Complaints on three issues

WORKING HOURS, LIVING COSTS AND WHITLEY COUNCIL

RELATIONS between the Civil Service and the Kenya Government have been broken down on three issues, according to Mr. C. G. Whitley, Vice-President of the European Civil Servants Association. He told a public meeting in Nairobi on Thursday last that the income cost of living allowances, Whitley's decision to resign and the proposed increase of hours, were the main points of contention.

Whitley said he had been called primarily to protest against the decision to extend office hours by one hour without the intervention of the Secretary of State for the Colonies, Mr. Oliver Lytton. On the ground that relations between the Government and the Civil Service have deteriorated to such an extent that normal methods of negotiation are not possible.

The initial draft of the resolution also included a proposal that the Secretary of State should direct the Government to restore normal office hours, but this was defeated when put to the vote. The resolution was then amended to read: "The Secretary of State for the Colonies should direct the Government to restore normal office hours." It is understood that both Associations will continue to work together.

Mr. Whitley said: "We have been able to work together in the past but we have now become so divided on these three issues that we cannot continue to work together." He said the Whitley Council had been formed to discuss the issues and to act as a platform for the expression of opinion.

He said the Whitley Council had been formed to discuss the issues and to act as a platform for the expression of opinion. INTERNATIONAL RUGBY RECORD

South Africa trounce Scotland 44-0

SOUTH AFRICA beat Scotland by 44 points to nil at Murrayfield, Edinburgh, on Saturday in the greatest victory ever recorded in a recognised international rugby match. Scoring seven goals, two tries and a dropped goal the South Africans also recorded the highest score ever made by a South African team in Britain—the 44-point victory of the 1906 team over Northampton.

South Africa on Saturday were stupendous. Beldon cast an inspirational side play and leadership by inspiring his team to a magnificent performance. LITTLE CLUBS FARE BADLY IN THE CUP

League leaders retain their positions

MID-SOUND teams, which imposed a specially heavy strain on their stamina, were not to the liking of most of the 17 minor clubs who tried their strength against Football League teams in Saturday's F.A. Cup first-round cup-ties.

Among them only Leighton, the London amateur club, who do not even have a Sharnbury Town, managed to take their place in the second round.

While the Division III clubs were almost all out of the game, the Division II clubs were more successful. The Division II clubs were more successful. The Division II clubs were more successful. The Division II clubs were more successful.

Locke's 70 can be Muthaiga record

Day of mixed putting in last match

AFTER leading for five holes in torrential rain at Muthaiga on Saturday afternoon, Bobby Locke's leading position returned a card of 70 for the final game of his today's exhibition tour of East Africa. This score equals that returned by K. Hoan last year, but as none of the greens have been altered since then Locke's score can stand as a club record. Standard Score for the course is 72.

EGYPTIAN POLICE IN CONTROL

Take over Ismailia from British

EGYPTIAN police were yesterday once again in control of Ismailia, the Suez Canal trouble centre from which the last British Service families were evacuated during the weekend.

At the last Royal Air Force Officers were removing their belongings from their headquarters, a plane was being used out of a dark sky and a bomb at the building. A few minutes later a man and a woman were seen to be running and a shot was fired. The British were seen to be running away from the building.

STRIKING FACTS ON PRODUCTION

Statistics reveal trends in Kenya

THE current state of the British Empire, as shown by the Statistical Department there, would probably outrange and surpass in striking account. Of these more will be said in our future dealing in plain statements of record, those about production are of especial interest.

Such facts as the extra 1000 bales of cotton produced by Kenya farmers and the bigger production of beef show the development of the country, which is not only an importer of mutton and lamb products, but also a producer of sheep production reflects the more profitable state of the "good wool" market.

The average price of Kenya wool in 1944 was £11.20, against £10.10 in 1943, and in 1945 it is now £12.00, while in 1944 it was £10.10, and in 1945 it is £11.00. This is a rise of 10 per cent in 1945 over 1944, and a rise of 19 per cent over 1943.

There are other statistics, but the present state of the Empire, as shown by the Statistical Department, is a picture of a country which is not only a producer of raw materials, but also a producer of finished goods.

EUROPEAN EXPERTS SAY INFLATION CAN BE CONTROLLED

INFLATION, the persistent feature of economic life in Europe, can be controlled, according to the findings of a study published by the European Economic Community. The study, which is contained in the annual report of the Organisation for Economic Co-operation and Development, was presented at a meeting in the Brussels Assembly last week.

The study, which was prepared by a group of experts from the Organisation for Economic Co-operation and Development, states that inflation can be controlled by a combination of measures, including a reduction in government spending, a reduction in the money supply, and a reduction in the growth rate of the economy.

The study also states that inflation can be controlled by a combination of measures, including a reduction in government spending, a reduction in the money supply, and a reduction in the growth rate of the economy.

BRITAIN PUTS THE BRAKE ON HELP FOR UNDERDEVELOPED COUNTRIES

LONDON, November 19.—The British Government today announced that it will not be able to continue to provide financial assistance to underdeveloped countries at the present rate. The announcement is a significant step towards a more realistic approach to the problem of international aid.

The British Government's decision is based on the fact that the total amount of aid available to underdeveloped countries in 1953 is expected to be only £1,000 million, compared with £1,500 million in 1952. This is due to a combination of factors, including a reduction in the amount of aid available to the United Kingdom and a corresponding increase in the amount of aid available to other countries.

The British Government's decision is also a reflection of the fact that the United Kingdom is now a net importer of goods from underdeveloped countries. This is due to the fact that the United Kingdom's economy is now more dependent on imports from these countries than it was in the past.

EUROPEAN STATES PONDER THE FEDERATION ISSUE Britain blamed: America asked to help

THE meeting at Strasbourg between representatives of the 12 American States and members of the Council of Europe has interrupted the quiet before which Britain is being arranged in the vision of independence and reform in India. EXPANDING AFRICA'S RAILWAYS

Rhodesian view of Commonwealth defence

The history of Africa's two major railway systems is of immense importance not only to the development of Africa, but also to the defence of the Commonwealth, says the Hon. Roy Welensky, Minister of the Colonies, Rhodesia Legislature, in an article in the Rhodesian Mining Journal.

A Cape-Cairo railway was the dream and ambition of English-headed Cecil John Rhodes. It was to be the backbone of the British Empire in Africa. It was to be the link between the Cape and the Nile, between the sea and the desert, between the East and the West. It was to be the great artery of the African continent.
