely necessary and entirely justified. It is anticipated that generally a price increase will be making every possible effort to increase the production of sugar.

No self-respect until Britain closes that gap

BY RICHARD DENMAN OF 'THE ECONOMIST.'

IT IS not easy for a country which has been wealthy to adjust itself to a comparatively short time to the state of bankruptcy. It is all the more difficult when the signs of the approach from without and when leading Ministers of the Crown are engaged in the leading descent to fling back talk about 'rounding corners'.

There is, of course, no occasion for any self-deception; gloom never befalls anyone through a jam. But we need steady consistency in estimating and recording the immense economic damage that is about for Britain. We can be grateful to Sir Stafford Cripps for his stubborn refusal to raise any false hopes.

At all the urgent hours were given in the weeks before the last year - an odd word, the dimensions of our overseas payments. It was a disquieting discovery, for it showed how much worse off we are, than we had previously had the right to suppose.

At least everything was shown to be worse than had been feared. Britain's trade balance for the year 1943 had been for a third of what it had been in 1939.

It is not possible to be optimistic in the present. But we must not be discouraged by the fact that we are not yet in a position to estimate the damage done by the war. We must not be discouraged by the fact that we are not yet in a position to estimate the damage done by the war.

KEY-NYA TACKLES BIG BATCH OF PROBLEMS

Legislative Council puts in full day on new measures

CONSIDERATION of a wide variety of Bills, ranging from tax legislation to fundamental issues affecting Divorce Court decisions, occupied yesterday's session of Kenya Legislative Council.

There was a full reading of the controversial Control of Hotels Bill and the Matrimonial Causes (Amendment) Bill, and the Council also passed a Bill to amend the Statute Duty Ordinance of 1926. The amending measure does not affect the general substance in any material way—it only simplifies the process of duty in certain cases.

At the moment, said Mr. J. F. G. Traugott, Member for the Eastern District, the only Bill to come before the Council is the Statute Duty Bill to amend the Statute Duty Ordinance of 1926. The amending measure does not affect the general substance in any material way—it only simplifies the process of duty in certain cases.

The amending Bill related estate duty payments to be made by the land revenue department.

Mr. W. M. Nisell, Mombasa, took advantage of this opportunity to voice a protest against the whole principle of the collection of estate duty in Kenya and to express the hope that it would be long before the Estate Duty Ordinance was repealed.

Development of Africa: call for link-up

He pointed out that the development of Africa is a task which should be tackled on a world-wide basis, and that it is essential for the various countries of the continent to link up their efforts.

But ever-rising costs may force it to ask for more

KENYA's Development and Reconstruction Authority is finding it increasingly difficult to spend votes as it is Legitimate Council each year.

The reason are shortage of staff and an even more acute shortage of equipment and materials.

In 1949, the Authority was able to spend under £1,000,000 of the £2,000,000 voted.

In 1951, about £1,000,000 was spent out of nearly £4,000,000.

In 1952, the Authority is certain that the supply position will make it impossible to spend a considerable portion of nearly £5,000,000 which the 1952 estimates provide.

Right through the Authority's report covering the year 1947-53, the fact of the shortage of staff and material has been a major difficulty in the construction of buildings, apart from the shortage of supervisory and architectural staff which was severely and considerably advanced.

It is also a fact that the scarcity of many kinds of household fittings and building materials, and the steep rise in the cost of building materials.

Workers would not go out of town

The difficulties became more acute as the year advanced and it was found impossible, particularly in outlying districts, to undertake a number of important building projects due to the reluctance of workers to leave the towns, even though special inducements were offered.

Five agree in principle on Western Union

After a full session in Brussels yesterday of the Western European Council, the five member States in principle have agreed to a preliminary agreement on the latest draft of the Convention for the establishment of a Western Union. The agreement was reached on Tuesday, after a week of discussions which were held in Brussels and Luxembourg.
