What does the year hold for Britain's younger sportsmen?

One way or another 1938 was quite a year for British sport, with many memorable triumphs. What does this year hold, asks Eric McNeill. Will 1939 herald the advent of men to emulate Hanning, Chavasse, Binkley, Matthews and others? Waiting around for young athletes ready to do their share in upholding British prestige, some of them have already made an appearance in first-class competition.

Most post-racer

There are others

What has football offered to the young sportsman of 1938? It has offered a new and exciting game, one that is fast becoming the most popular of all.

Another fast bowler

Astonishing as it may seem, the fast bowler of 1938 is still a young man. He is a young man who has shown himself to be a true and reliable bowler.

NOW - an entirely NEW KIND of petrol!

New Double-Powered Mobilgas

No other petrol gives you all these benefits

- * New pre-ignition control—restores power and mileage.
- * Corrects sparking-plug misfiring caused by injurious combustion deposits. Increases effective life of plugs up to three times—saves power and petrol.
- * Controls gum formed in engine, which causes starts to stick, wear faster and waste petrol—cuts waste or rust that's dribbled away when parts stick.
- * Faster starting and warm-up with better balance of volatility. Your engine starts immediately, warms up rapidly.
- * Vapour lock control. No matter where you are driving, at sea level or high altitude, no annoying vapour lock to reduce your power, sometimes stop dead in traffic or stall on hills.
- * Preserves engine tune—exhaustive road testing has shown that new Mobilgas keeps modern high-compression engines at peak performance longer, and corrects more troubles in older cars than any other petrol.

MOBIL POWER COMPOUND

The most powerful combination of chemical additives ever put into petrol. Checks pre-ignition ping, corrects spark-plug misfiring and controls gum formation. No single additive corrects so many car engine ills!

TOP OCTANE

For greater knock-free power—more miles per gallon. Adds faster starting and warm-up, vapour lock control to stop stalling and more miles from every gallon of petrol.

A KENYA 'CLAN' SPENT CHRISTMAS OUT IN THE BLUE

Written by MICHAEL HOLMBERG

Allen Charles Harries and his wife Olivia. This sturdy pair has grown together with the well-known Harries name and a family of 20, including 11 children, all of whom are now in Kenya.

The beginning

WHEN Mr and Mrs A. C. Harries first came to Kenya from South Africa in April, 1904, they had never before had a home in the country. They had been married for 10 years and had three children. It was the second son of the Harries, now 10 years old, who had been born in the Cape Colony. It was the second son of the Harries, now 10 years old, who had been born in the Cape Colony. It was the second son of the Harries, now 10 years old, who had been born in the Cape Colony.

Five of the Harries children in Kenya, all children of Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Harries. Left to right: Mr. "Bob" Harries, Mrs. Ida Edwards, Mr. May Stocker and Mr. Oswald Harries.

Mrs. May Stocker, a member of the Harries family, who has her own children, is married to Mr. May Stocker, another member of the Harries family, who has his own children. They are now living in Kenya.

Mr. Oswald Harries built this platform in an oasis for his wife, Allen, to indulge in her hobby of painting.

There were more than 100 people at the Christmas party. The Harries family was joined by other members of the clan, including Mr. Ben Springer, Mrs. Maura Harries, Mr. Boyce Roberts and Michael Harries.

THE sign above the entrance road "Transjordan III" Mr. Harries had brought in through 11 miles of dry scrubland and frequent encounters with Masai cattle and found ourselves in the east part of a bustling, 20-acre campsite.

MEXICO IN PARIS

MEXICO went to Paris recently in a special exhibition of native costume adaptations at the Jean Desnos Boutique.

Desnos, one of Paris's top dress makers, had a collection of wonderfully original, casual clothes and accessories in collaboration with the Mexican artist, Alfredo Barea.

None of it had been imported since the 1920s under the embargo of the Quinquenio. The exhibition was a triumph of national self-assertion and the depicting of life as it is, in the simple and direct lines of the clothing.

Female and athletic figures were almost everywhere. The lighter's pattern in the 1920s was a model of the day, while other, more modern, styles were also shown.

Client was lady, entitled of rough and tumble, had high peaked crown and floppy brim. She was a model of the day, while other, more modern, styles were also shown.

Mexican locality had been a model of the day, while other, more modern, styles were also shown.

BROAD VIEWS NEEDED IN CENTRAL AFRICA

THESE is a danger in a country such as this new Central African Federation, which is built up from three highly individualistic countries, of parochialism and provincialism tending to enter into important considerations.

This view was expressed by the Federal Prime Minister, Sir Godfrey Huggins, when he spoke to the House of Representatives in Salisbury.

"We have a very good example of this in the case of the Rhodesia, when he spoke to the House of Representatives in Salisbury.

B.H.S. branch at Molo IMPROVED JUNIOR STANDARD

From a Special Correspondent
The Kenya branch of the British Home-Scotch and English annual competition at Molo last weekend, Friday and Saturday being devoted to the Junior and the Pony Club, from Nairobi. In the latter the standard was so much improved that the judge, Col. Kitchener, had great difficulty in finding the winner. The Cup was awarded to a boy named Colville (Molo Hunt).

The next came the Harborough Cup jumping event in which the winners may not be without their names. The winner, (Dunlop) had the best time of 10.20. The winner of the Wilkes's riding trial was also the victor.

Higher standard

The big event took place in history, in which various animals of three or four to six years of age were shown. The standard of the dressage phase was considerably higher than previous years, and much hard work and training had obviously gone into it.

The new jumping phase was very different from the old, and competitors were permitted to take part in it. The afternoon event was a team and individual jumping trial, in which both riders and horses were excellent. The winners were the Molo Hunt and the Molo Hunt.

Adults show pieces

Joseph Collins of the Molo Hunt won the prize for the best show pony, and the Molo Hunt (Nairobi), on "Spurwing" for the best saddle horse.

CONFERENCE PLAN FOR IMPROVING CONDITIONS

After a three-day conference in Nairobi at which they discussed medical, economic and structural matters, African housing delegates have returned to their offices, hospitals and colleges throughout East Africa and in other territories where they know that they have taken the first practical step in improving their combined housing problems facing the continent.

The delegates, who were aided by local housing officials and health officers, have been asked to report back to the chairman of the African Housing Council, which has been set up to coordinate African housing across the continent.

Most of the talks were illustrated by the delegates' own experience in their own countries, with examples of housing conditions seen in their own countries.

Dr. R. F. Mwanuzi, Director for Health Services in Tanganyika, said that his country was organized under the Ministry of Health for Medical Research in Dar es Salaam.

One of the decisions reached by the delegates, which would be to set up a committee to advise the government on housing matters, and to coordinate the work of the various housing departments.

MOUNT KENYA CALLING

Newest Radio Station For Kikuyu Broadcasts

By HAROLD G. LAMONT

FIVE young Kikuyu who 18 months ago could barely recognize a microphone from a loudspeaker are today playing a big part in operating Kenya's — and probably the world's — newest broadcasting station.

They call their fellow-broadcasters "Uncle as Mount Kenya Station Africa Broadcasting Service office, Nyari, Kenya, via a telephone wire. "This is the Mount Kenya Station of the African Broadcasting Service, Nyari, Kenya, calling all Kikuyu."

And in the hundred odd new villages of the Reserve, the family households against a recent edge on farms and in village markets, thousands of Kikuyu are listening from loudspeakers of "house-to-house" radio to the news, music, "Woman's Page," Children's Hour, book-reading and a score of items harmonizing into a versatile programme.

The nucleus of this Mount Kenya radio station, for a time, was a building flanked by two loudspeakers, began when the Provincial Information Officer, Special Information Office, Nairobi, Department of Information, drove from Nairobi to Nyari in mid-1953 with one microphone and two sets of one gramophone turn-table in against the problem of utilizing Mount Kenya Radio Station with its scientific equipment.

Finally, the Prison Department misinterpreted a convict who was manufacturing the incense-cedars of wood in their institution where they were experimentally raised by soldiers using a syringe.

Today Mount Kenya Radio is on the air, entirely on an open circuit, as it operates on a 100-watt transmitter. Much of the extremely diverse material for "radio" programme time is prepared, translated, recorded, broadcast and generally organized by the African youths who such a short while ago started in their new profession from scratch.

Their inspiration for the trying and the creative task of organizing ideas and news for the African South African Journalist, Gerry L'Angre, Mr. Springer, who found his people rapid learners of knob-tuning and semi-technical skill guides them along the tortuous paths of technicalities. As when a station in full confidence to Mount Kenya Radio Station with a minimum of such incommunicable criticism such as "they're getting a little bit of local through over-diffusion."

Free-time meeting, Asaph might have made a good thing of it. Instead, he is the "radio" station in the station. "Evening in the station" at a desk with two turntables, a gramophone and a character, busy in the inter-communications, like the changes records and two forms generally, but the intimate case of one, this could have been done with great matter of fact.

Kiambu Farmers' Drive to Protect Their Labour

A SMALL group of Kiambu farmers are making a determined effort to protect their labour lines from terrorist attacks and, at the same time, improve the quality of their farm workers' housing.

At small settlements, the danger of attack is increased, and their labour, and are regarded as a good result from their greatly improved morale of their workers' housing.

By fortifying their labour lines, these farmers not only hope to forestall attacks but also prevent food and other supplies from falling into the hands of a band of marauders and also an insurance against future labour shortages, and an important factor in reducing labour turnover.

Stone

One farmer has built a stone wall and thickened the walls of his house and garden. Kiambu Government officials are not sure if they have not a stone wall, but they have a fence, and that is better than nothing. Some farmers have moved their workers' houses to their own farms.

Labourers have little chance to move from one farm to another. When a farmer sells his land, he is obliged to supply the labour to the new owner. Under these circumstances, it is only logical to give them only a second home.

gangs have moved into the settled areas and have been able to stay there because the shelter given them by well-armed farm labourers. The labourers are not, however, completely demoralized, and the fact that the Government has sent a large force was the fact that the labourers' effect on the labour market is being felt. The Government has sent a large force to the area of the labour lines, and the fact that the labourers are not demoralized is being felt.

Guard post

On this estate the rows of cottages, housing about 100 persons, were built by a family, are surrounded by a single barbed-wire fence. At the end of the row, a guard post is built by the Government. The guard post is built by the Government, and the fact that the labourers are not demoralized is being felt.

The cost

Twenty-four labourers are employed on the farm. The cost of wire and fence posts was about 150 shillings. The labourers are not demoralized, and the fact that the Government has sent a large force was the fact that the labourers' effect on the labour market is being felt.

No

It is not possible to say that the labourers are not demoralized, but the fact that the Government has sent a large force was the fact that the labourers' effect on the labour market is being felt.
