TOUEN HOUSING FOR AFRICANS

'Ab-economic policy is bad'

COMMISSIONER PUTS CASE FOR FITTING THEM OWN THEIR OWN

At a report on the housing of Africans in townships and trading centres in which he advocates schemes which would provide homes to be built by Africans on leased land, or bought by them on instalment plans, the Kenya Minister for Lands and Local Government (Mr. E. A. Vasey) says that he has had a study of the housing schemes for Africans, which he has based on the sub-economic principle. Accommodation for Africans should be provided by a local government or body, or by the authorities concerned to bear an annual load on the local services which are provided parallel with the growth of the town in which the housing is provided. It is in fact, he said, to form the opinion of the sub-economic principle, which is a necessary and sound basis for the housing of Africans. He said he would not be surprised if the authorities concerned to bear an annual load on the local services which are provided parallel with the growth of the town in which the housing is provided.

MEAT MAKES YOUR CHOICE

In this article a Special Correspondent describes how the Kenya housewife, faced with a bigger bill for meat, can make use of all the various cuts—and by so doing vary the family meals while saving money.

The diagram shows the various cuts of beef, which are described in the text.

Forequarters
The forequarter consists of the neck, shoulder, and brisket. It is the most economical cut of beef, and is suitable for roasting, braising, and stewing. The neck is particularly good for making stock, and the shoulder is good for roasting. The brisket is a tough cut, but it is very economical and can be used for braising or stewing.

Hindquarters
The hindquarter consists of the rump, sirloin, and brisket. It is the most expensive cut of beef, but it is also the most tender. The rump is good for roasting, and the sirloin is good for roasting or grilling. The brisket is a tough cut, but it is very economical and can be used for braising or stewing.

Meat Muddle
The Kenya Meat Commission has announced that it will be increasing the price of meat from 10s. 6d. to 11s. 6d. per cwt. This is a 10 per cent increase, and it is expected to be implemented in the next few weeks. The Commission has explained that the increase is necessary because of the rising cost of feedstuffs and other inputs.

Standard Diary
The Standard Diary is a publication that provides information on the prices of various types of beef. It is published weekly and is available to all members of the Kenya Meat Commission. The diary is a useful tool for housewives, as it allows them to compare prices and choose the most economical cut of beef for their needs.

Kenya Youth
The Kenya Youth is a publication that provides information on the activities of the Kenya Youth League. It is published monthly and is available to all members of the league. The youth is a useful tool for young people, as it allows them to stay up-to-date on the activities of the league and to participate in its programs.

AUSTRALIA REPAYING LOAN FROM STERLING BALANCE: MONEY FOR AFRICA

AUSTRALIA'S overnight decision to repay from her huge sterling balance the £115 million 20 per cent New South Wales Loan which matures on July 1 may have wide significance. While Loan's Financial Director, Hiltner, writes that an Australian loan matured only a fraction of the amount raised in cash and the remainder has been recovered by a conversion issue.

For example, of the £125 million Australian loan only £15 million was offered for conversion into only £25 million repaid from Australia's sterling balance. For this reason the Government has had to target the unrepaid balance of £210 million and to fill the gap by Australia's stock and wheat export.

It is possible that the balance which is repaid will be used to purchase goods from the United Kingdom. This would be a most desirable arrangement as it would help to reduce the United Kingdom's balance of payments deficit.

The Government's decision to repay the loan is a significant step towards reducing the country's foreign debt. It also demonstrates the strength of Australia's sterling balance.

ING LEOPOLD IS 'VERY SATISFIED'

Catholics ahead in election

SURE OF VICTORY, THEY SAY 'THE KING WILL BE BACK'

King Leopold is "very satisfied" with the Belgian election results, a member of the Royal Household said in Geneva.

The King's principal secretary, Professor Jacques Pirenne, said he is in constant touch with the situation in Brussels, and that the King stayed up until early yesterday morning to read the results.

Yesterday's semi-official returns make them confident that Catholic leaders reaffirmed their determination to elect the King back on his five-year exile.

Catholics, who are the largest party in the old Parliament, were wholly pro-Leopold. Socialists, the chief opponents of the King, were split in their party, bitterly opposed to the King's return.

Single issue

The election was fought virtually on a single issue—the five-year exile of the King. The King had spent a year in the United States, and had been in London for a year. The election was held on the 21st of June.

The King's principal secretary, Professor Jacques Pirenne, said he is in constant touch with the situation in Brussels, and that the King stayed up until early yesterday morning to read the results.

Trade 'stifled by the cold war'

A REPORT which is to be presented to the United Nations Economic Commission for Europe by the secretary of the commission declares that increased military expenditure throughout the cold war has stifled economic progress in Europe.

The report states that the cold war has also caused an increase in military expenditure in Europe, which has led to a corresponding increase in military production. This has resulted in a diversion of resources from other sectors of the economy, leading to a general decline in economic activity.

When aid ends
The report also notes that the end of military aid to Europe would have a significant impact on the economy, particularly in the manufacturing sector. It predicts a sharp decline in industrial output and a rise in unemployment.

FAITH IN STERLING
The City Editor of the Daily Mail writes that mounting faith in the pound sterling has led to a revival in the market. He notes that investors are increasingly turning to the pound as a safe haven, particularly in light of the economic uncertainties in other parts of the world.

CONFIDENTIAL
Confidential sources have revealed that the British Government is planning to increase its military spending in the coming years. This move is seen as a response to the growing military capabilities of the Soviet Union.

SAVOLD, COOL AND CALM, IS VICTOR

Woodcock retires with terribly cut eye

Blinded with blood that streamed from a five-inch cut over his left eye, British champion Bruce Woodcock glided to a swiftest finish in the White City night with American favorite Savold on Tuesday night, to win his second triumph in the title as a sign of triumph against the rest before the first of the night.

That is what was the reason for the high tension and the almost total concentration of the British spectators who had gathered to witness the event. Along the track came from the front the American favorite Savold, who had been leading the race since the start of the race.

Let Savold's name remind the spectators of the great victory of the American in his first year, when he won the title by a narrow margin over the British favorite Woodcock.

Woodcock's eye was cut by the American's tail fin, which was in the air as he came in. The American's tail fin was in the air as he came in.

Lessons of fight

The fight proved that in short bursts Savold is a very fast runner. He was able to beat Woodcock in the first round, but he was unable to do so in the second round. This was due to the fact that Woodcock was able to keep Savold's eye closed for most of the second round.

Woodcock's eye was cut by the American's tail fin, which was in the air as he came in. The American's tail fin was in the air as he came in.

One of the worst

The English fighter Bruce Woodcock, who won the title in 1955, was one of the worst fighters in the world. He was a very slow and clumsy fighter, and he was unable to keep his eye open for most of the fight.

Woodcock's eye was cut by the American's tail fin, which was in the air as he came in. The American's tail fin was in the air as he came in.

A 50,000 crowd

An hour before the fight began, a crowd of 50,000 people gathered in the White City Stadium. The crowd was made up of people from all over the world, and it was one of the largest crowds ever seen in the stadium.

The fight was a very exciting one, and it was watched by millions of people on television. The American favorite Savold won the title, and he was hailed as a hero.

ENGLAND MAKE A POOR TEST START

But the last five wickets add 224 runs

ENGLAND made a disastrous start in the first Test match against the West Indies at Old Trafford yesterday and its innings had lost five wickets for 56 runs.

It is unusual to see a test match and retired but it later transpired that the danger had not passed the English batsmen.

There was a change from the first innings at Old Trafford, the weather turning cool and the pitch becoming a little more lively than in the first Test.

England's batting was the best they have had in a long time. The batsmen were not in the best of form and the pitch was not in the best of form.

Edrich also struck well, but was struck by the most brilliant bowler of the match, the Trinidadian, who was in the best of form.

Edrich, who took 11 wickets, was struck by the most brilliant bowler of the match, the Trinidadian, who was in the best of form.

Stockowners merge with the Farmers' Union

AMONG other subjects discussed at the meeting of the stockowners of the K.K.F.U. in Nakuru was the historical position of the K.K.F.U. and the possibility of introducing legislation to make notification of interfamily diseases notifiable. Members also decided unanimously to elect a committee to study the financial position of the K.K.F.U. and to report to the next meeting.

Satisfaction was expressed by members of the P.K.F.U. at the successful completion of the recent visit by the Ministry of Food in connection with the P.K.F.U. members. "We want to send home a lot of the proceeds of the visit," said Mr. P. G. Thomas, chairman of the P.K.F.U. "We want to send home a steady supply of members of the P.K.F.U. who will be able to help the Ministry of Food in its work, when it comes down to negotiating the ordinary market at home or abroad."

Mr. F. H. Speer, vice-president of the K.K.F.U., said that although there were a number of ways in which the P.K.F.U. could be of great assistance to the Government in its work, it was not possible to do so at present.

Must be strong

"We have to make it satisfactory," said Mr. Speer, "if we are to get the Government to do anything for the good of the whole country. The stockowners and the farmers must be strong enough to get the Government to do anything for the good of the whole country. The stockowners and the farmers must be strong enough to get the Government to do anything for the good of the whole country."

Driving ahead

"I think it would have been a great idea to have done this," said Mr. Speer, "if we had had the Government's support. The stockowners and the farmers must be strong enough to get the Government to do anything for the good of the whole country."

Big week in London for plays and films

HEARTENING news from Britain's film front, giving the go to those Oriental film-makers who for months have been maintaining the lantern over the industry.

There was a date when they set out to prove that the industry, so far from being dead, is not even dormant as has been thought by some. That date was Monday, March 26, when the first of the new crop of films was shown.

BEYOND THE JUBA RIVER
 of hundreds of things, animals, birds, insects, and plants, and the life of the mountains, and the life of the plains, and the life of the sea.

Goliath heroes
 These Goliath stars, with their white, metallic, and wondrously equipped costumes, will be seen in the most spectacular of all the films of the season.
