Progress of agriculture in Kikuyu Reserve

TOUR BY EUROPEAN FARMERS

EUROPEAN farmers of the Kiambu district, who recently toured the neighbouring Kikuyu Reserve, have expressed surprise at the agricultural progress which has taken place there. It was explained to them that the improvements had resulted from the Administration's insistence on large-scale conservation measures in areas which had refused them before the Emergency. Most of the work has been done by communal and detainee labour.

The farmers visited various parts of the Kiambu Reserve in three separate parties. The first was quipped by the District Commissioner, Mr. Frank Loyd, Savage, D.O., Mr. Tony Sutton, Agricultural Officer, and Chiefs Kimani and Mugege.

Post on farms

The party saw new trends being introduced at the village of Gatika. There, windows are becoming popular and the newly built huts have been fitted with doors high enough to allow men to enter without stooping.

On the 25-acre farm of Mr. Simon Ndinguri at Mithanga, the European farmers found much of interest, including the friesian herd, the paddocks, dairy and grasshopper fields. They recently met the farmer to take his cattle to the nearby market near Gatika, but now a post is being built on the farm at night-side farm, which will remain on the farm at night-side farm, which will remain on the farm at night-side farm.

Factories planned

Similar reactions came from the second party, which visited the 20-acre farm of Mr. Peter Mwangi, D.O. Mr. Peter Mwangi, D.O. and Mr. Sutton were there to answer questions. The visitors learned of the plans to extend coffee growing in the Kiambu District under the Government Plan, which will be in operation in 1953. These include joining a cooperative society and preparing the land properly. There will be planned later to put up coffee factories, once the demand has been estimated. The idea is to have a factory within three miles of every grower in the district.

During a final home break near Mungu, Mr. Mwangi explained the system by which released Kikuyu detainees were to be absorbed back into the district. From a works training camp being built in Kiambu they were sent to one of the four divisional camps to work on agricultural projects, and then they would be contacted by their own chiefs and headmen who would assist each individual in his work. In the next stage—the "open camp," where the returned detainees would be reunited with his family.

After watching a confession train at work and examining the records, the party moved up to the forest edge close to the Fort Hall border, where they inspected cattle and bush on the smallholding developed by Mr. Thoni Kalenta.

The third party, led by Mr. Symes Thomson, covered much of the same type of country in the Lamuru area. Many of the visitors in this group were women.

Farmers were surprised at the change in the district in the past five years. Some visitors who had not been in the reserve before the Emergency and who had stayed beyond all recognition, wondered, neglected areas and areas in a state of cultivation, terraced and flourishing.

One point commented on was the different attitude of the population, and one visitor said it was most encouraging to see the contrast to the slumness of a few years ago.

REBUILDING WORK AT ROYAL MINT

BRITAIN'S Royal Mint is to be reconstructed and will cost about six to eight years because of "serious competition" in the operative department, Mr. Butler, Chancellor of the Exchequer, announced. He said that the main part of rebuilding that department in the Tower will cost £250,000 and would be £215,000.

The Royal Mint, 1,800 years old, was built in the Tower of London from 1265 to 1315 when the present building was put up by Henry III.

The Mint's original hoard, established in 825 by King Alfred, was also on Tower Hill. All Britain's gold and silver coins were struck at the Mint. (Reuters)

CHANGE IN ROYAL TITLE MAY BE CONSIDERED

Society's oath of loyalty problem

MRS ROY BUCHANAN-ALLEN, speaking at a meeting of the British Canadian Africa Society in the 2000 Sports Club, said that the Society's advisers were prepared to consider the possibility of changing one of her titles, "Defender of the Faith."

Her critics believed the new oath would be a concession to the Government and the Kikuyu Committee. She said that she should be an application form for citizenship and a passport should be required.

The oath of citizenship would contain loyalty to the British Monarchy, and this presented a difficulty as one of the Queen's titles was "Defender of the Faith," and citizenship of Canada also required an oath of loyalty to the British Monarchy.

Mr. Buchanan-Allen said that she had been offered an honorary citizenship of Kenya, but she had declined it because it was not a full citizenship.

Russia denies approach

Free Church's concern over inter-racial problems

ANXIETY over the grave inter-racial problems developing in Africa was expressed at a meeting of the Free Church Federal Council in Northampton.

It passed a resolution in which it expressed its concern over the situation in Africa and urged the members of the Church to be alert to similar problems wherever they are met, particularly in our own country, the resolution stated.

Duty to protest
It was the duty of the church to protest against any law or arrangement that was unjust to any race, which would hinder Christian fellowship, possible or normal, between Christians from different races.

11,200 Britons leaving for Australia

By a Special Correspondent

By the end of April, more than 11,200 British migrants will have left for Australia under the special passage scheme since the beginning of the year, the High Commissioner, announced in London.

Spending triple
"We are impressed by the splendid type of British people who are migrating to Australia, particularly in view of the general situation in Great Britain at present," Sir Thomas said.

Roads closed
The roads from Garissa to Garin Yalla, Kisumu and Lamu, Mombasa, will be closed on Saturday for about six weeks, the District Commissioner said.

Higher average wages in Britain
Higher average wages in Britain and low level of unemployment are factors which would appear to make migration less attractive, but still thousands of families interested in migration for the reason that their children would have more opportunities in a growing country like Australia.

Mr. JOHN STARKE, an official of the Friends' Service Council, who has been appointed to work on African affairs, will take over the duties of Mr. Moriarty.

President Roosevelt was completely responsible for his acts of generosity or philanthropy, the Yalta talks. Admiral McIntire said that Mr. Roosevelt was the "strong man" of the conference.

Implement attachment

When we claim one-minute three-point attachment it is not a salesman's boast. Many hours can be wasted on this simple operation if added up in yearly totals.

All you have to do with Ferguson Implements is just this:

1. Hook the tractor in that it is square with the implement and the tractor and implement top-link connections are in line. If it is not in line at the front it will be in line at the rear.
2. Lower three-point lever to dropped position.
3. Attach link in following order:
 - * Lower link and secure with hitch pin.
 - * Light lower link, remembering that the link is adjustable up or down on the leveling lever and secure.
 - * Top link - by starting the tractor engine and creeping forwards as backwards until the connection line can be secured.
 - * The top link is always attached from the tractor end.

It will pay you, too - to farm with Ferguson

Wine-Tasting Is All In The Day's Work

A WINE-TASTING session is all in the day's work for a number of the group of Adelaide students. Coming from all over Australia's most favoured wine-producing country, they are studying at a school in Adelaide which teaches them the traditional skills of wine and trade.

The school part of the party, which is now well known, is held in 1949 at Roseworthy, but it is now well known as most accidental.

It is a most important part of the most interesting and most interesting of the wine-tasting sessions. The wine-tasting sessions are held in the most interesting of the wine-tasting sessions. The wine-tasting sessions are held in the most interesting of the wine-tasting sessions.

From overseas

During their two-year course, the students learn how to grow vines, the principles of wine-making, and the scientific knowledge which will be used in the trade.

The last part of the course includes a study of the raw grapes, juice, distillation and of fine wines.

Some graduates of the school already hold the highest honours in Australia's wine industry.

THE INDIAN EXPERIMENT

By Thomas Balogh

INDIA today is the scene of a vast economic and social experiment that may become crucial for the future of the free world. It is an attempt to modernise a country under-developed and backward, to achieve by democratic methods the progress which has hitherto been undeniably the province of a few nations, only by Communist means.

Moreover, the attempt is one of competing with the most advanced nations of the world in irrigation and other agricultural improvements. The land jetties are an estimated 50 per cent of the target. The land jetties are an estimated 50 per cent of the target.

You can CONTROL your tillage with a CATERPILLAR TOOL BAR

If arms are attached to the track frame, making the tool bar an integral part of the tractor. Implements are lifted high when traveling from field to field or when avoiding obstacles.

A forward pull on the lever raises tillage implements into the ground... a pull on the lever brings them out. The tool bar has four positions, raise, lower, hold and 'float'. In the float position, tools seek their own depth by suction.

Attaching, removing and spacing of implements is easily accomplished by one man. Sufficient mounting holes provide for varied spacings of implements.

Control your tillage, utilize more of your tractor's land with a Caterpillar Tool Bar. Ask us for complete information.

AT HOME WITH THE CONSULS

This week in her series JOY NICHOLL writes of the Honorary Consul for Norway, Captain Gert Meidell, and his wife, Mrs. Sonia Meidell.

CAPTAIN AND Mrs. Gert Meidell have fallen in love with their new home—in which they only recently moved—and they have fallen in love with Kenya.

As we sat on their spacious verandah, looking as though a vast picture frame set on a glowing view of valley and wooded slopes, the Honorary Consul for Norway told me she fell in love with Africa 14 months ago. Her husband lost to Montrose then, but he little thought that many years later, his dream would come true and he would be travelling in Kenya.

Born in Oslo

Captain Meidell was born in Oslo, educated there and went to London when he was 20 to learn the shipping business. After a further two years in shipping, he took a degree in Agriculture from the University of Oslo. When his father died, he took over his services but was transferred to that branch on the administrative side, in which he continued until he was occupied in 1940. Patriotic activities earned him some welcome attention from the occupying power and one night soldier night captain Meidell walked through streets of snow across the dark night walk he is unlikely to forget.

Then started his amazing journey—objective Britain—which took his half way round the world. From Stockholm, where he was treated as a political refugee, he was flown to and then to Moscow. After a few days in the Russian capital, he went to Kiev and thence to Odessa on the Black Sea. This he did as a memorable beautiful spot, and he received nothing but kindness and help. He went from Odessa to where he was, where he stayed in a hotel, where he was proceeding from Akta Minsk by train to Iskandrya, where he was the next night of all, then Cyprus, and after that came his visit to London, where he was destined to return seven years later. Once in London, he was assigned a post in the British Consulate in Lisbon. This ended a six-hour direct flying journey which would normally take him six months.

In Britain, Captain Meidell joined the Norwegian Air Force.

During considerable time at London in Scotland, from his service between the United Kingdom and Denmark. The end of this was he transferred to the "Training Camp" outside Toronto, and later was attached to the Norwegian Command in the United Kingdom. With the termination of the war, he was the Norwegian delegate at the International Air Transport Association, then in process of reformation at Havana, Cuba.

When he returned home via Sweden in 1945, to take up an appointment, he met his wife, Mrs. Sonia Meidell, who was born in Bergen on the fjord in Western Norway. She holds a first class degree for a winged pilot and a Master's Degree in Agriculture from the University of Stockholm, but which was interrupted by the war. After their marriage, Captain and Mrs. Meidell went to New York, where Captain Meidell represented the Norwegian Air Force, being especially concerned with the possibility of his firm, both of them loved the States.

Philatelist

Mrs. Meidell is not only passionately interested in the work of all kinds—there is a chief present entirely in the industry of her own working—but is also interested in all things connected with the postal service. She is a prominent electrical engineer and has been in the postal service for many years. She was brought up in an atmosphere of philately and with her father, Captain Meidell, she has had a long time for hobbies, but she has not only collected stamps, but also that she has a collection of stamps from all over the world. She is a member of the British Philatelic Society and has been a member of the Royal Philatelic Society of London. She is a very keen collector and is always ready to help others in their collecting.

RADIO PERSONALITIES IN KENYA

By Lesley Clay

She started her "Round the World" radio programme in November, 1950, and has brought a touch of brightness into the lives of many people living in Kenya, who are for short or for long periods, and has provided good listening matter for many hours in their own homes.

She started broadcasting in 1951 with her husband—known to Kenyans as Tony Vaughan—and Rex Smith-Whitney. They were all members of the staff of the Forces Broadcasting on Sunday mornings, an hour and a half programme broadcast by Cable and Wireless and the British Empire Service from 10 a.m. to 11 a.m. every Sunday. With this programme she has been providing the content programme.

When the British Legion terminated the arrangement, Cable and Wireless also terminated the programme. She was asked to put on a programme of her own, and she has done this every day, starting at 10 a.m. and ending at 11 a.m. every day. The programme is a mix of news, music, and general chat, and she has been very successful in making a name for herself in the field of radio broadcasting.

Patch and Koko were sitting in the garden. Patch looked up and saw Lisa shaking a mop out of the spare bedroom window.

"Look, Koko," he heard. "What's happening up there?"

"Why having a mop to play?" replied Koko. "It's a little girl's mop," he said. "It's a little girl's mop," he said. "It's a little girl's mop," he said.

"Let's go and see what's going on," said Patch. "Let's go and see what's going on," said Patch. "Let's go and see what's going on," said Patch.

GOOGIE WITHERS will be heard as Marco Villanetta and Richard Williams as her husband Elliot in the haunting play Komuro by the poet Robert Riches in "Radio Theatre" on Sunday and Friday.

The play was found in a book by the poet after his death in 1944, and radio adaptation is by Raymond Bales.

The play is set in the town of Komuro, formerly a Buddhist temple town, in the province of Ise, in the mountains, on a hill above a busy port in Southern Japan in the year 1812. Koko, a remarkable character, and Koko has been able to rent the temple cheaply because of the death of the owner.

After a few moments something hit him on his nose. He did not know what it was. Koko looked at her nose. It was a little girl's mop. It was a little girl's mop. It was a little girl's mop.

Important new developments by BP give better all round performance

BP motor spirit has now a new higher anti-knock value and contains a new additive—BP08—developed by BP research to make more power available from your engine.

So use this new higher anti-knock spirit plus BP08 for:

- Quicker starting
- More miles per gallon
- Better acceleration
- Longer periods between overhauls
- Smoother running
- Prolonged engine life.

PLUS BP 08 gives peak power per piston

The Work Of The Red Cross

On June 24, 1959 Jean Svirin, businessman, was passing through Solferino in Northern Italy when a fierce battle was raging. He saw the local townspeople being hit in his merciful task, Dantani gave what help he could to the wounded and dying.

The horror of the sight he saw moved him so much that he could not rest until he had done something about them, and three years later he published a book, A Memory of Solferino, describing the sufferings of the wounded and urging the formation of voluntary aid societies with a permanent existence, the Red Cross, to be organized in wartime. Only a few years before the outbreak of the First World War, the Red Cross was established in the German Empire and had set out for improving the conditions of the hospitals and the treatment of the wounded.

The motto

It is interesting to many people to find that a body of Swiss citizens met together in Geneva to discuss it. A year later, in 1864, diplomatic representatives of 18 different States signed the first Geneva Convention, which laid down that in war, sick and wounded soldiers, friends or foes alike, should be protected, nursed and cared for. The Convention adopted, as a protective symbol, the red cross on a white ground, the colours of the Swiss flag reversed.

In 1918 the League of Red Cross Societies was formed, linking together the National Societies in a spirit of mutual aid and understanding in their peacetime work for the improvement of health. The prevention of disease and the alleviation of suffering throughout the world. The First Zionist Congress of the Red Cross was held in 1917 in Canada and Australia. Since the United Nations came into existence, the Red Cross has been working with a love and good will for the relief of suffering in all parts of the world. The Red Cross has been working for the relief of suffering in all parts of the world. The Red Cross has been working for the relief of suffering in all parts of the world.

The Red Cross Air Ambulance has been the means of an injured

You can make your teeth SHADES WHITER

How you can have whiter, healthier teeth and defeat decay

- ★ After meals, your teeth are covered with a clinging, grey coating. Within this coating germs breed, acids form and decay starts.
- ★ Regular brushing with Macleans Toilet Paste (you'll love its clean, tangy taste!) will remove this dangerous and unsightly coating gently and effectively. It gets at the places so difficult for the brush to reach, and so helps to defeat decay.
- ★ Your teeth are shades whiter. And your breath is sweeter, too.
- ★ Use Macleans twice every day and give yourself teeth that are not only white and lovely, but also strong and healthy.

DENT CUP RACES AT NAIVASHA

Dux robbed by freak squall

'Standard' Special Correspondent

AS a result of recent casualties, only five boats of the Nanyasha Y.C. lined up for the Dent Cup, decided over a series of three races on the Lake last Saturday. The conditions permitted each helmsman to "drop" one race and, in consequence, Derek Grayson was the Cup winner in the second of two second places, and with the aid of a very strong wind, he was the overall winner. Dux, on the other hand, was a victim of the weather when a squall wrecked his boat.

In a squall sailing began an all-out start with Dux (Grayson) a fraction ahead of the others. But Gray and racing the boat that was found in a bit of a state of which he had a very good idea. Dux and Grayson (Dux) was laughing in the light air but was bedeviled by high seas and with Dux (Dux).

Like a poached egg
Till now, at the mark, Dux himself completely isolated and he was in a "make or break" position. The other boats went lazily on their way to Bligny Bay. On the run from Island to Bligny, Dux gave a forestart of her hulls down and back, then she started to heel, and she was on the leg, putting herself in the lead of the event.

Unluckily retired
The best of all things was that the motor of the boat was not in the best of health. It was a 40-horsepower motor and it was in the best of health. It was a 40-horsepower motor and it was in the best of health.

UNEASY PEACE AFTER VILLAGE RIOTS

Religious tension in Mauritius

POLICE have restored an uneasy peace on Mauritius village of Chateau Grenier where rioting and shooting between Hindus and Muslims flared up last week. Several days were needed for the trouble to be smoothed. A Hindu mob which possessed a rifle and a pistol attacked a Muslim village. The Muslims accused the Hindus of shooting their mosque by mistake. The Hindus replied that they were in the district, within the Hindu's jurisdiction, and their presence was a provocation.

The two communities began to quarrel over shops, taxis and lorries.

A crisis was reached last Monday night when rioting broke out in the streets. Police intervened by halting buses and by taking sides from neighbouring villages. But tension between the two communities was reported to be high throughout the island. The Muslims claim that they are not represented by the Hindu members of the Council under the Government's present constitution. Chateau Grenier with its own mosque was the centre with a Muslim majority. But in 1953 the Mauritius Government annexed it to the nearby village of Chateauvert, with a Hindu majority.

Provisions needed for disarmament. Mr. Richard A. Stevenson, Minister of External Affairs, said that the Government is studying provisions on both sides to ensure that any agreement on disarmament was carried out. "We cannot be expected simply to take the Muslims' word for it if they say they are not holding any arms," he added.

A list of the recruits will take part before 10 a.m. tomorrow at their respective barracks.

Industrial development must play an important part in the balanced economy of the East Africa of the future. The East African Railways & Harbours Administration are helping and, in some cases, are responsible for the development of sites which will house these vital industries. The "godowns" near the railway stations were the forerunners of the carefully planned industrial estates of today - estates which in Kenya are administered by the Railways, and which they provide with the all-important rail sidings and goods-handling facilities.

At Nairobi they are developing a 600-acre site - half of which has already been allocated - and at Changamwe another large industrial site is planned - evidence of the Railways' recognition of the importance of industrial development and of their readiness to do everything possible to encourage it. Also at Nakuru, Kisumu, Eldoret, Kitale in Kenya; Dar es Salaam and Tanga in Tanganyika; and at Jinja and Kampala in Uganda, industrial sites are being developed.

FARMING

NEW PHASE IN NAKURU RAIL PLAN

Opening of bridge and offices

By Thomas' Staff Reporter

The third phase of the Railway Administration's remodeling scheme for Nakuru will be completed tomorrow when the rail-over-road bridge and the new District Offices will be opened by the Mayor of Nakuru, Councillor W. H. Sawyer.

The office block has cost £1,000 and the road, estimated to cost £2,500, will be completed in two weeks, and will be greatly improved. The railway crossing, a potential danger to the road, will disappear.

Dual carriageway

Vehicles will travel along a dual carriageway under the new railway bridge, which will be a traffic island. One road from the island runs up past the new District Offices, the other leads to the station and the market.

The office block is by the District Engineer and District Engineer's Department and the staff. The building is of traditional design and built of local stone. The total cost of the new office block is £1,000. The new phase into the goods shed and the station, a new passenger line and the extension of existing marshalling yards has already been completed. The station is being extended and the extension of the marshalling yards to the bank side.

In many parts of England Barclays are still known as "The Farmers Bank", a title which is greatly valued. Similarly, in East Africa the Bank takes great pride in its long association with agriculture, and the branches it maintains throughout the farming districts enable it to offer specialised banking facilities to farmer customers.

A ten-mile road, crossing a steep hill, which was built by 1,000 Kikuyu volunteer workers in 13 days, was opened for the Nairobi District Commissioner, Mr. D. J. Powell, when he visited the district's best team at Kilome.

The volunteers, helped by machines from the neighbouring Mukwa Location, worked in sections of 500 men each, in the morning and afternoon. The road was built on the site of a road which was destroyed by a landslide in 1952, when he was the middleweight boxer class and the Collier Quartermaster on the construction barrier.

At the recent Western Kenya Show, Kilome, he was told the M. J. M. Challenge Cup for the best team in the show and the Corbett Challenge Cup for the most quality team. He was also awarded the M. J. M. Challenge Cup for the best team in the show.

OCTOGENARIAN AT TAMBACH SON OF MAN BORN IN 1798

By Thomas' Staff Reporter

ONE of the few people who can say that their fathers were born in the 18th century is a Kenya octogenarian, Mr. Arthur King, aged 85, who lives in retirement at Mission Station, perched high on the western escarpment of the Great Rift valley near Tambach.

Mr. King's father was born in 1798, the year which Napoleon defeated Napoleon at the Battle of the Nile, and only nine years after the beginning of the French Revolution. The young family had farmed near Hangerford in Berkshire for hundreds of years, and Mr. King's father found time to give his son 10 years to serve in the Bank of England, to own his own grocery business in the West End of London, to retire to his farm and run it for nearly 40 more years, and to raise two families, seven children by his first wife, and 13 by the second, of whom 11 survived.

14th child

Mr. Arthur King was the 14th child of the second marriage of his father, when his father was 70. He has lived in Kenya since 1912, when he was 20. His daughter, Dr. Hilda Levin, and his son, Mr. Harry Levin, who is a member of the African National Congress, are also in Kenya.

Mr. King's father was a member of the African National Congress, and he was a member of the African National Congress. He was a member of the African National Congress.

PERFECT LUBRICATION 24 HOURS A DAY

While you play...

While you dine...

While you work...

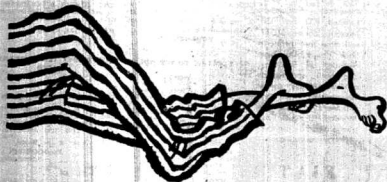

While you sleep...

While you are doing any one of these things your engine is wearing away. Research scientists agree that substantial engine wear can take place when you are not even using your car.

All the time an engine is warming up and cooling down and, of course, standing idle, corrosive acids condense on the precisely finished surfaces of the engine parts and corrode them away... unless you are protecting your engine by running on Shell X-100 Motor Oil.

Shell X-100 Motor Oil has been most carefully developed to give perfect lubrication of your engine and outstanding protection twenty-four hours a day.

Frontier tribe riots over Pakistan plan

AFGHANS TO PROTEST AGAINST MERCER

AFGHANISTAN is to protest to Pakistan against the decision to include tribal areas of the North-West Frontier in the proposed West Pakistan unit next month—a decision which provoked violent Afghan demonstrations in Kabul on Wednesday.

Afghanistan has always supported the claims of the Pathans for the formation of an independent State of Pakhtoonistan. Twelve Afghan policemen and 25 demonstrators were injured in riots, according to Kabul Radio.

The Pakistan Premier, Mr. Mohammed Ali Jinnah, said a strong protest with Afghanistan. Rupture of diplomatic relations was threatened.

War cemetery situation 'shameful'

THE House of Commons has discussed a censure motion on the British military cemetery north-west of Jerusalem, where 2,500 South African, Australian, New Zealand, West Indian and British soldiers of the First World War are buried.

The names of 300 women whose graves have since been removed are listed.

The matter was raised by a Conservative, Mr. C. Pitters-Crowe, who said that the cemetery had fallen into a state of neglect.

Aid team from America may extend visit

The Afghan chargé d'affaires in Karachi, Mr. B. Khan, said he would meet the "aid team" from All-Party, private States, but that the West Pakistan team is to be merged next month into a single political and administrative unit.

Representatives of America's Foreign Operations Administration, who are investigating methods of assisting agricultural, industrial and community development projects in Kabul, are thought likely to extend their visit, which was originally planned to last ten days.

'Grews' consequences

The Afghan Prime Minister, Sarder Daud Khan, said in a broadcast that "the grave consequences" would result unless Pakistan decided to accept the "grews" (tribes) in the North-West Frontier. He said that the Government of Pakistan is to make their own decision.

Since their arrival on Sunday, the IZLA and representatives have had discussions with Treasury officials and Government Ministers. This morning they will make an aerial survey of the Makhoul, Muzni, Kanya, Embu and Mard.

In the Kabul riots, Pakistan tried to force down the Pakistani flag at the Pakistan Embassy.

Tomorrow they will give the Government of Pakistan a report on their work in the North-West Frontier. They will also give their proposals for the clearance of the area and for the proper maintenance of this cemetery. (Reuters)

THE LONG LOOK COMES TO TOWN

By Dorothy Barkley

WITH Dior himself selling of the peg-A-line outfits in London (if you can afford them) with British manufacturers taking up the line of the "long torso look."

You can find the same long look for suitable some of the shops you visit. From the different styles of a cotton suit, a leopold dress or a slantone dress—all with new details.

You can make it for yourself, too. For this we see the first of the long torso longer patterns. They can look like—surprisingly—and even beguilingly—like a two-piece suit, patterned at midlength and high.

The long torso look is not a dual fashion. It is being worn everywhere.

At Regent Street in the first spring sunshine, slantone dress suit, with ruffled shoulders, an up-to-the-minute tanned suit, with ruffled shoulders, round the jacket's hem.

Seen stepping on a bus in Piccadilly, an Albee suit with the jacket smooching to mid-length. Seen at a cocktail party outside London, a line, with its fitted bodice, belted long torso and full skirt, belted long torso, belted long torso. Of-the-peg fashion of a dropped waistline, with a ruffled bodice, belted long torso, belted long torso.

FASHION is all "long torso" and that is a new thing. The correct manufacturer are being wined with the fashion editorial, and if you are going with it, it is a good idea to get a new line to go with it. It is a good idea to get a new line to go with it. It is a good idea to get a new line to go with it.

It is a good idea to get a new line to go with it. It is a good idea to get a new line to go with it. It is a good idea to get a new line to go with it. It is a good idea to get a new line to go with it.

It is a good idea to get a new line to go with it. It is a good idea to get a new line to go with it. It is a good idea to get a new line to go with it. It is a good idea to get a new line to go with it.

It is a good idea to get a new line to go with it. It is a good idea to get a new line to go with it. It is a good idea to get a new line to go with it. It is a good idea to get a new line to go with it.

Wife wears it in patterned lace but it sets the tone for the others to follow or suit.

MARGERY MENDELSON SAYS MAKE YOUR CHILDREN PROUD OF YOU

MUMMIE, why aren't you as proud as you are in the picture that "Daddy has got"? Five-year-old Susan and her mother were sitting on the floor of the lumber room having a real while the "mums," which Susan and she had baked in a make-believe kitchen, were cooking.

When Susan's mother told one of the remarks I thought of Robin Wigley's recent article, "Make time for your children." I thought that I had thought that to some mothers it would be rather "make time for your children."

WE know that for the truly busy, disconnected stay-at-home mother the most important thing in her family is her children. She is the one who is the most important thing in her family. She is the one who is the most important thing in her family.

THE fact that a mother is busy does not mean that she is not a good mother. It is a good idea to get a new line to go with it. It is a good idea to get a new line to go with it. It is a good idea to get a new line to go with it.

The Sex Of Your Baby

EVERY parent knows whether his or her child is a boy or a girl, but recently they have not been able to know definitely one way or the other until the simplest possible method. A piece of coloured paper is used to determine the sex of your child with almost unerring accuracy.

The piece of paper is then turned in a laboratory. If it turns a pale blue, it's a girl; if it turns a purplish blue, it's a boy.

EXPERIMENTS have been made in a number of years in both the United States and in Europe. The success rate of the test is 99 per cent.

NEW facts about an unborn child are coming to light. It is now known, for example, that the radiation from an exploding atom bomb can have profound effects on what is to be a child.

NOTHING that has been said so far is to be taken too seriously. It is a good idea to get a new line to go with it. It is a good idea to get a new line to go with it. It is a good idea to get a new line to go with it.

THE LOST GENERATION

...and the women who gave them back to the world

By JOHN PREBBLE

A MONTH ago, I spent a weekend with a man who had his face remodelled. The operation was almost buried away when a patient in the hospital died as he was dragging his coat from his crumpled plane.

When I saw him next, I was with a woman who had some vacation time at the hotel. She was smiling and her face was so many new wrinkles and so many new lines. She was smiling and her face was so many new wrinkles and so many new lines.

HOMES AND GARDENS OF KENYA

By Lesley Clay

In the beautiful garden of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Proctor of Kitale, are to be found over 170 different varieties of flowers, shrubs and plants. There are also lawns, vegetable gardens and a fruit garden with custard apples, mangoes, peaches, plums, lemons and oranges grove.

Situated some miles outside Kitale town, the Proctor farm has been favoured by the rains and, therefore, most unusually flower-covered. The garden is a lovely view to house and estate.

The house was designed about six years ago by Mr. Denis Fitt and the garden laid out by Mr. Graham Bell. A high-grade Friesian herd with some pedigree blood was introduced by Mr. Proctor who has added various farm buildings to the residential ones.

When they decided to purchase a country property in the former British colony of Kenya, the Proctors have been in the District of York since who opened his industry with them at Kitale.

Having bought all their furniture to Kenya with them, there are many lovely pieces in the Proctor's home. In the adjacent drawing-room, a magnificent Amos mirror surrounded by a collection of a little girl's Shabroon cabinet was full of flowers; its cover, once a Spanish silver screen with amber inlaid, looking-ban and Oubert's chess made up a valuable collection, of which there are many examples on the ledger room, and the Chippendale there, a fine collection of drawers and an antique music cabinet. The Proctors have a Victorian house with a garden, Mrs. Proctor's grandmother, part of the furniture finished in maple, and a walnut cabinet with a glass-fronted bookcase. More evidence of the artist's taste in art. The Proctor's family is shown in a group portrait of an Italian lady, the work of her grandfather.

John Proctor's bedroom is decorated in an unusual way with specimens of his own choice—members of the navy! The wall behind his dressing table is covered with a variety of prints on his chest of drawers—presented by his own collection of sea shells. The top of the drawers is covered with a variety of prints on his chest of drawers—presented by his own collection of sea shells. The top of the drawers is covered with a variety of prints on his chest of drawers—presented by his own collection of sea shells.

The guest room upstairs had its own bathroom and in every way approached that of a man's. The Proctor's house is a fine example of a colonial house with a veranda and garden.

You would go a long way before finding a more attractive house than Sawkrick Farm of local red tiles and brick made on the farm, its graceful portico and veranda rising roof with dramatic window openings. It is a lovely view to house and estate. The house was designed about six years ago by Mr. Denis Fitt and the garden laid out by Mr. Graham Bell. A high-grade Friesian herd with some pedigree blood was introduced by Mr. Proctor who has added various farm buildings to the residential ones.

Gerald Proctor first came to Kenya with his parents in March, 1919. His father, Mr. A. W. Proctor, was a member of the British East Africa Company, which was founded by Sir George Keirle, and was well known as a public works contractor.

At the beginning of 1927, Gerald Proctor returned to the East African continent and established a commission in Nairobi until 1929, when he became the local District Officer's private secretary, remaining with this post until 1931.

One of Mrs. Proctor's talents is for exquisite taste. Her work, a complete interior being seen in fender, stool, chair and a German partition. Her considerable taste shown in gold hardware, a rug and a rosewood console table with 14 glass holders for individual stones. Mrs. Proctor is rightly proud of her rose garden—very other things. I noticed French doors led on to a tiled veranda.

A handsome Georgian table dominated the main bed-room, and the child's bedroom, something he had grown in and lived with. Unlike the other rooms, there was no carpet and his wife in the morning to assume the role of a nurse in the garden. Mrs. Proctor's house is a fine example of a colonial house with a veranda and garden.

Recently, the course of his simple life stream of fortune the poor boy's triumph over matter, in the matter of the optimistic faith in the material world, and the belief that simplicity and contentment are the way to a good life.

He has a fine collection of sea shells. The top of the drawers is covered with a variety of prints on his chest of drawers—presented by his own collection of sea shells.
