BRITISH CALL FOR DEFENCE VOLUNTEERS Premier Opens "Drive" For National Service

The British Government's drive for volunteers for the defence service, passive and active, was inaugurated by the Prime Minister in a broadcast speech on Monday night.

Mr. Chamberlain said that the better Britain was prepared the less likely was it that any aggression would try its adventurism in which the chances of success would be so unimprobable.

In modern war the civilians might be the first victims, and organizations to protect civilians in war time should be prepared and trained in advance.

The Government drive for volunteers for the defence service was inaugurated by the Prime Minister in a broadcast speech on Monday night.

Mr. Chamberlain's address called for special attention to the issue of the civilian population.

The Prime Minister said that the Government was determined to do all that was possible to ensure that the country would be able to meet any emergency.

A Criticism Of The New Aski Account Proposal

The announcement that with the agreement of the German Government and the support of East African East Africa, a separate ASKI Account has been opened for East Africa, has created widespread interest.

It is interesting to explain and examine in the following article the advantages (to Germany) and the disadvantages (to the East African States) of several of Germany's unorthodox trade and financial methods and points out that the success of the scheme depends on East Africa buying adequate German manufactured goods to the value of about half a million pounds a year more than they do today.

The article also quotes trade figures to show that Germany in fact already has a favourable trade balance with East Africa of practically that amount last year, and which is adequate to buy all the steel she wants and to pay for it in sterling with out an ASKI Account at all.

The announcement that Germany is prepared to purchase from East Africa larger quantities of steel and at a price exceeding the world market value—proceeds from German machinery and other goods of which she has a surplus—has been long in coming with interest not only to those who are familiar with the commercial and industrial conditions of the German Empire, but also to those who are familiar with the conditions of the East African States. It is a well-known fact that the East African States have a large surplus in German goods, and that this surplus has been increasing steadily since the outbreak of the war. It is also a well-known fact that the East African States have a large deficit in German goods, and that this deficit has been increasing steadily since the outbreak of the war.

The system of "blocked marks" is a system for use for export purposes. It is a system of "blocked marks" which is used for the purpose of controlling the export of goods from Germany. It is a system of "blocked marks" which is used for the purpose of controlling the export of goods from Germany. The situation, had it not been for the intervention of the British Government, would have been a very serious one. It is a well-known fact that the East African States have a large surplus in German goods, and that this surplus has been increasing steadily since the outbreak of the war. It is also a well-known fact that the East African States have a large deficit in German goods, and that this deficit has been increasing steadily since the outbreak of the war.

Another method by which Germany has sought to increase her trade with the East African States is by the use of "blocked marks". # GERMAN REFUGEES LEAVE FOR KENYA

Excellent Type From Farming Families In East Prussia

The first fifteen Jewish refugee settlers for Kenya, selected and financed under what is known as the Plough Settlement Scheme, are about to leave for Kenya. It is expected that the total number eventually sent by the same organisation will be about 150.

The advance guard are all young people, including three women, and the majority come from families who have been farming in East Prussia for centuries. The London Correspondent of the "East African Standard" was impressed by the exceptional type of the group.

They will be placed with Kenya farmers for a time with the ultimate object of taking over farms themselves. Many of them have been in German concentration camps. Only a few speak English.

CHANGE IN BRITISH TRADE METHODS

Commerce Says 'Use Bargaining Power Of Import Market'

Advice given the methods whereby Great Britain can meet the trade drive now being made by various countries is contained in a report of a Committee of the Association of British Chambers of Commerce and now adopted by the parent body.

The power of Britain, as the world's biggest import market, to bargain with her customers to buy a more generous share of British exports is the foundation of the argument. A specially favourable Empire trade is proposed.

United Kingdom, as the world's biggest import market, to bargain with her customers to buy a more generous share of British exports is the foundation of the argument. A specially favourable Empire trade is proposed.

As a basis for a future trade agreement, the Government should first of all revise the world market, to secure the terms of volume, and to determine an objective basis for policy.

Such a review undertaken now would give an insight into the world market and concrete bases for their work.

The aim is to secure the United Kingdom the interests of the world peace and the interests of the world economy.

"This approach to the problem," the report says, "is based on each individual case and on the general policy which we should adopt in connection with the various countries with which we are engaged in trade."

The Association involves the necessary steps for the revision of the world market, particularly in connection with the various countries with which we are engaged in trade.

What is necessary could be done in a few stages, and after a time a more complete revision of the world market could be undertaken.

Professors For Empire It is urged that the Government should abstain from withdrawing from the world market, and that it should continue to be active in the world market.

HITLER'S NEW DRIVE FOR COLONIES

Alleged Bargain To Give Poland Share For Help In Ukraine

A remarkable story that Germany is planning to share Colonial gains (if any) with Poland and will back Poland's claims for expansion areas covered in made by the Diplomatic Correspondent of the 'Sunday Dispatch' and supported in some way similar terms by reports in other newspapers.

It is stated that Hitler is most anxious to achieve in 1936 a redistribution of colonies and may suggest a Conference on Italian terms. It is argued that his promises to support Polish claims would be to return for a free hand in Ukraine.

Union's Prospects For 1938 WORSE THAN LAST YEAR BUT ABOVE 1936

The property of the Union is dependent to a fairly large degree upon external economic conditions, says a 1938 Year Forecast just issued by the Commissioner for the Union in British East Africa.

Aspet from the adverse effects produced by the failure of world commodity prices to recover and the political conditions of the failure of the American situation have exerted a detrimental effect upon the South African export industries (other than gold mining) during 1937.

According to the Census employment figures for the year 1937, the industry has been falling steadily. The number of employees in August last was 4,100, which was 27 per cent below the 1937 average.

Experts, except Gold, Labour, 1938, are, for the last month, 20.3 per cent lower in value than those of the corresponding month of 1937 (gold excluded). In this respect also it seems likely that the Union will see an improvement in world prices of commodities.

Imports have also responded to the pressure of conditions and during the last seven months have been 17 per cent lower in value than those of the corresponding period of last year. If the present conditions in the world of imports give rise to some relaxation in 1938 an improvement in the volume of imports is difficult to envisage a return to the level of 1937.

Pandemonium At Farr Vs. Burman Bout

STANDARD CORRESPONDENT
London.
In general American fight audiences are not given to boosing with enough vigour to cause the roof, when a local boy gives the verdict—especially when his rival is a "foreign" boxer. Nor do they cheer the loser and refuse to stop until well into the second round of the next bout.
This and more, happened when Tommy Farr (Irish) champion and British heavyweight contender, fought Leo Foranville, his leader on points on January 13 by Clarence "Red" Barry over 10 rounds, at Madison Square Garden, New York. Despite this being his 17th successive losing fight, Farr achieved an outstanding triumph on points.
Burman had the better of the early rounds, but Farr still taking the effect of a heavy cold finished magnificently. Over his longer distance there would have been no doubt about Farr's success.
Burman was announced the winner and one of the most terrific outbreaks of boosing heard in the Garden for a long time. Farr led the ring to the accompaniment of cheers that nearly gave the promoter "the wind" and the referee checked in appreciation of his game-ness.
Five defeats in five fights in America have not diminished his popularity with American and Irish alike in the manner of his applause is almost without precedent at the best masters of the ring. No British heavyweight has ever had such a reception.
When the announcer gave the decision Farr almost collapsed. He smiled and took the protest in good part.
When Mike Jacobs, the promoter, said all the big lights in the United States are watching whether he would give Farr any more fights, he replied: "You bet I will!"

What The Judge Thought
The referee, Patsy Hurley, considered a draw the right verdict, but the judge decided in Burman's favour. Patsy Hurley gave the verdict to Burman, four to Farr and one draw. Eddie Fothergill gave six to Burman, three to Farr and one draw.
In his dressing room Farr, looking somewhat dejected, said he would like to smile, receive congratulations from many people and go home. One noted sports writer said to Farr: "Well, boy, that's your own fault."
Frank Jacobs, manager of Kid Barry, declared it was his best section in all his years in boxing.
Farr's manager, Gene Gold, stated: "I'm going to stick the Commission to reverse the decision. They ought to, they've done it before."
Although it did not contain of anything that Farr said, I did not think Burman got a single round.

Farr, at his 14th, weighed 161 lb, 4th more than Burman. He also had advantage in height of 3 inches measuring 6ft. 11in. to Burman's 5ft. 10in. Farr was favourite at 2 to 1.
A raging hazard, second only to the big show of November 28 at the attendance list. There were only 976 spectators who paid about £2,600.

Farr's Record in U.S.A.
Hepp a Farr's record in U.S.A. in the United States—
Joe Louis over 13 rounds (world record) on 1937-1938 on points.
January 21, 1936—lost on points to Joe Louis over 10 rounds.
March 11, 1935—lost on points to Max Baer, over 15 rounds.
December 18, 1935—lost on points to Leo Nova, over 15 rounds.
January 18, 1935—lost on points to Clarence Burman, over 10 rounds.
Farr may possibly meet "Doc" Ziegler Gable, one of the leading contenders for the world's heavyweight boxing title at Madison Square Garden, early in March.

 Review by "The Times":
 "White Man's Country" is an interesting and remarkable book. It has in reality two subjects, as the author Lord Delamere and the Making of Kenya explains. In part it is a picture and a biography of an exceptional man, in part it is the history of a country and a story of a British settlement. Mrs. Huxley was right to interview that to write of one witness the other would be almost impossible. We have read a long time for a book of this sort.

MOTURING AND AVIATION SECTION

CORRESPONDENCE

From London To The Cape In A Wolsley

To the Motoring Editor, "E. A. Standard."

Sir—With reference to the note on our trans-Africa Wolsley in the Motoring Section of your issue, dated January 14, you might be interested to know that our run was planned with the same meticulous attention to detail as will be given to the Transatlantic States which you mention.

In choosing our date of departure from England we had to synchronize a full moon with the sailing date of a fast steamer across the Mediterranean, with the cessation of rains in French Equatorial Africa, and many other factors. Up to the very moment of leaving England we were kept supplied with weather reports from every section of our African continent as far as possible.

What we should have said was that we started our run before the English coast was established by the technique of first sailing from a tanker aircraft. The early months of this year will see similar runs over the actual routes to be followed by the Persone above-mentioned.

By making full use of the data furnished on our run in the Boys before in 1937, we planned our time at every point on our route by day and by accuracy, thanks to the absolute reliability of the Wolsley, that at Port Elizabeth in French Equatorial Africa—more than 10,000 miles from London—we were exactly two minutes ahead of the timetable.

THE IMPROVEMENT IN TECHNIQUE still holds good. The fact that British firms and individuals

The Trans Atlantic Air-Mail

THE provisional date for the inauguration of this year's experimental air mail service between England, Mauritius and New York is June 1.

Aircraft employed will be the four-motored Short "Empire" boats with structure strengthened to carry heavier loads than the standard model and equipped with mechanism for fueling in mid-air.

Work is going rapidly ahead on the new aerodrome at Exinia near the mouth of the River Shannon and the Ryanna sea plane base. A take-off strip 1,200 yards long may now be used by heavily loaded aeroplanes. Draining the land is proceeding and the whole of the aerodrome surface may be fit for use before the end of May.

Experiments are being carried during the next three months on the technique of first sailing from a tanker aircraft. The early months of this year will see similar runs over the actual routes to be followed by the Persone above-mentioned.

Air Power on the Sea

THE NAVY'S NEW AIR-CRAFT CARRIERS

VITAL needs of Empire for defence and the safety of the world-wide network of British sea routes are reflected in the Admiralty's new drive to augment the striking power of the Fleet Air Arm. Official call is made for a thousand men who will begin service as air mechanics in the Royal Navy. At the end of four years Fleet Air Arm personnel with number about 10,000 officers and men.

The new aircraft carrier "Ark Royal" will join the "Hood" Fleet in the Spring Creek this year, and five 23,000-ton destroyers are authorized for construction. Six other carriers are being constructed and one is under construction and one is under construction.

ship warfare designed exclusively for naval air service, and the lessons learned will go to benefit the succeeding craft now in construction. These are the "Illustrious", "Formidable", and the "Indomitable", all ships of 23,000 tons, and the "Ark Royal", 22,000 tons. Construction for the sixth new carrier has not yet started.

The new ships possess outstanding mobility and will provide means of protection at short notice for the farthest and most isolated territories within the Empire. Their presence in Britain's Fleet Air Arm means that during a night which a force of 1,000 highly trained fighting men could be moved round the world in 48 hours.

Stray Thoughts About MOTORING

THE OTHER WEEK I observed a motorist who had just returned from the world's first motor race, his eyes were shining and his cheeks were flushed. He was wearing a hat and a coat, and he was looking at the camera with a smile.

I SHALL HAVE MORE to say about Mr. Lewis' travel post work. I certainly feel that the motorist who is not only a good driver but also a good motorist, is one of the most advanced stages to be reached in this or any other motor sport.

THE OTHER DAY THAT one of the modern, the steering column, which is a great improvement on the old-fashioned steering wheel, and which is a great improvement on the old-fashioned steering wheel.

A GOOD DEAL HAS BEEN written about bad and discouraging news in these columns. It is time to turn to any news at all, and to the fact that the motorist who is not only a good driver but also a good motorist, is one of the most advanced stages to be reached in this or any other motor sport.

WHILE ON THE SUBJECT of the road, I may say that the motorist who is not only a good driver but also a good motorist, is one of the most advanced stages to be reached in this or any other motor sport.

WHILE ON THE SUBJECT of the road, I may say that the motorist who is not only a good driver but also a good motorist, is one of the most advanced stages to be reached in this or any other motor sport.

THE OTHER WEEK I observed a motorist who had just returned from the world's first motor race, his eyes were shining and his cheeks were flushed. He was wearing a hat and a coat, and he was looking at the camera with a smile.

I SHALL HAVE MORE to say about Mr. Lewis' travel post work. I certainly feel that the motorist who is not only a good driver but also a good motorist, is one of the most advanced stages to be reached in this or any other motor sport.

Keeping Together

THE urgency of a common front especially where it involves the future of ever-so-called 'settling' very directly is an excellent thing for bringing people together to happen to be the case with the Tanganyika question which before it is not one that can be left to somebody else to handle. It is a single Territory which is dealing with it alone in regard of people unable on our part to do anything. We can remember no other responsibility or problem in the history of East Africa since the war which was so important as the one which is now before us. It is an important question, one which is so important as the one which is now before us. It is an important question, one which is so important as the one which is now before us.

While every form of assistance to a movement now well established in London and Berlin is always welcome, the opinion should not be expressed in India or elsewhere that the Government of India is in any way less inclined to support any part of East African independence than any other responsible authorities in Britain. The facts of the case or of the policy in principle the East African Government has adopted have been given its support to the first and main object of the Tanganyika League, namely, to secure the future of the Territory within the British Empire and the East African Commonwealth. It is not as if it has given its support to the East African League and draws its strength from the determination to secure the future of the Territory within the British Empire and the East African Commonwealth.

The future has, therefore, to be most carefully planned and safeguarded, and external influences should be kept to a minimum. It is a matter of course that the East African Government should be able to play its full part in the future of the Territory. It is a matter of course that the East African Government should be able to play its full part in the future of the Territory. It is a matter of course that the East African Government should be able to play its full part in the future of the Territory.

This is an East African task and the present Convention in Nairobi should clear the way before it concludes how the East African Government should be able to play its full part in the future of the Territory. It is a matter of course that the East African Government should be able to play its full part in the future of the Territory. It is a matter of course that the East African Government should be able to play its full part in the future of the Territory.

MONDAY, JANUARY 23, 1939. National Service Scheme For All Tanganyika Races

Tanganyika is to have National Service. This important announcement was made by the Governor, His Excellency, Sir Mark Young, today.

A Voluntary Service Register is to be opened throughout Tanganyika on the lines of the scheme in Great Britain.

In addition to the call to service addressed to young men, members of the King's African Rifles Reserve and the Royal Officers, Aircrew, ground staff and Special Constables, the scheme will include doctors, nurses and Air Wardens.

The registration form fills, in the event of their services being needed, what the volunteers could undertake to do and how long notice would be required.

The appeal is addressed to all men and women, irrespective of race.

His Excellency the Governor, in a foreword, says the appeal emphasises the obligation resting on the whole community to be ready for national service.

"Herewith it is to be normal state of affairs in this country that the Government shall know what are its resources of man-power, and shall be able to prepare not for particular crisis but for every variety of difficulty in which it may wish to use those resources."

The Governor adds that it is of real importance to lose no time in acting upon this obligation.

In addition to Brititarians, it is already known that foreigners are registering.

Sir Ali Bin Salim Gives Country Home To The Navy

Sir Ali Bin Salim has presented to the Navy his beautiful country estate at Mombasa, Pelelea, which he has lavished much care and attention.

The group of buildings on the estate, which will now be the headquarters of the Navy in East Africa, is a familiar landmark to everyone entering the port from the open sea.

The Governor of Kenya, His Excellency Air Chief Marshal Sir Robert Brooke-Popham, accepted the gift on behalf of the Naval authorities at a formal handing-over ceremony.

Sir Ali, wearing the uniform of a Colonel of the Royal Naval Volunteer Reserve and his medals and decorations, received the King and the Queen, who were accompanied by their children. The children were seen to be very pleased with the gift.

Sir Ali briefly addressed the King and the Queen. He expressed his appreciation for the gift, which he said he had made to commemorate his service to the Navy. He also thanked the King and the Queen for their visit to the estate and for their interest in the welfare of the Navy.

"Lamu Not Dead" LESSON OF EXPORT FIGURES AND Public Work

MR. JOHN NORTLINGER AT TAVETA GOVERNOR

Lamu trade has not died, as it is shown by the figures in this report. It is the result of a long and difficult process, which has involved the study of reports from various sources.

The figures show that the trade has been increasing steadily since the beginning of the year. This is due to a number of factors, including improved infrastructure and better management.

The figures also show that the trade has been diversified, with a growing number of goods being exported. This is a positive sign for the future of the region.
