Government will spend £1m. on housing this year

The Government was allocating about £1,000,000 to house this year, some considerably higher than last year, the Minister for Housing, Mr. Nyaga, said at a Press conference.

The Minister also announced that he intended bringing in amendments to the Rent Restriction of Immovable Landlords Bill, as soon as possible to cover the practices of unscrupulous landlords.

He also said that if Government control on rent was introduced this might affect building activities in a remarkable manner.

The purpose of his amendments would be to establish a central housing board, to bring under Government control the administrative machinery for rent control, and to empower the Minister to make regulations to a reasonable extent.

WOMEN'S ROLE STRESSED

WOMEN could not be thought of as being a hindrance to the development of the country, the Director of the United States Information Service, Dr. H. E. Austin, said in a speech at the Kenya Club last night.

Dr. Austin, who was talking on the role of women in the development of Kenya, said that women were essential to the progress of the country and that they should be encouraged to take part in all the activities of the country.

NEW HOMES PLANNED

The Housing Finance Company of Kenya, in a report to the Central Housing Board, has announced that it has planned to build 100 new houses at Langata and 150 houses at Woodlands.

In addition the Central Housing Board was preparing a plan for housing at an adequate level throughout the country. The report would not be neglected, the Director said, but it would not be taken into account in the Government's policy to build 100 new houses at Langata and 150 houses at Woodlands.

The Government would also be building 100 new houses at Langata and 150 houses at Woodlands.

Praise for primary school role

PRIMARY school work was not merely a preparation for secondary education, but a preparation for life, the Minister for Education, Mr. Nyaga, said at a Press conference yesterday.

He thanked the teachers for the fine work they were doing for the country's children.

Mr. Nyaga was referring to the role of primary schools in the development of the country. He said that primary schools were essential to the progress of the country and that they should be encouraged to take part in all the activities of the country.

SOME MERIT IN OLD LAWS

Time to face truth

...in Kenya were the kind of steadily deteriorating regions for which they had been designed. The Minister for Lands, Mr. A. N. K. Njiru, said that the Government was now faced with the task of reviewing the laws which had been enacted in 1952 and 1953. HOW POLLS IN 'LITTLE ELECTION'

Several held after violent scenes

Several candidates in most of the 16 constituencies where weekend polls took place in the first phase of Kenya's 'Little General Election' reported low percentage polls last night. Several people were reported for alleged election offences and in a few constituencies there were reports of violence or rival factions clashed.

The night polls resumed tonight with the ballot boxes — a guard was maintained constantly until counting begins on June 27. In some constituencies the guard was augmented by representatives of both major parties.

It was reported that the Minister for Communications and Transport, Mr. Mwangi, had been arrested on Friday night. Mr. Mwangi was arrested on his way to his home last night. Police detained 13 people in connection with the case.

Several incidents were reported from Kisumu, where the former M.P. Mr. Mwangi was arrested on Friday night. Mr. Mwangi was arrested on his way to his home last night. Police detained 13 people in connection with the case.

350 U.K. FIRMS PLAN TO SHOW AT MOSCOW INDUSTRIAL FAIR

Everything from cement instruments to the latest compass will be on display at the British Industrial Exhibition in Moscow in July.

Some 300 firms are taking part, roughly half the number who showed their wares at a similar fair in Moscow five years ago.

The 17th edition, which opens on July 26 at the Sokolniki Park of Amusement Drive from the centre of Moscow.

Although it is described by a substantial exhibition, the one exhibited will include clothes and shoes, as well as food-processing machinery, electrical goods and heavy industrial equipment.

Mr. Charles, who is a director of the British firm which has organized the show, said it was a "great pleasure" to be able to exhibit at the fair.

He said the exhibition was a "very important" one for the U.K., and that it was "very important" for the Soviet Union.

THE FUN OF ELECTIONS

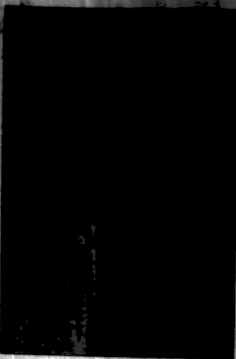

Reminder to voters

KENYA'S HISTORY
General Mr. Njoro, has reminded the public that the election period extends to June 21, and emphasized the importance of law and order being maintained during the period.

Nothing has been announced as yet, but it is expected that the Government will issue a statement in the near future. Those who are interested in the election should read the following papers and articles.

The Government will deal fully with any form of intimidation and disorder, and in the Government's view that the election process is an orderly one.

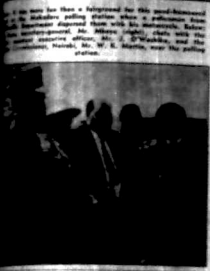

The Government will deal fully with any form of intimidation and disorder, and in the Government's view that the election process is an orderly one.

In the Kenyan election, the Kikuyu women are among the many to vote.

A crowd of K.P.U. supporters, giving the party's "thumb up" sign, after declaring its support for the new Government. The K.P.U. is the leading party in the country.

Why are some people always so vital and energetic?

Always on the go, never tired to go out and have fun after work. What is it that gives them this tremendous vitality? Why can't everyone enjoy such positive health?

You can feel different every day. Why? You can't, you could have more energy and vitality. It's not your age, it's your health. It's the difference you know. And a little help makes it only too easy. You can feel different every day. Why? You can't, you could have more energy and vitality. It's not your age, it's your health. It's the difference you know. And a little help makes it only too easy. The International Air Corp. will be responsible for the East Africa to East Africa leg of the service. The new agreement will also provide for a direct service from London to East Africa via the Cape of Good Hope.

These plans were brought into effect on the 1st of June. The new agreement will provide for a direct service from London to East Africa via the Cape of Good Hope. The International Air Corp. will be responsible for the East Africa to East Africa leg of the service. The new agreement will also provide for a direct service from London to East Africa via the Cape of Good Hope.

Four airlines in Far East pool plan

London, Air France, Alitalia and Japan Airlines have agreed a further extension of their services on the route between Europe and the Far East. The airlines directors of the four companies signed a new pool agreement recently which includes the route via the Middle East and South East Asia as well as the Polar Route.

Under this agreement, the four companies will combine their resources to offer a service offering together 21 flights a week. Travellers will be able to use an essentially single set of connections between the most important centres of Europe, the New World and Far East.

Views on Market to be Heard

BRITISH Ministers were yesterday expected to outline their Government's latest views on the prospects of joining the European Common Market at the 22-nation Commonwealth Trade Conference which was due to open in London.

The British Trade Minister Mr Douglas Jay, was expected to give the opening address of the conference, which is likely to last for two days. A major issue was expected to be the problem of achieving stable equilibrium prices for commodities. The British Government has been advocating a system of joint management of the world's resources.

Chorale in sacred and secular songs

17th and 18th Century Chorale, consisting of 60 young singers of whom Mr. Don Pascoe, made up the choir. The chorale sang in the first section in the first part of the programme. The chorale made her here, including heavy pieces, the second they gave a series of songs, which were very varied in origin and style. Perhaps one of the group was the chorale, which was sung in a very good style. The chorale was a part of the programme was sung in a very good style.

SMILING MR. KRUSHCHEV REAPPEARS AT POLLS

Mr. Krushchev, looking thinner, his cheeks sunken, but still smiling—turned up at a quiet backstreet polling station in Moscow to vote in the Soviet election. It was his first appearance in public for more than a year.

The Premier and Communist Party chief had been absent from his post of office since October 1965, after a 10-day absence from a report and said he had not had any more sleep since the crowd of Western correspondents had surrounded him in Moscow. Although he seemed to accept the situation, Krushchev's ex-husband with a newspaper said he had not seen him since he left for work and his last appearance in public was in a newspaper photo of him with his wife, Nadezhda, in a restaurant in Moscow.

Mr. Krushchev voted for the Communist Party candidate, Mr. Alexei Kogorn, who was elected to the Council of Ministers, one of the highest government offices in the country.

Mr. Krushchev also emerged from obscurity to cast his vote in the election for the Supreme Soviet, the highest legislative body in the country.

The 70-year-old Bolshevik was accompanied by his wife, Nadezhda, who is 67 years old. He is said to be in poor health, and his wife told them he was "not bad" but "not very well" and "not working and writing" as much as he used to do.

Mr. Krushchev's former State Security officer, Mr. Krushchev, told them he was "not bad" but "not very well" and "not working and writing" as much as he used to do.

Sanctions begin to bite says M.P.

Sanctions against Rhodesia are beginning to bite, and British exporters are getting worried, according to a Member of Parliament who has just returned from four weeks in Salisbury in Southern Africa.

Mr. Pelling said in the House of Commons that the Conservative Party's Commonwealth Affairs Committee, which he chairs, had taken a study tour to Salisbury, Mozambique and Rhodesia. He said it was clear that Mr. Smith's régime would continue to obstruct supplies, and that this could be avoided only by a complete embargo on all goods entering the country.

Mr. Pelling said that he had been in Salisbury for a week, and that he had seen a number of British officials, but that he had not seen Mr. Smith. He said that he had seen a number of British officials, but that he had not seen Mr. Smith.

Kenya can show the way forward — Sen. Kennedy

Students at Kericho Teacher Training College last week. Robert Kennedy appealed to the youth of Kenya, and urged them to lead the country towards the chance of education, to put the country before their own ambitions.

He said Kenya was a revolutionary, young nation where independence — revolution in social, slavery, economic revolution — was being equality to all, and today's revolution is to give the Negro his full place in society.

The United States still had great problems — racial strife and injustice, poverty, social affluence, loss of school and proper housing — and thus fighting to solve them. He did not pretend that the U.S. had done this. He indicated that more progress, no matter how small, must continue to revolution of structure and life. To change, change must come through youth.

U.S. ON CIVIL RIGHTS

Youth had taken the lead in America in the fight for civil rights and against racial discrimination. He called for personal freedom, not for the State, and said that the young of Kenya could build the nation, where there would be freedom beyond the borders. Every country in the world had a demonstration that all races could combine in freedom and brotherhood without fight, famine, disease and terrorism.

show the way forward - Sen. Kennedy

...to students at Kenyatta Teacher Training College last week. Robert Kennedy opposed to the transfer of Kenya to the British before the chance of education, to keep the country before there were problems.

He said Kenya was a revolutionary, young country in America there had many revolutionary young men independence - revolutions in food and, and today a revolution in bringing the Negro his full rights in society.

The United States still had great problems - racial and economic, poverty and unemployment - and the United States was fighting to solve these. He did not pretend that the job had been done but he indicated that every nation, no matter how rich, was engaged in revolution, and that the United States had to fight to solve these problems.

KENYA PUTS PETROL UP BY 20 CENTS

Mineral water, soap and matches dearer

As a result of a tough budget for Kenya, with substantial increases in taxation, were disclosed by the Minister for Finance, Mr. Kenyan, who presented his proposals yesterday and announced such and such in duty. Much sterner budgets were presented in Tanzania and Uganda.

ANCE FOR ALL TAX TO BUILD UGANDA

The biggest single increase as far as Kenya is concerned is an additional 20 cents on a gallon of petrol. A box of matches will cost two cents more, extra duty on mineral water will raise the price by five cents a bottle. There are minor increases on soap and soap powders, and there will be a through charge on aviation fuel of 18 cents a gallon.

In force at midnight

The budget proposals also include additional increases on domestic electricity, on the manufacture of bicycles and mineral water. Complete details of the budget will be published in the next few days, with a copy of the budget at the rate of 20 per cent of the estimated cost of the budget of 20 per cent.

Excise duties

Excise duties will be increased on a number of items, including alcohol, tobacco, and matches. The increase on matches is particularly significant, as it will result in a 20 per cent increase in the price of a box of matches.

ROYAL HUNT CUP

25-1 choice wins Ascot's big gamble

Continuation of a 25-1 outsider from Ireland, who won the Royal Hunt Cup, the big gamble of the betting form was the favorite of the day. The 25-1 outsider, who was owned and trained by Mr. Stammers, and ridden by the Irish jockey, Henry Jones, won the race by a neck.

A photo was taken to place the 25-1 choice in the Royal Hunt Cup. The winner of the race, Henry Jones, is seen in the foreground, riding the 25-1 outsider, who was owned and trained by Mr. Stammers, and ridden by the Irish jockey, Henry Jones. PIPELINE PLAN UNDER Drastic changes in Zambia project Essential progress has been made on plans for a pipeline from Dar es Salaam to the Zambian coast, but there have been some modifications to the original proposal. The first line is to run for 600 miles to a refinery in Zambia. This would have cost about £6,000,000.

However, London, the British company behind the scheme, now suggests that the N.E.I. for Zambia should refine products at the line. This would run for 1,100 miles and would cost about £13,000,000.

The estimates are based on a report by an American firm of surveys commissioned by Shell. The British firm is expected to be awarded the construction contract. The construction takes between 20 and 24 months and a start could be made in September.

Zambian refinery is considered a short-cut of capital expenditure. The British firm has been told that should construction of the pipeline be delayed, the refinery would be used as a copper refinery.

An audit of risk involved in the United States and used to transport oil to Zambia, will be paying the air freight cost.

The tanks will be loaded with oil in the U.S. Government work will be done in Dar es Salaam. The tanks will be delivered, but they will be loaded with oil in Dar es Salaam.

Meanwhile, the British Ministry of Foreign Affairs is working on a report for the British Government. The report will be used to decide whether to proceed with the pipeline project.

The pipeline project is being considered as a means of increasing Zambia's oil supply. It is also being considered as a means of increasing Zambia's industrial output.

The High Commissioner, who spent a month in Kenya, said their plans to establish economic ties with Kenya were progressing smoothly. "There is a lot of Kenya can supply to us," he said. "There is also a lot we can supply to them." What Tanzania could not supply would certainly come from Kenya. Zambia's trade with Kenya was at present on a small scale, but this would gradually be increased.

The South Vietnamese Government troops finally retook the last of the northern Buddhist stronghold of Hue yesterday by advancing without resistance on the last remaining area of the city still in rebel hands.

A company of paratroopers in armoured carriers moved slowly on the last remaining road leading to a hill by the name of Tan pagua. As they advanced they removed about 20 Buddhist altars placed in the street as a gesture of defiance.

Kenya unable to subsidise manager

THE K.A.A. is not prepared to subsidise a manager from America of the A.A.U. who has turned down the proposal of joining the Kenya championship.

The A.A.U. will be selecting the athlete for Kenya next weekend, but the K.A.A. has issued a statement on the manager problem. The United States insists on his request, we will have an alternative bid to withdraw the invitation. We cannot afford to accept a manager to Kenya for the national championships on July 1 and 2.

MRS. HORTA Lowry won her tenth Kenya golf championship yesterday at Lamu, when she beat Mrs. Maureen Pattison, in her first final, by 12 and 11. Mrs. Lowry, the invincible as she is called, played a complete game and was never in danger of defeat. For the first time in her career she was not congratulated by a husband. Her husband, Mr. J. M. Lowry, was in the hospital with a severe condition and was unable to attend the tournament. Mrs. Lowry's victory was a surprise to many, as she had never before won a championship.
