WEEK END STANDARD INTENSIVE SEARCH FOR OIL CONTINUES ALONG EAST AFRICAN COAST

BY A SPECIAL CORRESPONDENT

ALONG the coast of Kenya and Tanganyika work is going on today which may alter the economic future of East Africa. This is the most that any oil man will tell you for the good reason that in the most that he knows.

In the hot, unproductive, sparsely-inhabited lands which border the continent from Mozambique in the South to Somalia in the North, prosperous modern cities of skyscrapers may spring. Cadillacs and Oldsmobiles may drive back the bush.

On the bush may close in again completely obliterating the tiny clearing which was made in it. Late in 1954, the first expedition will be drilled in East Africa. It will be on Mafia, a small island with only 10,000 inhabitants lying off the Tanganyikan Coast, 70 miles south of Dar es Salaam.

This was not the beginning of the story. In a sense it was the end, for the drilling of a deepwater well is the culmination of an oil search, the final and only chance that it will be successful.

Before the Mafia island search was started, the oil man had been in the country for two weeks. He had explored rocks, identified the strata, measured the dip of the rocks. In 1953, they had been on the island for a month, measuring the dip of the rocks, measuring the dip of the rocks. LOWER FARES

yet MORE PROFIT

The situation of cheap rates has already been proved in long distance routes. On North Atlantic flights 70% of all passengers save 20% of economy fares. A similar one in fact would be equally popular on short and medium distance routes. The only aircraft capable of bringing about these reductions, and making it a profit, is the Vickers Vanguard. In its economy class beyond the Vanguard has over 50% greater profits potential than any competitor air line. By a substantial margin its 20-mile costs are the lowest in the world today.

What fare cuts are possible?

At 61% passenger load factor the new Vanguard in its economy class can operate at 20% cost per mile with losses rising to 40% below cost. In calculating these figures actual routes, current fees and commission have been taken into account.

After 30 years with the Kenya Police, Deputy Commissioner Frederick Charles Brooks is retiring. But anyone who knows "Brooks" as he is known by his friends will realize that "retirement" is not something of a new name. When I talked to him in his office in Police Headquarters he told me that he had no intention of leaving Kenya but will take up a post with a commercial firm.

As well as a successful career in the police, he represented his country at being elected as an assistant company director, worked for a firm in an insurance company before, and was in the Kenya Police. Designers create for teenagers with plenty of money to spend

By JANE FIRTH
There was a time when teenagers and high fashion did not go together...

However, these days there is an increasing tendency for designers to create gay, youthful clothes which can look well on the younger members of the older set.

Why the designers have changed so much it is a little difficult to understand...

It may be due to the fact that many designers are reaching the top of their profession...

On the other hand, the younger set may have their eye on the commercial market...

By writing an ever-increasing number of letters to prominent business men, the Government is continuing its search for qualified persons to fill the posts of auditors.

It is an established practice in Kenya that the auditor general does not make his selection of auditors until he has received the names of persons who are qualified to fill the posts.

ADVENTURE AWAITS VISITOR TO MOUNTAIN PARKS OF KENYA

Near 45 miles from Nairobi lies the tip of a boundary which encloses some of the most beautiful natural scenery of Kenya. Babbling streams leap gaily over their stony beds, sparkling in cold clearness, while hanging feebly about them, the moribund heather lets its fawn-colored hoariness drift in the water.

Strange stems of the giant groundsel leap grandly from the mossy bog. Vast meadows of short grass, adorned with giant heather in which dwell the elusive kudu, the tassel-tail, the mountain crane, and the black-necked forest catbird, surround the area of war-broken hills. From forest to moorland and meadow and copse back to forest again, until the broadest forest of elephant herds in these parks, as they feebly survey one of their last remaining domains.

In the morning leopards are seen, the brown-speckled coat, and you and your party, trying to get a good shot at one of them, are often frustrated by the fact that they are so shy.

JOHN ALEXANDER
Warden of the Mountain Parks of Kenya, writes "It is to be found in his domain part of the program and difficulties in developing the area for residents and tourists."

AUSTRALIAN FLYER MEETS E.A. PILOTS

In order to meet members of the Aero Club of East Africa, and, in particular, one of Kenya's women pilots, Mrs. Nancy Best Watson, a pioneer Australian aviator, travelled here today in Kenya by several days.

U.S. tenor plans to return to Kenya in 1960

A WORLD tour for a concert artist takes about 15 months—and that is longer than Mr. Ken Pears, the Metropolitan Opera's famous tenor, cares to spend away from New York, his home and family.

Mr. Pears said he would travel less next year, but will go to a last concert and last week he passed through Nairobi after a South African tour.

As he gives ten concerts and speaks warmly of the packed and appreciative audiences out of the very high standard of the country's vocalists and conductors, it is not surprising that he is not returning to Kenya in 1960. He will be returning in 1961, after a tour of the continent.

1958 MOTOR SHOW

Impressive array of British and Continental cars battle for markets

THE latest British cars designed to increase her vehicle exports—already at a record level—were on view at the Motor Show at Earl's Court, London, yesterday. They were rivaled from the Continent. Between them, they provided a comprehensive survey of the models battling for the international car market.

British manufacturers would hold the major share of the display. But there was an impressive array of models from the United States, Canada, France, Germany, Italy, Sweden and Czechoslovakia. Cars from a Netherlands factory were seen for the first time.

The demand for British cars overseas has been greater than ever before. By the end of June more than 250,000 cars had been exported—80,000 more than in the previous record half-year in 1956, according to a recent survey of £23,000,000.

Production figures for the British Motor Corporation, which exports more than 100,000 cars a year, are expected to be supported by an anticipated 15 per cent increase in the value of its exports.

RECORD YEAR
The B.M.C. produced and sold more vehicles in the year ended July 31 than any other British car exporter, according to figures for 1957. The total value of £24,122,000 was the highest ever for the corporation's previous best year. It was also the first time the firm had sold more cars abroad than in this country. The firm also has a record year during the first six months they turned out 222,300 vehicles—22 per cent more than in 1956. Its next competitor, Ford are not produced as new models specially for the export. They have been given by the B.M.C. last year when they first met the market. They are now being produced as "new models" for the export.

If you are not very good at judging space in a car park, so that when you open your door you bang it against the next car, invest in a pair of tiny rubber buffers to screw on to the outside of the door.

Families addicted to satnav know that the average car just does not have enough space for all the luggage and bits and pieces they need.

Roadtrucks are part of the answer, and they are made to fit all types of cars at prices from about 70/- upwards. Most are easy to attach and remove without damaging the paintwork.

A tarpaulin to cover luggage on the rack can be bought for 10/-.

If you want to avoid having to fit and undo yards of rope every time you unpack, there is a steel device for holding the tarpaulin in place which costs 24/6. It consists of half a dozen lengths of elastic "ropes", each with a clip on the end, attached to a central ring.

Tax loads regretted
When it comes to the Motor Vehicle Act, the House of Representatives has passed a bill that would increase the tax on motor vehicles. This is a regrettable development, as it will increase the cost of owning a car for many people. The bill also increases the tax on the sale of used cars, which is also a burden on consumers. The House of Representatives should have considered the impact of these taxes on the economy and on the general public before passing the bill.

CUP FINAL THAT ATTRACTED

ON 2,000 SPECTATORS

D. D. BURMAN, London sports commentator, writes about football in Britain, recalling a little of its history and reviewing the present position.

At a crowd of 2,000 spectators assembled in London on the wind-blown ground called Kennington Oval for the first English Football Association Challenge Cup final. The crowd consisted of 100,000 spectators, mostly from London. Wanderers won by one goal to nil.

History had been made. From that sparsely attended crowd 25 years ago, Football Association Cup final has gradually grown until the staggering figure of 120,000 was reached when it was staged for the first time at Wembley Stadium in 1923.

It was also the normal procedure of two teams come off the top of the Third and Second Divisions and therefore between the second Division and the first.

Applications for tickets will exceed that number. The history of the English Football Association actually goes far back to 1862, when representative football clubs met in a London meeting.

hobby. Over the years the game spread from Britain to many parts of the world. Today, in England, there are 80 clubs in the four-annual League Divisions—25 each in Division One and Two, and 31 each in Division Three and Four. The 1924-25 season, incidentally, introduced the new League arrangement, changing the former Third Division North and South into national Divisions with geographical sense.

One system of promotion and relegation is also in operation. At the end of the season, four clubs will be promoted from the Fourth to the Third Division, which means of course, relegation for four Third Division clubs. Three First Division clubs, and

Whenever you wet your hair... restore washed-out scalp oils with "VASELINE" HAIR TONIC

Not only taking a shower but even combing your hair with water washes out the natural scalp oils. Hair becomes dull, lifeless; you may notice white scales on your scalp... All symptoms of the condition we call "Dry Scalp".

My hair troubles start with "dry scalp". If you suspect it, start using "Vaseline" brand Hair Tonic right away. A daily application of "Vaseline" Hair Tonic, with a brief, vigorous massage, ends "dry scalp" because it restores these natural scalp oils — gives you healthier, more lustrous hair through a healthier scalp.

EXPANSION PLANNED AT COPPER MINE

World price now 'healthier'

Experts believe that the world price for copper is now 'healthier' than it has been for some time. This is due to a number of factors, including the expansion of production at the Klering Mines, Western Kenya. The mine, which has been operating since 1954, is expected to produce 10,000 tons of copper in 1959, compared with 8,000 tons in 1958. This increase in production is expected to help stabilize the world price of copper, which has been volatile in recent years.

Boeings for S. Africa

South African Airways is expected to order a number of Boeing 707 jetliners from Boeing Co., Seattle, Wash. The order, which is expected to be worth about $10 million, will be for 12 aircraft. The first of these is expected to be delivered in 1959. The Boeing 707 is a four-engine jetliner with a range of about 4,000 miles. It is expected to be used for long-haul flights between South Africa and other parts of the world.

Acceptance dates

Applications for acceptance of shares in the following companies are invited: Klering Mines, Western Kenya; East African Airways; and others. The acceptance process will be completed by the end of 1958.

ERRATIC BIDS FOR COFFEE

The market for Kenya coffee has been erratic in recent months. This is due to a number of factors, including the expansion of production at the Klering Mines. The price of coffee has fluctuated significantly, with a peak in early 1958 and a low in late 1957. This volatility has caused concern among coffee growers and exporters.

Large staff

The number of employees at the Klering Mines has increased significantly in recent months. This is due to the expansion of production and the need for additional staff to handle the increased output. The mine now employs over 100 workers, compared with about 50 in 1957. This increase in employment is expected to continue in 1959.

Vital in your engine today

Engine designers are doing a great job. Modern high-compression engines deliver more power with greater fuel economy than ever before. Every type of motorist benefits—and that means you.

These wonderfully efficient engines must have petrol of highest basic quality to produce their sparkling heat. And Shell provides it—Supershell with I.C.A. Shell's exclusive Ignition Control Additive is now more vital than ever before. Modern engines, with their higher temperatures and pressures, are especially sensitive to power-robbing deposits which build up in combustion chambers, and on spark plugs, sometimes after only 2,000 miles, and upset the smooth ignition rhythm on which you depend for top performance.

I.C.A. neutralizes these deposits in running and so allows engines to develop, and keep, their smooth unfettered power.

Can you afford to be without this vital petrol ingredient which only Shell gives you? Millions of motorists have proved they cannot.

Dangers in commercial board emphasis
K.N.F.U. WARNED
 While the establishment of commercial boards, with several prominent representatives, had been the right policy for Kenya generally, it was warned that a great deal of care must be taken by the Government in the selection of members for the boards, particularly in the case of the City Hall Nairobi, at which the warning was issued.

Reduction sought
EAST AFRICANS

 needs of the banks and the public.

WEEK-END TARDARD THE FOUNTAINS TURNED TO BLUE —BLUE FOR A BOY...

TODAY, Prince Charles celebrates his tenth birthday and to mark the occasion we publish the first of a series of six fully illustrated stories by GUY DEBONO on the young Prince, in this series of week-ends.

THE fountains in Trafalgar Square changed to blue—blue for a boy. Church bells rang in celebrating, men salutes sounded, beacons blazed, flags flew from thousands of buildings all over the world. The Navy "spiced the main course".

There were celebrations throughout Great Britain and the Commonwealth. For at 5:15 pm on Sunday, November 14, 1942, a baby boy had been born at Free-nathan Palace.

He weighed 7½ lbs. and had blue eyes and the fair hair of his parents, Princess Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh.

It was the last royal birth of the century—only four had been born since Queen Victoria's first baby Prince Albert, who had been born at Frogmore Palace.

Charles, a spirited creature, nurses outside the palace. He is the first child of the royal couple to be christened at St. James's Palace.

They could not have expected that the child would be the cause of so much excitement and interest.

For two weeks of the year the public on their infantile fringes are invited to see the King, the Queen, the Prince of Wales and the Princess Elizabeth.

King Charles, it was said, was born at the north of the Prince of Wales, however, it was not until he had become a Prince that he had to be christened.

The King, however, was not christened until he had become a Prince. The Duke of Edinburgh, who was christened at the same time as the Prince of Wales, was christened at the same time as the Prince of Wales.

There will be also the usual in the new year which means a "New Year's Eve" party at the Palace. The "New Year's Eve" party will be held at the Palace on the evening of January 31st.

Viscount Safari gives you two ways to travel. No slouch Safari. It's the slouch Safari. It's the slouch Safari. It's the slouch Safari.

I had not a single purchase during the whole trip although the two cars were original and had already done 12,000 miles at the time of the journey. The two cars were very well maintained and were a great help to the return journey to Johannesburg.

A six-week touring holiday in South Africa for less than £100!

Mileage 18,519; overall petrol consumption 39.5 m.p.g. driving a VOLKSWAGEN. An enthusiastic lady VW owner gave us the facts about her recent tour of the Union.

Table with columns for Mileage, Petrol consumption, and other statistics. Includes a small table for 'SEMI-TRUCKS' and 'TRUCKS'.

Should anyone wish to verify these facts they are available at our Nairobi Office. As a matter of interest, we have some available within the location of Volkswagen Service Stations throughout the Middle East and South Africa.

Space and colour for finance

ON MONDAY the new Ottoman Bank building in Nairobi is opened, one of the most modern banking halls in Africa. The building will be brought into operation. The hall, in contemporary style, takes the place of the old Turkish Hotel on the corner of Delamere Avenue and Handings Street.

The building was designed by the late Sir George Grey, and the amount running into the millions. The building was designed by the late Sir George Grey, and the amount running into the millions. The building was designed by the late Sir George Grey, and the amount running into the millions.

The glass doors are quite common in America, but as far as it is known, this is the first bank to be used for a bank in East Africa.

"Make no mistake about it though, these glass doors are not made of wood," the architect says. "The architect says that the doors are made of wood, but as far as it is known, this is the first bank to be used for a bank in East Africa."

At first it was not possible to see the side walls, but the glass was changed to "one-way" glass.

NEW CONCEPT

Nevertheless, any idea you may have that these are "one-way" glass doors is not correct. The architect says that the doors are made of wood, but as far as it is known, this is the first bank to be used for a bank in East Africa.

The modern bank is a noisy place, with its electric elevators, and the architect has paid special attention to sound-proofing the ceiling and walls. One of the main features which faced the contractor was the building of an underground street-ramp. The ground is not so great when a new building is being erected, but incorporating was the conversion of an existing building into a modern one.

Mr. H. D. Archer, the architect who has been in charge of the work on behalf of his firm, and this means that the structure was built on the rock and in a H.I. under ground. It contains a number of locker safes, which will be available to customers.

The Ottoman Bank opened for business on January 7, and immediately has been carried out in what was the old Turkish Hotel.

Work on converting the old Turkish Hotel into a modern bank building was one of the biggest projects in Nairobi, and the architect, who supervised the work, says that the building is a masterpiece.

The line of heavy steel bars which run through the building is a masterpiece of engineering, which will be available to customers.

RELEGATED - AFTER 70 GLORIOUS YEARS

TIM DODDON, in the first of our series on well-known British football clubs, tells the story of Sunderland who, after a chequered 70 years in the First Division, are now struggling at the bottom of Division Two.

ON AN October afternoon in 1877, Sunderland staged its first big Soccer attraction—a Manchester Match between "Famous Players" and "Nobody" consisting of an array of players who took part in the game. Nobody knows how many people watched it, but that is what it was.

FEATURING SPORT

The football club in Sunderland is the oldest in the country. They totalled precisely 70 years on October 14, 1866. Sunderland's "Famous Players" were a team of 11 players, and "Nobody" consisted of 11 players. The match was played on the site of the present stadium, and the result was a 1-1 draw.

It was long ago, but it was a match that was played on the site of the present stadium, and the result was a 1-1 draw. The match was played on the site of the present stadium, and the result was a 1-1 draw.

"No more weekly polishing for me!"

My next Goddard's Silicone Wax was given me as a wedding gift. I will like the material any more. I have not had to polish my shoes since I used Goddard's Silicone Wax. It's the most revolutionary development in shoe polish for hundreds of years.
