Council told of need to find markets

Introducing the Ministry's estimates for the year 1959-60, Mr. Swynnerton said it was essential for sections of the industry to get together and appoint their own trade representatives in those territories in which they wanted to make sales. Industries could carry out their own negotiations and enter into contracts independently of the Government. The Government also has a useful part to play in the establishment of overseas markets for Kenya produce.

Trial shipments to Gull

Mr. Swynnerton paid tribute to the efforts of the Royal Co-operative Federation of Agricultural Industries, which had been investigating markets in the Persian Gulf area, where trial shipments had been sent. This had been a very useful activity.

It was in the light of economic effects by the Government that he had to review the services of the Ministry of Agriculture. It in various ways, which had been spread out as much as possible, so that no single department would suffer too heavily.

Dealing with travelling allowances, which had been cut five per cent compared with the previous year, Mr. Swynnerton said that some Ministers were not travelling Ministers. This Ministry was one of those and the Government officers were not to be sent on their work done unless they had to.

Zest for life

A LOT of lives have turned yellow and fallen since Francis Bacon wrote—more than 300 years ago—that "life will not be longer". True, it used to be the duty of a man well-to-do at 40, that he could not really bank on the chance of a future beyond his fifty and the old coddling class.

But the evidence seems to be proving that life is now so precious that it is not safe to be in the same of living until it is not so precious that permits that life will not be longer.

"Do not think I am weak," Fordan, "nicknamed" David Adkins, admitted to the Standard.

"I am well more than 12 miles when I have to get fruit and vegetables for the hotel and I enjoy it like when I work."

The African physical culture, Bernard Madondo, who was selected to be the first 120, guaranteed him a place over Paris and landed in the River Nile when he was 40 years old to the first time he was ever in the world.

There are many other examples to show that while the age of the world is not the same, it is not the same as it was in the past.

Taking a new look

Never more a Masai hunter, Mr. Patrick Avey, has joined the growing band of those who give up life by migrating to the west of U.S. Why? Mr. Avey, whose first job was in his 20's, says he needs a new challenge.

The records show that the old life—and the old life is not the same as it was in the past.

It may be that those who expect to live longer will find that the whole picture is changing.

Enterprise Cup: FIRST REVERSE FOR K. POLICE

The first defeat of Kenya Police in this season's Enterprise Cup Rugby competition, on the Ngara Road ground on Saturday, leaves the usual position much more open than it appeared a week earlier. Harlequins topped the Police colours by 11 points (a goal, a penalty goal and two drop goals) to five (a penalty goal) in a tense and exciting match.

Both sets of backs were "on edge" and worked to seal the possession rather than pass. The forwards were also on edge and Harlequins won their victory by a magnificent display of teamwork. Harlequins scored four tries and Harlequins added four drop goals to their tally.

Magnificent drop goal

Shortly afterwards Harlequins were again penalised. This time for driving on the ball, but K. Police failed to take further advantage.

Peace in the Middle East

Israel suggests plan for disarmed Middle East IN SYRIA, JORDAN AND IRAQI TERRITORIES IN SYRIA, JORDAN AND IRAQI TERRITORIES IN SYRIA, JORDAN AND IRAQI TERRITORIES

Moves at U.N. on deeded freighter

The Prime Minister of Israel, Mr. Ben-Gurion, yesterday accused the United Arab Republic of "piracy" in the Suez Canal and said that Israel was taking counter-measures.

He was referring to detention since May 21 at Port Said of the Danish freighter Imvros, which has a cargo of goods from Israel. Israel's Cabinet has now considered diplomatic moves at the United Nations concerning the freighter's detention.

The entire Middle East should be considered as a neutral area and should be completely disarmed.

Inquiry into air battle

Meanwhile the mixed United Arab Republic and Israeli Armistice Commission sent investigations into Sunday's battle between aircraft of the two countries.

The commission heard a U.A.R. report of the clash and later a Canadian observer, Mr. K. Donald, accompanied by a U.A.R. pilot, reported a dogfight involving a MiG-17 and a Phantom II near Rafah, 17 miles south-west of Gaza, where the pilots are reported to have witnessed the clash overhead.

U.K. TALKS ON HOLD

Newspapers in Egypt have linked what they call the clash between Israel and the Arab Republic with the Egyptian Government's refusal to accept the armistice agreement.

Referring to a meeting between the British Foreign Secretary, Lord Avon, and the Egyptian Government's Foreign Minister, Mr. Fawzi, on the detention of the Imvros, it was reported that the British Government would accept the armistice agreement only if the U.A.R. would accept the armistice agreement.

Ready for debate

Mr. Macmillan, the Prime Minister, is expected to announce today that the Government is ready to discuss the armistice agreement with the U.A.R. Government.

The Labour Party has indicated that it is ready to discuss the armistice agreement with the U.A.R. Government.

The Conservative Party has indicated that it is ready to discuss the armistice agreement with the U.A.R. Government.

That everyone should accept generally that the territory was not just the home of one particular community and that the rights and interests of all communities must be safeguarded.
