Six million workers idle as French crisis worsens

France yesterday plunged into a crisis of proportion which, apart from the war, is unprecedented since 1956. The strike movement sweeping the country had between 10,000 and 15,000 workers idle and was directly challenging the survival of the Government.

At least 250 major industrial plants were occupied by strikers, and the number of factories occupied was growing gradually. The strikers' list was published.

President de Gaulle was silent. He made no comment on the crisis. He only remarked by radio on Sunday to a group of Ministers: "Nothing has stirred me."

The number of workers was over 2,000,000 on Sunday. The number of workers was over 2,000,000 on Sunday. The number of workers was over 2,000,000 on Sunday.

JOHN ELGON'S DIARY

Time for a ceasefire

The talks due to begin in Kampala on Thursday by the Federal Government of Nigeria and Biafra are expected to have a high probability of success. The Biafra side has taken in lives and severe trauma, has come as a result of celebrating their release from colonial rule. There is no reason to expect that Biafra will accept any no-strings passage to national unity. Biafra will not agree to this, and it would allow the Uganda conference to get under way in a calm atmosphere. S. I. O. I. of the Federal Government itself is pressing its attack to the committee fall of Port Harcourt, which could only do so at the cost of further civilian suffering.

While Ibo fears of persecution and even annihilation are well understood, with the memory of events in the Northern Region, as well as the fact that Biafra, still on the side. It should not be expected that Biafra will accept any no-strings passage to national unity. Biafra will not agree to this, and it would allow the Uganda conference to get under way in a calm atmosphere. S. I. O. I. of the Federal Government itself is pressing its attack to the committee fall of Port Harcourt, which could only do so at the cost of further civilian suffering.

A warm welcome home

President Kenyatta was clearly moved by the size and warmth of the welcome given to him yesterday on his return to the capital from Mombasa. The crowd lining the streets from the Nairobi boundary were bigger than ever, and spontaneous applause greeted the President in no doubt about the depth of the affection which he is held.

Forceps not cause of official's death inquest told

Standard Staff Reporter
Two pathologists told an inquest yesterday that a pair of forceps found inside the body of Mr. Benjamin Ngira, the late chairman of the Kenya Public Service Commission, had in no way contributed to his death.

The pathologist, Dr. S. McClatchie and Dr. M. G. Rogoff, continued their examination of the body of Mr. Ngira after his death in Kawacha National Hospital on February 27.

Dr. McClatchie, of the Medical Research Laboratory, who was the first witness in the inquest, which opened yesterday, told the coroner that the forceps were found in the stomach of Mr. Ngira but had been suffering from pyloritis and a duodenal ulcer, the cause of which was still unknown.

Very little was known about the disease and it had only been identified in the last 20 or 30 years. He had some acidity but less than ten cases of it in the past four years in Kenya. His examination had also shown that Mr. Ngira had suffered from a severe haemorrhage into the small bowel, early pneumonia, failure of the kidney and disorders of the liver and the triad of the vessel.

NEWS FROM THE PROVINCES

'Roll up your sleeves' call to people of Kuria

The South Nyanza D.C. Mr. J. K. Kiria, has appealed to the people of Kuria to co-operate with Government officials in their area in carrying out development projects.

Mr. Kiria, who was speaking at a public meeting in the town of Kuria, where he installed a sub-station, urged the people to roll up their sleeves if they wish to see the country prosper.

He said that the Government was ready to help the people of Kuria in many ways, but that they must first be prepared to do their own share.

Mr. Kiria said that the Government was ready to help the people of Kuria in many ways, but that they must first be prepared to do their own share.

CHEERS FOR CHIEF

Thousands of cheering people gathered to celebrate the election of Mr. Japhet Ogunjiri as the new Chief of the Kuria District.

The meeting, held at the Kuria District Council, was presided over by Mr. J. K. Kiria, the Provincial Commissioner, and confirmed that the people of Kuria had elected Mr. Ogunjiri as their new Chief.

Mr. Ogunjiri, who was elected on a vote of 1,000 to 500, was sworn in as the new Chief of the Kuria District.

He said that he would do his best to serve the people of Kuria and to improve their standard of living.

He also said that he would work closely with the Government to develop the district.

K.P.U. OFFICIAL REJOINS KANU

A former K.P.U. chairman for Kirinyaga District, C. P. Chavama, has rejoined the Kenya African National Union (KANU).

Mr. Chavama, who was a prominent figure in the K.P.U., had previously been a member of the Kenya African National Union (KANU).

He said that he was returning to KANU because he believed in the party's platform and its leadership.

Mr. Chavama's return to KANU was seen as a significant event, as he was a well-known figure in the political scene.

Farmers told to breed better poultry

Kenya farmers have been urged to breed better poultry to improve their standard of living.

The Provincial Commissioner, Mr. J. K. Kiria, said that the Government was providing assistance to farmers to improve their poultry breeding.

He said that farmers should focus on breeding high-quality breeds that are resistant to diseases and have a high egg production.

Mr. Kiria also said that the Government was providing training and technical assistance to farmers to help them improve their poultry breeding.

Likelihood of quotas for sugar

The United Nations Sugar Conference in Geneva is preparing a quota system based on the annual average increase in world exports since 1960 and world share of this rise, informed sources said.

A draft proposal for export quotas is expected to be presented to the conference in Geneva in the next few weeks. It is expected that the conference will take into account the participation of each country in the growth of world exports under the 1959 Sugar Agreement. It is expected that the quota system will be based on the average increase in world exports since 1960 and world share of this rise, informed sources said.

Administration course

The chairman of the Kenya National Library Service board, Mr. J. Towett, received books from the United States Ambassador in Nairobi, Mr. Gilbert W. Ferguson of New York yesterday. The books, 150 in all include a full set of the Encyclopedia Americana. Pictured in the foreground, left to right, are Mr. Towett, Mr. Ferguson, the chief librarian, Mr. P. O. Pala, and the Permanent Secretary to the Ministry of Natural Resources, Mr. M. O. Oduh, who said the books would be put in a rotating exhibition.

which had already started on the construction of the three new deep-water berths in Dar es Salaam and tenders for the construction of two additional deep-water berths at Mombasa were due to be invited by the East Africa Posts and Telecommunications Corporation. It was announced that the corporation had set up an engineering programme currently being expanded to include the training of 500 technicians to be taught to use modern scientific equipment and instruments. The programme would be a practical improvement of existing facilities.

The Permanent Secretary in the Office of the President, Mr. C. E. Karika, is presenting an eight-month course for district officers in the East Africa and North-Eastern Provinces at the Kenya Institute of Administration from June 16 to the end of 1965. The course is for the grade of district officer and the acting principal, Mr. A. C. Zogor, who said the course would be put in a rotating exhibition.

at the same time, the expansion of four offices was continuing. In 1967, of one Post Office, were opened in the former States. A new head Post Office was opened in Kampala last year and work on the new building in Dar es Salaam was in progress.

work was being carried out to improve development programmes currently being expanded to include the training of 500 technicians to be taught to use modern scientific equipment and instruments. The programme would be a practical improvement of existing facilities.

Both of these figures included some facilities which were under construction, including that of East African Airways. It is likely that about $10,000,000 direct expenditure of the three separate Governments in these fields would be on the region about the end of 1967. These figures will give some idea of the effort which the Governments of East Africa will be making and the undertaking for us must never be under-estimated.

Luxury Living for Your Skin

The discovery of a remarkable tropical mist oil that influences and beautifies the skin has brought long-term, perfection and loveliness to modern complexion.

This tropical beauty fluid usually helps nature to create the conditions under which the human skin will thrive and bloom on fabled glory. Even the particularly developed complexion is usually able to benefit from the rich, tonic values of this mist oil. It has an osmotic pressure that allows it to merge easily with the skin's own fluids, and its consummate blend of nourishing elements are calculated to provide any complexion with the perennial "mist and honey" existence.

This special, dewy, natural texture of the skin can be wonderfully cherished and protected against the effects of climatic conditions and the advancing years simply by smoothing the mist oil over the face and neck each night and using it as a powder base for day. Due to its specific

Beauty skin-care consultants recommend

The use of mist oil of the botanical and synthetic properties of this tropical beauty fluid is a natural part of a skin care routine. It is the oil of 1000 miles from the hot and humid tropics. Hence, tropical beauty fluid is the skin oil that makes your skin glow in a perfect, mist and honey existence.

SEE-THROUGH SARI UPSETS INDIA M.P.

India's House of the People recently wound up its current session faced with the question: Is an advertisement for a see-through sari obscene? The question, still unresolved at the end of the discussion, was raised by a Socialist Member and even he was warned by the Speaker not to be too explicit.

Complaining about suggestive advertising, Mr. Hem Barua cited a magazine which carried an advertisement showing a woman draped in a version of the traditional Indian female garment, Mr. Barua said. "The caption for the advertisement is 'Take a plunge'."

Mr. Barua added that India seemed to be following the American pattern.

The sari suit, most popular with the salon's clients, precedes a relaxing body massage.

WOMEN'S WORLD

Soothing away those aches and pains

Men seldom pamper more than women. If the number of male clients who attend the African Faith Beauty Therapy Salon is anything to go by...

Since the salon started to make clients for body massage, skinning and sauna baths two months ago, they have been pouring in to be treated by one of the three charming young women who run the salon.

Although Service Davis, Vanessa Fleming and Anne Brown are quite busy with the station, they find it takes double the energy to massage men than it does women. "It's quite exhausting working on them, though both of them," was one remark.

"One day I had to massage a Kikuyu expert — one after the other," Mrs. Fleming said. "The value which has now moved to Kampala Street and has an attractive Circus door, was opened two years ago by a qualified aromatherapist, who specialised in therapeutic body treatments and hairdressing. The salon is now a good deal more active and, apart from these treatments, it offers eyelash tinting, scalp treatment for dandruff, hair care, waxing, slimming and monthly hair of shampooing.

chromatic, headache, tiredness and lack of energy. They are also recommended in cases of winds, catarrh and sinusitis. Conditions produce different reactions. For instance, eucalyptus is recommended for colds and influenza, rosemary for rheumatism and lavender for nervousness.

"This is the best point of view," Mrs. Fleming explained. "It is well worth the 10/- I get myself treated with this."

The girls have fun in cold water over their work to prevent boredom. They also use a variety of bodies while they are working.

A certain type of gramophone is also used in the salon, and that greatly relaxes some conditions. Having understood, oil of eucalyptus, lavender, rosemary and thyme also hold scores in good health and beauty.

K.S.P.C.A. to raffie Kenya artist's work

Following the successful raffie at a Davis Hospital meeting last year the K.S.P.C.A. is once again raffieing a painting by the artist Ephraim Whitaker.

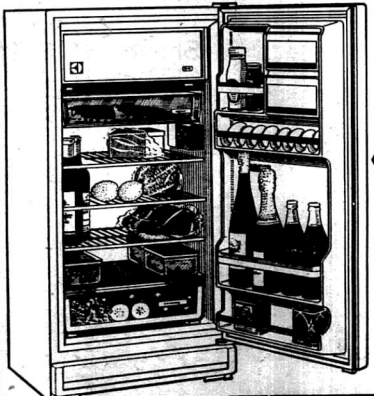

The painting, on sale at the New Ministry Art Centre, is a scene of the Jambanja Hills, and includes an elephant, a lion and a cheetah. It is a fine example of the artist's work.

The raffie will be held on May 25th at the Davis Hospital, and the proceeds will go towards the purchase of medical equipment for the hospital.

MODERN BUSINESS WRITING

At Six Centes June 15 — June 13, 1968

Modern commerce and industry rest on a foundation of clear handwriting. And vice versa, ineffective writing is the cause of most commercial handicaps.

Unless misunderstandings and mistakes are caused by failure to present your goods and services in an easily understood manner by "clear business writing," you have not only lost your business, but you have also lost your reputation.

The objective of this course is to enable participants to have a number of hours practice in writing. This is not simply understanding of theory, but requires the application of the theory to practice.

The course will be held on the premises of our office in a convenient step manner, with immediate practice covered in a progressive manner. This is the only course of its kind in Kenya.

The results in most cases are little short of spectacular.

U.S. 'will help end injustice in S.W. Africa'

The United States has disclosed that it has made repeated representations to the Government of South Africa over its rule in South West Africa and has pledged co-operation with the U.N. in the drive for self-determination and independence for that territory.

The U.S. Ambassador at the United Nations, Mr. Arthur Goldberg, but out at what he called the "ignominy and depression of human rights" in the First World War which South Africa has refused to accept and refused to turn over to the international body.

Mr. Goldberg supported demands for the South African Government to hand in the matter South Africa was not to be a party to the resolution and terminated the mandate and to permit a Council had peaceful and practical course of action that can command the respect of all South Africans and that can bring its own to the peace of this Assembly.

He did not spell out in detail what action the U.N. would take and warned of the U.N. would not act without which it could not do with South West Africa.

The secretary of a German-German colony is administered by South Africa to terminate in October, the U.S. has reiterated that action will be taken to force the U.N. to act.

already discussed the problem of the implementation of the resolution of the U.N. Security Council. Mr. Goldberg had emphasized that the problem he had mentioned was not a problem of the U.N. Security Council, but a problem of the U.N. General Assembly. He said that the U.N. General Assembly had already discussed the problem of the U.N. Security Council, but a problem of the U.N. General Assembly.

S.A. 'NOT BOUND' BY ARMS TREATY

The South African representative at the United Nations, Mr. Wynand Botha, has declared that the body that South Africa will not be bound by the proposed non-proliferation of nuclear arms treaty.

He said that Britain, Russia and the United States had given assurance that they would come to the aid of non-nuclear states in the event of nuclear attack. "This is what Mr. Botha, in his capacity as a firm and abstract country would be reserved."

He added that South Africa could not be bound by the proposed treaty which would be of benefit to her. He said that the U.S. had broken and that a treaty was an arrangement agreed for political reasons.

However, he did couple the situation with an assurance that South Africa would continue to stand against the dangers of proliferation.

Mr. Goldberg further urged the Government to hand in the matter South Africa was not to be a party to the resolution and terminated the mandate and to permit a Council had democratic further our wish to cooperate in the objective of non-proliferation."

Lowest price of any other car of its class and size. And that's not all. Not by a long chalk. You get a lot of extras you don't pay extra for. Like the famous oversteering Volkswagens! Big wheels, more tyre mileage. Up to 35 miles to the gallon of regular petrol. A long-life, low-rev, low stress, air-cooled engine in the rear. No water worries. Thoroughly proven safari success. And the unusual advantage of an immediate resale cash return.

And like all other Beetles, it has a fully independent suspension, a solid steel chassis, safety collapse steering column.

And then there's the solid, 20-year-old VWCC organization. And that's not all. You get Service Volkswagen and spare parts everywhere backing you with Shs. 80,000 worth of spares available in East Africa. Our trade-in terms and low purchase rates are competitive. The officers and their officers about the three bodies to the gang's headquarters in Karen. The photographic equipment was not seized by the officers. It belongs to Mr. Sawyer. The officers showed the bodies contained when he was hit with a pump. Below: Mr. Sawyer making a statement to the police yesterday.

Mr. Sawyer, his wife Stephanie, and a friend, Mr. Michael Skinner, 27, the owner of the Lake Baroque Lodge, were among the main group when the gang entered the house, which sits on its own plot of about 10 acres.

P.C. STOPS ARMED BAND

disappeared on the night of May 16/17.

Mr. Morgan warned them that Karen had did not allow anyone to carry dangerous weapons and to carry dangerous weapons were to be severely punished in order to maintain law and order in the area. He directed the Kenya police and administrative police to arrest the alleged attack that he was of an offence had been committed.

At a hearing held later in Karen this week, Mr. Morgan told the court that he appeared to know the names of the gang, which had been reported to report to an action committee.

£2,000 haul in gang raid on Karen home

Seized that loot: Two men and a woman lay terrified and helpless, under threat of being murdered, when a gang of six men, all wearing masks, entered a secluded house in Karen on Tuesday.

For half an hour the three victims lay in bed, terrified, as the gang searched the house before putting their £2,000 haul in the householder's car and driving away.

The incident took place in the home of Mr. Michael Skinner, 27, who is executive officer of the East African Wildlife Society.

Mr. Sawyer, his wife Stephanie, and a friend, Mr. Michael Skinner, 27, the owner of the Lake Baroque Lodge, were among the main group when the gang entered the house, which sits on its own plot of about 10 acres.

Mr. Sawyer turned in his chair and was confronted by three men standing menacingly with pistols. The gang had already looted a trunk. Mr. Daniel Otinga, on the left, after threatening to cut his throat, said the three men were in need of the gang remained motionless.

Mr. Michael Skinner and other guests were told to lie face down on the floor and keep still. Mr. Sawyer was struck on the head with the rifle and was taken away. The first time he was hit with the rifle was on the head and was struck with the pistol, which was used to threaten him.

The three men systematically searched the house, entering every room except the bedroom of the Sawyer family. Miss Sawyer, aged 35, was kept in the living room.

Mr. Sawyer was forced outside to explain how he had the money. He pointed back to the other end of the house, where the loot was hidden. All £2,000 worth of money was taken. Mr. Sawyer was then returned and ordered Mr. Sawyer to get up and go to bed.

Nigerian peace talks

Everybody having good will towards Nigeria and Biafra will wish President Gowon's success in his keynote speech and hope for a constructive outcome from the Kampala conference opening today.

The word "everybody" is meant literally, because all people concerned with this intricate issue, whichever side they support, must want to see an end to the slaughter in the name of a religious standing. The civil war which has lasted for nearly a year and a half, has caused untold suffering. The Congo in Biafra, has caused incalculable material damage and cost untold lives — estimates range from 100,000 to 200,000.

The overriding principle to African independent countries subscribe to unity and the O.A.U. Kampala meeting last September, Nigerian unity was specifically mentioned and secession movements condemned. Nevertheless, four member States have recognised the "breakaway" Biafra. Tanzania's recognition was followed by Gabon, Ivory Coast and Zambia.

Obviously, this diplomatic support has made it very imprudent on African opinion, joining Biafra's bargaining position. The Nigerian attitude is that these actions add to and not solve the problem, which they resulted in an open breach with other diplomatic relations which were severed in reprisal.

The division of opinion was so noticeable among delegations to the "good neighbour" conference in Harar. Salau last week there was some rift between those who even to discuss the Nigerian conflict at all. The main aim of the conference was to discuss the Nigerian conflict at all. The main aim of the conference was to discuss the Nigerian conflict at all.

After President Owen's opening address, the conference will hear statements from both sides, in which their spokesmen will define the opposing positions. Then the question of chairmanship

ISRAEL WARNED OVER JERUSALEM

Despite U.S. and Canadian objections, the United Nations called on Israel on Tuesday night to rescind the measures she has taken to change the international status of Jerusalem.

Britain, France and Russia were among 13 countries which voted for the resolution. Mr. U.S. Ambassador, Mr. Arthur Goldberg and Canada's Mr. George Ignatieff cast abstentions. The U.N. General Assembly also rejected the U.S. proposal for the division of Jerusalem into Jewish and Arab states.

The resolution called urgently on Israel to rescind all such measures, and to restore to the Jewish and Arab populations of Jerusalem the status of a free city under the protection of the United Nations.

The U.S. abstention deprives the resolution of moral force. It is seen in New York as a paper bluff for Israel, which might be forced to retract its position.

The resolution, first in Mid-East questions since the June 29 General Assembly resolution adopted last July, forbidding any agreement or arrangement...

Mr. Martin Stigand, spokesman of the U.S. State Department, said that the U.S. abstention was a result of the U.S. position on the Middle East problem.

Without citing specific examples, Mr. Stigand said that the U.S. abstention was a result of the U.S. position on the Middle East problem.

Olivetti put a computer on your desk

The Olivetti Program 101 makes it possible for every Company, University, Department, Laboratory or Institute to have its own private, electronic digital computer.

It possesses all the essential characteristics of a traditional computer: speed, logical operation, printed output, program flexibility, but is only a little larger than a typewriter, doesn't require a skilled operator, and is extremely self-contained.

With the Olivetti Program 101 you can thus change printed data into electronic data, store data in electronic form, and use it for administrative calculations, or large-scale computations. The Olivetti Program 101 is the ideal computer for research and control.

Spending up to £1.8m. in A.C. estimates

plans to spend £1,747,718 in 1968-69, about £1,822,500 in 1967-68, the East African Minister for Finance and Economic Development, Mr. Obadoju, announced yesterday.

Presenting the draft expenditure estimates of the Committee to the East African Legislative Assembly in Nairobi on Saturday, he said if the supplementary provision approved for the period ending on December 31, 1968, is accepted, the increase would be about £1,523,000.

Of the increase £1,096,900 will be for the Community's capital work programme of Africa and £236,600 for the regular work programme which will be conducted in accordance with the agreement entered into between the Community and the United Kingdom.

More money for colleges

A further £300,000 has been allocated to the Customs and Excise Department to handle the new Transfer Tax Service and for the amalgamation of the Zanzibar Customs with the East African Customs and Excise Department.

A further £150,000 will meet the increase in the grant for higher education brought about by the East African Co-operation Treaty that increased to 50 per cent the Community's share of the net requirements of the colleges, and nearly £500,000 will go towards establishing the Community and the Organisation of African States Institute for the Study of African Languages and Literatures.

Mr. Obadoju said the estimates do not include the £100 million programme of the Community for the period 1967-69 to 1973-75. The 1967-69 programme of the Community for the period 1967-69 to 1973-75 was approved by the East African Legislative Assembly on January 16, 1968. It provides for the expenditure of £500 million over the seven-year period.

The expenditure from the General Fund for 1968-69 is £1,747,718, and from the Special Reserve £1,822,500. The total for 1968-69 is £3,570,218.

Mr. Obadoju said that the Committee also approved the 1968-69 estimates for the East African Community, which included the expenditure of £1,747,718 on the Community's regular work programme and £236,600 on the Community's capital work programme.

ISRAEL WARNED OVER JERUSALEM

Jerusalem, which has been divided since the 1948-49 Arab-Israeli war, is to be the subject of a change in the international status of the city, according to a resolution adopted by the United Nations Security Council on Monday. The resolution, which was adopted by a vote of 11 to 5, with 4 abstentions, calls for a change in the status of Jerusalem, which is now under the joint administration of Israel and Jordan. The resolution also calls for a change in the status of Jerusalem, which is now under the joint administration of Israel and Jordan. Crisis 'failure' of group diplomacy

A former Canadian Foreign Minister, Mr. Paul Martin, has said that the lack between the development of nations and "the world" over how to deal with economic groups and international agencies had brought the U.N. General Assembly to a standstill. The group was set up by the U.N. Secretary-General, Mr. U Thant, to coordinate the work of the various agencies. Protest to UN about bombs

Protesters gathered in front of the United Nations Security Council building in New York on Monday to demand an end to the bombing of North Vietnam. The protesters, who included members of the peace movement and anti-war groups, held a demonstration in front of the Security Council building. They held signs and banners demanding an end to the bombing of North Vietnam. The protesters also held a press conference in front of the Security Council building.

S.A. REJECTS REPORT ON PRISONS

South Africa has rejected a U.N. report on the conditions of the Republic's prisons, saying that it had been misled by the report. The report, which was prepared by a U.N. Commission on Human Rights, stated that the conditions in South African prisons were deplorable. The report also stated that the conditions in South African prisons were deplorable. Men who set the tone wear clothing fashioned of TEIJIN Tetoron

With the creation of Teijin's amazing new 100% man-made fibre "S-100" suiting, synthetics have gone high fashion.

Unlike previous synthetics, it has the luxurious feel and look of genuine silk and wool.

It can be dyed into any number of rich and distinctive colours.

And it surpasses other synthetics in such practical features as wrinkle-resistance, long-wearability, and easy careability.

No wonder fashion leaders of both genders are turning to TEIJIN Tetoron for new items in their wardrobes.

Rebels trained in Tanzania court told

A Tanzanian police officer joined Chinese guerrilla experts in training Malawi rebels, the High Court in Blantyre was told yesterday.

The man was hearing charges against a group of 17 Chinese who entered the country last October under the leadership of a former Malawi Cabinet Minister, Yip Yip Ching, he pleaded "Not guilty".

For the prosecution, James Mwakilinda, who was acting as the Tanzania Special Branch trainer for the Malawi rebels in the use of firearms at a camp near Kibaha, said the group had been trained in the use of firearms at a camp near Kibaha, including the eight accused.

Mwakilinda said that the rebels had been trained for two years but had been sent to Malawi in February 1962 to be trained and equipped from arriving in Malawi.

Mwakilinda told the court that he had seen other Malawians including the eight accused, who had been sent there to be trained in the use of firearms at a camp near Kibaha, including the eight accused.

BRITAIN AND S.A. 'MUST KEEP SEA ROUTE OPEN'

Sir Alec Douglas-Home, leader of the South African Club dinner in London that South Africa and Britain shared joint responsibility in ensuring that trade routes in the Middle East and South Africa were kept open.

The Conservative Party spokesman on foreign affairs said that the government of the policy was the maintenance of the Middle East and South Africa allowing for the free flow of trade in time of war.

He said the danger by last week to the Republic had led South Africa to demand that Britain should meet and cooperate between the two nations should expand.

Sir Alec said "Britain and the boycott will only hinder the movement of goods and services to the Middle East and South Africa."

He added that the British government had obtained a permanent ban from the closure of the Suez Canal.

It would be a fact of future history, he said, that the oil which came to Western Europe would flow freely through the Suez Canal with all the strings attached to it.

Sir Alec said South Africa's policy was to ensure that the Middle East and South Africa were kept open.

If political theory does not prevail, he said, the Middle East and South Africa will be closed.

Save 20% of your copying costs

You know that a good copier on a fixed contract is a economic in most ways. You know that you can save 20% on a Kodak Copier. You know that you can get 50 copies in one hour on a Kodak Copier. At 50¢ per copy with any other copier?

The Kodak Winscop Copier is little bigger than a typewriter. In fact it sits comfortably on any document up to 14 inches wide. It has an immense field of letters, plans, maps and magazine pages, drawings and a whole lot more. It copies in black and white. It has a choice of 10 different copiers which can produce dry, permanent copies or ordinary paper which can be made virtually no servicing. It takes, despite its size and makes virtually no servicing. You rent, or buy it. If this sounds intriguing, you should not meet. Please call today!

SATURDAY ESSAY

Footballing paratroops

Biara very solemnly accused Britain that she was sending 70 paratroops down as footballers, and that she intended to deprive the world of the Nigerian national football team. The Government's "civil war" reporters were struck dumb when this portentous news was broken.

Only a sense of humour can shatter the awe of such accusations, and the "silly" English news that "Biara can blame the Biafrans for Americans for believing the lies" can pass football as a football cricket.

The Biafran representative in New York, Dr. Leitch, who released details of the plot, which he said were passed on to him by the Commissioner for Information in Enugu, said the paratroops were appearing under the alias "Hibernian FC."

"This unusually large football team of 70, which included T. Stevenson and C. Steen, was said to have prepared to head matches in Ghana and Nigeria", Dr. Leitch went on, but he did not reveal any further information obtained on the secret service net, no doubt for fear of counter-espionage, or that the security boys claim the double shop.

However, Secret Agent 3-711, striking agents, and the time at Lagos, will tell all in his report; biographical, with Ponyo Cal trained in the club. In a special message, relayed through Channel Live, 3-711 disclosed the Hibis intended to play a series of un-called soccer matches in Nigeria and Ghana. The circumscribed for Nigeria and only two for Ghana is significant of something in their under-cover activities, but what he had not yet unearthed.

"There is another suspicious group— 3-711 rapped for cover over the private channel. "Their first match was against Nigeria's national team, known as the Green Eagles, in Lagos. Green happens to be the Hibernian club colour in Scotland, and this, as part of the cover plan, is said to have something to do with the Irish in their name. More sinister still, they drew one goal each."

Before 3-711 could explain how sinister, or why, he was rebuffed from behind. Ponyo Cal's No. 1 was hailed off to bed.

It can be stated that the two star para-footballers were spotted, Stevenson and Steen, have been seen in action, as footballers, by secret service agents made up to look like Biafrans. They were carrying a waterbag, and a football, and a first-aid kit, in case they should be taken to hospital. A telephone bomb made up to look like a Biafran, was taken to hospital.

Hibernian's selection for football was made up of Biafrans, and undoubtedly the list of players, of which that of the Biafrans, was made up of 41 or 42, or the ubiquitous Biafrans, who were taken to the Divisional I East in the three recent para-gangs in the city. The Biafrans, who were taken to the Divisional I East in the two raids the victims were capable of giving the press show-by-show accounts of what

These raids do not make a crime wave — not does the fact that on the night the Biafrans took place there was a raid on other houses broken into in the city. The Biafrans, however, said the total of raids is no higher than that of the last year.

The fact that the publicised para gang was well organised is not surprising, for according to the Biafrans, the para-gang are becoming more sophisticated and have been operating for a few months ago.

Some Hibis have been seen in their parades and putative bands, where they omitted to play in the morning. They cleverly disposed of their parades and harpms but there may be a clue to their activities in the hands of the Biafrans who are supposed to carry out the Biafrans' work. Organised panga gangs at work — but no crime wave

Comrades aware of something about the panga gangs are likely to copy them. The most useful information about these gangs can be obtained from inside the gangs themselves. Many housebreakers are considering what they can do to protect their families and their property.

Robberies set off rush for watchmen and burglar alarms

The most serious series of armed robberies being in Nairobi security firms have secured contracts for night watchmen and for burglar alarms and for the supply of the city yesterday.

Homeowners are being urged to get their homes and not only those whose houses are isolated or secluded, have been taking steps to protect themselves. One security firm, Securac, has had a flood of inquiries for various types of alarms. The firm supplies alarms from simple electronic self-actuated systems to fully equipped, radar burglar alarms for factories and aircraft hangars.

Sirens for staff houses

A spokesman said "We are air-freighting alarms from Britain, and we are buying up the entire production of a local firm, Scriben Electronics and Co. I have just had an inquiry from a firm for 50 sirens for 50 staff houses."

Other firms were asking for their staff houses to be wired for alarms. "We would like to take on some really good electronic," the spokesman said "in the last couple of days we have been inundated with orders."

A manager when the Government would never be in a position to supply causal night watchmen, operating with the aid of a mobile which has night-watchmen to look after staff houses while the main part of the house is on safari has charged their firms to prevent night-watchman service.

The Night Security Group, K.C.P.U. Parliament Group for night-watchmen, and security services of monitor rovers with evidence bookkeeping systems and grab rods in broad daylight, their eyes "from the horizon police the impression that there is no one there but the best way for crime to be committed is through the roof."

It was suggested that police officers returned over Kenya, for emergency land which is currently unused, is being taken on extra staff who were expected in Nairobi by the Government. "People are carrying guns," he said, "and it is not safe to have them in the streets."

He added that a house near the central station was to acquire a "good kid" but the Government was not in a position to do so. "The main recommendation made in reply was that staff who go down should be given good advice should be given good advice should be given good advice should be given good advice."

Two statements were issued by Scriben Electronics, which is a subsidiary of the British firm of the same name. West Brom mean business today

Abaluhya leave early for Addis

Standard Correspondent
Last-minute arrangements are being made for Abaluhya footballers and three officials to catch an East African Airways flight to Addis Ababa, Ethiopia, tomorrow morning. The East African club championship will begin there for their second club championship against George's of Ethiopia in Addis tomorrow afternoon.

The full team was scheduled to leave tomorrow morning on a chartered flight arranged by F.A. of Kenya and the K.N.F.I. but it was thought better that the players should receive as much rest as possible before their departure.

The chartered flight will carry about 15 players and officials, but a large number of supporters, who are expected to fly on their own to their flocks.

Yesterday's flight carried the entire first-team members except for Lyons and Mwanaka, their inside-forward, who will be travelling tomorrow as a reserve.

He is still in the injured list suffering from an ankle injury, and is not expected to play in any of the team's matches in Kenya, Nya, and Nairobi tomorrow.

Yesterday's game was quite a close affair. We are confident that we should have done better weeks ago when we were held to a draw by G. of Ethiopia in the first leg on our own ground.

"Tomorrow will be a different matter," said the manager.

Standard Correspondent
West Bromwich Albion can be expected to give a much sharper performance today against the full Tanzania national team after Thurston's hair-raising narrow escape from defeat in the hands of a Dur or Sidam Combined team yesterday.

The local team drew 1-1 with W.B.A. after leading most of the game.

Alan Ashman, the W.B.A. team manager, indicated this when he previewed the Saturday game in Dur or Sidam yesterday. "We are going to show a big improvement. We will be out to win. The boys have already learned that they will have to play football on this sort of pitch if it is just a half-hour's rest."

The F.A. Cup winner's boss commented: "Of course, the boys are travelling affected, but they are not so much as to excuse their performance on Thursday. Our forwards were sluggish compared with the Dur or Sidam players, who were always quick and active. All the Dur players deserved high praise for a great performance," he said.

Ashman was critical of the referee, Mr. Kabaka, who penalized the visitors several times for showing up with a pass, calling for a foul, and for a foul on the goal line. There is nothing wrong with a pass, calling for a foul, and for a foul on the goal line if it is part of the game.

He did not think the presence of the international, Doug Frazer and Bobby Wilson, who played in Nairobi, made any difference. It has been announced that it is expected that Lyons, W.B.A.'s team manager, will be in Dur or Sidam with over 1000 members of the team.

Scottish Flag to win at Miruru

By Michael Cowser
Scottish Flag, who came so depressingly close to winning the Kenya Grand National, independence trophy, yesterday, will probably play the left winger. The Kenyan flag was slightly better than the Scottish flag in this race. In the National Grand National, the Scottish flag was the same weight as in the previous year and was a half length and a short head by Cooper and Luce. This race for as few possible better of with Luce.

On guard against crime

Alarm has spread in Kenya as the result of the series of raids by gangs armed with pangas and other attacks, including murders. While sympathizing with the victims and understanding the fears of law-abiding households, it is felt that their families should be attacked next, it has to be said that crime in Kenya is not as serious as had at first been considered.

Consider the major sweeping Paris, murders and robberies in the Mau Mau area. The British, though in many parts of the world, the night incidents of abductee — in this case, only some examples of conditions in other countries.

What has made the recent Mau Mau raiding, it is the vicious nature of the raids, rather than the usual terror. Some people think, but the victims and the perpetrators are not the same. They are not the same.

Dag Hammarskjöld Prize for heart surgeon

South Africa's leading heart surgeon, Prof. A. Barnard, received the Dag Hammarskjöld Prize for scientific merit at a ceremony at the Stockholm Palace in Stockholm, on Saturday.

Dr. Barnard, who arrived earlier in the week, is in charge of the heart transplant clinic at the Royal Brompton Hospital, Great Portland Street, London.

He thought the prize was really in danger of being snatched by his rival of Great Britain, Dr. Willem van Vliet.

It was the first time that a South African had been awarded the prize.

Dr. Barnard's achievement was to transplant a human heart into a patient who had a diseased heart. He performed the operation in Cape Town in 1967.

The prize was named after Dag Hammarskjöld, the Secretary-General of the United Nations who was killed in a plane crash in 1961.

Another North Vietnamese spokesman said that top leaders of the country are determined to achieve a settlement with the United States and to end the war in Vietnam. He said that the North Vietnamese are willing to discuss the future of the country on a basis of equality and mutual respect.

The spokesman said that the North Vietnamese are not interested in a military victory, but in a peaceful settlement of the conflict.

No progress at talks

American and North Vietnamese spokesmen said that no progress has been made at the Paris peace talks since the last session. The American spokesman said that the North Vietnamese are not interested in a settlement of the conflict.

Police appeal after attack by panga gang

Standard Staff Reporter
Mombasa Police have renewed their appeal to the public to co-operate fully with them on their attempts to eliminate criminals who have lately engaged in a wave of crimes in the town.

The appeal followed a daylight robbery by an armed panga gang of six who snatched a bag containing 1960 from the cashier of a Mombasa company and left the Kisumu Road branch of National and Creditry Bank on Saturday morning.

The robbery, which appeared to have been well organized, took place at 10.15 a.m. as the cashier, Mr. Akubak A. Harawa, and a messenger stepped from the bank with the money.

Six men armed with pangas attacked the cashier and threatened him.

Messenger battered

The messenger, although unarmed, resisted and was hit on the shoulder with a rump. He later had to receive hospital treatment for his wounds.

After grabbing the money, the gang made off in a Peugeot taxi car, registration KAV 914. The police believed the car was one which had been reported stolen in India, although it had false number plates.

The car was later recovered in Mwapong, and police confirm that it was the car reported stolen.

Police said the gang consisted of six Africans, while an eye-witness said he saw six Africans, each wearing a panga, seated with an Asian driver. The gang drove towards the port.

East 873 K, which had stepped from the bag, was recovered.

No arrests have so far been made.

Jeff Aduh breaks the ball goalkeeper during the first half of Saturday's match between West Bromwich and Tottenham in the Dorr's Shield. The ball entered the net despite the heroics of four Tottenham defenders on the goal-line. It was Aduh's second goal-scoring triumph for West Brom. His first was against a Dorr's Shield XI on Thursday.

West Brom again held to 1-1 draw

West Bromwich Albion's Freeman boots the ball into the Tottenham net in their match at Dorr's Stadium on Saturday - but the goal was disallowed by the referee. Kivorno is in goal.

Standard Staff Reporter
Tottenham drew 1-1 with the League FA Cup winners West Bromwich Albion at the National Stadium, Dorr's Stadium, on Saturday.

Both goals were scored in the first half. The first was scored by Jeff Aduh, who had been named in Tottenham's starting line-up. The second was scored by Freeman, who had been named in Tottenham's starting line-up.

The match was an exhibition of real soccer, and set the standard of Tottenham's football against the London club, which also scored in a 1-1 draw.

The game started at a hot pace, with the visitors opening the attack but they lacked finishing power and were unable to penetrate Tottenham's defence.

Tottenham dominated the first half but they failed to find the net. The fourth minute saw Jeff Aduh, who had been named in Tottenham's starting line-up, score a goal which was disallowed by the referee. Kivorno is in goal.

Kidman Steeplechase to Scottish Flag

By Michael Clover

Yesterday's race meeting at Limuru was entered by the fatal accident of Mr. Geoff Martin's High Tea in the Jim Kidman Steeplechase...

FULL RESULTS AT LIMURU

1. The Third and Fourth Owners' Handicap (1400m) won by Mr. M. J. O'Connell's 'The Duke'...

2. The 12th Annual 'Mushroom' Handicap (1400m) won by Mr. M. J. O'Connell's 'The Duke'...

'The French Revolution'

How can the French Government hold down the cost of living so that increased wages, agreed to end the eight-day paralysis of industry, result in a rise in purchasing power? This must be the crucial question exercising the minds of economists as the package deal announced by the Prime Minister.

Mr. Pompidou has the information and extremely experienced task of devising in President de Gaulle during the distasteful negotiations with employer and union representatives. The Prime Minister has to be a diplomat of policy in a remote, Olympus sort of way, but the Prime Minister has to work out the practical application on the ground.

Increased pay for a shorter working month will jeopardise the French trading position, accompanied by increased productivity. Therefore, some doubt exists concerning France's role in the European Common Market, particularly regarding its ability to remove all trade barriers by July 1, as stipulated. Through the C.G.T., the Communists influence have signalled they are not over-keenly concerned about these sections of organised labour and employees are inescapably pro-Parisians.

There needs little doubt that the wave of unrest rising to such a scale as to be dubbed "The French Revolution", has almost as much to do with opposition to President de Gaulle's personal authority of power and refusal to make progressive concessions as to a determination to re-organise industry or opportunity for the Communist seeking to exploit political advantage from the crisis. Despite the Communist Party's stand-offish rejection of the students, the series of incidents has been actively ignored from the extreme right meeting natural reactions from the extreme right.

Ritter street fighting followed the President's call last Friday for a referendum, promising to resign if the result goes against him. The French nation saw through this subterfuge in the sense that, assuming he wins, he will receive a mandate to pursue more inflexible economic policies, which the working masses consider oppressive of their rights and defying their standards of living.

Thus, the Communists have urged the working masses not to be deceived by Mr. Pompidou's promises (made to President de Gaulle's agent) and while they have not overtly shown the student demonstration, they have used removal of the strikers and occupation of work places, multitudes of their own committees for a popular Government, at least the French Communists are trying to exploit a reputation of the Fifth Republic.

Common rule, which would be equally as disastrous as the current one.

In these troubled circumstances, it is the external credit of the French new Government, which has not taken firm measures to avert political interference, from official or party pressure.

The students, who began the riots out of their impatience with the Government's policies and their demands for reform, have now been organised to conduct further demonstrations. They are reported as "Danny the Red", their Communist ally. Daniel Cohn-Bendit has reported as having returned to France in January. The irony is that Danny the Red is a 23-year-old West German student and, after several years of opposition, the French still harbour suspicion of their traditional enemies across the Rhine.

The outbreak of street fighting has been the worst since the Second World War. Compared with the situation prevailing during the 1958 General Strike, it has been worse. The Government's efforts are being frustrated by the violence.

The Government's efforts are being frustrated by the violence. The students are not only demanding higher wages, but they are also demanding a shorter working week. The Government is trying to meet their demands by increasing wages, but this is leading to inflation.

The Government's efforts are being frustrated by the violence. The students are not only demanding higher wages, but they are also demanding a shorter working week. The Government is trying to meet their demands by increasing wages, but this is leading to inflation.

They will then see their new rate of pay capped by increased taxation? It is claimed that 25 hours of negotiation between Mr. Pompidou, for the Government, and representatives of the strikers, for the unions have achieved results for demands which had lain dormant for several years. The three partners to the agreement have yet to determine how to hold down the cost of living so that real wages will rise. They are now being told to do this.

The present agreement, which is for a vast examination of all problems concerning purchasing power of money. The present agreement, which is for a vast examination of all problems concerning purchasing power of money.

Send jets to Israel now says Sen. Kennedy

EMBASSY 'Face facts' call MARCH IN LONDON

The United States should supply Israel immediately with the 50 Phantom jets she has long promised, Senator Robert Kennedy said in Portland, Oregon, yesterday.

Speaking at a meeting of Port's Jewish residents, the New York senator said the United States must provide Israel with such weapons to secure it from outside aggression.

The United States promises "never more the waning in Israel of the 50 Phantom jets she has long been promised," he said. "It should be no longer delay," Sen. Kennedy said. Presidential candidates who are campaigning in Oregon, he said, "if they did not see that, like so many other places in the world, our commitment is crumbling."

"We are committed to Israel's survival. We are committed to its right to destroy Israel whenever it chooses," he said.

"The next step is to refuse to permit Israel to become the victim of the massive arms sale to the United States that would deprive Israel of the type of sophisticated arms necessary to fight against outside aggression," he said.

At the first anniversary on Sunday of Jerusalem's reunification last July, including the February 1967, Sen. Eban and the National Jewish leader, Mr. Menachem Begin, had a meeting with Kennedy.

A special thanksgiving service attended by 30,000 was held at the Walling Wall to mark the day's "liberation" at the end of last year's six-day war.

Mr. Eban presided over the inauguration of a "mass funeral" in what was formerly a speaker's bureau separating Jordan and Israel. He stressed the "disappointment" of "Israel's people" especially in light of the "unpleasant disposition" of the peace negotiations.

He had denounced those quarters of his Government's diplomacy that had failed to bring the peace measures taken by Israeli authorities to Arab Jerusalem and which had been adopted.

Mr. Begin said 3,000 delegates had attended the ceremony, the largest of its kind in the history of the State of Israel. He said Arab hostilities should be ended and a body pleads would be held in the future.

He declared that Israel's security depended not on arms which had never been offered to Israel.

Twenty-two people appeared in court yesterday after London police officers arrested them on charges of conspiring to bring demonstrators together to storm the Embassy.

Prime Minister Harold Wilson said the demonstrators who had gathered in Britain for the student protest in London were "not a part of the student movement" and had been "heavily guarded" by British police.

Some 1,300 demonstrators gathered in London to protest against the Government's foreign policy and the demonstrators were arrested.

Police fighting developed among the demonstrators themselves but no serious damage was done.

'Face facts' call Lesotho leader

Lesotho's Prime Minister, Mr. Maseru, said that the "face facts" of the country's political situation were such that the Government should resign. He said the Government had failed to bring the country to a state of order.

Growing popular among Kisii farmers

The Kenya Agricultural Development Corporation (KADC) has been successful in introducing a new type of fertilizer to Kisii farmers. The fertilizer, known as 'Kisii', is a special type of fertilizer which is suitable for the soil conditions of the Kisii district. It has been found to be very effective in increasing the yield of crops such as maize and beans. The KADC has been providing training and technical assistance to the farmers to help them use the fertilizer correctly. The farmers are now growing crops in much larger quantities than before, and their incomes have increased significantly. The KADC is continuing to work with the farmers to improve their farming practices and to provide them with the latest agricultural technology.

STUDENTS TO GET PRIZES

The Kisii District Education Officer, Mr. J. M. Ochieng, has announced that prizes will be awarded to the best students in the district for their achievements in the various subjects. The prizes will be presented to the students at a ceremony to be held in Kisii. The students who have performed exceptionally well in the various subjects are: (List of names and subjects). The prizes are intended to encourage the students to continue to work hard and to strive for excellence in their studies. The District Education Officer is pleased to see the progress that the students have made and hopes that they will continue to achieve high marks in the future.

Prevent Wrinkles Under the Eyes

As you grow older, you may notice the appearance of wrinkles under your eyes. This is a natural part of the aging process, but there are ways to prevent or reduce the appearance of wrinkles. One of the best ways to do this is by using a good quality eye cream. Eye cream helps to keep the skin around your eyes hydrated and supple, which can help to prevent wrinkles from forming. You should also avoid rubbing your eyes, as this can irritate the skin and lead to wrinkles. Finally, wearing sunglasses and using a sunblock can help to protect your skin from the harmful effects of the sun, which can also contribute to wrinkles.

Sir Ivor's Derby - if he stays

Caddy Carr follows the home on the Derby, but there is a cloud of uncertainty over the two main rivals, Sir Ivor and the Duke of Devonshire.

Once again, the classic trials have largely confirmed the favourite's position. The Duke of Devonshire, who was second in the Derby, is in a strong position to make a push at Epsom this year. He has a good horse who was second in the Derby, and a half point against Sir Ivor.

Yet, in the case of Sir Ivor, the Duke of Devonshire is in a strong position to make a push at Epsom this year. He has a good horse who was second in the Derby, and a half point against Sir Ivor.

Conspicuous has the claim to continue his critics. He has a good horse who was second in the Derby, and a half point against Sir Ivor.

For this week's Derby, Carr has a good horse who was second in the Derby, and a half point against Sir Ivor.

Smallest post-war field

The thousands of Londoners who will be watching the Derby on Saturday will be watching the smallest post-war field.

Everything with the possible exception of the Duke of Devonshire, who was second in the Derby, is in a strong position to make a push at Epsom this year.

Knockout soccer at Nakuru

Commercial knockout soccer matches are dominating the scene at Nakuru at the moment.

The first match was between the Nakuru and the Nakuru. The match was a close one, with the Nakuru leading 2-1.

West Brom move on to Kampala

THE W.A.A. CREST

West Bromwich Albion, the English F.A. Cup holders, play the third game of their East Africa tour in Kampala...

Sterling defensive work by the two Tanzania teams last Thursday and Saturday caused them well-deserved draws against the international football team...

The West Brom manager, Mr. Alan Ashman, has made no lance comment on his side's obviously unimpressive opening of the tour.

Abaluhya return in triumph

Standard Staff Reporter

The victorious Abaluhya F.C. team arrived back in Nairobi this morning after completing a 3-1 victory over Geopora at the second international Africa Club Cup game in Addis Ababa on Sunday.

Abaluhya moved into the second round of the competition by defeating Geopora 3-1 in the first leg. The return match was won 2-0 on Sunday.

The East Africa club champions from Nairobi returned what was thought to be the impossible by defeating St. George's away from home.

The match captain and Kenya's international full-back, Jonathan Njiru, said before the team left for Addis Ababa that they were confident of winning the cup.
