and the three more he had arrested. He wrote a letter to Mr. Cameron (who was in charge of the police) at the Barrage district at Easton Road, asking for no admission to the affray.

Vague answer
He asked Mr. Cameron who was going to Easton Road, to give him a copy of his report on the events of the previous hours. That afternoon Mr. Simpson went to the Barrage district and was told that the affray had taken place on the way he met two of the boys who were arrested. GOING FASTER AND FASTER

by W. ROBERT FORDER
(Hon coach to A.A.A.)

OVER all distances, from 100 yards to the Marathon (26 miles 385 yards), times are being lowered and new records set. And with this advance many more athletes are fast approaching world standards.

If so doing many of them have bettered the records of yesterday and are considered to be only a few years away from the standards which, in some cases, leads to modern performance. For instance, in the 100 yards, the world record of 15.5 sec. was set by one of the second world war heroes, the American, who set the record in 1925. The best time today is 14.5 sec. set by the American, who set the record in 1948. There is perhaps a greater margin in the 200 yards.

In praise of Thomson's Falls golf course

OPEN had heard of Thomson's Falls—mainly from Jack MacDonagh, who used to 'pitch' on the Golf Course and of how good it would be when the new green were in substitution. The first course in the country 'in the making' was all that I took of course with a view to the future. The course is now in the making and is expected to be one of the best in the country. The course is now in the making and is expected to be one of the best in the country.

Every time that I go to Thomson's Falls, I find it a most interesting place. The course is now in the making and is expected to be one of the best in the country. The news from San Francisco had a mixed reception in London

The science of nougths and crosses

NEWS from San Francisco of the conference to sign the Japanese Peace Treaty had a mixed reception here. Millions of newspaper readers are puzzled and tend to think of a conference organised by the United States—champion of free world peace—as a small group of dissenting voices who are fiercely divided down.

The "Science of Nougths and Crosses" was the title of the conference, which was held in San Francisco. The conference was held in San Francisco, California, and was held in San Francisco, California. The conference was held in San Francisco, California, and was held in San Francisco, California.

JINJA GRAIN CONDITIONING PLANT NEARING COMPLETION

The first of its kind in East Africa, the grain conditioning and storage plant near the railway station at Jinja is now nearly complete. The question of grain storage engaged the attention of the Uganda Government before the war and very soon after the war consultations were held by the Agricultural Department as to the best way of providing storage, whether by 500-ton concrete units scattered over the country or local government headquarters, by conditioning and storage in bags, or by silo storage.

In mid-1948 a decision was taken in favour of silo storage and the plant was ordered from Britain. It was designed to store 10,000 tons of grain. It was then followed a year later by the construction of a second silo, but the many conflicting demands throughout the country for the result of special representations by the Uganda Government to the British Government, the first material was shipped in March 1951 and the contractors were working on the site shortly after.

The grain is raised up by motor conveyors as soon as receiving from the growers and is stored in a centrally mechanized plant. Training of Craftsmen

To the Editor, "East African Standard":
 Since your edition of September 7 you published under the heading "An Issue for East Africa" many true advocates of African advancement for the continent. It is a pity that the Government of Kenya has not taken any steps to encourage the training of craftsmen in Africa and Africa, and his programme must be expanded as well as possible, even were it to start from the scratch.

But it is not axiomatic. It comes from the ancient, unchangeable, true advocate of African advancement for the continent. It is a pity that the Government of Kenya has not taken any steps to encourage the training of craftsmen in Africa and Africa, and his programme must be expanded as well as possible, even were it to start from the scratch.

THE HELICOPTER COMES OF AGE

OF a branch of aviation, the development of the helicopter has been slow. At the present time when we are seeing the first signs of interest in helicopter services in British East Africa, the present commercial operations in Britain are not so numerous as they are in the United States and it is not so easy to find out what is practically as old flying craft.

It was in 1917 that the Louis Bréguet helicopter made its first flight. Two years later, Igor Sikorsky, who gave his name to what is today the most widely used type of helicopter, began experimenting with this type of aircraft.

Development of the fixed-wing aeroplane has been rapid. The demands of war needs, which until recently the helicopter has been thought of little value in a fighting aircraft. That I think is the answer to the question "Why has the helicopter taken so long to get on its feet?"

Only now, when the helicopter has been used in a number of ways, with the exception of British East Africa, some of the big commercial airlines appear to be getting interested.

As the helicopter has been left to have very little, generally being used of the great aerobically-built, four, six, eight, and ten engine aircraft.

Schemes and dreams
The helicopter, which is a small, compact, and easy to handle, has been put to use in many ways. It has been used for rescue work, for transport, for observation, and for many other purposes.

YOU meet them all along the roads of Western Europe at this time of the year—the young men and women thumbing their way across the Continent, changing at youth hostels, sleeping in barns, and putting up at cheap little wayside inns, learning from lorry drivers, commercial travellers, private contractors, anyone who will give them a lift the ways of their international neighbours, exploring with open eyes the best of personal adventure and at the smallest cost that money and ingenuity can achieve. It has become the fashion.

STAMPS

BY DERYK JAMES

...mentors mention of the Channel Islands usually made either the date of their occupation during the war or the five commemorative stamps which marked the third anniversary of their liberation. The latter part was the subject of a special comment. They had been used to give a clue as to their date of occupation—something which the designs—especially the three on the other Channel Islands—did not indicate. However, it is a pair with the Liberation stamps of the Channel Islands which are the five stamps of Her Majesty the Queen.

...of the value of the stamps. Great Britain King George VI set with their original a stamp-off postage form which will kill the use of a "postage" mode of clearance. One who has a space for the stamp set will be able to use it for the purpose. In the past, the postage for Her Majesty's Islands was a separate document. It was a separate document.

In July 1949, Mr. J. G. James, who was the first to suggest the idea of a stamp-off postage form, was appointed by Mr. E. Coker of the firm that designed the stamps. The stamps were issued in the form of a separate document. It was a separate document.

THE United States has 45 stamps which feature the figure of a man. However, the stamps are not all of the same value. The stamps are not all of the same value.

TANGANYIKA'S 'PRISON WITHOUT WALLS'

KINGOLWIRA PRISON FARM in Tanganyika probably one of the first 'prisons without walls' in Africa, has proved an experiment that has expanded into a vast farm of 2,000 acres with 1,000 long-term occupations.

The labor still remains the same—to provide training for long-term prisoners so that on release they can take their place as useful members of the community. Originally it was intended that these prisoners would settle with their families and cultivate ground near the prison farm colony but now the scheme has been broadened to include prisoners as well as long-term occupations.

The prison farm, which is 15 miles east of Dar es Salaam in the Eastern Province of Tanganyika, has been equipped with the most modern machinery and installed

The dairy is up to date and today in East Africa and dairy produce. The system will allow things up to 100 gallons of milk. This is a great improvement on the old system of milking.

Most of the produce from the farms is consumed by the prisoners and the staff. In the main women do the work for Tanganyika and there are 100 women convicts and their crafts and farming with the stimulus of fitting them out for a useful life after discharge.

In the picture above working party is seen returning to the prison farm. As can be seen in the picture on the left, the main entrance to the prison has no gate.

AFTER KENYA'S HOCKEY VICTORY

Vibes of international players

AFTER the Kenya hockey side had beaten the all-International Britain and Ireland team by three goals to two at the City Park Stadium, Nairobi, on Wednesday evening, the comment of the tourists' captain was: "It was a close game. We knew we should have a tight game and there was a high standard of play."

Because of a strained leg muscle the speaker, Stanley De Lacey, at times copped for Ireland, and had been unable to take part in the match.

De Lacey's comment that the Kenya team would play against the British hockey side again in the next few days from their camp in the grounds of the Kenya Cricket Club, was a statement of confidence in their own prowess.

Another member of the touring party, who had been expected to lead the team when they changed their venue to Kenya, but they were then too weak down. But they were confident of their own prowess.

The Festival psychology does not seem to have worked

WITH Edinburgh's Festival of Drama and Music just closed, a columnist in the northern capital's leading newspaper suggests an official should be appointed to give an authoritative ruling on the Festival's future. He is tired of being asked if Edinburgh had a good festival. He recalls that Traversey in San Francisco who wanted to discover the size of a crowd would ask a well-known retired policeman. The "expert" did not know any better than anybody else but his word was law.

If agree with my Scottish colleague. We are having the same case in London. Do you think the Festival's been a success?—The Spectator in a page.

Putting my own impression on it, I think the Festival was a success because the word "festival" is not used in the sense of the average tourist. The general atmosphere of the South Bank Festival was that of a party. It was a party in the sense that it was a party to the people of London. It was a party to the people of London. It was a party to the people of London.

Tanganyika Europeans reject proposals

CONSTITUTION REPORT CRITICISED

MR. N. TYRRELL Acting President of the Tanganyika European Council has said: "From preliminary reports I have received from council members and regional committees it is evident that wherever public meetings have been held to date European opinion is definitely against the acceptance of the recommendations of the Committee on Constitutional Development and supports fully its statement made by the executive committee. This will be done at a public meeting held in each region, and the results of these meetings will be reported to the regional committees. The regional committees will then make recommendations to the Executive Council, which will be the final body to decide on the proposed changes. The regional committees will also be asked to make suggestions for improvement to the proposed constitution.

SEPARATION IS NOT A NECESSITY

By Mary Saint

I WONDER how many husbands in Kenya have the idea that separation is the shadow of divorce.

It is a common error to believe that in England, where the law is more liberal, a husband and wife can separate and live apart for ever without any legal consequences.

It is true that in England, a husband and wife can separate and live apart for ever without any legal consequences. But in Kenya, the law is different.

Show him you have confidence

By Robina Wright

THE majority of fathers are apparently helpless with little children, as Mary Kenyon says in a recent article. But who makes them so? Why, even encourages them to? Women do, of course, and wives carry on where mothers have checked.

Confidence

If you have your husband at all, you are in a position to help him to do his job. It is not the confidence of the man alone that counts.

It is not the confidence of the man alone that counts. It is the confidence of the woman that counts.

SUGGESTION FOR RAISING THE MORALE

WANTING to look after a subject in a certain way is not enough. It is the way in which you do it that counts.

THE NYLON AGE

Elsa M. Sanders in her London letter gives us some of the startling and attractive uses of nylon.

THE word "Nylon" has a peculiar fascination for women, conjuring up ideas that cling seductively to the ankles. But nowadays stockings are only one of two hundred articles made from nylon.

Man-made

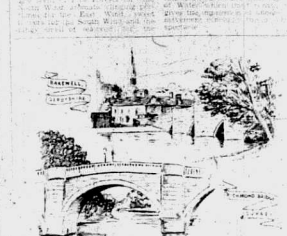

People wonder what the nylon fibre is made of. It is a synthetic fibre, made from a mixture of carbon and hydrogen.

Accidental

Do you know that nylon was discovered by accident? It was discovered by a chemist named Wallace Carothers.

The Colonisation of Kenya

BY H. R. TATE

WE have little evidence that the Romans became well acquainted with tropical Africa, but we do know that in the time of Nero (A.D. 54-68) they pushed their explorations up the Nile Valley beyond the junction of the White Nile and Blue Nile. They were soon discovered by the Emperor Trajan.

"Bless, O my God, the power of the sea breeze that And the broad sea set in the sunset of the day."

Carthage, the East of Britain, did not establish the V. C. Dairy Farm at Nettle until the 18th century, arriving in British East Africa from the coast of the Red Sea.

Historical East Africa, beyond the coast region, nevertheless retained a fierce independence to the civilized world until 1885, when the British Empire was established in the region.

A Portrait of PRINCESS ELIZABETH by Godfrey Winn

When, on my last visit to America, I had the good fortune of being invited by Margaret Truman to the White House, she asked me an honest opinion over an English cup of tea to which I was able to give an equally honest reply. This was the question:

"Are the Princess and Margaret more attractive personally than you, or do you prefer 'the view from the window'?"

"Certainly not," I replied. "The Princess and Margaret are more beautiful than I. But the view from the window is more beautiful because it is a really beautiful view and a really beautiful scene. The Princess and Margaret are more beautiful than I, but the view from the window is more beautiful because it is a really beautiful view and a really beautiful scene."

Twice as pretty

I realized that conversation with Margaret Truman was the first time I had been asked to compare my appearance with that of a royal princess when he came to the United States to attend to the coronation of Elizabeth II. And the first time I had been asked to compare my appearance with that of a royal princess when he came to the United States to attend to the coronation of Elizabeth II.

Radiantly happy

No, I did not feel that I was being asked to compare my appearance with that of a royal princess when he came to the United States to attend to the coronation of Elizabeth II.

Standard RADIO BROADCASTING TRANSMITTERS

Throughout the world, Standard radio broadcasting transmitters play their part of information and entertainment with unobscured efficiency.

In a few days' time, Princess Elizabeth, with her husband, the Duke of Edinburgh, will be sailing from Liverpool for Quebec in the liner Empress of France, for their tour of Canada and visit to Washington as the guests of President Truman.

Here, Godfrey Winn draws the young wife and mother who will one day be Queen, with great grace and an increasing sense of responsibility, in a beautiful picture. He has seen her all day, long waiting for the moment to come and the time to part. He has seen her in the papers and on the radio and in the news.

Edinburgh story

Let me tell you one story that I think will interest you. It is the story of the Duke of Edinburgh's first trip to the United States. He was with Princess Elizabeth when she was still a child, and he has known her ever since. He was with her when she was a young girl, and he has known her ever since.

Princess's comment

Princess Elizabeth was asked a question during her visit to the United States. She was asked what she thought of the American people. She replied that they were very friendly and that she enjoyed her visit.

...and then a second time a third being both Prince Charles and later Ian. At the time of the wedding, she was 17 years old and he was 19. They were married in the chapel of St. Dunstons in London.

Fact, not legend

That is a common legend. It is said that the Duke of Edinburgh was a very good-looking young man. However, this is not true. He is a very good-looking young man, but he is not a very good-looking young man.

Innate control

The Duke of Edinburgh has a very innate control. He is a very good-looking young man, but he is not a very good-looking young man. He has a very innate control, and he is a very good-looking young man.

...and she was very shy by nature. She was a very shy girl, and she was very shy by nature. She was a very shy girl, and she was very shy by nature.

Shy by nature

The Princess was very shy by nature. She was a very shy girl, and she was very shy by nature. She was a very shy girl, and she was very shy by nature.

Sincerity of speech

The Princess has a sincerity of speech. She is a very good-looking young man, but he is not a very good-looking young man. She has a sincerity of speech, and she is a very good-looking young man.

...and she was very shy by nature. She was a very shy girl, and she was very shy by nature. She was a very shy girl, and she was very shy by nature.

Unselfish

The Princess is unselfish. She is a very good-looking young man, but he is not a very good-looking young man. She is unselfish, and she is a very good-looking young man.

TRIBES OF THE NORTHERN FRONTIER

THE BURJI, migrants from Abyssinia

BY MERRELL DALTON

THE Burji are a small community of agriculturalists, formerly a slave tribe from the Yavello and Gashalla districts of Abyssinia who migrated south over the border in the early twenties to the Moyale and Marsabit areas of the Northern Frontier to avoid the arbitrary harshness of the Habasha rule.

Most of their hereditary custom seems to have been left to their own country, and the major portion of their laws, though often have been covered by the Islamic and other provisions of the Courts, are common with those of the Abyssinians.

They are now purchasing land to raise the marriage fee, but the practice is much lessening and many are becoming Christians and are being treated as such. They are now being treated as a separate community and are being treated as such.
