A Locust Expert.

The locust plague in the East African territories is a most serious and depressing one. It has been described as the most overwhelming nature of the infestation described. The report on the locust war, which was made by a committee of experts, states that the locusts have caused a great deal of damage to the crops and the people of the territories. The report also states that the methods of coping with the plague are weak and inadequate. It is emphasized that a full and fair official statement is needed.

Where Life is in Peril

Kohlers are used

Aerial mail beacon, East Africa, built by Kohler Electric Plant.

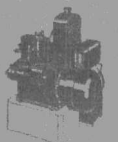

Where the safety of human life depends upon unfading light Kohler automatic electric lighting plants are used.

The U.S. Government have chosen Kohlers to light air mail beacon towers at night that guide the night fliers safely over their routes.

Kohlers are used in light houses, airports, in mines, war and navy departments, essential operating rooms, hospitals, etc., etc., etc., but the most dependable for without light, lives would be lost.

In Kenya too, where absolute reliability is essential and efficiency and economy necessary, Kohlers are being selected to replace the old storage battery type of lighting outfit.

The highest electrical and engineering authorities in Kenya are now recommending Kohlers where independent or auxiliary electric lighting plants are required.

THE WAR ON EAST COAST FEVER.

Summary of Research Work Last Year.

The East African Territory has been the scene of a long and arduous struggle against the scourge of East Coast Fever. The disease, which is caused by the parasite Theileria parva, has been responsible for the death of many thousands of cattle and sheep. In 1935, the Government of the Territory carried out a large-scale campaign of research into the disease, with a view to determining its mode of transmission and to devising effective methods of control.

The first step in the campaign was to determine the mode of transmission of the disease. It was found that the disease is transmitted by the tsetse fly, Glossina morsitans, which feeds on the blood of infected animals and then transmits the parasite to other animals. This discovery was of great importance, as it showed that the disease could be controlled by the elimination of the tsetse fly.

The second step in the campaign was to determine the mode of control of the disease. It was found that the disease could be controlled by the use of insecticides to kill the tsetse fly. This method was found to be highly effective, and it was decided to carry out a large-scale campaign of insecticide spraying in 1936.

The third step in the campaign was to determine the mode of control of the disease. It was found that the disease could be controlled by the use of vaccines. This method was found to be highly effective, and it was decided to carry out a large-scale campaign of vaccination in 1936.

The fourth step in the campaign was to determine the mode of control of the disease. It was found that the disease could be controlled by the use of antibiotics. This method was found to be highly effective, and it was decided to carry out a large-scale campaign of antibiotic treatment in 1936.

The fifth step in the campaign was to determine the mode of control of the disease. It was found that the disease could be controlled by the use of disinfectants. This method was found to be highly effective, and it was decided to carry out a large-scale campaign of disinfection in 1936.

The sixth step in the campaign was to determine the mode of control of the disease. It was found that the disease could be controlled by the use of quarantine. This method was found to be highly effective, and it was decided to carry out a large-scale campaign of quarantine in 1936.

The seventh step in the campaign was to determine the mode of control of the disease. It was found that the disease could be controlled by the use of education. This method was found to be highly effective, and it was decided to carry out a large-scale campaign of education in 1936.

It is pointed out that the Government has been slow to take action, and that the locusts have now become a serious pest in many of the reserves. It is suggested that the Government should take prompt measures to deal with the locusts, and that it should provide insurance for the reserves against locust attacks.

Where the safety of human life depends upon unfailing light Kohler automatic electric lighting plants are used.

The U.S. Government have chosen Kohlers to light air mail beacon towers at night that guide the night fliers safely over their routes.

Kohlers are used in lighthouses, lightships, in mines, war and navy departments, hospital operating rooms. Here are tanks where none but the most dependable plants could serve—where any other would be in peril.

In Kenya the absolute dependability is essential and efficiency and economy necessary. Kohlers are being selected, replacing the old storage battery type of lighting outfit.

The highest electrical and engineering authorities in Kenya are now recommending Kohlers where independent or auxiliary electric lighting plants are required.

ROYAL CORD

Advanced Developments!
TRULY an example of Royal Cord advance development is the Flat Tread Balloon Type. Perfected and announced two years ago by the makers of Royal Cords, this important feature is today the accepted principle for all Balloon Tread designs.
Royal Cords give you a built-in safe for mile value that grows more and more apparent the longer you drive them. When other tires are worn out - that's generally the time Royal Cords make most of their good friends.

Interesting Judgment
- Supreme Court

The Supreme Court has recently rendered a judgment in a case involving estate agents and over commission. The court held that estate agents are entitled to a commission on the sale of real estate, but that the commission must be reasonable and not excessive.

The court further held that estate agents are not entitled to a commission on the sale of real estate if the sale is effected through a public auction. This decision is of great importance to estate agents and their clients.

The court also held that estate agents are not entitled to a commission on the sale of real estate if the sale is effected through a private treaty. This decision is also of great importance to estate agents and their clients.

RACING IN KENYA

A Review of the Current Season.

HEALTHY PROGRESS ON ALL SIDES

Interest in Stake Heavy Over Previous Years.

As the year of 1929-30 draws to a close, the racing season in Kenya has been a most successful one. The interest in the sport has been at its highest since the war, and the stakes have been heavy over previous years. The weather has been generally good, and the racing has been of a high standard. The public has been very keen, and the betting has been brisk. The racing clubs have done well, and the season has been a profitable one for all concerned.
