COMPULSORY THIRD PARTY INSURANCE Drums Farmers Annoyed

Effect Of The New Law

The introduction of compulsory third party motor insurance in East Africa shows the reaction on which it was expected to have. It is generally accepted that the new law will be a boon to the motorist, but it is also expected that it will be a boon to the farmer.

Following is a brief analysis of the effect of the new law on the farmer:

As an owner of a motor vehicle, the farmer is liable for any damage caused by his vehicle to any person or property. This liability is unlimited and is not subject to any limit of amount.

Now the policy of insurance required by law is one which will cover the farmer for any damage caused by his vehicle to any person or property. This is a great relief to the farmer, as it means that he will not have to pay for any damage caused by his vehicle to any person or property.

There are three conditions which must be satisfied in order for the farmer to be covered by the policy:

1. The policy must be in force at the time of the accident.

2. The policy must be issued by a licensed insurer.

3. The policy must be issued in accordance with the provisions of the law.

QUIN BLEN FOR TEETH CHAM FOR TEETH Under these startling headlines a British brief news report reports the results of research into the effects of sweets on children's teeth. Kenya kiddies'll be glad to hear that the tests have given sweets a clean bill of health--not that they worried much about it before, if one is to judge from the big demand for the P.P.F. range of pure, delicious wholesome sweets. There's energy in sugar--use that your children get!

Did you use MACLEANS today?

Of course I did!

Maclean's Tooth Paste is scientifically prepared so as to remove all that a good tooth paste should do. It cleans teeth thoroughly—polishing them to a natural white brilliance.

Remember—do all the wash with SUNLIGHT!

What a help! Sunlight makes the big wash so easy, yet it's mild enough for your "fine" wash. Though it cleans all the dirt, the latter is very gentle.

"So nice for the hands, too!"

"Tell me, doctor . . ."

Now that I am well again, do tell me how to avoid any future risk of blood poisoning."

By never again thinking that I have cut it harmless. Any break in the skin, or even a simple open gateway to germs of septic infection. If it is disinfectant as one with 'Dettol', this will prevent blood poisoning and further sepsis.

Do not think that the efficiency of a germicide is dependent upon its unpleasant smell, deep staining colour or poisonous nature. None of these properties need be associated with the power to arrest the spread of infection. "Dettol" is not poisonous. It is a clear, clean fluid with a pleasant smell, and does not even stain linen. Yet against germs, this agreeable "Dettol" is several times more effective than pure carbolic acid.

This is why it is used in the hospital and maternity wards of great hospitals, and why you should employ its pleasant and powerful protection in your own home.

CHALLENGE TO YOUNG FARMERS

The part which the new generation of farmers should play in the future of New Zealand, in its present conditions of production and living standards of production and living conditions on the farm, have outlined by Mr. William Machin, chairman of the New Zealand Institute of Agriculture, in his address at the Palmerston North Agricultural College graduation ceremony in the Opera House, Palmerston North.

He speaks in glowing terms of the future New Zealand with its population of two and a half million, and the importance of having the agricultural college which is an agricultural college that gives you more than a half of the country's produce, and that is the backbone of our industry, and all those things which we depend upon for our food and our clothing, and all those things which we depend upon for our health and our comfort, and all those things which we depend upon for our education and our recreation, and all those things which we depend upon for our progress and our advancement.

Mr. Machin's "Probably more than 600,000 acres of primary production which is the backbone of our industry, and all those things which we depend upon for our health and our comfort, and all those things which we depend upon for our education and our recreation, and all those things which we depend upon for our progress and our advancement."

Record Manpower Shortage In South Africa

A manpower shortage like none elsewhere in the world is being experienced in South Africa where rapidly growing industries and business enterprises are being established and are requiring more and more of their already busy supplies of workers.

Official figures show that during the past eight years the number of employees in the Union has increased by 140,000, and the number of the unemployed has increased by more than 100,000.

A good example of the drift to industry is shown by the fact that in the past year the number of employees in the manufacturing industry has increased by 10,000, and the number of the unemployed has increased by 5,000.

It is partly because of this shortage of labour that the Government has recently announced that it will be necessary to open up new lands to immigrants.

But the fact remains that the shortage of labour is a serious one, and it is one which will have to be met by the Government and the industries of the Union.

"Wonderful Risk"

In dealing with the question of what the students were going to make of their lives, and especially of their advantages, Mr. Machin said that the development under conditions which, in comparison with 1925, are more wonderful risk. The urge for that equipment, but it was a good thing which sprang from within. It was embodied in that dynamic word "service" which is the backbone of our industry, and all those things which we depend upon for our health and our comfort, and all those things which we depend upon for our education and our recreation, and all those things which we depend upon for our progress and our advancement.

JUDGMENT ON NAZIDOM

S. Anding Rejoins Cabinet
Not Criminally Responsible

GENERAL STAFF AND HIGH COMMAND "A DISGRACE TO PROFESSION OF ARMS"

Palace of Justice, Nuremberg, September 30. THE FINAL STAGES OF THE WAR CRIMES TRIAL OPENED AT 10 A.M. LOCAL TIME—A.M. G.M.T.—TODAY WHEN LORD JUSTICE LAWRENCE, THE BRITISH PRESIDENT OF THE COURT, BEGAN READING THE INDICTMENT AGAINST THE ACCUSED.

The tribunal found certain groups of the Nazi Leadership guilty of crimes against humanity, and the Gestapo—its various groups within the Reich, the Reich Security Office and the Reich Civil Service. The tribunal declined to make a declaration of criminality against the S.A. and the Reich Cabinet.

Explaining the decision over the brown-shirted S.A., the Tribunal stated that after the purge of 1934 the S.A. had become relatively unimportant and unactive. Although in specific instances some units of the S.A. were used in the commission of war crimes and crimes against humanity it cannot be said that its members generally participated in, or even knew of criminal acts.

The Tribunal says that the General Staff and High Command were not responsible in large measure for the suffering and suffering that have fallen on millions of men, women and children. They have been a disgrace to the honorable profession of arms. Without their military approval the aggressive activities of Hitler and his followers would have been impossible. Although they were not a group falling within the scope of the Charter they were active in military operations. The contemporary German military history books report that National Socialism as well as, or better than, it had in the past.

The Tribunal also found that the accused were guilty of crimes against humanity and crimes against peace. It was a disgrace to the honorable profession of arms. Without their military approval the aggressive activities of Hitler and his followers would have been impossible. Although they were not a group falling within the scope of the Charter they were active in military operations. The contemporary German military history books report that National Socialism as well as, or better than, it had in the past.

Why U.S. Naval Forces Are In Mediterranean

Washington, September 30. Mr. James Forrestal, the United States Navy Secretary, today denied the reports that the United States naval forces were in the Mediterranean to help fight out American foreign policy, and to "show the Axis powers that we are not so far from home as they think."

Mr. Forrestal said that the United States Navy is in the Mediterranean to maintain peace in the Eastern Mediterranean for the following specific purposes:

"Firstly, to support allied military operations in the discharge of their responsibilities in the current campaign; secondly, to protect United States interests and to support United States policy; and thirdly, to support the United States Navy in its operations in the Eastern Mediterranean."
