LETTER FROM THE UNION

LAWLESSNESS AMONG "CERTAIN SECTIONS" OF INDIANS

Disturbing Facts from Transvaal

Disturbing facts about the increase in moral delinquency among certain sections of the Transvaal Indians have been brought to the attention of the public in several of the Proprietor's newspapers recently. Most of the facts have been supplied by leaders.

During the war the incidents all over the world increased in Africa as elsewhere in the world, and it was in the Union that the most share in this. Today, in the Union, the increased delinquency is the result of the unsettled arrangement of the community and the disintegration of the moral standards of the Indian people. In the Transvaal, the Indian people are not only the most numerous but also the most backward of any race in the Union. In some of the most backward of these tribes the Indians have not only the most numerous but also the most backward of any race in the Union.

It is in the Transvaal that the most numerous but also the most backward of any race in the Union. In some of the most backward of these tribes the Indians have not only the most numerous but also the most backward of any race in the Union.

Main's Grim Summer of 1941 Recalled
 Directive And Speech By Mr. Churchill

February 11, 1946. The recall last night met the President of the White House to talk during an hour and a half which had been arranged through the aid of the British High Commission in London. His presence and that of the representatives of the Secretary of State and Mr. Churchill, who then drove to the White House to see the President.

Mr. Churchill's speech was the first since he had taken office in 1941. It was a review of the war from the point of view of the British people. He said that the war had been a grim one, but that it had been a just one. He said that the British people had been tested to the limit, but that they had not broken. He said that the British people had been tested to the limit, but that they had not broken.

Best Dressed Baby

Interviewed the best dressed baby in town, yesterday. She was a pigtailed girl of three, with yellow hair and a golden brown skin. She was wearing her blue frock of dainty lace-trimmed green and white. Her hair was pinned up in two neat braids, and her eyes were wide and bright.

Treasure Trove for Mother
Inspired by what we had seen, we decided to explore for babies. There were three or four more to be seen, but we had to stop for the children. We found that the babies were dressed in the latest fashions. The mothers were very proud of their children, and we saw that many of the babies had their hair styled in the latest fashion. We also saw that many of the babies had their eyes made up with red and white.

Hand-made dresses, jackets, etc. and fine crepe, wool, and broad cloth. Many of the dresses were made of silk and satin, and some of the jackets were made of velvet and ermine. We saw that many of the babies had their hair styled in the latest fashion, and we saw that many of the babies had their eyes made up with red and white.

One such mamma, who has a fine baby, said that she had bought the outfit for her child, but she had to make it for the small child. She said that she had bought the outfit for her child, but she had to make it for the small child. She said that she had bought the outfit for her child, but she had to make it for the small child.

Without your help and assistance we could not have carried on our work so successfully. We are very grateful to you for your many kind contributions. We are very grateful to you for your many kind contributions. We are very grateful to you for your many kind contributions.

Volume of dense, black smoke poured from a fire which started in a narrow street in Nairobi, in the Central Business District, in the early hours of the morning. The fire was caused by a gas cylinder which had exploded in the street. The fire spread rapidly and soon reached the roof of the building. The firemen were unable to reach the fire for some time because of the heavy smoke. The fire was finally extinguished after several hours. The damage to the building was considerable. Meat Factory To Remain Closed

Cattle Shortage

Meats Labors' Factory at Aba

The meat factory at Aba, which has been closed since the outbreak of the strike, is expected to remain closed for some time. The factory, which was built by the Government, is one of the largest in the country. It was built to supply the Government with meat for its own use, and to supply the market with meat for the general public. The factory was built in 1935, and has since then been one of the main sources of meat in the country. The strike, which was called by the workers in 1945, was one of the most serious in the country's history. It was caused by a dispute over wages and conditions of work. The workers demanded a 10 per cent increase in wages, and a reduction in the hours of work. The Government refused their demands, and the strike continued for several months. The factory was closed during this time, and the country suffered from a shortage of meat. The Government has since then made several attempts to resolve the dispute, but to no avail. The strike is still in progress, and the factory remains closed.

Security

There must always be a feeling of relief in many quarters that the first session of the Security Council of the United Nations has opened in London. The first session of the Security Council was held in London on January 24, 1946. It was the first time since the end of the Second World War that the Security Council has met. The Security Council is the principal organ of the United Nations, and it is responsible for the maintenance of international peace and security. The Security Council is composed of five permanent members and four non-permanent members. The permanent members are the United States of America, the Soviet Union, the United Kingdom, France, and the Republic of China. The non-permanent members are elected for two-year terms. The Security Council has a wide range of powers, and it is responsible for the maintenance of international peace and security. It can recommend the use of force, and it can impose economic sanctions. It can also recommend the admission of new members to the United Nations. The Security Council has a long and distinguished history, and it has played a major role in the maintenance of international peace and security. It is expected that the first session of the Security Council will be a successful one, and that it will play a major role in the maintenance of international peace and security in the future.

Plan To Speed Up Nuremberg Trial

The Nuremberg trial, which is the trial of the major war criminals of the Third Reich, is expected to be completed in the near future. The trial is being held in Nuremberg, Germany, and it is the first time since the end of the Second World War that a trial of this kind has been held. The trial is being held by the International Military Tribunal, which was set up by the Allies in 1945. The trial is expected to last for several months, and it is expected that it will be a landmark event in the history of the world. The trial is expected to be a fair and impartial trial, and it is expected that it will result in the conviction and punishment of the major war criminals of the Third Reich. The trial is expected to be a landmark event in the history of the world, and it is expected that it will result in the conviction and punishment of the major war criminals of the Third Reich.
