A HOME FOR THE ARTS IN KENYA
Next Week's Big Effort Towards Achieving A National Theatre

IN 1948 a home was started to provide Kenya with a National Theatre. It was obvious that in a colony of this size a home should be built for the arts, to encourage youthful talent and for the expression of those attitudes of art which are not necessarily a commercial concern. It was felt that it was time that the cultural side of Kenya had a chance to express itself in every possible way, without fear of financial criticism. A Theatre was chosen as being the one place which could embrace the possibilities of dancing, singing, painting, acting, music, and broadcasting in suitable surroundings.

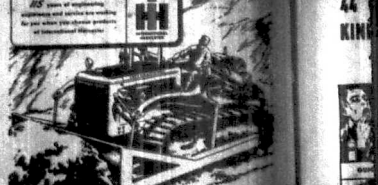

Five quarters were bought in the city of Nairobi, and the National Theatre Company was formed. The first production was "The Day After Tomorrow" by the Rev. Johnstone and Miss Kathleen. A plan for the theatre was submitted by the Town Planning Commission and the Government. The theatre was to be a permanent structure, but it was decided to start with a temporary building. At East Africa Home
The East Africa Home is a charitable institution for the care of the aged and infirm. It was founded in 1908 and has since that time been providing a home for those who are unable to care for themselves. The home is situated in Nairobi and has a staff of trained nurses and attendants. It is open to all who are unable to care for themselves, and it provides a comfortable and pleasant environment for its residents.

Village Raided, Women Stabbed, Grain Looted

ONLY a few days before the return of the Viceroy with his family's consideration, a new wave of communal rioting is in the west through India. A 24-hour curfew was imposed in Bombay, where there were police parades, and 250 people were arrested in Indore when the riots have the aim of forcing adherence to the Constituent Assembly.

These thousand people looted grain shops in Sindhapur, Punjab's riot district, and claims amount to £1,250,000.

Time For Proper Supervision Of Mystery City Of Gedi

PRESERVING RUINS THAT HOLD SECRETS OF HISTORY

Deep in the heart of the jungle only a few miles from Nairobi, the city of Gedi has languished for hundreds of years. It was a city where humanity had long since ceased to throw the streets where there were once temples and tropical vegetation, growing in black profusion about the ruins of its ancient structures. Since it was discovered about 25 years ago, its atmosphere has been made to solve its mysterious secrets. Dr. L. S. B. Leakey, the distinguished archaeologist, has recently returned from a state to the mystery city.

By L. S. B. LEAKEY

As a result of a recent visit to Gedi in order to make a report for the Trustees of the National Parks in connection with the further preservation of this important ruin, late evidence came to notice which seems to throw important new light upon some of the problems connected with the ruined City and the reasons for its abandonment.

Gedi is an "island town" situated some five miles from the Indian Ocean. It has always been a mystery as to where the ruins were first seen. It is a city of mud-brick buildings, some of which are still standing. The ruins are situated on a hillside overlooking the Indian Ocean. The city was built by the Gedi people, who were a branch of the Hamar race. The city was abandoned about 25 years ago. The reasons for its abandonment are still a mystery.

The reasons for its abandonment are still a mystery.

Dr. Leakey
Investigation has been resumed from England that Dr. L. S. B. Leakey has been awarded a Fellowship of the Geological Society of London.

FAILURE OF WELLS
At the same time the failure of water supply was noted. The wells were found to be dry. The reasons for this are still a mystery. The ruins are situated on a hillside overlooking the Indian Ocean. The city was built by the Gedi people, who were a branch of the Hamar race. The city was abandoned about 25 years ago. The reasons for its abandonment are still a mystery.
