HAIN AND BROWN AT LINDWA

A LADY ADVENTURE.

London, October 11. Last night I had an article in the paper which says that the 1923 and 1924 have been some very dry years in the history of the British Isles...

The fact was that I had written the article for the paper in the month of June or July, and I had not then any inkling of the fact that the 1923 and 1924 have been some very dry years...

My article was a very long one, and I had written it in the month of June or July, and I had not then any inkling of the fact that the 1923 and 1924 have been some very dry years...

The debate in the Legislative Council on the engagement of private attorneys to serve the purposes of a useful guide to the sub-committee of the Nairobi Municipal Council appointed to consider the Council's attitude to public power commission may be regarded as an official endorsement of the principle of the development of private enterprise here is a valuable and significant fact, and it must weigh heavily with the Municipality. The possible introduction of such a power commission is a matter of primary date which seems to be in accord largely in the Town Council's attitude on this matter as an industrial factor, and the fact that successful production of light and power is by no means an unobtainable success elsewhere seems to be an asset. We trust these points will be given full weight by the Council members and though we do not fail to see the force of the Town Clerk's warning against signing away the freedom of those that the Town will have to take care of, we very earnestly hope that the Committee that is to enquire and report, will take into prominent consideration the eminent desirability of giving private enterprise a chance, and of an early improvement in the present lighting arrangements of the Town. Nine years of the present lighting is a heavy price, outside the contract, to pay for freedom at its close to make a hurried decision. The difficulties obstructing a satisfactory solution of the whole matter are by no means insurmountable, and provided the consideration is undertaken in a calm, open, unprejudiced manner we are convinced that an entirely right solution is in the works. We favour full discussion and look for a dissenting vote.

AGRICULTURAL PURSUITS.
Essay Competition for Kenya Settlers
FOUR PRIZES TO BE GIVEN.

DAIRYING COMPETITION INCLUDED.
The "EAST AFRICAN STANDARD" offers a prize of £500 for the best essays not exceeding 8,000 words on any subject important to Agriculturists in this Colony.

The prizes will be awarded as follows:
For AGRICULTURAL SUBJECTS
(1) £200.
(2) £100.
For PASTORAL SUBJECTS
(1) £200.

In considering the award no preference will be given to any particular aspect and the questions should not be understood to preclude the possibility of an essay on the elementary side of the general subject being given a higher award than one of a technical or scientific aspect of the question.

The competition is intended to obtain information of value on agricultural subjects and results will not be based on literary style. The essays should be sent clearly marked "Essay" on the envelope and sent to the "East African Standard" Office, on or before October 31, 1926, at 35 Upper Avenue, Nairobi, on or before October 31, 1926.

The article should not be signed but a card giving the competitors' names and details will be enclosed in a separate sealed envelope.
The Director of Agriculture assisted by the "East African Standard" is earnestly commended to act as a judge in the "East African Standard" will publish the names of the winners and reserve the right to publish any or all parts of the essays and in the name of the author will be published unless a request is received to the contrary.

There is no objection to a competition submitting essays on more than one subject if desired. Officers of the Department of Agriculture are not permitted to compete.
The "East African Standard" hopes that the essays will give results of experience of farming in Kenya and that they will contain suggestions and hints on local conditions which may be valuable both to the beginner and to the more experienced farmer. If this hope is carried out the "East African Standard" believes that such a series of articles will, when published, be of inestimable benefit and confer a signal service on the agricultural development of this Colony.

A NIGHT IN THE BUSH.
WHEN MEN SLEEP.
Hearing that a native path through the bush some ten miles from Nairobi, I went to see it by a party of three boys and a few lanterns. I crossed a plain to get to a tree containing a good view of the path. It was a rocky and most comfortable place, approximately 7 feet by 4 feet in dimensions and a good light of the sun shone down on the path which was covered by a layer of three inches and a few lanterns. As the sun sank the moon rose behind us (for my boy was with me), and the darkness of our blanket upon the path which wiggled in waves down the centre of a grassy road. The cutting of sun across the path was the first sound of the night. The darkness of our blanket upon the path which wiggled in waves down the centre of a grassy road. ### DIVERGENT UNOFFICIAL VIEWS

SYMPATHY FROM GOVERNMENT

In the Legislative Council yesterday Lord Delamere moved that the Income Tax (Amendment) Bill, 1922 be rejected.

He thought that now that the war had ended it was essential that the Income Tax should be revised and that the Government should have a right to have the Income Tax Department at the present time. He thought that the Government should have a right to have the Income Tax Department at the present time.

He thought that the Government should have a right to have the Income Tax Department at the present time.

The Hon. Secretary of State for the Colonies said that he was glad to see that the Government was so anxious to have the Income Tax Department at the present time.

He thought that the Government should have a right to have the Income Tax Department at the present time.
