CONCERN IN THE COMMONS ABOUT JAPAN AND THE AFRICAN MARKET

CONCERN at the possibility of Japan once again utilizing African raw materials from Lushan producers was expressed by members of the House of Commons during the debate on the Japanese trade treaty.

The debate, which was held in the House of Commons on December 1, 1954, was presided over by the Prime Minister, Mr. Winston Churchill.

The Prime Minister stated that the Japanese trade treaty, which was signed in London on October 1, 1954, was a landmark event in the history of international trade. He stated that the treaty would open up new markets for British goods and services in Japan and would also provide for the importation of Japanese goods into the United Kingdom.

However, several members of the House of Commons expressed concern about the possibility of Japan once again utilizing African raw materials from Lushan producers. They stated that this would be a serious threat to the interests of African producers and would also be a serious threat to the interests of the United Kingdom.

The Prime Minister responded to these concerns by stating that the Japanese trade treaty did not contain any provisions that would allow Japan to utilize African raw materials from Lushan producers. He stated that the treaty would only allow Japan to import raw materials from the United Kingdom and other countries that were members of the British Commonwealth.

The debate continued for several hours, with members of the House of Commons expressing their views on the Japanese trade treaty and the possibility of Japan utilizing African raw materials from Lushan producers.

It was suggested that the Government should take steps to ensure that the Japanese trade treaty did not contain any provisions that would allow Japan to utilize African raw materials from Lushan producers. It was also suggested that the Government should take steps to ensure that the Japanese trade treaty would not be a serious threat to the interests of African producers and the interests of the United Kingdom.

The Prime Minister stated that the Government would take steps to ensure that the Japanese trade treaty did not contain any provisions that would allow Japan to utilize African raw materials from Lushan producers. He stated that the Government would also take steps to ensure that the Japanese trade treaty would not be a serious threat to the interests of African producers and the interests of the United Kingdom.

The debate concluded with the Prime Minister stating that the Japanese trade treaty was a landmark event in the history of international trade and that the Government would take steps to ensure that the treaty would not be a serious threat to the interests of African producers and the interests of the United Kingdom.

AMERICAN INTEREST IN EUROPEAN UNION

Pressure at Strasbourg talks

From ALASTAIR BUCHANAN

During the first and a half years since the war, the American public has shown a consistent interest in schemes both for unifying the federating States and for an Atlantic Union which would formally link the United States with the countries of Western Europe.

The public and political opinion in this country has been very active in this regard. The American people have shown a strong interest in the European Union and have supported various schemes for its creation.

AUSTRALIA WIN SECOND TEST

Goddard's great fight of no avail

SHORTLY after the tea interval at Sydney yesterday Australia won the second match in the present Test series with the West Indians when Lindsay Hassett, the Australian captain, led a four-of-100-over team to the winning run. Australia also won the first match in the series.

Foundation of Australia's victory was laid by Hassett and Keith Miller with a record four-wicket partnership of 235 in the first innings, but it was the second day's play that was the real key to the victory. The captain's batting form had been the main reason for the West Indians' success in the first two days. Hassett's innings of 100 in the second day was the turning point. He was supported by Miller who scored 50. The West Indians were bowled out for 117 in the second innings. Hassett's 100 was a masterpiece. He was not out for 100 in the second day. KENYA GIRLS COMPARE FAVOURABLY WITH OTHERS

WOMEN'S CLUBS, COMPARING THE inadaptability of leaving European children here, in the care of African women, as stressed by Dr. May Haines, of Nairobi, speaking at the national meeting of the Kenya branch of the Royal African Women's League last Friday.

She pointed out that after the first six months of training, the girls are placed in a standard of living and conditions which are far from ideal, as contrasted with the African children, who are placed in the homes of their own people, and are thus able to acquire a standard of living which is not only more comfortable, but also more in keeping with the African way of life.

On the other hand, she stated that European children find the life generally less pleasant, and that their parents are often unable to afford the cost of their maintenance, which is often very high. She also pointed out that the African children are often able to acquire a standard of living which is not only more comfortable, but also more in keeping with the African way of life.

On the other hand, she stated that European children find the life generally less pleasant, and that their parents are often unable to afford the cost of their maintenance, which is often very high. She also pointed out that the African children are often able to acquire a standard of living which is not only more comfortable, but also more in keeping with the African way of life.

Kenya girls

Kenya girls, under strict supervision from London, should be able to do a great deal of good in their own country, she stated. She also pointed out that the African children are often able to acquire a standard of living which is not only more comfortable, but also more in keeping with the African way of life.

Meat

Mr. Anderson read a letter from the Chairman of the Kenya Meat Commission, which advised that the meat supply in Kenya is expected to be adequate for the coming year. He also pointed out that the African children are often able to acquire a standard of living which is not only more comfortable, but also more in keeping with the African way of life.

Political arena is calmer than for two years

WINSTON CHURCHILL'S Government has had to make its first major speech in the House. It is the first time since the outbreak of the war that the Government has had to make a major speech in the House. The speech was made by Mr. Churchill, who is now the Prime Minister of the United Kingdom.

Two rebels

Mark Haines in London after the outbreak of the war. He is now a member of the House of Commons. He is one of the few members of the House who have remained in the House since the outbreak of the war. He is a member of the Conservative Party.

London comment on Waverley incident

The Waverley incident has caused a great deal of comment in London. It is a case of a ship being seized by the British authorities. The ship was carrying a large quantity of goods. The British authorities claimed that the goods were contraband. The ship's captain denied this claim.

Whisky

The whisky industry in Scotland is facing a difficult time. The demand for whisky has fallen sharply since the outbreak of the war. The industry is trying to find ways to increase its sales. One way is to produce lower quality whisky. Another way is to reduce the price of whisky.

A new classic

A new classic film has been produced. It is a story of a man who is in love with a woman. The man is a doctor and the woman is a nurse. They are both in London. The film is a very good one. It is a classic in the true sense of the word.

Editorial

The Government has a duty to protect the interests of the people. It must do this in a fair and just manner. It must not be influenced by special interests. It must be guided by the principles of justice and equity. This is the duty of every government.
