£8 MILLION FUND FOR S.E. ASIA MAY ENCOURAGE AMERICAN DOLLAR AID

THE fund of £8 million approved by the Commonwealth Conference in Sydney as immediate aid to South and South-East Asia is very small compared with the £200 million that Britain has provided to Asia since the war has as technical aid it might be very useful, writes the Financial Editor.

It could be the spring to catch the value of dollars and for establishing economic stability in South-East Asia, the cost of which has been estimated at £20,000,000 over the next 10 years.

As to the possibility of the British Commonwealth providing the equivalent of £20,000,000 for the next 10 years, the United States Government has offered to do so for £200 million for "post-war reconstruction" in the same period.

It is pointed out that the British Commonwealth is not a single entity but a collection of 25 nations, each with its own government and its own interests.

How a Law is Made in America

FRANCIS J. MYERS, U.S. Senator from the State of Pennsylvania, explains the progress of a Bill from its beginnings to the signature of the President.

Transport Finance

A second substantial instalment of loan money to carry through a Transport Service programme of $42 millions is being made by London at the request of the Railways and Harbours Department this week. The terms—five and a half per cent at an issue price of 98½—were approved last week. But this is not an investment risk. There is some doubt as to the extent of the loan to the Transport Department.

Initial survey

It is perhaps just as well to make a preliminary survey of the proposals for the expansion of the railway and Harbours Administration in order to improve the efficiency of the transport system.

Simple beginnings

In any event, any draft bill to amend the Transport Act, 1947, may not be introduced in the House of Commons until the end of the session.

Primary purpose

The primary purpose of the bill is to provide for the expansion of the railway and Harbours Administration in order to improve the efficiency of the transport system.

'Bottling' bills

A similar question arises in connection with the 'bottling' of bills in the House of Commons.

Growth of the Overseas League

The Overseas League is a practical embodiment of an idea conceived in the mind of a young man in his twenties who had a keen enthusiasm for the British Empire and all that it stood for in the world.

Council affairs plots of 'missing owners'

The Municipal Council is beginning to action plots of land belonging to people who have disappeared and left accounts in arrears between 1941 and 1949.

Bible thought

Do not despise a man who is poor; for he may be rich in spirit. Do not despise a man who is poor; for he may be rich in spirit.

THE GOVERNOR OF BRITISH SOMALILAND REVIEWS PROTECTORATE'S PROGRESS

Steps to give Somalia more responsibility

An important review of past and progress in British Somaliland, including arrangements regarding steps to be taken to increase the share of responsibility for the conduct of affairs by the Somali people, was made at the fifth meeting of the Somaliland Protectorate Council by the Governor, Mr. Gerald Rivers.

The Protectorate Council, which was previously known as the Advisory Council, is an advisory body. The purpose of it is to stimulate the interest of the people in government and give them an opportunity of expressing their views. The members are still chosen by the government and include representatives of all sections of the community, but it is hoped in due course, to introduce the institution of a system of regular representation by elected district councillors to the Protectorate Council.

In local posts

The Governor was also in accord that very interesting progress had been made with the Protectorate Council since it was set up in 1946 and he had no doubt that it would do a great deal of good in the future. He also pointed out that the Protectorate Council is now being reorganised to give it more responsibility for the conduct of affairs in the Protectorate.

More broadcasts

Better and more regular broadcasts will be made in the future and the establishment of a radio station in the Protectorate is being considered. The Governor also mentioned that the Protectorate Council is now being reorganised to give it more responsibility for the conduct of affairs in the Protectorate.

Communion

Communion has also found its way into the Protectorate. It is now being held in the Protectorate and is being held in the Protectorate. It is now being held in the Protectorate and is being held in the Protectorate.

Foot travel advice

The new laws enacted will be operative from the beginning of the next month. It is now being held in the Protectorate and is being held in the Protectorate.

Fiscal survey

There has been much delay in the preparation of the fiscal survey for the Protectorate. It is now being held in the Protectorate and is being held in the Protectorate.

Drawing falls

Mr. Rivers pointed out that the drawing falls in the Protectorate are now being held in the Protectorate and is being held in the Protectorate.

Road repairs

The road repairs in the Protectorate are now being held in the Protectorate and is being held in the Protectorate.

'Too Old at Forty'

To the Editor, Sir—The year ago, many young men in this colony at the age of 40 are being told that they are too old to be successful in their careers...

Today, ten years later, these same men, now forty, realize that neither (a) nor (b) has been realized. For the same main reason, with truth that Britain has not been the force which the square deal is completely by its absence. Was it not inadvisable to expect that it would be the force which the square deal is completely by its absence?

European Leadership To the Editor, Sir—The year ago, many young men in this colony at the age of 40 are being told that they are too old to be successful in their careers...

What a pity! I have been waiting a long time to see you in the country, but I have not had the opportunity to do so. I am sure you will be glad to hear from me again...

INTIMATE STORY OF QUEEN MARY, WHO IS 83 TODAY

THE BEST LOVED WOMAN IN BRITAIN

Winifred Carr... She writes her letters at hand. Gets up at 7.30 a.m. and goes to bed at 10.45 p.m. She likes a good book... She is passionately fond of flowers, keeps her art treasures round her.

Only rest... Queen Mary is 83 and, as she is well known to be, she is a very active woman. She is a member of the Queen's Club and is a keen golfer. She is also a member of the Royal Horticultural Society and is a keen gardener. She is also a member of the Royal Society of Arts and is a keen collector of art treasures.

Good example... Queen Mary always has a lesson to be learned. She is a woman of many talents and has a great example to follow. She is a woman of many talents and has a great example to follow. She is a woman of many talents and has a great example to follow.

FEVERISH COLDS

As usual, the weather is causing a new crop of feverish colds. At such times there's one perfectly simple precaution well worth taking. Put a few "ASPRO" tablets in your pocket, purse or handbag, then you will have "ASPRO" on hand at any time, anywhere, for immediate use. After ingestion in the system, "ASPRO" acts as an analgesic and an antipyretic, reducing the temperature, soothing away the aching, shivery sensations. Furthermore, it does not harm the heart or stomach. And it is pure and safe because

JUNE, the month of revues, weddings and celebrations in the United States, is also the month when holidays begin for schoolchildren of the nation. Summer holidays, lasting from mid-June until November (about 12 to 14 weeks), are an exhilarating time to explore the country world.

Children spend their summer holidays in a variety of ways. Children go with their families to summer cottages at the seashore or in the mountains. High schools and college students may take hiking or bicycle trips. Some children go to camps or relatives in the farm where they help either in the fields, or do housework, the usual home farm.

Others set themselves up in business with homemade or self-made stands, but drink up most of their profits and take all their own goods. Other children go to a park near home where they participate in a planned recreation programme which may include swimming or wading, handicrafts, ball games, gymnastics, and music, under trained playground directors.

Magic time

Still other children attend daily vacation Bible Schools conducted by the Protestant churches, where they learn hymns, Bible stories, and hear about the children of other lands.

All of these activities and many more belong to the magic time of childhood's summer vacation. But probably the most thrilling vacation of all is one spent at a summer camp.

Only in one hundred years ago vacation had become a part of the American tradition. Many successful businessmen now living on the city look back with nostalgic affection to the childhood days on the farm when, as a youngster, they romped over the fields with the dog, swam in the creek, swimming, and fishing, and used the sheep's head as a target for their slingshots. They took to reading books, records, and good in everything.

Ideal holidays

Modern life, however, living in cities, has made it difficult for many parents to give their children the kind of vacation that was theirs. The city child has to go to a summer camp or to a vacation home in the country.

Summer camps usually take place in camps in special tents or tents. Each camp has its own staff of trained workers, including nurses, cooks, and campers. Campers are usually boys and girls, but some camps also take children of other lands.

Children are usually responsible for their own behavior and are given the same amount of freedom as they would have at home. They are given a lot of freedom and are given a lot of freedom and are given a lot of freedom.

These children with their summer camps are some of the 2,000,000 young Americans who will enjoy happy outdoor holidays next month.

Locations in the woods, the mountains, or on the shore of a lake. Boys and girls from 4 to 19 years of age go to camps. Camps are between 12 and 14 weeks. Each child may stay from 2 to 10 weeks at camp. Some camps are for boys and girls. A camp may accommodate as few as a dozen or more than 100 children.

All camps require a physical examination to determine to what extent children are fit to attend. Each camp must have a doctor and staff in residence. Getting a child ready for summer camp requires most of a mother's attention for several days. Each camper must have clothing—shorts, shirts, sweaters, sneakers (cross-toed shoes), tropical towel, and swimming gear.

All of these articles must be marked with his name and packed. Other children are given their own bedding, including sheets, towels, and campers. Campers may also be part of camp activities.
