Standard Staff Reporter Kampala.
A plot involving the overthrow of the Uganda Government and the killing of President Obote, all Ministers and other prominent persons was alleged in a Kampala court yesterday. It was claimed that the accused had planned to send a delegation to Kenya to bring armed men to help in the plot.

Fourteen men appeared on treacherous charges before the Acting Chief Magistrate, Mr. K. N. Mami, at Mengo District Court. Each was handcuffed to a police officer. The men had been brought to court under the strictest security.

Fourteen accused named

The fourteen accused are: Henry Kyalo, a producer in the educational programme of Uganda Television; Zwicko Brown, Uganda; William S. Ezeafali, Uganda; Yiba Saka, Christopher Kivungu, Joseph Mwakanya Yusuf, Kalyo Bula, and Joseph Jambiro, all members of the Uganda People's Congress; Amulane Yaka, a school teacher at the Ugandan College; Mustafa Mwanuzi, Haji Kamukama, and Joseph Haji Jola Sabagwa.

Reading the statement of a witness trying to overthrow the Government of Uganda contrary to the Penal Code.

The charge was that between February 14, 1967 and on that day, the defendants conspired to overthrow the Government of Uganda by force. The charge was read in detail to the defendants in the court. The defendants were given the opportunity to object to the charge. No objection was raised. The charge was then read again to the defendants. The defendants were then asked if they had anything to say in their own defence. No answer was given. The court then adjourned until tomorrow for the trial to begin.

CHINESE HANDS OFF KENYA

DO YOU REMEMBER Mr. Chou Enlai saying prospects for revolution in Africa were excellent? And then the explanation that the revolution was only postponed?

Apparently, the time has come and the revolution is anything but economic. Chinese diplomats being posted to African countries are being indoctrinated in their subversive duties and instructed that 1967 will be a year of tremendous successes in which "revolutionary wars" will be fought, particularly in Africa and Asia, will win great victories. Well, the Government will not allow them to do anything of the sort in Kenya. The evidence of the Chinese plan to undermine half the world, out of staid hatred for the U.S. and the Western democratic world, is contained in the Maoist version of Marxist-Leninist class war, is contained in a document issued from Hongkong by the Hsinhua News Agency entitled "New diplomats will bring the great Chinese proletarian cultural revolution to Africa". It was promulgated in the past. Presently, no doubt, it will be developed in Peking as another crude forgery by the wisest imperialists.

Help to adjust new boundaries

What is the purpose of the Chinese mission? Having been lashed by Generalissimo Chiang and Chou Enlai, the pamphlet says, they will return to China to "embellish in Africa and South America... Chinese assigned to Chinese Embassy staffs in various countries... consider themselves primarily as revolutionary workers... They have been specially selected for their revolutionary zeal and thoroughly schooled in the political teachings of Mao Tse-tung."

As Acting instructions, they are to consider themselves primarily as revolutionary workers and to pledge themselves to their African friends... they set territorial demands and adjust the final boundaries of new African countries according to the fissionous meaning of the instruction...

China - also Russian and Egyptian - is the force for chaos takes on a new aspect with the anti-French referendum in Djibouti. The French have already the same in French. Complete independence was clearly certain in an attempted grab by Somalia, followed in later, with consequent opposition from the Chinese intervention in Somalia's affairs concerning both Ethiopia and Kenya is in direct contradiction of the O.A.U. Charter.

Concede Chou Enlai's orders to the "new revolutionary diplomats" are to form militant local Red Guard units to purify the revolutions in Africa as the Chinese Red Guards have purified and perpetuated the glorious and proletarian cultural revolution. How - by breaking the hands of pamphlets who do not play the proper party notes? Kenya has been warned in advance.

It is regrettable that the K.P.U. is named in this order of the revolutionary day. The K.P.U. is named in this order of the revolutionary day. The K.P.U. is named in this order of the revolutionary day.

INJURIOUS NATIONALISATION

TWO BANKS HAVE EXPRESSED strong criticism of nationalisation in Tanzania and are sceptical of the success of the policy of extensive public ownership in helping the country to develop swiftly.

The two are National Gridways and Barclays. Lord D'OO in his annual report, the former's chairman, Lord Addison, was also critical of the effects of unilateral nationalisation on the partners of the East African Common Market.

The current issue of Barclays' Overseas Review, which can be regarded as an official expression of policy, makes the point that Tanzania's total foreign currency reserves, estimated at only £2,000,000, would not be sufficient to pay compensation for the banks, insurance and trading companies which have been taken over.

As these banks have been nationalised, they cannot be expected to take kindly to the news. But both together with the Standard Bank (also taken over), have agreed to act as overseas correspondents for Tanzania's National Bank of Commerce, for which certain European countries are being approached to provide senior officials.

The three banks which have lost their Tanzanian business have nevertheless shown a willingness to meet the needs of the country's foreign trade and financial transactions, while their criticisms also contain deep concern for the welfare of the ordinary people.

Their list, it is suggested in the Overseas Review, will suffer as a result of Tanzania 'prejudicing her chances of external assistance in the future, 'breaking up most of what had been achieved' and 'not satisfied with refusing to attempt short cuts to greater prosperity, turning her back on the road along which she was progressing and having to start again from base'.

Compensation by instalments

Confidence has been severely shocked at Barclays headquarters by the Overseas Review's suggestion that nationalisation is especially without prior compensation, in which the terms established in their original economic development. Co-operation is suggested, in which the bank says Tanzania is being treated as a debtor.

Full paid fair compensation has been suggested by President Nyerere, but there is a difference of opinion as to how the amounts should be computed and the method of payment. More than building up a business generated over nearly 50 years, their securities would be taken into account.

Though there has been no official public declaration, apparently the authorities in Dar es Salaam have suggested compensation should take the form of bonds repayable in 10 years. Payment by instalments as the Overseas Review states is really giving the company's capacity for financing its operations to appeal to bondholders.

As far as Barclays DCO is concerned, and this may be taken as a pointer in other cases, its understanding of the claim entered for compensation exceeds £2,000,000 compared with the 20 per cent of the banking company's total world business, which is being offered in Tanzania. According to a message from London, the bank is believed to consider unfavourable the conversion of bonds for compensation.

London bankers have welcomed the agreement of the East African Standard banks to act as correspondents, explaining how this will enable foreign business to continue, and account to be resumed. But some reserve is bound to be felt about this arrangement, and any other contracts entered into, which will be regarded as interim measures until the amount and form of compensation have been agreed.

CLAIMS OF TWO NEIGHBOURS BEDEVIL UHURU VOTE IN DIBOUTI

A Special Correspondent considers the significance of the referendum to be held in French Somaliland on Sunday when the people will be asked to vote on the question 'Do you want to remain united to the French Republic with a new status or do you want to become an independent State?'

IN 1966 when by uniting the two protectorates of Obok and Tadjoura to make French Somaliland, the French were probably far from thinking that they were creating an African problem which they might have to solve 20 years later transcending the fate of 300,000 people and the smallest territory in Africa.

It is far from clear that the French Government has any more than a faint idea of the implications of the referendum. It is all begun last summer, when President de Gaulle visited Ethiopia and Djibouti. There any doubt as to the French attitude towards the referendum has been removed.

Djibouti was the only colony of the French in Africa. It is a small, mountainous country, with a population of about 200,000. It is a French Republic with a new status or do you want to become an independent State?

NEW I.P.S. BUILDING A POSITIVE SIGN OF CONFIDENCE

The 5,000,000 I.P.S. Building in Kimathi Street, Nairobi.

PRESIDENT Kenyatta said yesterday that the Industry Industrial Promotion Services building in Nairobi served as a positive demonstration of confidence in Kenya. Opening the 2,000,000 office block in the city centre, the President declared Kenya would and it is greatly appreciated.

Kenya would continue to welcome foreign investment and guarantees would be given to investors provided the investment was in the interests of the country and conformed with Kenya's policy of African Socialism. The Minister for Commerce and Industry, Mr. Kihika said the building showed "through its architecture" by the Aga Khan and the modern office in Africa and was a source of pride for all Kenyans who served to show that Kenya was getting ahead on the road to progress.

"Nairobi is becoming more and more an international city. Its increasing population is creating additional employment opportunities for our people," he said. The Government was determined to see that the process of development continued and accelerated.

Before independence Kenya was a poor country and it was the Government's duty to develop the country and to give the people a better life.

to participate in the organization's profits.

President Kenyatta, who was accompanied by Mrs. Agnes Kenyatta, was welcomed by Dr. Eno Prichard, Chairman, and Mr. A. H. Buhari, Managing Director of I.P.S.

The President said that Kenya had developed one of the most modern cities in Africa and was a source of pride for all Kenyans who served to show that Kenya was getting ahead on the road to progress.

Personal leadership

I would like to congratulate you on your foresight and also for giving personal leadership for a great personal leadership in an important community in our country," he said, looking at the Aga Khan.

At the opening ceremony, Mr. Kihika was also present and congratulated the Aga Khan on his foresight and also for giving personal leadership for a great personal leadership in an important community in our country," he said, looking at the Aga Khan.

The managing director of the I.P.S., Mr. Eno Prichard, said the cost of more than 5,000,000 shillings had been provided from capital which was entirely raised locally. There were 11 shops on the ground floor occupied by artisans and traders who catered for the tourists.

It had taken about 200 working days to complete the construction of the building, he added.

The Aga Khan suggested that a partnership — to be known as the Kenya Aga Khan Promoting of Public Buildings — would be profitable.

World-wide concern

The I.P.S. Co. of Kenya had sister companies in Uganda, Tanzania, Congo (Kinshasa) and the Ivory Coast, Pakistan and Switzerland.

He urged the non-African communities to carry more responsibility to ensure the economic well-being and prosperity of the entire African continent.

"More and more it is becoming evident that no government can fulfil all the requirements of its national economy. I.P.S. will help to mobilize those resources of capital, local and foreign, as well as technical know-how and commercial ability which will promote projects that can assist governments to discharge their responsibilities in enhancing national well-being and development."

The Aga Khan concluded: "Apart from putting together new investment projects in the developing countries of Africa, and tapping foreign sources of private investment, I.P.S. has to fulfil its commitments to its own managerial and technical staffs."

During the course of the ceremony President Kenyatta presented gifts to the staff members of I.P.S. and the staff members of I.P.S. and the staff members of I.P.S. and the staff members of I.P.S.

45,000 sq. ft. of new office space for city

THE I.P.S. Building was conceived as a basic structure of reinforced concrete columns and slabs, using precast concrete projections externally not only to provide protection against undesirable sun exposure, but also to lend rigidity to the elevations of the office tower consistent with its prominent location.

This architectural design of the I.P.S. Building was requested from the architects in Rome.

For a further report of services to the public, it is hoped that the future will be outlined for East Africa and to form an integral part of the business scene which have been provided.

The old Empire Theatre which formerly stood on the site occupied by the I.P.S. Building, was razed in 1929 with a production of "The Pirates of Penzance" and died in 1964 with the film "Five Heres". This picture was taken in August 1965, when demolition work began.

THE Empire Cinema, which formerly stood on the site of the I.P.S. Building, closed in April, 1965, with a final performance of Ben Hur.

It was obvious that a building of such limited use could not stay for long on such an important site, but when it opened in 1959 the East African Standard saw it as a glowing report.

"Many things" it said, "contributed to the pleasure which the building creates: simplicity of design, refinement of detail, consistent character of finish, contrast of light and dark materials, surroundings and permeability of the mind."

RAIN NEEDED BEFORE EASTER RACES

Hard going and coughing may cut the fields

GOOD entries have been received for the two-day Nairobi Easter race meeting, but unless there is some rain the runners will again be scarce. You can hear horses coughing in a dirt gallop that is not even really at their best. They require a couple of fast rains on the track, and just now this is not available anywhere in Kenya.

I also hear that a number of horses still have not been able to shake off the coughing epidemic which has been such a scourge of worry to trainers for the past few months. However, running through the divisional list of horses I am struck by the large number of colts in training — many more than in the old days. There are at least a dozen in each of the seven classified as "C" Division. I cannot see any among them likely to improve the breed of horses in Kenya, and this surely should be the aim of all breeders.

SECURITY STILL THREATENED Expulsion of Vice-President seeks extension of Order Malawi from O.A.U. sought

Threats to security in Kenya had not been completely wiped out, although the situation had improved considerably after the resignation of a number of Opposition supporters, the Vice-President and Minister for Home Affairs, Mr. Moi, told Parliament last night.

He was asking the House to agree that the resolution passed by the House of Representatives on July 21 last year and the Senate on July 22, 1966, approving the Constitution (Public Security) Order, 1966, be extended for a further eight months from yesterday.

Moving the motion, Mr. Moi said Members would recall that by their resolution of last July their Order signed by the President was signed with a certain proviso. It was to be extended for a further eight months from yesterday.

This was necessary because at the time the Government was not in a position to take the necessary steps to bring about the extension of the Order.

A 'very serious matter'

The Order stated that the Government is unable to make provision for the normal circumstances of the individual and therefore it is necessary to take steps to ensure that the Order is not extended for a further eight months from yesterday.

Malawi from O.A.U. sought

AN indirect call for Malawi's expulsion from the Organisation for African Unity following its signature of a trade pact with South Africa came yesterday from the Pan-Africanist Congress of South Africa.

The United Party's Dan es Salama official declared in a statement: "It would be a negation of the vital interests of the African people as a whole if Africa continues to share her secrets with friends of her deadliest enemies."

The O.A.U. is an organisation of the African people and the signature of the trade pact with South Africa is a negation of the vital interests of the African people as a whole.

Buoyant trend continues on London Stock Market

GAINS MADE OVER BROAD FRONT

THE trend in London stock market industrials continued yesterday, with gains over a broad front ranging to nine pence.

Main influence on sentiment was hopes of a cut in U.K. Bank rate, today. Unavailable comment on Tuesday's trade figures and continuing Budget optimism were further factors.

British funds were wanted on Bank Rate hope, and a four-pence rise on the London market, financial figures for the week, and the fact that the well-received Budget optimism were further factors.

Dollar stocks were narrowly mixed.

£100,000 SPORTS' APPEAL

WHENEVER KENYA HAS SENT representative teams to compete in international athletic events, there has been lingering uncertainty about their expenses which would meet with inevitable eleven-hour scramble to raise sufficient money.

The Society of Kenya Sportsmen has been formed mainly to stabilise the financial support required for participation in top-level sporting occasions and to remove the anxiety which has almost always accompanied the organisation of national contingents on account of the question — "who will pay?"

Membership of the society is restricted to 75 and is limited to the Commonwealth Games in Jamaica last year for a total of £14,300, borne jointly by the Government and the Olympic Commonwealth Games Association, mainly by the former. The cost of Kenya's contingent for the Olympic Games in London, 1966 was £20,500, for which the association's chairman, Mr. Alexander, and his colleagues conducted a long campaign for public support.

The next major overseas event at which Kenya will have a strong contingent will be the Olympic Games in Mexico during October. It is estimated that sending approximately 50 athletes and officials will cost about £25,000. The price of athletic glory is high but the Society of Kenya Sportsmen is prepared to help only on public support.

Projects integrating public support

Moreover, instead of the cost falling on the few big companies making "block" contributions, the society wants to promote projects which will attract the support in this way, the financial base of Kenya's national sporting representation will be broadened to include ordinary people interested with a national identity. Various schemes are contemplated, such as sub-committees, have been appointed to get on with their organisation. For example, there is a committee for Wests calculating in the international athletic meetings. Yet another is a voluntary committee of their employees to contribute say, 50 cents a month to complete. This should also depend on the consent of their employers to contribute say, 50 cents a month. As the society, police and sports departments have also agreed to throw in their weight. If complete, this fund could be a steady income to the society's funds.

One reasonable balance has been struck for the infusion is to meet expenditure as it is incurred for a particular event. Thus, the £25,000 needed for the Olympic Games in Mexico can be found on the fund and the balance carried forward, snowballing into a fund which will become self-sufficient in the long run.

As Mr. Elliot pointed out, the original intention is to continue in like vein in the years thereafter. Thereby, the society will be able to insulate sport from politics in accordance with the Olympic code by making the teams independent of Government backing. They will become self-supporting on the basis of voluntary effort, which will raise the glory of financial independence recurring year after year.

PITTING AFRICA'S 'CHAOS' IN PROPER PERSPECTIVE

AFRICA is gaining a reputation for instability and chaos, President Kenia of Zambia has told me in Lusaka. "So many people overseas think of Africa as a continent of unrest, where political chaos reigns and the order of the day is disorder," he declared. "It is fair about Press reports that compare Africa with the so-called 'developed' countries in most of Africa's newly independent States."

He cited the example of the Congo, Ghana, Guinea, Nigeria, Tanzania, Zaire, Zambia and Zimbabwe, which are grossly exaggerated, he said. "The difficulty lay in the transition from the old to the new. Africa by the sea-garths of modern civilisation, which put them in the position of the 'developed' countries, and the 'developed' countries, which put them in the position of the 'developed' countries, and the 'developed' countries, which put them in the position of the 'developed' countries."

Families missing in floods

THREE families are missing and hundreds of people are being evacuated as cyclonic winds continue to batter Northern Queensland, Australia, devastated by the worst floods in 40 years.

Two cyclones, one of which hit the coastal town of Mackay, and another which struck inland Queensland, have caused the worst flooding in the history of the flood areas.

Two cyclones, one of which hit the coastal town of Mackay, and another which struck inland Queensland, have caused the worst flooding in the history of the flood areas.

CHINA's need to grow enough to feed its 700,000,000 people has taken precedence over the cultural revolution in rural areas.

DJIBOUTI 'NO' TO FRANCE

First results favour independence

Standard Special Correspondent Djibouti.

Results in the polling station in Djibouti's Somali quarter yesterday voted overwhelmingly "No" to a continuation of the link with France, while in the three stations in European and Arab quarters there was an emphatic "Yes".

The remaining area, which is a 90 per cent vote in favour of French rule.

However, observers in the city expect the heavy poll in favour of independence to be counter-balanced by a massive vote to retain the country's links with France from the hinterland, where the pro-French Arab tribesmen are in the majority.

REPORT ON COMMON MARKET QUEST

JOHN ELGONS DIARY

KENYA CIVIL SERVICE

FOR THE FIRST TIME as Head of the Civil Service, the Permanent Secretary in the President's Office addressed the Kenya Civil Servants' Union at its annual conference during the weekend Mr. Karithi gave an encouraging impression of the results of his work and a wonder — he has been a civil servant for 15 years — having worked for the Government since 1922.

For these tributes readers can be expected to share the President for the integrity and reputation of the Civil Service and the morale of its members. In a personal conference during the weekend Mr. Karithi gave an encouraging impression of the results of his work and a wonder — he has been a civil servant for 15 years — having worked for the Government since 1922.

BRITAIN'S Prime Minister, Mr. Wilson, and the Foreign Secretary, Mr. Brown, are analysing the results of their Common Market report.

Before they hope to discuss it, they will have to help the Cabinet to answer the question of how to approach their respective Governments in London.

A further condition is that the British membership of the Community should be regarded as a package deal.

The Prime Minister and the Foreign Secretary are also aware that the Government's policy is to continue to negotiate with the E.C. and to continue to negotiate with the Commonwealth.

KENNETH HOLROYD reports from London

Prime Minister Harold Wilson said at the end of the completion of the report.

It is clear from the report that the Government's policy is to continue to negotiate with the E.C. and to continue to negotiate with the Commonwealth.

ANXITIES REMOVED

Some British anxieties about regional policies are however, allayed after the publication of the report.

The report also says that the Government is not likely to change its policy of supporting the Commonwealth.

After a period of half-planned play, the Scorpions' attack was completely nullified by the Tuskers' defence. The latter's tactical severity prevented any constructive play being developed from some of the players.

Manchester United ahead

A CRUSHING 5-2 win over Leicester City took Manchester United to a clear lead in Division 1 of the English Football League as their nearest rivals, Liverpool, slipped to 63 at Burnley.

Goal by David Beal, Bobby Charlton, Johnny Aston, Denis Law and David Sadler took Manchester United to a two-point lead over Liverpool, who went down to a goal by Leslie Latham.

In the night international England reversed their lead in the World Cup when they beat the USSR 3-2 at Wembley. The victory was their first in 40 years.

The match was a typical example of the high quality, but generally one-sided, football that is now being played in the top division.

Goans lose Kenya Cup final by 2-0

SIKHS took their 12th successive hockey trophy yesterday at the Nairobi City Park Stadium when they retained the Kenya Cup championship by besting Goans in a one-sided game.

The score was not a true reflection of the match as the Sikhs won with absolute ease and were not extended at any time. The Goans entered their opponents' circle only twice throughout the entire 70 minutes.

Go, looked a disheartened side having been knocked out of the Goan Cup tournament last week. Sikh Union, who had looked back after the 12th edition when the Goans made a spectacular move and the Sikhs failed to take a winning chance.

Davidson missed a simple free kick from the centre-back position but made several more errors later when he failed to move between the posts by sending the ball over the bar.

Interval score

The teams turned out with the Goans tied up. Goan goalkeeper David Davidson took a shot from the centre-back position but missed. Goan players tried to keep the ball on the ground but failed to do so. Sikh players were quick to take the ball into the Goan half and kept the Goans on the defensive. KENYA BOXERS FOR MADAGASCAR

Three named to travel with manager/coach

THE Amateur Boxing Association of Kenya has accepted an invitation from the Madagascar Amateur Boxing Federation to send three Kenyan boxers to compete in Madagascar next month. The boxers and a manager/coach will leave Nairobi on April 21 and will return a month later.

The A.B.A. of Kenya's selection committee has named John Njeru (bantamweight), Philip W. M. (featherweight) and Stephen Baraza (lightweight) to travel and they will be accompanied by Mr. M. Njeru as the manager/coach. John Njeru is the only one of the three who is a Kenya national champion.

Warranting and Baraza missed last year's Kenya championships because of illness or injury.

Warranting is in the Commonwealth and African Championships which took place in London last year. Although he has been very fit during the past few months, he is not yet fit enough to travel to Madagascar. He is expected to go to New York in the near future.

Baraza is considered by many as one of the best boxers in East Africa, and he has won several titles. He is expected to be selected with a good medal in Madagascar.

John Njeru is a former Commonwealth champion and is a fine prospect for next year's Olympic Games.

KIPRUGUT TO JOIN RUNNERS FOR GERMANY

WILSON Kiprugut, Kenya's first Olympic Games medalist — he took the 800 metres bronze in the 1964 Tokyo Olympic Games — and silver medalist in the 800 yards in the Jamaica Commonwealth Games last year, will travel with Kipchoge Keino, Ben Kogo and Naitani Temu to Germany to compete in a series of meetings from September 22.

Keino, Kogo and Temu were originally the only Kenyan to be invited, but the Kenya Amateur Athletic Association asked their Athletics Association friend, Wilson Kiprugut, to join them if he could accept Kiprugut's offer. FATHER AND SON MISS DEATH BY A HAIRBREADTH and son of a 16-year-old Nairobi school boy, Nigel Bennett, and his father, Mr. Leonard H. Bennett, who were admitted to the Nairobi Hospital on Monday night after an ordeal with a charging leopard, both described as "responsible" by a hospital official, however.

That Nigel, a pupil of the Nairobi School, was much more comfortable than his father, who had been with Mr. Bennett 44, a technical manager for a Nairobi company and an honorary game warden, had his arm, and face attached to the head, had been badly injured by the frenzied leopard. The incident happened when the leopard was just about to be released into the cage. It leapt upon Mr. Bennett, knocking him to the ground. The leopard turned on Nigel when he grabbed it in a frantic attempt to save his father. He received a biting and clawing on the hand and head before it turned upon to attack his father.

1. Coolly peering from the cab of the van carrying the leopard to be released in the forest, Mr. Bennett pulls the release wire to the cage door in order to give the leopard a free run. 2. His attempt to get out thwarted by a thick cage door, the leopard's temper mounts as it creaks at the jinking in hampering the door and sports at its would-be releasee.

in the occasion of Pakistan National Day, the Pakistan High Commissioner and Begum Rahnun Rahman Noor, will be pleased to receive Pakistani nationals and friends at Chancery, Government Road, from 10 to 11 a.m. on Thursday, March 23, 1967.

3. Mr. Bennett sought with the son Nigel (see frame left) and another member of the party, to decide the best way to free the angry animal. It was after this point that Mr. Bennett's "partner" alone attempted to face the cage door. When this picture was taken, Mr. Bennett and the lion were only minutes away from what nearly became a tragedy.

4. Mr. Bennett moves the fateful decision to open the cage by releasing the drawing pin from the operating mechanism inside the cage, the leopard, restrained by the environment outside his cage, shifted his anger to the man. About five seconds after this picture was taken (see Page 2), Mr. Bennett was knocked to the ground and his right arm bit.

New ideas for Kenya Homes Exhibition

NEW ideas for the 1967 Kenya Homes Exhibition which will be held at the end of May include a "City Avenue" with a landscaped "Green Lane" with a cosy atmosphere and a mass of plants, trees and shrubs and a "Country Lane" with a rustic village with a rustic appearance.

There will also stand in the "Charter" hall, which will again be designed to the international standards and standards as expanded to include some of the new ideas for the exhibition. The new ideas for the exhibition will be a series of the Housewife of the Year Competition.

Last year a decorated student, Miss Kathleen Snow, won the Housewife of the Year Competition. The Housewife of the Year Competition is a contest for the best of the exhibition. Mrs. Karen Porter has decided that for the first time the final questionnaire will provide different questions for married and single women as she feels that a different approach to domesticity and housework is needed for each group in the exhibition.

Another feature of the Competition which is different this year is the letter of the day. Last year competitors arranged their own display of materials rooms but this year to save space, the materials will be provided and the competitors will be asked to make a display of their own design. The display will be held last year.

The letter of the day for students has been replaced this year from 2 to 10, to be enclosed with each questionnaire. The letter of the day for Kenya citizens or those in Kenya, will be replaced by the letter of the day for the Housewife of the Year Competition.

Two styles that are currently in fashion on the sets a dome-type racer hat. It comes from a collection of "Oldball" hats - created for women who enjoy an original fashion sense of humor. Designed to pair with the mid-tone "couch" coat, it is ideal for the girl who is out to make up her mind this Spring. On the right is another Western style, which is in the current fashion trend.

HATS ARE LOOKING LIKE HATS AGAIN

FANTASY has taken precedence over practicality for a long time in the millinery trade. The era of "pretty" hats was abandoned for the darkly eccentric with beanie, space caps and King Louis XI hats which stressed the theme of the Middle Ages.

New hats are back to a more normal shape. They look more like hats again. Those that retain a slightly unusual appearance, however, show that their designers were not quite so far from the mark as they were when they were designing the "pretty" hats. The new hats are back to a more normal shape. They look more like hats again.

A HEAVY melodrama, involving murder and a Mafia execution, AN AMERICAN DREAM which opens at the Kenya today, is not helped by the slow pace and the over-the-top characterisation of the departing and arriving people who abound in the story.

A.S.K. head says schools need teaching farms

KENYA schools should run experimental farms to train pupils in agriculture, the president of the Agricultural Society of Kenya, Mr. J. Jessop, suggested yesterday. He said that agriculture had become a compulsory school subject.

RETURN OF KENYA AS ONE-CLASS LINER

THE East African passenger liner Kenya is due to leave for East Africa on her first outward voyage on conversion to a one-class liner.

Addressing an A.S.K. Press conference at Nairobi, he stated that schools could benefit after-school hours pupils could learn practical agricultural techniques by working on the farms. Mr. Jessop was encouraged to move in this direction.

The society's chief executive officer, Major Hugh Collins, said one problem would be to find suitably qualified teachers to provide practical agricultural training for pupils.

He disclosed that by the end of this year the society would have spent about £20,000 on improving its show grounds. Improvements to Jambanja this year would involve an expenditure of £7,200.

DELHI HQ FOR RURAL GROUPING

NEW DELHI would be the permanent headquarters of the organization, the Kenya Rural Grouping Organisation, the organization's president and Kenya's Minister for Housing, Mr. N. N. Njiru, said yesterday.

Mr. Njiru was speaking at the Nairobi airport on his return from a tour of the United Kingdom, where he was attending a rural housing conference.

The president said the rural housing conference in London was the first of its kind in Africa and was held at the Africa House, London, from February 10 to 15.

Mr. Njiru said that the conference was held in London because of the fact that the British Government was the largest contributor to the African rural housing problem.

POLICE FIRE AT SMASH AND GRAB RAIDERS

NAIROBI police yesterday fired a siren of an unprovoked in a smash and grab raid and believe one was wounded. A trucker did give chase and a rented taxi man after the gang had broken into a shop at Langens Garage, shopping centre, Nairobi, in the early hours of the morning.

The police were alerted by a woman who was shouting for help. She said she was in the Langens Garage when she saw a trucker smash through the gate and a taxi man follow him.

Nairobi bus services to be extended

KENYA bus services will be extended about 100 miles by next year to increase the number of buses currently operating in Nairobi, the traffic manager, Mr. J. Osborne, said yesterday.

As well as the 11 buses so far received, a further commitment of 11 would be received by the end of the year, Mr. Osborne said.

Mr. Osborne said that the extension of bus services would be a major step towards solving the transport problem in Nairobi.

PICKING THE SAFARI WINNER

SEVERAL motor rallies claim to be the toughest in the world, but the majority opinion among international motorists' gendarmes favours the East African Safari Rally for the title — and it seems to be shared by the overseas drivers who have done battle on the 3,100-mile route.

Starting with Maurice Gosnell, the Dubliner who took part in the 1965 event, overseas drivers have competed in varying numbers and with some success but so far not one overseas driver has been the overall winner. Will this year see a break in tradition?

Probably a fascinating one, but much of the route and conditions are similar to what was known by those who have been there in previous years. The route is very changeable at that time of the year. Skarar is dry, the roads probably have a thin layer of dust on them, and drivers are advised to avoid the effect of heat strokes.

Many of the top local drivers are returning and there is a strong possibility that they will win. But the effect of the weather will be a factor.

PARISON

There is an overseas class with a slight edge over the local drivers. This year's class was entered in the 1965 rally by Erskine Balfour, who was the only overseas driver to complete the rally. He finished only 11th in the local drivers' classification, with only 25 minutes to spare. He has now had to spend a lot of time in the States, but he is back and ready to take on the challenge.

There is also a possibility that a local driver, who has had experience in the States, will win. He is a very strong driver, and has had a lot of experience in the States.

There is also a possibility that a local driver, who has had experience in the States, will win. He is a very strong driver, and has had a lot of experience in the States.

TORQUE, the East African Standard motor competitions correspondent, gives his preference of the 15th East African Safari — and suggests that local drivers will again stare off the overseas challenge. His predictions are below.

There is an overseas class with a slight edge over the local drivers. This year's class was entered in the 1965 rally by Erskine Balfour, who was the only overseas driver to complete the rally. He finished only 11th in the local drivers' classification, with only 25 minutes to spare. He has now had to spend a lot of time in the States, but he is back and ready to take on the challenge.

There is also a possibility that a local driver, who has had experience in the States, will win. He is a very strong driver, and has had a lot of experience in the States.
