S. Africa offers Rhodesia more men

As the Rhodesian Prime Minister, Mr. Smith, appealed at the weekend for racial tolerance and resistance to extremism in the right-wing Rhodesian town of Gwelo, South Africa's Commissioner of Police Gen. Johannes Keesy promised "all the help Rhodesia needs" to combat insurgents from the north. Gen. Keesy promised police, equipment and materials, including helicopters and armoured vehicles. He also asked for reinforcements for the South African contingent which has been in Rhodesia since last year.

'No good being weak'

In Gwelo, Mr. Smith said he is strong right-winger, and it is no good being weak in this world. Nevertheless, he has enough sense to realize that the way out must mean more peace and civility to blacks.

"These are people who make it in this, but the majority of these people are more birds of passage who have rarely a stake in the country and people who, if things go wrong, can pack their bags and leave tomorrow."

TENNIS

Miss Wade brilliant but temperamental

Virginia Wade, the British Wimbledon Cup player, was to take to the court by the comparatively unknown German girl, Kirsten Seifried, before winning the final of the women's singles event in the maiden international tennis tournament which ended on Saturday at Nairobi Club. Miss Wade played some brilliant tennis but was very temperamental. She continually cried during the match, which upset her play in the first set against Miss Seifried.

Alan Stone, of Australia, who won the men's singles title on Saturday, also showed his dissatisfaction with the line judging during the court after losing a service game. In straight sets, Croder was not at all bothered by Seifried's little anger to Sir Swire's strongly-attended service deep forward drive, which were followed by hitting volleys from the net.

However, the Standard fought well and the men's doubles towards the end of the match. Seifried landed her shots which she was not allowed to play.

Stone broke through in the sixth game but Seifried's partner, the Australian, who had his hand on the wrist in the fourth and took the set 6-1 in "lamey" play.

Alan Stone got an early break in the second set to lead 4-0 before the Australian broke back to 4-2 on an early service. However, the Australian broke back to 4-2 on an early service. However, the Australian broke back to 4-2 on an early service.

Alan Stone, of Australia, who won the men's singles title in the international tennis tournament which ended at Nairobi Club on Saturday.

WORLD RAIN HITS TEST

Rain cast a glooding hand on the crucial fifth cricket Test between England and the West Indies at Georgetown on Saturday, after a drizzling third day's play to only 182 minutes.

Between delays for drizzle, Geoff Boycott and Colin Cowdrey, who had their second-act stand for the first time since the start of the match, had to play with three days left to play. The match was interrupted for some time on 11 rainings on the first day and the players obtained no rest. Test cricket as he reached 93 not out. Cowdrey, however, observed that to produce his best in the career, the best time to play for was in the last 100 minutes.

England broke and had a poor first innings as well as the best on the field, and a great performance by the bowlers on Friday and the rain on Saturday had given the team a great chance of a first innings lead. The rain did not help the cause.

The West Indies looked well set for a first innings lead. The West Indies looked well set for a first innings lead. The West Indies looked well set for a first innings lead.

BREAK THROUGH

with a NEOPOST FRANKING MACHINE

Advantages of the Neopost System
Stamps can be used. Neopost impressions do not exist until produced by the machine, and they are then non-negotiable. Any amount in the value range of the machine can be instantly set and printed; there is no need, as with stamps, to forecast the varying quantities of different values required. Automatic control of expenditure is insured by duplicate record cards. Franking takes only a fraction of the time required to choose, tear off, position and affix stamps. An interchangeable advertisement or return address can be printed simultaneously with the frank impression.

For as little as $15.25 per day you can lease his Neopost Franking Machine. Several models available. Write for Brochure and price details.

M.P.s told of inquiry into Engoshura Farm

The Government's determination to ensure that lawbreakers would not be tolerated and that farmers could cultivate their land without illegal interference by anyone was stressed by the Kenya Rift Development Assembly yesterday by the Minister, Mr. Angare and Secretary, Mr. Makau.

He was making a statement to the House after his investigation into the Engoshura farm near Taita. The farm, now owned by the Kenya Rift Development Authority, was reported as having been taken over by the Government in 1965.

Mr. Angare said that he was surprised to find that the problem with the provincial administration, the management of Engoshura Farm and the representatives of the Rift Valley referred to as "free domain fighters".

"There is no doubt that the Government has been negotiating for the sale of the farm for the past two or three months and that Ndele Ltd. have been interested for the past two or three months, but only recently appear to have had sufficient financial support to buy the farm in the Rift Valley, the owners of the farm have entered into agreement."

Kanu M.P.s seek longer airing for Bill

Some Kanu M.P.s expressed a procedural motion which asked the Hon. the Minister for Lands, Mr. M. Ndiritu, (Kisumu, Nairobi) to allow the Bill to be discussed for a longer period than the 10 days that he had allowed.

Mr. Ndiritu said that the Bill would be discussed for 10 days, but that the House could discuss it for 14 days if that was the wish of the members.

Mr. Ndiritu said that the Bill would be discussed for 10 days, but that the House could discuss it for 14 days if that was the wish of the members.

PROPOSALS FOR AGRICULTURAL DEVELOPMENT

Mr. J. N. Kibuka (Kisumu, Nairobi) said that he was disappointed to find that the Government had not made any provision for agricultural development in the Rift Valley.

Bird's eye view of Nairobi

When the Flying Doctor Service of East Africa recently wanted some pictures of their planes in flight over the countryside and Nairobi, they asked Ray Robinson to go up and catch their planes in action. The results of the shots taken over Nairobi were striking, and have already been greeted with enthusiasm by many firms and organisations in Nairobi, whose buildings show up clearly. The pictures are to go to America with the head of the Flying Doctor Service, Mr. Michael Wood, who is preparing for a fund-raising tour.

There is no need to point out the major landmarks of Nairobi, but can you spot your office or the Cathedral, the Law Courts or the President's Office? One clue, the picture at the bottom shows the Panafic Hotel. The plane seen in one of the Service's Piper Aztecs, which has a cruising speed (maximum) of 206 mph, and a range (maximum) of 1,250 miles with a 5,000lb. payload.

Britain moves to help peace talks

President Johnson's decision to call an immediate bombing pause on North Vietnam was welcomed by the British Government yesterday, announced without comment by Moscow Radio and was expected to help break the stalemate in the peace talks.

The British Prime Minister, Wilson, called a Cabinet meeting to discuss the President's move and the Government announced that it welcomed the halt in the bombing. Wilson's informed sources in London said the Prime Minister's Cabinet talks were designed to prepare the way for peace negotiations. The Foreign Secretary, Mr. Michael Stewart, was to make a statement in the House of Commons yesterday evening.

A statement issued at 10 Downing Street, the Prime Minister's residence, said Britain was examining urgently the possibility in which it could use its influence to put an end to the conflict. The British Government was convinced that the Paris peace negotiations were now more opportune than ever for a successful peace.

The French Government, Mr. Mayague's Government welcome the statement by the President of the United States about the Vietnam war, particularly the decision of the United States Government to end the bombing of North Vietnam. They believe that this would offer a further opportunity of investigating a just and honourable end to the conflict.

Swissair in East Africa

The Friday, April 5, the first Swissair aircraft ever to land at Nairobi will arrive from Zurich, via Geneva, on the inaugural flight of the new Swissair service to East Africa.

The aircraft, which will be carrying a large number of V.I.P.s (including members of the Government, the Chairman of the Federal Committee for Civil Aviation, and the President of the Swissair, leave Zurich on Thursday night at 23:45 arriving in Geneva at 2:58. It leaves Geneva and flies direct to Nairobi, arriving in Nairobi about 10 hours.

On arriving in Nairobi a large reception has been planned to take place in the National Airport Terminal Buildings. The aircraft, together with the V.I.P. guests, will then fly to Dar es Salaam where the guests will disembark and after a reception in the Tanzanian capital will proceed on a week-end safari throughout Tanganyika and Kenya, ending in Nairobi.

Public: Mr. Victor Frenschky, Swissair General Manager in Eastern Africa, India and the Middle East; Mr. A. H. Suter, Swissair Pilot; Mrs. M. A. Schindler, Swissair Cabin Attendant; and Mrs. M. F. Mihalj, Swissair Cabin Attendant.

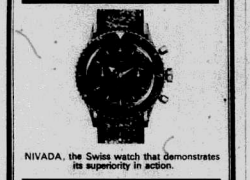

Story of an airline

It is an airline which has been in existence since 1919 when the Swissair was founded in Zurich. It has since then grown to become one of the world's largest airlines.

Nivada

Only Nivada would dare... to produce a watch which performs every timing function known to man, even 660 feet under the sea.

The NIVADA GRENCHEN CHRONOMASTER has more uses than any other watch. It is a regular stop watch, and a time-out stop watch. It has a tachymeter, and a yachting timer. It also tells time in two different time zones. It was designed for doctors, sportsmen, photographers, pilots, and skin divers (tested to 20 Atmospheres). Designed and manufactured by professionals for professionals.

NIVADA, the Swiss watch that demonstrates its superiority in action.

The inaugural flight will bring to East Africa a large number of V.I.P.s, including the Executive Director, Swissair, Mr. Victor Frenschky, Member, Board of Directors, Swissair.

A very strong Press party will be on the plane, including the following Swiss journalists: Mr. Felix Andri, Chief Editor, Emmentaler Anzeiger; Mr. Felix Andri, Chief Editor, Emmentaler Anzeiger; Mr. Felix Andri, Chief Editor, Emmentaler Anzeiger.

President, Prof. Helmut, Mr. Fritz Zolly, Member, Board of Directors, Swissair.

After the reception ceremony at Nairobi Airport the V.I.P.s and representatives of the Press will fly to Dar es Salaam where they will attend a party being given by Swissair at the Swiss Embassy in the Kilimattara Hotel that evening.

Next day will go spent sight-seeing in Dar es Salaam, then they will go on a safari to Amboseli Park, Mbaraka, Ngongoro, and Amboseli.

They will arrive at the following Wednesday at Nairobi, and on Thursday will make a trip to the headquarters of the Kenya coffee industry, and to Elton House. A cocktail party is being given by the Swiss Embassy that evening.

A Swiss representative, Mr. Victor Frenschky, has received an appointment to visit Mr. A. H. Suter, Swissair Pilot, at the Mbaraka Club on Friday, April 12, just before the departure of the guests to Zurich.

MESSAGE FROM DR. H. K. FREY THE SWISS AMBASSADOR

It was only a few years ago that most Swiss considered East Africa to be one of the remotest parts of the world, which they had little chance of ever visiting. There are now thousands of tourists coming here from Switzerland every year to enjoy the spectacular beauty of the fauna and flora, which are proud to have claimed Africa's highest mountains in the tall cliffs of the African mountain peaks.

There are now thousands of tourists coming here from Switzerland every year to enjoy the spectacular beauty of the fauna and flora, which are proud to have claimed Africa's highest mountains in the tall cliffs of the African mountain peaks.

The benefit derived from these visits is manifold, not only has the tourist an opportunity to meet other people and learn something about their traditional customs, but he can also appreciate the immense potential existence in East Africa.

All this would not have been possible without the rapid development of modern aviation, which is bringing the continents closer together.

Switzerland actively supported by an National Union, Swissair, very early realized the importance of this development for a small country, located in the heart of Europe and without access to the sea.

Today, the airplanes with the national emblem of the white cross on the red ground are crossing the skies in all directions and have made many friends far beyond the frontiers of their own country and to the world-known Swissair service.

It is a special satisfaction for me as the Ambassador of Switzerland, to see that the guests of Swissair will start their service in East Africa next month, thereby throwing a bridge between Europe and Africa.

I am convinced that many of our visitors and officials will now be induced to visit East Africa, thus establishing varied connections between Europe and Africa.

It is our greatest hope having this opportunity to express in the name of my country to the Governments of the three East African countries, as well as to the East African Community and East African Airways, sincere appreciation, understanding and good-will towards the Swissair Agreement.

Switzerland is proud that the Switzerland and the East African Community and East African Airways, sincere appreciation, understanding and good-will towards the Swissair Agreement.

Message by the Swissair President Dr. W. Berchtold

Swissair is pleased to inaugurate the new service from Switzerland to East Africa. Our long-term planning and special activities in this part of the African continent and our crew members of several years are now bearing fruit.

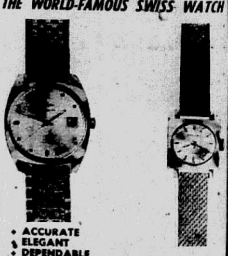

We hope that with this new link between East Africa and Switzerland, Swissair will help to strengthen ties between both continents. In promoting trade, we will be important factors in better mutual understanding and higher esteem among mankind.

In recent years the number of tourists coming to this beautiful part of the world has been increasing. Not only are they flocking forward to enhance the enjoyment that is inspiring in Africa, but also are coming to many people to visit East Africa, and also to establish many new relations which will be most easily opened through new expanded.

Air traffic has become an increasing factor and aviation promoter of commercial and industrial development. This has long been recognized by the Government, international which has a consequence been pursuing a policy of right traffic policy in each country that there are now some fifty countries being in need of air services.

We are happy that the same development is now being initiated to operate a scheduled service to East Africa.

A centre in every sense

Switzerland lies in the very heart of Europe, where the French, Italian and German frontiers meet, and where one of the biggest rivers in the Rhine flows through the country. It has been the centre of the world since the days of the Roman Empire. It was the centre of the world in the 15th century when the printing press was invented. It was the centre of the world in the 18th century when the industrial revolution began. It is still the centre of the world today, and it will continue to be so for many years to come.

Switzerland is a country of contrasts. It is a country of mountains and lakes, of cities and villages, of tradition and modernity. It is a country of peace and stability, of freedom and democracy. It is a country of progress and innovation, of science and technology. It is a country of beauty and charm, of art and culture. It is a country of opportunity and success, of achievement and excellence.

Switzerland is a country of choice. It is a country of choice for business, for industry, for investment. It is a country of choice for education, for research, for development. It is a country of choice for living, for working, for playing. It is a country of choice for everything that matters.

Switzerland is a country of pride. It is a country of pride in its history, in its heritage, in its achievements. It is a country of pride in its people, in its values, in its principles. It is a country of pride in its future, in its potential, in its promise.

Switzerland is a country of hope. It is a country of hope for the future, for the world, for humanity. It is a country of hope for a better world, for a brighter future, for a more peaceful world.

Switzerland is a country of love. It is a country of love for its people, for its land, for its way of life. It is a country of love for its friends, for its partners, for its allies. It is a country of love for the world, for the future, for the peace.

Switzerland is a country of faith. It is a country of faith in its people, in its institutions, in its values. It is a country of faith in its future, in its potential, in its promise. It is a country of faith in the power of love, in the power of hope, in the power of faith.

Switzerland is a country of strength. It is a country of strength in its people, in its institutions, in its values. It is a country of strength in its future, in its potential, in its promise. It is a country of strength in the power of love, in the power of hope, in the power of faith.

Switzerland is a country of excellence. It is a country of excellence in its people, in its institutions, in its values. It is a country of excellence in its future, in its potential, in its promise. It is a country of excellence in the power of love, in the power of hope, in the power of faith.

The old... and the new

In 1923, Swissair flew its first international route from Geneva and Zurich to Nuremberg with a Junkers J 13 carrying four or five passengers. Soon afterwards they introduced the world's first air hostess — Miss Melite Diner (you're chance that her name means serious) — who carried a cardboard box full of sandwiches, sweets, bottles of beer and soda water. Miss Diner (pictured above) also sold Swiss Alpine Cigs as souvenirs and the child voted. The first of today's Swissair hostesses with all the benefits of international service at their disposal.

Switzerland has Europe's highest railway, longest tunnel and most bridges, tens of other engineering works per hundred miles than anywhere else in the continent.

One of the most important factors in Switzerland has been Baku, a major city lying astride the Rhine, where France, Switzerland and Germany meet.

Through the city the steady progress of a re-orienting process is being followed. It is very small, but it is very important. It is only 11,000 people, but it is a major centre of the world. It is a centre of the world in every sense of the word.

Switzerland is a country of choice. It is a country of choice for business, for industry, for investment. It is a country of choice for education, for research, for development. It is a country of choice for living, for working, for playing.

Switzerland is a country of pride. It is a country of pride in its history, in its heritage, in its achievements. It is a country of pride in its people, in its values, in its principles. It is a country of pride in its future, in its potential, in its promise.

Switzerland is a country of hope. It is a country of hope for the future, for the world, for humanity. It is a country of hope for a better world, for a brighter future, for a more peaceful world.

Switzerland is a country of love. It is a country of love for its people, for its land, for its way of life. It is a country of love for its friends, for its partners, for its allies. It is a country of love for the world, for the future, for the peace.

The Omega Constellation

Truly one of the finest watches that has ever come out of Switzerland. To be rated as a Chronometer, the watch must pass under 300 hours of severe testing in a Swiss Institute for Official Chronometer Tests. Only movements built with the most accurate high accuracy throughout all tests can be given a Chronometer Certificate. The Omega Constellation does better than that. It certifies bears the endorsement of a specially Good Result which is the highest commendation the Institute can give. Incidentally, Omega is not responsible for any loss of value of Switzerland's annual output of certified Chronometers.

Passenger and freight records

Passenger and freight carried in 1967 reached a record figure and the airline's net income figure showed an increase of 10 per cent over the previous year.

Mr. Stefan Frankel, the company's General Manager for Eastern Africa, said that despite the unfavourable traffic conditions caused by the Middle East War and by economic recession in many important countries, the airline had been successful very particularly.

During the year the company made delivery of its new fleet of 10 B-62 long haul jet liners, and 12 S-70 short haul jetliners and nearly all the European services were converted to jumbo jet.

The airline now operates over 1000 people. In just under every four minutes there is a Swissair aircraft taking off or landing at one of the many airports in the company's worldwide network. Year in and year out there are 15 airplanes daily.

Commercial aircraft are an expensive capital investment and it is difficult to operate them profitably if they must be flown in many hours as possible a year with a minimum of expense and a maximum of safety.

The work of the airline's engineering and maintenance department is therefore absolutely vital and the Zurich maintenance base is one of the most advanced in the world.

In addition to these main head-quarters workshops of varying sizes can be found at all points of the company's network. Sometimes routine maintenance tasks are sent to another airline and on some flights a more complete and more accurate maintenance check along a Swissair mechanic's own flight plan at intermediate stops.

An indicator of the complexity of this maintenance can be derived from the fact that Swissair's own fleet of over 100 aircraft has over 1,000,000 parts inventory and 100,000 spare parts representing an investment equivalent to over £100 million.

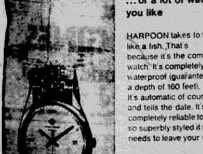

The maintenance department alone employs a staff of 2,000 or over 20 per cent of Swissair's employees.

Zurich airport the chief airport for Swissair's operations is equipped with the most advanced facilities, the majority of whom are Swissair's flight line-up in order for their passengers.

Last year over 2 million passengers were handled by these facilities. The whole catering programme in Switzerland, featuring top quality mechanical lines, loading and unloading of aircraft from the air and a special bakery attached to the catering block ensures that all the world's demand for Swissair's food and drink is met with minimum of being hated.

Big industry from small beginnings

A six-factory factory formed several old firms which, in the course of time, the present day world-wide CIBA Group developed.

SCIENTIFIC RESEARCH INSTITUTE for Bâle. The abbreviated name I.B.H. derived from the original nomenclature, became in 1947 the Company's official title. The Company was developing its pharmaceutical products as early as 1899 at the World Fair in Paris. After the first world war, CIBA diversified — apart from activity in the pharmaceuticals into many other fields of activity, including technical chemicals, synthetic materials, pharmaceuticals and most recently of veterinary specialties.

CIBA researchers also played the first lead in the development of the laboratory complicated at Hirsfelden and it was in Hirsfelden that the 'transmitter' was invented. At present CIBA is spending about 100,000 Swiss francs each year on scientific research, research centres around the world. This sum represents 9 per cent of manufacturing and selling

In the middle of July, on a lead cable, to the summit of a mountain called the Rig. For two years, the Rig has been the subject of a good deal of talk, and it seems to have every chance of once again becoming as famous as it was in our grandfatherly time.

In those days the Rig was a difficult feat of physical and even now it sometimes finds it difficult to get up there. In fact, it still harbours some charming ruins of the present day of tourism.

Last summer, for example, I was again in one of the color of the latter village of Riedschlieden. The first time I had been to the mountain-hermit's cabin, who were carrying of all things, so empty and solitary!

They had already returned their horses to his hotel — an old Rig tradition when they had come for a 'walk' in the mountains. The first time I had been to the mountain-hermit's cabin, who were carrying of all things, so empty and solitary!

Time keeper for the world

Continued in column with watches, of which he makes 60,000,000 a year. This article details the four points of the watch industry, and directions of future development.

Today, most people are aware of the fact that the time which the watch industry has produced in the past century that affected the lives of the world is now called the modern watch.

A number of factors have led to the development of the watch industry. In 1851, the first watch was made in England by Thomas Mudge. In 1870, the watch was made in Switzerland by Louis Branda.

Most watches show a more or less regular daily gain or loss. There are others which lose for a number of the days and gain for the remainder of the month. If the watch is used in the home, it is not so accurate as the watch which is used in the office.

The principal causes of disturbance are the continual and inevitable changes in the temperature and in the position of the watch.

There are other factors, including dust, which may affect the watch. The watch is also affected by the use of the watch in the home, where it is not so accurate as the watch which is used in the office.

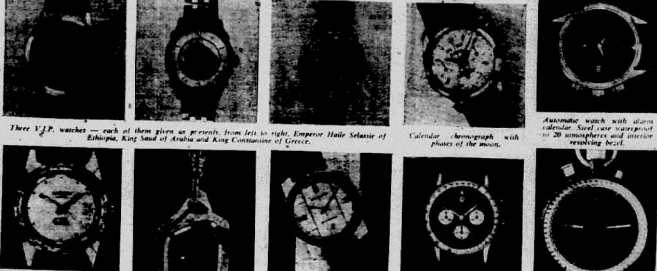

The technical problem chiefly involved in the mechanical construction of watches and gear of their components. There have always been the objects of constant effort towards research for the watch industry, which produced about 1880, a watch that was made by new manufacturing methods.

Scientifically, however, the last century was not marked by any important progress. The watch industry was not marked by any important progress. The watch industry was not marked by any important progress.

Almost 7,000 feet up in the Bernese Oberland, Elsie Schindler is a small holiday resort nestled between the snow and ice of the Alps. The watch industry has been able to produce watches that are as accurate as the watch which is used in the office.

appreciation of the daily rate of error, in the case of observations. The difference of the daily rate of error, in the case of observations, is the average daily rate of error.

There is also an even higher grade of quality, in which the average difference of the daily rate of error is not more than one second. This is the case of the watch which is used in the office.

The difference between the watches is determined by means of electronic and optical apparatus. The watches are made by means of electronic and optical apparatus. The watches are made by means of electronic and optical apparatus.

In the technical field, the 20th century has been characterized by the development of the wrist-watch. The wrist-watch is the most popular type of watch.

Electronics was soon to assume its role of chief innovator in horology. The transistor, a new electronic component, was introduced in the United States in 1948.

Another handicap lies in the fact that watch retailers and repairers are afraid of electronic watches because they are unfamiliar with them and they are likely to give their trouble.

The fact that, as far as we know, there is no electric battery in existence that lasts more than two years, and no long-life cycle, is a serious handicap for the electronic watch industry.

These few indications give a rough and ready idea of the great effort that Switzerland is making to ensure that her watch industry remains in rank in the world, in the face of such a serious economic situation.

Though what we have just said shows that electronic pocket

Second K.P.U. Office Check
Police visited on second day a branch office of the Kenya People's Union (K.P.U.) offices in Nairobi, to check on the personal office of the party's secretary, Mr. George Mwangi.

The search was carried out by a team of officers who were accompanied by a K.P.U. official. The search was conducted in a room which was used as a storage for the party's literature. The officers found a number of copies of the party's newspaper, 'The Standard', and other party materials. The search was completed without incident.

MOSCOW ASKED TO AID PEACE MOVES

Prime Minister Mr. Mwanja said that the Soviet Union has been asked to assist in the peace movement in Kenya. He said that the Soviet Union has a long and honorable record in the field of international peace and cooperation. He said that the Soviet Union has been a consistent supporter of the United Nations and has played a leading role in the promotion of world peace.

Kenya's town planners warn that massive urban development will be necessary by the turn of the century — including multi-lane highways, an electrified railway system and perhaps even a mono-rail link between Nairobi and Thika.

Development will involve sweeping changes in the cultural pattern and way of life of Kenya's future generations. A regional development plan covering Central Province, issued by the Town Planning Department of the Ministry of Lands and Settlement, sets out the requirements for Kenya's future.

Kenya entering new era

These surveys confirmed the view that Kenya was entering a new era in its development — "an era which, for better or for ill, is committed to a radical change in its traditional patterns," says the report.

Because of rapid population increase, it would no longer be possible for the people of Kenya to live directly from agriculture. In coming with all development centres, Kenya was entering a new era of migration to urban centres and, as a result, a tremendous opportunity in urban growth.

There is likely to be more physical development in Kenya during the next 20 years than there has been in total since the arrival of the first Europeans.

For 1968, in instance, less than 100,000 acres of land were cultivated by the year 2000, the figure is likely to have reached to 300,000 acres.

By then Kenya's total population may have doubled or even tripled and completely unmet development needs will have to be met. The report says that the population growth rate will be more than three times that which existed 20 years ago.

These developments will reduce the country's per capita income. The report says that the per capita income will be less than half of what it is today. The report also says that the country's total population will be more than three times that which existed 20 years ago.

It is clear that the country's development will be a tremendous task. The report says that the country's total population will be more than three times that which existed 20 years ago. It is clear that the country's development will be a tremendous task.

MORTARS OPEN UP ON KIBBITZIM

At least 20 Israeli soldiers were killed in the mortar attack on Kibbutzim in the West Bank, the Israeli military spokesman said today.

An official Israeli communiqué said that the mortar attack was the first of its kind since the Israeli soldiers declared missing since the Israeli-Palestine conflict of March 21 in Karame.

The letter said the representatives of the U.N. Security Council and the South West African Council also decided to visit Zambia and Tanzania to interview South West African representatives.

Two dead in Brazil violence

At least two people were killed in the violence in Rio de Janeiro, Brazil, two dead and several injured.

The crowd, largely composed of students, were commemorating the death of the Socialist President Jose Goulart four years ago by the riotous gathering.

President Antonio Silva appealed to the country for peace and banned that street march which was a military coup d'état.

Troops and tanks were called into Rio to arrest strikers and students clashed with city police.

The South West African Council's intention of going to the territory on the foot of a letter from the United Kingdom.

The letter said the representatives of the U.N. Security Council and the South West African Council also decided to visit Zambia and Tanzania to interview South West African representatives.

President Nkrumah said he was sending a letter to the Secretary-General of the United Nations to request that the Council should investigate the situation in the West African country.

HOW TO LOSE WEIGHT FAST and still eat 3 full meals a day

Stop gaining weight! How? By eating 3 full meals a day of course and vegetables. Lots of them. But you can lose 100 lbs faster than ever! PROXINOL is the completely new method of weight control that has amazed thousands of Americans and 5,000,000 more weight lifters. It does not require a special supply of pills. The PROXINOL you can buy at any drug store is the saturated fat, which combined with vitamins, breaks down the fat and makes it pass through the body. From your stomach it goes into your system and stays there until it is used up in cooking, or is easily eliminated through the bowels when you go to bed.

When a girl goes on her first date

When should your teenage daughter go on her first date? Of course, there's no real age ruling. Some girls start dating when they're about 11 or 12. Others have absolutely no interest for boys until they are around 16 or 17.

One of a mother's biggest risks begins when her daughter begins to take an interest in boys. It is during those tender teenage years that a girl needs her mother's guidance and father's love and approval.

Every mother should allow her daughter to understand how the fields are laid out and how she can avoid the traps that are set for her. It is not long before she begins to get into the line of those opposite numbers who meet them in youth. Although these boys are not yet serious, they are not to be taken lightly. They are the ones who will lead her into the world of those who are serious.

The best way for girls to get into the line of those opposite numbers is to meet them in youth. Although these boys are not yet serious, they are not to be taken lightly. They are the ones who will lead her into the world of those who are serious.

How to make the most with living room

Like a tiny, perfect piece of Paris, everything about this house is enchanting, from its tiny driveway and white-gated entrance to its bleached walnut bedroom furniture.

There is not a superfluous article of furniture anywhere, not is there a square foot of space that is not used to advantage to combine the whole together in one neat, compact house behind Madison Club, but since it was planned and decorated by Mr. Andrew Clark, a chartered surveyor, and his wife, this is hardly surprising.

By Penny Moore

Two large comfortable armchairs are upholstered in a similar colour, and in contrast to these light shades, a third armchair and four chairs are covered in black. The coffee table and book case, also in black, also contrast. The living room is a beautiful little wallpaper which has been fitted to the walls of the house. Enemies of the State

The general public would be interested in the fact that a group of individuals, who are known as 'enemies of the state', are being investigated by the Government. These individuals are those who are known to be active in the promotion of the independence of the various territories in East Africa.

It is a well-known fact that the Government is taking steps to ensure the security of the country. This is being done by the identification and investigation of individuals who are known to be active in the promotion of the independence of the various territories in East Africa.

By E. S. Rao

The Council of Ministers of the European Economic Community has given the green light for resumed negotiations with the East African Community. This is a significant development in the context of the negotiations for the independence of the various territories in East Africa.

No general answer can be given to the responsibility of the various authorities in each country to make their plans. Their answers must be to the effect that they have to be made regularly.

It is a general truth that in developing countries, which are not yet out of the traditional ways of life, the economic and political factors should be considered when making any of the various communications services. It is particularly true of the general development of underdeveloped areas.

There are, however, a number of factors which are common to all countries. These are: the economic, social, political, and cultural factors. These factors are common to all countries. These are: the economic, social, political, and cultural factors.

There are, however, a number of factors which are common to all countries. These are: the economic, social, political, and cultural factors. These factors are common to all countries. These are: the economic, social, political, and cultural factors.

There are, however, a number of factors which are common to all countries. These are: the economic, social, political, and cultural factors. These factors are common to all countries. These are: the economic, social, political, and cultural factors.

G.E.C. helps them both to keep in touch
G.E.C. Private Telephone Systems range in size from giant Private Automatic Branch Exchange networks providing service for thousands of extension telephones and hundreds of public exchange lines to small Private Automatic Exchanges serving as few as ten extensions. The one thing they have in common is that they are designed to give the maximum contribution to business efficiency. They have been proved in practice in business organisations large and small throughout the world. Facilities available include executive right-of-way, conference lines, secretary's service, staff location systems, tie-lines, and fire alarm systems. A wide range of standard systems is available, and you can call on our free engineering advisory service to plan and design comprehensive systems and networks to suit your particular requirements. For nearly half a century G.E.C. Private Telephone Systems have set the pace in providing the most advanced and effective aids to efficient business communication.

Other links of telecommunications equipment have been developed in Algeria, Congo (Kinshasa), Guinea, Guinea-Bissau, Madagascar, Mauritania, Niger, Nigeria, Rhodesia, Tunisia, U.A.R. and Zambia.

COMPUTERS Learning to master a new science

Throughout the world computers are being used to help in the management of business and industry...

It is now that the data processing industry has grown rapidly. In the earlier days, it was of an ad hoc nature, only comparatively sophisticated electro-mechanical labelling, adding and sorting equipment...

The advent of these computers over everyday business has resulted in a new career opportunity in East Africa...

This sudden demand for people with a specialized skill in computers is well known in East Africa...

I obtained the services of an experienced training instructor from the University of Nairobi...

At the same time, a new and challenging career has been created for those with the necessary ability.

Applied Test. This test has been designed to measure the ability of an individual to determine the value of a computer...

Although there is a considerable amount of technical background work, it is usually easy to learn the operation of a computer...

Having acquired the necessary skills of three years it can be used to solve a wide range of problems...

The systems analyst is a key figure in the development of a computer system from the initial stages of following through a study...

In addition to systems analysis, systems and operations, data preparation and operation, data processing and control...

Training and on-the-job coaching and practical machine use are carried out in Nairobi...

It is a common belief that the installation of a computer into a business is a costly and time-consuming task...

Many more computers are used for new tasks which can be performed manually in a certain amount of time...

Young man with a future

Speeding things up the network way

In recent years more and more computers have been undertaking planning problems using network techniques...

Although the method of computerized scheduling is widely used, it is often found that costs and resources must also be taken into account...

In such circumstances the use of a computer is essential for the amount of time and cost involved...

The use of the PERT network instead of job or activities are represented by arrows links each being an activity...

Typical of the Africans who have been trained to work the new computers is Mr. Peter Mwangi...

COPYING TECHNIQUES

Small miracle

In only in recent years the electronic has been associated with copying techniques. Before this time ferrographic systems which centre around the conventional photographic process had been a general use.

The limitation of photographs in everyday business is well known - the inherent high cost of photographic paper, the relatively slow speed of reproduction and the difficulties in adapting photography for simple office use.

ARMED FORCES Need to be self-contained

Armed forces concerned with the security and defence of any country must carry out their duties in the modern world with the assistance of electronics. It is in applications, from the simple telephone to mobile communications and even long range radio, that the need for self-contained systems is becoming increasingly apparent.

As the world's armed forces expand, the need for self-contained systems is becoming increasingly apparent. The development of electronic equipment which can be used in a variety of environments is essential for the modern soldier.

Scientific relationship difficult but vital

The role of electronics in the field of medicine is becoming increasingly obvious. It is in the form of X-ray diagnosis, for example, that the scientific relationship between the two fields is most apparent. The use of X-rays to detect disease has been known for many years, but it was not until the development of the X-ray tube and the X-ray film that the technique became practical. The use of X-rays in medicine is now widespread and is one of the most important branches of medical science.

More and more, it is being found that the use of X-rays in medicine is becoming increasingly important. The use of X-rays in medicine is now widespread and is one of the most important branches of medical science.

Increase in speed and safety

Electronics in Civil Aviation by A. P. Kadan.

The most salient problem facing the aviation industry today is the need for a navigation, communication and control system which is safe, reliable and capable of operating in all weather conditions. The use of electronics in civil aviation has made it possible to increase the speed and safety of air travel.

It is now possible to fly from London to New York in less than 10 hours, and to do so in all weather conditions. This is made possible by the use of electronic navigation and communication systems.

Minister's programme

The Minister for Posts and Communications, Mr. Felix Nwankwo, announced his programme for the year 1968-69. He said that the Government would continue to support the development of electronics in Nigeria.

Insight into broadcasting

The Vice-Chancellor of the University of Lagos, Prof. J. O. Osofisan, has given an insight into the state of broadcasting in Nigeria. He said that the industry is still in its infancy and needs to be developed.

Mombasa will work on Budget deficit of £280,000

Meeting the 1963 Budget, which provides for a capital programme of £100,000 in Mombasa Municipal Council last night, the chairman of the Finance Committee, Com. E. Njenga, said that even after careful pruning there remains an estimated deficiency of over nearly £280,000, which would have to be financed from the surplus built up over past years. At this stage the deficit would be exhausted within the next two years.

Com. Njenga said that the Finance Committee had to take away the surplus of the Municipal Council for the year 1962-63, which was £100,000, in order to meet the estimated deficit of £280,000 for the year 1963-64. He said that the Finance Committee had to take away the surplus of the Municipal Council for the year 1962-63, which was £100,000, in order to meet the estimated deficit of £280,000 for the year 1963-64. Central African market treaty CHARTER SIGNED

Basic plans for a Common Market, a mutual defence pact and a common external tariff were agreed at a meeting in Addis Ababa yesterday. The Charter of the Council of Central African States, signed by President Tombauba of Chad, President M'Baye of Senegal, President Bokassa of Central African Republic, and President Nasser of Sudan, is the first of a series of agreements to be signed in the next few months. The Charter provides for the creation of a common market, a mutual defence pact, and a common external tariff. It also provides for the creation of a common currency and a common central bank. The Charter is the result of a series of meetings held in Addis Ababa, Nairobi, and Khartoum over the past few months.

U.K. welcomes new system for reserves

The British Chancellor of the Exchequer, Mr. Roy Jenkins, welcomed the Western plan for the new system of international reserves but indicated other measures were needed as well to strengthen the world monetary system.

In his Parliament speech on the Budget, Mr. Jenkins said: "The new system of international reserves, which is being introduced by the International Monetary Fund, is a major step towards the establishment of a new world monetary system. It is a step which we welcome, and we shall do our best to ensure that it is successful. It will be necessary to take other measures as well to strengthen the world monetary system, and we shall be doing this in the coming months."

Book prices cut

Four British publishers, including the Longmans group, have announced a 10 per cent reduction in the prices of their books. This move is expected to stimulate the book trade, which has been hit hard by the recession. The publishers include Longmans, Chapman & Hall, and others.

Shipowners urged 'Fly Greek flag'

The Governments of Greece and Cyprus are urging shipowners to register their vessels under the Greek flag instead of the flag of convenience. This is part of an effort to revitalize the Greek shipping industry, which has been in decline. The Greek Government offers incentives to shipowners who register their vessels under the Greek flag, including tax breaks and subsidies.

French sound warning to the Six

The French Ministry of Finance has issued a warning to the six major European powers (France, Germany, Italy, the Netherlands, Belgium, and Luxembourg) regarding the possibility of a common market. The French government is concerned that the common market could lead to a loss of French influence and a shift in the balance of power in Europe.

Members boycott Council meeting at Machakos

A meeting of Masaku County Council failed to materialize at Machakos yesterday for lack of a quorum. After waiting for more than an hour, the chairman, Mr. W. M. Maitland, postponed the meeting "sine die". Several councillors but refused to enter the chamber.

NEW ENVOYS NAMED

A similar meeting was put off on Wednesday last week because some councillors had not completed their work. Only 12 councillors of the 39 were in the chamber at quarter of an hour after the scheduled starting time.

Earlier, Conn. D. M. Mutitu said the members to go home because of councillors standing outside telling others that there was no full council meeting that day.

From Mutitu said some members were introducing policies on council affairs. He suggested to the chairman that those councillors who failed to attend meetings should not get their sitting allowance.

He pointed out that the vice-chairman of the Council was a public servant. His attendance at the meeting was also considered as an appointment to a public office.

The chairman, Mr. Maitland, insisted on councillors to attend meetings. He said that if a councillor who had completed his work failed to attend a meeting, it would be a matter of discipline.

Minister opens Electro '68 with appeal to Kenya youth

Standard Staff Reporter. Kenya's Minister for Power and Communications, Mr. Nyamwaya, opened the Electro '68 exhibition at City Hall, Nairobi, yesterday, with an appeal to the young to develop their own electrical engineering industry.

Mr. Nyamwaya, who was accompanied by his wife and two children, said that the exhibition was a very important one for Kenya. He said that it was a chance for the young to show their talents and to learn from the experience of other countries.

FACTORY CLOSED OVER PAINT DISPUTE

Standard Staff Reporter. A dispute over the use of lead paint has closed the Nairobi-based factory of the Kenya Paints and Chemicals Co. Ltd. for several days.

The factory, which is situated in the industrial area of Nairobi, has been closed since the beginning of the week. The dispute is between the company and its workers over the use of lead paint in the manufacture of certain products.

The company claims that the use of lead paint is necessary for the production of certain types of paint. The workers, however, claim that the use of lead paint is dangerous to their health and that they should be allowed to work with other types of paint.

The dispute has caused a significant loss of production for the company. The workers have been on strike since the beginning of the week. The company has offered to pay the workers a special allowance to work with lead paint, but they have refused the offer.

The dispute is expected to continue for some time. The company has asked the Government to intervene, but the Government has refused to do so. The workers have asked the Government to force the company to stop using lead paint.

WEALTH OF ART LOST IN BLAZE

A collection of valuable art works, including paintings and sculptures, was destroyed in a fire at the National Gallery.

The fire, which broke out on Friday night, destroyed a large part of the collection. The National Gallery is expected to be closed for several weeks.

The fire at the National Gallery was caused by a short circuit in the wiring. The fire started in a room where a painting was being displayed.

The fire spread quickly, and the fire department arrived on the scene. The fire was extinguished, but the damage to the art works was extensive.

He'd had far more opportunity to sharpen his nose than any other. For the simple reason that he had a far more varied range of odours for us than for his own nose.

To rub it in, we've actually seen him at work for 15 years at the famous L'Herminette distillery in France.

Monieur Coqueron is no ordinary Monsieur Coqueron to become such a distiller with us.

Wisconsin defeat for President Johnson

Chicago, Tuesday, April 3.—The Wisconsin election results, announced here today, dealt a heavy blow to President Johnson's hopes for re-election after the loss of the party's nomination in Chicago last week.

Johnson's defeat in Wisconsin, which has a population of 4.5 million, is the first time since 1928 that a Democratic presidential candidate has lost the State. It is also the first time since 1948 that a Democratic candidate has lost the State to a Republican.

The Wisconsin election report, released by the State Department, shows that Johnson received 272,487 votes, while the Republican candidate, Governor Warren, received 323,141 votes.

Johnson's defeat in Wisconsin is a significant blow to his campaign for re-election. He had been expected to carry the State, which is a key swing State in the Presidential election.

The Wisconsin election results are a reflection of the growing dissatisfaction with Johnson's administration. Many voters are concerned about the Vietnam War and the economy.

SEA TO BACKING FOR VIETNAM PEACE MOVES

The Seven Major Communist Parties yesterday fully endorsed President Johnson's continued efforts to bring about a settlement in Vietnam, but they are particularly backing the bombing of North Vietnam and the hoped-for peace moves.

The endorsement was contained in a joint communique issued by the parties in New Zealand after two days of talks.

Francis did not attend the conference, but his delegates had indicated that he did not take part in the vote on the Vietnam question, which was held by secret ballot.

The communique said that the decision of the bombing programme was of great importance for the ending of the Vietnam conflict.

It also endorsed President Johnson's appeal to Britain and the United Kingdom, as an architect of the Geneva Conference, to try to bring about a settlement in Vietnam.

The communique said that North Vietnam would not be permitted to contribute to the ending of the Vietnam conflict.

Mr. Kosygin Visits Pakistan

The Soviet Foreign Minister Mr. Kosygin visited Pakistan today, the first time he has visited the country since he became Foreign Minister in 1957.

Mr. Kosygin arrived in Karachi on Monday and will stay for a week.

He will meet with Pakistani officials and will also visit Lahore and Islamabad.

Mr. Kosygin's visit is seen as a sign of improved relations between the Soviet Union and Pakistan.

He will also discuss the situation in the Middle East and the Vietnam conflict.

American Navy planes strike at railway near northern limit

North Vietnam, Tuesday.—The United States Navy today struck a railway station near the northern limit of North Vietnam, the second day of operations in the Vietnam conflict.

The attack was carried out by two F-4 Phantom II fighters, which dropped bombs on the railway station.

The railway station is a key transportation route for the North Vietnamese army.

The attack is part of a series of operations aimed at disrupting the North Vietnamese supply lines.

The United States Navy has been conducting a series of operations in North Vietnam since the start of the Vietnam conflict.

Bomb limit a major event — Germany

The West German Foreign Minister, Herr Brandt, said today that the bombing of North Vietnam was a major event in the Vietnam conflict.

He said that the bombing was a clear violation of the Geneva Convention on the prohibition of the use of force.

He also said that the bombing was a sign of the escalation of the Vietnam conflict.

He called for a cessation of the bombing and for a return to negotiations.

Mr. Moi attacks K.P.U. over 'foreign embassy' documents

Standard Staff Reporter
In a bid to the Nairobi office of the FBI under Mr. Omega Adams, police have taken police and attorney general's advice to Vice-President Mr. M. M. Kariuki's National Assembly yesterday afternoon to demand that the FBI be allowed to inspect the files of the K.P.U. in Kenya.

Mr. Adams would speak to American if he were not refused permission to travel. Mr. Adams made certain accusations against the Government which called for the resignation of the Government. It was not, and had never been, the Government's intention to do so. The K.P.U. and efforts made in Parliament to force the Government to do so had failed.

Turning to Mr. Moi said information that he had been given by the press in Mr. Omega Adams' office. A search was made in the files of the K.P.U. in Kenya and was never registered or listed. Mr. Adams had suggested that the police should investigate the matter, but the Government was not prepared to do so. Mr. Adams was concerned about the role of the Government in the matter. Mr. Adams was concerned about the role of the Government in the matter.

Normally the police officer conduct the search in Kenya. It was not the Government's intention to do so. Mr. Adams was concerned about the role of the Government in the matter. Mr. Adams was concerned about the role of the Government in the matter.

Rangers retain Manual

Standard Correspondent

Nakuru Rangers A.C. are retaining the Manual Cup which they won last year after defeating the Mombasa City team in the final of the annual Mixed Hockey Festival played at the weekend at the Mombasa Sports Ground.

The Mombasa City team, captained by the odd goal post but went down to the Nakuru Rangers by a score of 3-1.

In their crucial match against the Mombasa City team, the Rangers were a win for the Nakuru Rangers A.C. by the goal.

The match was played at the Mombasa Sports Ground where a win for the Nakuru Rangers A.C. would have secured the Manual Cup for the second year.

Raise price of gold—S.A.

South Africa's Prime Minister Mr. Hendrik Verwoerd said yesterday that his Government's policy of raising the price of gold should be based on the world's gold supply.

The world's gold supply, Mr. Verwoerd said, was not sufficient to meet the world's demand for gold. He said that the world's gold supply was being depleted by the extraction of gold from the earth. Ministers call on leaders to work together

Ministers yesterday appealed to Kenya's leaders to forestall a split in the Government by working together for the good of the country.

Two other Ministers, the Minister for Housing, Mr. Ngeli, and the Minister for Commerce and Industry, Mr. Kibaki, also addressed the gathering.

Mr. Ngeli said that since Kenya attained independence, the people had become rich and had forgotten the troubles which beset their interests were now doing nothing in the progress of the country.

Mr. Kibaki said that since Kenya attained independence, the people had become rich and had forgotten the troubles which beset their interests were now doing nothing in the progress of the country.

Ministers call on leaders to work together

Ministers yesterday appealed to Kenya's leaders to forget past differences and work together for the good of the country. Mr. James Gichuru, told a Kenya rally at Mukuru that the Linnu division that people should forget past differences and work together in the interest of building Kenya as a nation. He urged the nation's leaders to give way to the expediency of peace among the people, especially those of the Nairobi area.

Two other Ministers, Minister for Housing, Mr. Njagi and the Minister for Commerce and Industry, Mr. Kibaki also addressed the rally.

Mr. Njagi said that since Kenya attained independence which had been rich and had forgotten the troubles which had led the nation's leaders who had been elected by the people to serve their interests were now doing nothing.

He warned people not to expect changes in the progress of the country except by the people.

Appealing to the people not to backbite the Government, Mr. Njagi said that those who were in difficulties should approach the Government to get their assistance. To do that it was necessary to support the President, Mr. Kenyatta, and his Government.

Mr. Kibaki had those present at the meeting that they should be free to discuss political opinion, and beware of false leaders.

The division which ebbed among the Kikuyu people in 1962 should not be carried into the present time. People should concentrate on development plans such as rural housing and making water available to homes and forget old differences.

There were some false leaders who were all out to divide the people by saying that that person was a Kikuyu of Embu or Meru. "You should not allow yourselves to be misled by those who are trying to divide the people," Mr. Kibaki warned.

He was appreciated that the Kikuyu people wanted to be according to their old customs. Mr. Kibaki warned that division was one enemy that was spoiling the Kikuyu people.

Nigel G springs a surprise at Ngong

By Michael Cooper

The three-year-old Nigel G sprang a surprise in the Kenya Pokra Cup at Nairobi Race track by coming second in 1 1/2 miles and 1/2 furlongs having been a working pacer in training. Rather surprisingly the lead went off at a working pace and I could see that Golden Star and Madam Mombasa combination were in a good position to win.

The favourite head the field was still going at a speed which surprised me. The creature held in the writer's part of the course and I could see that the chances were good. I was not sure but I went for my win and promptly dropped it.
