

A.U. delivers verdict on mercenaries

From Alan Chester, Standard Staff Reporter

More than 1,000 men were waiting anxiously here last night for what they considered a life or death decision. Delegates of the Organisation of African States special committee arrived in Kigali earlier yesterday and a verdict — still a secret — on the men's future.

The decision on the refugees — about 100 Belgian, French and German mercenaries and 1,000 Katangese guerrillas — was handed over to President Grégoire Kayibanda of Rwanda yesterday but has not yet been disclosed.

The choice is between an agreement to extradite the refugees to the Congo in answer to the demands of President Nkomo, or to uphold the earlier O.A.S. Summit resolution to evacuate them by plane to Zanzibar or Malta.

The Army wants revenge

In the hastily made refugee camps at Campungu on the Rwanda-Congo border and in the Rwandan capital, the mercenaries led by Col. Jan Smets, are convinced that if they are handed over to the Congolese authorities they will be executed.

It is understood that President Nkomo is being pressed by his army to demand extradition of the mercenaries. They were recruited by what was called a battle in which it has been estimated that 1,000 Congolese troops died against Jan Smets' mercenaries.

Many mercenaries were seriously wounded during their flight from the Congolese troop town and it is thought that unless they are removed from the area, informed sources here, however, are optimistic that the O.A.U. committee has agreed to evacuation and that the O.A.U. will be asked to start by the weekend.

President Nkomo has agreed to accept the mercenaries, France and the United States have also agreed to accept them as well as permission is received.

A Belgian agent who has been working in the Katanga province has been shot in the back of the head by a mercenary. The British government has been asked to help with the evacuation of the mercenaries.

Vietnam violent attack U.S. paratroops

U.S. North Vietnam has launched one of its most violent assaults of the war against American paratroops in the Cambodian and Laotian border regions yesterday.

At about the same time North Vietnamese and Vietcong shot down two Army helicopters in the First Cavalry Division area near Tam Ky, on the border of Da Nang.

Mr. Wilson Calls for 'UNITED EUROPE'

U.S. Ambassador to the French, Mr. Harold Wilson, launched a major campaign on Monday for the creation of a new United European technology.

Wilson, who just changed with United party to guerrilla activities, has based dramatic revelations from the diary and notes of the dead guerrilla leader, Che Guevara concerning his relations with Cuba's Premier, Dr. Castro. The start of the court in Cuba, Wilson said, was a surprise to Dr. Castro's notebook and letters which he had received from Guevara and Dr. Castro. One of the passages concerned his own life as an Argentine paratrooper in Spain.

Wilson said he had been struck to observe the link between the Bolivian and Cuban revolts, and the fact that Guevara had been in contact with the Bolivian and Cuban revolts, and the fact that Guevara had been in contact with the Bolivian and Cuban revolts, and the fact that Guevara had been in contact with the Bolivian and Cuban revolts.

Careful plan

U.S. officials in the North Vietnamese have carefully planned a series of operations designed to counter the Vietcong's efforts to control the border regions. The plan is to establish a series of military bases in the border regions, and to launch a series of operations designed to counter the Vietcong's efforts to control the border regions. STARS ON UNEASY TERMS WITH AGE

MOST film stars who have been in the industry for 10 years or more are beginning to feel the effects of age. They are no longer the same as they were when they first stepped onto the screen. Their looks are beginning to show signs of wear, and their energy is not what it once was. Some stars, like John Wayne and Clark Gable, are beginning to show signs of aging, while others, like Bette Davis and Katharine Hepburn, are beginning to show signs of aging. The industry is beginning to realize that stars are no longer the same as they were when they first stepped onto the screen. Non-citizens not to pass over new passport soap and salt

Standard Staff Reporter
 An announcement that non-citizens living in Kenya must obtain new passports on December 1, when the new passport law comes into effect, was given yesterday by the Permanent Under-Secretary of State, Ministry of Home Affairs.

Although new regulations covering entry and work permits contained in the East African (Change of Status) Regulations came into effect on December 1, "There is no need for anyone to get into a hurry," said the Under-Secretary. "People who hold permits under the old regulations will be given ample warning of the date when they should apply for a new permit." He explained that people whose permits are due to expire before the issue of the new type of permits will have to apply for renewal in the ordinary way.

ADDITIONAL STAFF TRAINED

Mr. Omonga said the Immigration Department had recruited additional staff some time ago and had trained them so that the department would be prepared to handle the large numbers of applications for new permits.

Under the regulations some new permits will be issued to immigrants who are employed in agriculture, stock raising, fishing, and other occupations, and their permits will be valid for a period of five years. The regulations also provide for the issue of permits to immigrants who are engaged in business, and for the issue of permits to immigrants who are engaged in agriculture, stock raising, fishing, and other occupations, and their permits will be valid for a period of five years.

CLARK SET TO BE CHAMPION OF CHAMPIONS

BRITAIN'S Jim Clark ends the 1967 season on Grand Prix racing in his Ford-powered Lotus poised on the brink of becoming the world's Champion of Champions, but he will have to wait until January 1968 to make his bid for the title. When Clark won the Mexican Grand Prix in October he recorded his 24th Grand Prix victory in the annual World Championship series — equalling the record of the great Argentine, Juan Manuel Fangio.

His chance to make it 25 will come in the South African Grand Prix in January. The South African Grand Prix was won by Clark on Sunday in a Ford GT40. The 1967 World Champion will be driving a Ford GT40 in the 1968 Grand Prix.

The 26-year-old Scot won the 1967 World Championship in the Ford GT40 after a series of victories in the 1967 World Championship. He won the 1967 World Championship in the Ford GT40 after a series of victories in the 1967 World Championship.

Indian CRAFTSMANSHIP AT ITS BEST

Ancient India's trade with the world at large is now a matter of history. Indian goods were then considered the epitome of flawless workmanship.

The superb tradition of Indian craftsmanship is maintained in the manufacture of engineering goods now being exported to all parts of the world.

Indian engineering goods have proved popular even in the highly industrialized countries. The high quality of Indian production is attributable to factors like strict quality control, employment of latest machinery and technique in production, delivery on schedule and availability of service.

We shall gladly help you in contacting reputable Indian manufacturers and exporters of engineering goods.

FOOT-AND-MOUTH THREATENS R.A.C.

Standard Staff Reporter. London
While the opposing supporters of the R.A.C. Rally was yesterday being desperately in fear of a foot-and-mouth disease in several parts of Britain, Lord Chancellor, Lord Alton of Liverpool, said in a speech "I shall be bitterly disappointed if the rally is not successful. It means to me that it is a success, and I am hoping, my fingers crossed."

On Monday night the R.A.C. said that the holding of the rally was still in the balance, because the foot-and-mouth disease has not been reported in Great Britain, Wales and central England has already reached in 50,000 cattle being slaughtered. On Monday 22nd cases of foot-and-mouth disease have been reported.

Should the epidemic spread to other regions the Ministry of Agriculture is bound to order the cancellation of the rally. The rally includes a variety of games to remove dirt from the hands and will not risk a further spread of the disease.

At least 340 drivers are expected to take part in the rally, which will be held on the roads between York, Cambridge, and London. The rally will be held on Friday, December 14th, and will be held on Saturday, December 15th, at the National Sports Ground, Kenilworth, Warwickshire.

Mercenaries agree to O.A.S. plans

From Alan Christie, Standard Staff Reporter, Kampala.

At a meeting of the main Rwandan refugee camp at Shungu, the White mercenaries and Katanga commandoes have agreed to the conditions imposed by the O.A.S. for their evacuation.

Led by their commander, Col. Jean Schramme, the mercenaries walked to a table and signed the declaration agreeing to end their activities and never to return to Africa.

The declaration reads: "I solemnly undertake in Africa to definitely cease all activities as mercenaries and never to return to Africa or associate myself directly or indirectly in any action harmful to the stability and peace of any independent African State."

Not one objection

Col. Schramme told Mr. Telli: "We are very pleased. My mercenaries expressed their relief and their desire to return to their homes and to the army granted by President Mobutu and return to the Congo."

The Special O.A.U. Committee had flown into the hideout camps and began processing the men immediately. There was not one voice raised in objection to the proposal.

It is now expected that the evacuation of the mercenaries will begin at the weekend, while the White mercenaries wait for guarantees from the O.A.U. that they will do "everything possible" to stop them returning to the continent.

Some of the mercenaries were granted visas to return home. They were given a choice of being allowed to return to their homes or to be resettled in other parts of the world.

RAILWAY POLICE WIN AID SHIELD. "The standard of the teams that participated in this year's competition was very high." This was the unanimous opinion of the judges who judged the 1967 annual inter-centre 21, John Ambrose Memorial competition. There was eleven entries: Nairobi Railway Police, Nairobi Railway Corps, Mombasa (C.A.R. and M.A.) Mombasa (Port Brigade), Nakuru, Kisumu (Kenya) Kenya (Dar es Salaam, Dodoma, Tabora and Mombasa) from Tanzania and Uganda sent in a single team from Kampala. This year's first prize went to the Nairobi Railway Police. Their performance was described by the judges as "the first class display of first aid". Picture shows the Railway Police team being judged.

ROAD RAID: Mounted officers of the Nairobi Police rode into the Riverbank yesterday in a drive against illegal booze making. A number of people were charged with the offence and the picture shows officers making an examination of the various containers used for transporting the liquor.

You're a busy man.
Your time is precious.

But a few minutes with the Rank Xerox 914 office copier could make your life a lot easier

In your position you have to delegate responsibility. Trouble is, by the time you've sent memos and had them re-typed, or employed an ordinary office copier, expensive papers, chemicals and trained staff, you could have saved time and money by doing the job yourself. That's where the Rank Xerox® 914 comes in. Quickly, efficiently and economically. It copies directly onto ordinary paper. It gives you crisp, black on white copies from any colour original—even faint yellows and carbons—in about 8 seconds. It copies anything. Even your watch! And it never makes mistakes. What else? There are no messy chemicals. No exposure adjustments to make. No trained staff. Any junior can operate it. That's the 914. The copier that's being used all over the world. And now it's in Kenya. So you don't buy it. You rent it. No capital outlay. No obsolete machines. No service charges.

Think how the 914 could help streamline your business. Then post the coupon.

Please send me further information on the 914 office copier:

Cardinal to work with lepers

Cardinal Paul-Emile Lege is preparing to leave for Africa to devote the rest of his life to missionary work in leper colonies.

The Cardinal is a Frenchman who has been in Africa for many years. He has been instrumental in the establishment of leper colonies in Africa and has worked for the betterment of the lepers.

He is expected to arrive in Africa in the near future and will begin his work immediately. He will be working with the lepers in the leper colonies and will be trying to help them in every way possible.

WOMEN RAISE £50 TOWARDS SELF-HELP MATERNITY WARD

Women in the Kaptege area of Nandi District have raised some £50 towards the construction of a self-help maternity ward...

At a weekend meeting Mr. Chirovici gave a personal donation of £25 while Mrs. Chirovici gave a radio for use at the ward.

Mr. Chirovici congratulated the group for the response they had made in mobilizing their help in constructing the ward.

He appealed to other women in the district to follow the same example as he addressed them about meetings in the area area, where people have started to construct.

He urged young people not to wander about doing nothing, but to get busy with self-help projects which they had started.

CONGO REBELS START JOURNEY HOME

Mercenaries may be ransomed

From ALAN CHESTER, Standard Staff Reporter

EVACUATION of the Malagasy guerrillas from Rwanda is under way yesterday. Hundreds of guerrillas, with their wives and families, arrived in Kananara by truck from the refugee camp in Shangungu. The men were being taken back through Bukavu, despite fears by many that their contacts there have now occupied by the Congolese Army would result in "revenge attacks" against them.

Many Malagasy who distrust the amnesty offered them by President Mobutu were being processed in the refugee camp before being evacuated to other African countries. The White mercenaries, led by Col. Jean Schramme, are not likely to be moved for several days and possibly weeks.

A Congolese Foreign Ministry spokesman was quoted by Radio Kinshasa yesterday, according to AFP, as saying that they would not be evacuated until damages had been paid to the Congo Government. Observers in Kinshasa noted that there had been a series of rumours to the effect that the O.A.U. would ransom the mercenaries and Congolese Army.

The Press in Kinshasa has been publishing articles in the past few days about the cost of rebuilding Bukavu, which was badly battered in fighting between the mercenaries and Congolese Army.

The O.A.U. Committee on Mercenaries went to Bukavu yesterday for on-site enquiries in Kinshasa. President Mobutu was attending a memorial service for the Congolese troops killed at Bukavu.

The O.A.U. is still waiting for guarantees from European Governments that they will take every possible precaution to ensure that the White mercenaries never return to Africa.

Inter-national Red Cross workers were desperate trying to arrange speedy evacuation of the White mercenaries who are still stranded in Kinshasa on the edge of Lake Tanganyika.

A Red Cross representative to the U.N. Mr. Maxwell, Carter said he last night before to head on to the Congo to see if they might be able to arrange for the mercenaries to be evacuated to the International Red Cross.

SOUGHT Cyprus flare-up alerts Turkey

TURKEY has alerted its armed forces, and sealed off its main airports following fighting between Greek and Turkish Cypriots in Cyprus on Wednesday night, when 20 are known to have died. The Turkish Cabinet held an all-night session and President Sayim has cut short a trip he was making to Eastern Turkey.

United Nations troops yesterday pointed to the fact that Cyprus, which was won by the British in 1960, is now being divided into two parts by the Greek and Turkish Cypriots.

THE British Treasury and the Bank of England remained silent yesterday on the rumours that Britain may receive a new foreign central bank loan of $15,000,000.

Several members of the House of Commons declared their opposition to the Government's proposal to issue £100 million of new Treasury notes to meet the deficit.

The Foreign Exchange Market and the London Foreign Exchange Commission have agreed to suspend trading in the pound sterling market.

Plans to cut value of pound denied

LORD CHALFONT, Britain's Commons Minister for Education, denied in Paris yesterday that his country envisages the devaluation of Sterling. Gold trading on the Paris had money speculators covered themselves against a possible drop in the value of Sterling. There was also a report of a 'moderate' devaluation — 11 to 20 per cent — and the most plausible solution to Britain's current crisis, lending a courteous interest.

Lord Chalfont, speaking in question after a lecture held at the British Embassy, was able to express his opinion on the subject. He said that he had no intention of devaluing the pound, but he would not say whether he was or was not prepared to do so. He said that he was in Paris at the request of the French Government, and that he was there to discuss the economic growth of France.

There was much talk on the London financial markets of a possible devaluation of the pound. It was said that the pound was overvalued, and that it was necessary to devalue it. There was also talk of a possible devaluation of the dollar.

When the devaluation was announced, the pound would fall sharply. This would have a serious effect on the economy. It would also have a serious effect on the value of assets held in pounds.

The market was hoping for some official guidance about the time to take. Hopes that the House of Commons would meet in the afternoon to discuss the matter were not fulfilled.

This is only fractionally above the "base" level of £100 set by the Bank of England. The market was hoping for some official guidance about the time to take. Hopes that the House of Commons would meet in the afternoon to discuss the matter were not fulfilled.

Mr. J. D. Agard of the London Stock Exchange said that he was sure that the Government would eventually announce its decision. He said that the market was in a state of uncertainty, and that it was necessary for the Government to take a decision.

Setting orders. This was in spite of the fact that the Bank of England had raised the rate of discount from 10 per cent to 12 per cent. The market was hoping for some official guidance about the time to take.

It is likely that the pound will be devalued. This would have a serious effect on the economy. It would also have a serious effect on the value of assets held in pounds.

...plans to introduce...
...primary schools...
...the country between 1961 and 1971...

Standard Staff Reporter

Under the plans the Government will take responsibility for the new pupils up to Form-IV level. This means, in effect, that four years after the inception of each new stream, the schools concerned will become entirely Government maintained.

The scheme is as originally allowed for in the 1948-49 Finance Bill. But the Minister yesterday outlined where the schools would be, in an effort to co-ordinate self-help projects with Government thinking on education.

Project will cost £3m.

Mr. Nyahang estimated that capital expenditure on the project would amount to an annual sum of about £3,000,000, more than a third of which it is hoped will be covered by self-help efforts. Recurrent expenditure over the three years would be in the region of 25,000,000.

The Minister pointed out, the scheme would mean 150,000 extra Government secondary school places, net counting the new places which would be taken up by self-help efforts.

The exercise was also designed to distribute secondary school places more equitably throughout the country. The new streams would be done in areas of high school populations in the two coastal provinces, and in certain existing school facilities.

Everybody is born sick

ESQUIVIER, an undisciplined and somewhat shallow writer, writes that most people are born lame. Some are born lame in the mind, some are born lame in the body. Esquivier's argument is that the human brain is a complex and delicate mechanism which works better when it is not overworked. He says that the human mind is like a muscle which grows stronger through use but also becomes more prone to injury. He suggests that people should take care of their brains as they would take care of their bodies.

The Latin caste of Hawaii began with the classical gods, the sun god and the moon goddess. In the modern sense, this was Gaea and Uranus, who made all the Olympian gods. The Hawaiian people, like the people of other islands, have their own legends and traditions. Esquivier discusses the cultural heritage of Hawaii and the impact of Western civilization.

Conspicuously but down on the ground, Chinese royalty used to grow their hair in a queue, a long braid that they carried around. This practice was a mark of status and was maintained for centuries. Esquivier provides a detailed account of the customs and social structure of the Hawaiian people during the colonial period.

The Natl Stanchi - fr. Born Tired - is an association founded by a Signor Forgnico who is a barber of Verecchi. He and his friends, he writes, used to gather in a cafe after their day's work. They would talk about their problems and the various ways they tried to solve them. This group eventually became a formal organization.

Eight years have passed. Now Natl Stanchi has a club room, holds congresses and the members are numerous. Among them are a former Prime Minister and Foreign Minister, the local M.P., a few doctors and an artist. The club has become a hub of social and political activity.

Immediately an external wing formed a village in the neighbourhood town of Novara, calling the other names like the Chinese Marxist-Leninists at their comrades. This development indicates a shift in the club's focus towards political activism.

The Natl Stanchi has become Marxist-Leninist at their comrades. This suggests a strong ideological shift within the organization. The members are now more concerned with social and economic reforms.

Religious sect delaying progress against poverty

SINCE we attained independence in Kenya, we have been repeatedly reminded that there are three major problems we have inherited: poverty, ignorance and disease. We have tried to solve them, but progress has been slow. The religious sects have been a major obstacle to development.

Cut in Pound means narrow time in U.K.

Reaction to Britain's devaluation of Sterling came swiftly from all over the world yesterday, with three countries, including Kenya, announcing immediate changes in their currency in line with the new pound and announcements expected later that night of changes in the currencies of African, Ceylonese and New Zealand money.

KENYA BANKS CLOSED TODAY

Kenya banks will be closed today for all transactions and a statement of Kenya's currency will be issued by the Government.

The allied moves, which came after a series of crises affecting the Pound culminating in a loan of £200 million at £160-200,000,000 on Friday will supporting Sterling at its old level, will be welcomed by the major financial Powers. Other moves led by the devaluation promise a period of heavy restriction on the British people.

The allied moves, regarded in financial circles as necessary before Britain could be granted the loan of £200,000,000 she is seeking from the International Monetary Fund, and £1,000,000,000 she has arranged with other countries, are aimed at stimulating exports, attracting foreign capital, encouraging productivity and directly and indirectly reducing domestic demands.

These measures were: An increase in the bank rate from 6 per cent to eight per cent; the highest figure in years. Defence spending is to be cut by more than £100,000,000 next year.

Public spending at home, including capital spending on a sustained industrial basis, is to be cut by £100,000,000. The export rebate to manufacturers will be scrapped, saving another £100,000,000.

A further £100,000,000 will be saved by withdrawing a special premium to manufacturers under the payroll tax (Selective Employment Tax), and a period of 27 months purchase on cars to be tightened to a minimum deposit of about half and a restriction on new cars.

All banks have been told to restrict loans except to priority customers. Corporation tax stepped up from 40 per cent to 45 per cent.

Devaluation of the Pound means— Britain's exports will become cheaper for other nations to buy and sales of cars, machine tools and a whole range of items should get an immediate boost.

—Imported goods will cost more. This could lead to a drop in the nation's living standards since nearly half of Britain's food and many raw materials come from overseas. The cost of living is expected to rise by 25 per cent.

—The benefits to industrial Britain of a boost to exports and a cut in imports can only be maintained if a tight clampdown is kept on domestic production.

According to French financial circles, the British devaluation will provide the technical dividend of a 25 per cent rise in the value of the pound which will be a shock to the entire world economy. The international monetary system, it is believed, will be of considerable significance the consequences of which will be felt in all countries.

British devaluation may have other advantages. It will help to meet Britain's urgent need for dollars and the £200 million loan from the International Monetary Fund in Paris. It may also help to meet the £1,000 million loan from the International Monetary Fund in London.

The Director-General of the World Bank, Mr. Percival Brundage, said in a report for the World Bank that the devaluation of the pound will be a step towards a complete world currency.

CONGO ARMY HOLDS VICTORY PARADE IN RUINED BUKAVU

By Alan Chester, Standard Staff Reporter

GENERAL LEONARD MASAALA, the commander of the Congolese Army which defeated the White mercenaries and Congolese politicians at Bukavu, took the first steps to celebrate officially his "victory of Bukavu".

Britain to send envoy to Cairo

BRITAIN and the United Arab Republic will reach a selective diplomatic relations during the first two weeks of December, the Foreign Office announced in London yesterday.

Relations between London and the United Arab Republic were severed in 1962 in an Egyptian move to bring the country to a position on the Eastern Front.

Both Governments had agreed on an exchange of ambassadors very soon. Relations would be normal during the next few months, the Foreign Office said.

No conditions were attached by either side to the resumption of relations. The new British Ambassador was expected to be Sir Harold Brierley, at present the British representative to the Government of the Sudan in Khartoum.

Previous post

Mr. Haniel was previously ambassador to Egypt from 1954 until he was appointed to Cairo. He is a member of the British Foreign Office. He was previously ambassador to the Sudan in Khartoum.

The British Government was expected to announce the appointment of Sir Harold Brierley as British Ambassador to the United Arab Republic in Cairo, it would be the first time since 1962 that a British Ambassador has been appointed to the United Arab Republic.

The resignation of General MASAALA, the commander of the Congolese Army which defeated the White mercenaries and Congolese politicians at Bukavu, was announced in London yesterday.

General MASAALA was appointed to the post of Commander of the Congolese Army in 1962. He was previously Commander of the Congolese Army in Bukavu.

Turkish Army ready to enter Greece

TURKISH troops deployed along the frontier with Greece, and several main roads towards Cyprus, probably following a report of an ultimatum in Athens demanding the withdrawal of Greek troops from the island.

Well-informed sources in Ankara indicated that the Turkish Army and Peace-keeping troops had received that Turkey had received that ultimatum, which would be taken if Cyprus did not pull out the 20,000 troops the has in Cyprus and remove Gen. George Grivas from command.

The threat was specifically directed towards Cyprus, but the distance from there to Cyprus, the sources said, could be crossed in a few hours. Turkish troops on the island were reported to be moving towards the coast.

They had the same in the Greek Cypriot areas. The Greek Cypriot leaders, the sources said, were not expected to accept the ultimatum. The Greek Cypriot leaders, the sources said, were not expected to accept the ultimatum.

These disclosures came on the day when the Prime Minister, Mr. Avramides, said that the Government would not accept the ultimatum. The Greek Cypriot leaders, the sources said, were not expected to accept the ultimatum.

According to French financial circles, the British devaluation will provide the technical dividend of a 25 per cent rise in the value of the pound which will be a shock to the entire world economy. The international monetary system, it is believed, will be of considerable significance the consequences of which will be felt in all countries.

British devaluation may have other advantages. It will help to meet Britain's urgent need for dollars and the £200 million loan from the International Monetary Fund in Paris. It may also help to meet the £1,000 million loan from the International Monetary Fund in London.

The Director-General of the World Bank, Mr. Percival Brundage, said in a report for the World Bank that the devaluation of the pound will be a step towards a complete world currency.

ISRAEL AND JORDAN OPEN FIRE AGAIN

ISRAELI and Jordanian forces exchanged fire twice over the weekend, according to a Jordanian Army spokesman. The first incident occurred when an Israeli patrol opened fire on a Jordanian observation post near the Danyu Bridge on the Jordan River. No Jordanians were killed.

In the second incident an Israeli patrol opened fire on a Jordanian observation post in the village of Al-Saidiyya, three miles north of the Danyu Bridge. The time the firing lasted was an hour.

The spokesman said the Israeli "aggression" was an "excuse" for the Jordanian army to create panic among civilians in the region.

Grease thrown

A hand grenade was thrown at a group of visiting Israeli G.I.s in the village of Al-Saidiyya, three miles north of the Danyu Bridge, on the Jordan River, on Saturday.

The spokesman said the Israeli "aggression" was an "excuse" for the Jordanian army to create panic among civilians in the region.

'Friends soon' says U.A.R.

Britain and the United Arab Emirates will re-establish diplomatic relations in the near future, probably by the end of the year, a U.A.R. spokesman said today.

The spokesman said the U.A.R. government had received a letter from the British Government on the subject of re-establishing relations between the two countries.

AUSTRIY AND THE BRITISH

BRITAIN'S DEVALUATION of the £ and the 14 per cent cut in the only austriy moans imposed by Mr. Wilson's Government, though the most important and important.

Other restrictive acts include raising the Bank Rate to eight per cent, the highest level since 1931, a brake on any purchase for cars, a stop on payments of the special premiums allowed in the selective employment tax, increasing the export rebate on many factors, plus an increase of Corporation Tax to 43 per cent.

The Government hopes to put public spending at £2,000,000,000, setting the example for the main-land states which is asked to contribute to the cost of the survival. His cost of living is being raised by something like three per cent, while all other prices are being raised by 10 per cent.

Wilson, the Chancellor of the Exchequer, Mr. Lloyd, is expected to move this winter to London as a consequence of the manner in which the Government's financial position, Lord Chalmers, was in Paris, and the Government's financial position, Lord Chalmers, was in Paris, and the Government's financial position, Lord Chalmers, was in Paris.

World-wide hunt for war criminals continues

By a Special Correspondent

A REPORT that the West German Ministry of Justice had applied last week for the extradition of a man arrested in Panama on suspicion of being the chief of the Gestapo reveals the hunt that has been pursued for war criminals during the past 20 years.

The defendant's name before proposed in Panama City and the West German authorities had been given his full name as Heinrich Müller, the former chief of the Gestapo, who remained silent when he was arrested in a restaurant in London in 1947.

After being held for four days he was released, having provided a passport and a "false old man" the head of the Panamanian Secret Police.

Müller, now 67, was last captured in April, 1948, in Hitler's bunker at Berlin. He had been arrested in the bunker and was taken to the Gestapo in Berlin. He was then taken to the Gestapo in Berlin.

The evidence is believed to be that Müller was the chief of the Gestapo in Berlin. He was then taken to the Gestapo in Berlin. He was then taken to the Gestapo in Berlin.

It was after Stang's arrest that many who believe in this picture with the accompanying description, which must arouse indignation, not only from the British but from the wild life of East Africa.

ACHING LEGS

It is not only the elderly but also the young who suffer from aching legs. The cause is often a lack of calcium in the diet. The solution is to take a calcium supplement. This will help to build up the bones and prevent them from becoming brittle. It will also help to relieve the pain and discomfort of aching legs.

BANKS REOPEN AFTER ALL-DAY TALKS

EAST AFRICA is not to devalue its currencies.

U.K. TOLD TO EXPECT RISES IN PRICES

THE British Chancellor of the Exchequer, Mr. Callaghan, yesterday warned Britain to expect price rises in the coming months following devaluation of the Pound.

He was greeted by shouts of "tear" when he stood in the House of Commons to read his statement on the consequences of the devaluation of the Pound. He had also laid out the consequences of "tear" and "tear" and that Members of the public should be aware of the consequences. Mr. Callaghan said: "On the debit side there will be an increase in the price of raw materials and other goods which will have to be paid for in the coming months. A small but definite increase in the price of goods imported from abroad will also be felt."

Mr. Callaghan said the devaluation of the Pound would increase the price of raw materials and other goods imported from abroad. He said that the devaluation would also increase the price of goods imported from abroad. He said that the devaluation would also increase the price of goods imported from abroad.

He said that the devaluation would also increase the price of goods imported from abroad. He said that the devaluation would also increase the price of goods imported from abroad.

The decision was reached unanimously at 12.35 a.m. today after momentous talks held at the Central Bank in Nairobi which had continued without a break since early yesterday afternoon.

The decision not to devalue East African shillings was announced in writing yesterday by the Governor of the Central Bank of Kenya, Mr. Duncan Ndegwa. The joint statement said that the financial leaders had concluded that "circumstances prevailing in East Africa do not justify a change in the par value of the East African currencies."

Mr. Ndegwa made it clear that all banks in the three countries would open for normal business today. The three Central Banks will issue instructions to all commercial banks regarding exchange rates on the Pound sterling and other currencies now devalued.

The Deputy Governor of the Central Bank of Kenya, Mr. A. Abdullah, said the British pound would not be equivalent to 20 Kenya shillings.

There was no indication of the reason for the long-drawn-out discussion, but it was noted that before the meeting leaders of all three countries had expressed their views on the decision.

The chief participants in the talks were the three Finance Ministers, Mr. K. K. Karume (Kenya), Mr. A. Abdullah (Uganda) and Mr. J. M. Ndegwa (Tanzania). They were joined by Mr. J. M. Ndegwa, Mr. K. K. Karume and Mr. A. Abdullah.

In 1963, Kenya devalued the shilling against the pound sterling. This was done to encourage exports and to attract foreign investment.

Mr. Callaghan said the devaluation of the Pound would increase the price of raw materials and other goods imported from abroad. He said that the devaluation would also increase the price of goods imported from abroad.

Mombasa port workers growing strike

Standard Staff Reporter

The strike by employees of the East African Port and Dock Authority (EAPDA) which started at the Portlands depot at the weekend was spreading rapidly to other parts of the country, the Mombasa Trade Workers Union (MTWU) said.

In Nakuru and Mombasa, it was claimed to be almost 100 per cent effective. Other unions affected are Kenyan, E.A.C. and African. Employees of the company in Tika and other small stations are expected to come out today.

It was a pity that the strike of Labour said the Ministry still held the union unlawful and had left the matter in the hands of the police to see that the law was not broken.

He said that the Ministry had appointed a conciliator never before in Mombasa and agreement was about to be reached when the union called out its members on what he said were entirely new issues.

NEW ISSUES INFOFIED

The new issues involved were the dismissal of a trainee and the suspension of two of the company's employees. The two issues had not been declared on a dispute and had not been reported to the Ministry, the spokesman said.

Mr. Igada said the dispute started in July this year when the union sent a letter to the Ministry of Africanisation, promotion after a reasonable length of service, payment of provident fund and gratuity and labour listing their demands regarding job conditions and complaints about frustration of the union members.

He warned against the use of force to break the strike as all employees working under the same conditions were enjoying the same benefits.

Yesterday, union officials said that the strike was still continuing but the dispute had been reported to the Ministry of Labour. Unless early steps were taken to settle the dispute, strike would continue longer.

In Nairobi, workers were still refusing to go to work and the Ministry of Labour was still continuing to use force to break the strike.

At a press conference yesterday, the chairman, Mr. Manabu Kumbo, said that the strike was still continuing but the dispute had been reported to the Ministry of Labour. Unless early steps were taken to settle the dispute, strike would continue longer.

UNCERTAINTY OVER

Standard Staff Reporter
 Yesterday officially fixed its new exchange rate with the Pound at 11.25 shillings. The new rate was announced and created by the Central Bank of Kenya for commencing later to the Press. The announcement ended a day of uncertainty for the public, during which banks were changing British pounds and travelers' cheques at a variety of "temporary" rates, in effect that anyone receiving a £1 transfer from Britain will get 11.25 Kenya shillings for it, while 11 Kenya shillings will be worth £1 in London.

KIBAKI WARNS TRADERS 'PLAY FAIR ON PRICES'

Kenya's new exchange rate would "not really be affected by the devaluation of the Pound, the Minister of Commerce said today. He warned that Kenya would not be competing with Britain would now have to be a fair price for the goods it exports to Kenya, distributors of goods would have to play fair with the British pound, and that the new rate would not create any new problems for the country. Mr. Kibaki said that the new rate would be a fair price for the goods it exports to Kenya, distributors of goods would have to play fair with the British pound, and that the new rate would not create any new problems for the country.

CRITICAL POINT

P's in the House detention over remarks in House

Members of the Kenya Parliament should "open their eyes to the state of detention" because in the Kenyan House, Mr. Stade, said yesterday in a communication.

Mr. Stade's words were received in a mood of surprise at a meeting of the members of the Kenya House of Representatives on Monday. Mr. Stade had just read a communication from the Minister of the Interior to the House that the Government would not be detained on anything said in Parliament.

The importance of this assurance lay in the fact that though the M.P.'s, who had a right to question the National Assembly (Peoples and Privileges) Act from the Government's proceedings in respect of their detention in the House, no such statutory immunity existed from preventive detention under the Public Security Order.

Mr. Stade pointed out that the Government was not acting in accordance with the provisions of the Public Security Order. He pointed out that when the National Assembly (Peoples and Privileges) Act first became law, Mr. Stade had said:

"As a result of a query which arose out of the statement of the Vice-President to Members of Parliament on Monday, I was asked to explain to you why the Government was not acting in accordance with the provisions of the Public Security Order. I pointed out that the Government was not acting in accordance with the provisions of the Public Security Order. I pointed out that the Government was not acting in accordance with the provisions of the Public Security Order. I pointed out that the Government was not acting in accordance with the provisions of the Public Security Order."

The reason was that so long as the law established preventive detention was considered necessary, the Government would not be bound to act in accordance with the provisions of the Public Security Order. It was the Government's policy to act in accordance with the provisions of the Public Security Order.

Mr. Stade pointed out that the Government was not acting in accordance with the provisions of the Public Security Order. He pointed out that when the National Assembly (Peoples and Privileges) Act first became law, Mr. Stade had said:

British precedent

M.P. said that as long as the Government was not acting in accordance with the provisions of the Public Security Order, it was not bound to act in accordance with the provisions of the Public Security Order. He pointed out that the Government was not acting in accordance with the provisions of the Public Security Order.

Mr. Kibiki reassures Members

KENYA'S Minister for Commerce and Industry, Mr. KIBIKI, yesterday reassured members of the House of Representatives that his Government would not be dictated by the Trade Laws Committee.

During the Committee stage of the Bill, Mr. Kibiki pointed out that civil servants were not to be employed on a permanent basis and were not particularly in any special position as regards their employment in the Government. The Committee was to make recommendations to the Minister. But it raised a question about the provision of the Government that it would be free to recruit areas had been in the past.

Mr. O. Chiba (K.P.I.) said that he was worried that the Minister's decision would be final. There was also the possibility of an appeal to the Minister.

The truth about retreads No. 2 WHEN IS A TYRE RETREADABLE?

There comes a moment when a tyre is past redemption. Don't ever let that happen to you. We can tell you accurately at C & G when a tyre is ripe for retreading; we do an expert appraisal of the casing and we pay you a fair price for it. The C & G guaranteed retread which replaces it (it can be your own casing if you wish) will give you as good a service as a new tyre and at a much lower cost. Indeed in many cases we have found mileage on our retreads improve on that of the original tyre. We know the retread business; and we know a thing or two about it that maybe you don't. For a fair deal, a safe deal and an economical deal, use the know-how of the experts—C & G.
