REMARKABLE REDUCTION IN UNEMPLOYMENT.

During the coming Christmas there will be 600,000 more homes with the breadwinner in regular employment than two years ago, was a statement made by Mr. Neville Chamberlain in a speech dealing with the present financial situation in Britain.

He added that the Budget had been balanced and at the end of the financial year there was every hope of a substantial surplus. He had no reason to be ashamed of the successful efforts of Government.

Distribution Rates on the Railway.

CONDITIONS GOVERNING RE-INTRODUCTION.

Protection from Road Competition.

GENERAL MANAGER ON DISADVANTAGES OF SYSTEM.

The General Manager of the Kenya and Uganda Railways and Harbours is prepared to recommend the re-introduction of distribution rates on the railway, providing that the railway is assured of sufficient protection from motor competition.

This statement was made by the General Manager in Legislative Council on Tuesday during the debate on a motion for the continuation of the Carriage of Goods by Motor (Prohibition) Ordinance. He added that railway revenue was not affected by the reintroduction of otherwise of these rates.

He pointed out, however, that distribution rates had certain disadvantages for those who used them, and that there might be other ways of dealing with the problem.

It would be quite wrong, continued General Rhodes, to reintroduce the distribution rates system if the prohibition of road competition would only last for a year or two. The railway must have a greater degree of protection than the present temporary form of continuing the Ordinance from year to year.

The Real Solution.

An important announcement of the views of the Kenya and Uganda Railways and Harbours Administration regarding distribution rates was made by the General Manager at a meeting of the Kenya Legislative Council last night. The General Manager stated that the railway had certain disadvantages, though not to the railway, they tended to restrict the railway's ability to transport sufficient quantities of goods, and to reduce its revenue.

The real solution, he said, was to grant a long period of protection to the railway, which would enable it to introduce a permanent system of distribution rates, which would be a greater measure of protection than the present temporary form of continuing the Ordinance from year to year.

It was quite wrong to reintroduce the distribution rates system if the prohibition of road competition would only last for a year or two. The railway must have a greater degree of protection than the present temporary form of continuing the Ordinance from year to year.

Question of Time.

The only way this matter of the distribution rates could be introduced, he said, was to grant a long period of protection to the railway, which would enable it to introduce a permanent system of distribution rates, which would be a greater measure of protection than the present temporary form of continuing the Ordinance from year to year.

Government's View.

Later in the afternoon the General Manager stated that he had discussed the matter with his advisers, and that he was prepared to recommend the re-introduction of distribution rates on the railway, providing that the railway is assured of sufficient protection from motor competition.

No Frontier Question.

Following this the Hon. T. J. O'Shea (Platen South) asked the Government whether they were prepared to recommend the re-introduction of distribution rates on the railway, providing that the railway is assured of sufficient protection from motor competition.

Budget Surplus Increased to £11,000.

DEFENCE SCHEME FOR MOMBASA UNDER CONSIDERATION.

The Samburu Problem.

TOKEN VOTE TO INAUGURATE A SCHOLARSHIP SCHEME.

The results of the work of the Select Committee on the Kenya 1931 Estimates was announced in Legislative Council on Wednesday when the Report was adopted.

The Committee has raised the estimated surplus from £2,449 to £10,952.

This has been done by increasing the expected revenue by £6,595 with a net increase in the gross expenditure of only £412.

In the course of the debate it was intimated that a sum of £80 was being included as a token vote in connection with a scholarship scheme.

Elected Members were divided on the question of whether increased fees for secondary education were justified.

The conditions in the Samburu country were criticised by the Member for North Kenya and Government stated that a very close watch was being kept on the situation. It is hoped that more effective control will be provided by proposed boundary alterations.

An interesting announcement was that the question of defence for the Port of Mombasa was being discussed with the naval and military advisers of the Colony.

The Education Fees.

Kenya Legislative Council, at which had been made considerable progress on the ground of the Select Committee's report, which they considered a fortunate circumstance. It was, however, very disappointing that the Government had not passed the necessary measures, although the sitting yesterday had not been so successful as to deal with other parts of the business on the agenda.

During the adoption of the Committee's report, the Colonial Secretary was able to report that an increase in gross revenue of £1,100 had been secured in 1931. The figures in the estimates would therefore have to be altered to £2,449.

Having an estimated surplus of £11,000 for 1932, the original estimate of £4,491. The Government, however, had not yet decided on the details of the estimates for this year, and the Government had not yet decided on the details of the estimates for this year, and the Government had not yet decided on the details of the estimates for this year.

It was noted that some of the reasons for the increase in the budget surplus were the effects of the Select Committee's review. The Committee had recommended various measures to increase revenue and reduce expenditure. These included an increase in the land tax, a reduction in the salaries of public officers, and the introduction of a new system of taxation. The Government had accepted these recommendations, and this had resulted in a significant increase in the budget surplus.

The Committee also recommended that the Government should consider the possibility of introducing a new system of taxation. This would involve a change in the way in which the land tax was levied, and would result in a more equitable distribution of the tax burden.

In addition, the Committee recommended that the Government should consider the possibility of reducing the salaries of public officers. This would involve a review of the salaries of all public officers, and would result in a more equitable distribution of the public service.

Great satisfaction is felt in London. A. E. B. Billigan says that the man who did more than anyone else to bring about the Australian tour is the High Commissioner who called the 'Mumba' Cup competition was 'settled'.

The 'Daily Express' writes that the M.C.C. are to be congratulated on their dignified and diplomatic handling of the situation. The 'Daily Express' says that the incident will be played on the tennis which has been set upon.

In the final of the 'Mumba' Cup played over 30 holes on Saturday, Mr. Gash beat Mr. Gash in the final. The scores were: G. G. Naylor 13, H. G. Naylor 13, H. G. Naylor 13...

Combined Indians vs. Europeans.

First Representative Hockey Match.

The representative hockey match played on Parklands ground on Wednesday between a team representing the Hockey Association and a Combined Indian XI resulted in a draw of 1 goal all. The Europeans must consider themselves lucky to have made the match a draw as on the whole the Indian XI had the better of the game, but on both sides the defence was superior to the attack. There was a large crowd of Indian spectators and a goal for Europeans when the ball-out took place, shortly before 2 o'clock. The ground was in excellent condition though a little heavy in places. The new green shirts of the Hockey Association were worn for the first time and looked exceptionally well. From the start it was obvious where the European weakness lay. None of the inside forwards was up to the form one expects in a representative match. Harvey was the best of the three but weak by the circles, while Faber and Kington both had off days.

The Indians attacked strongly from the first, their left wing Naini Singh and Jai being particularly dangerous. A neat shot from outside the circle placed of Matthews, which sent the goal and a large section of the crowd enthusiastically cheered this supposed goal.

The real goal for the Indians came about ten minutes later when Yakk Khan hit the ball through from a scramble in front of goal. Hand-over made one or two runs and put in some good centres which would have been easier to deal with if they had been hit to the back of the circle.

The teams crossed over at half-time with the score level in the Indians' favour. There was only one man in the European forward line whose one felt was likely to get a goal and that was Wilford who was playing a very spirited game. He got it and had it not been for good goal-keeping, he would have got two. There was no further score though there were one or two anxious moments when the Indian forwards got going, their stick work being well worth watching.

The Gymkhana full-backs, Dyke and Matthews were in excellent form and were the only members of this side who had the advantage of knowing each other's play. Dyke especially brought off some spectacular breaking up movements. Both full-backs were good, the centre-half especially, and Sheldie too played a very hard game though his passes were inclined to be erratic. Of the goal-keepers, Majed was easily the better.

Mr. Bragg and Mr. Boddy were the umpires, and exceptionally good ones too. The next representative match is against the Goans on Wednesday next, and it is practically certain that there will be at least three changes in the team.

Social and Personal.

The Children's Week.

This is the week of the children. The schools have closed down for the Christmas holidays and Nairobi and the country centre are once again full of brightly-eyed, eager children with expectations of a generous Santa Claus. But the old custom is suffering from depression and has not even had the stimulus to get his best out of the year. Still he is a marvellous vitality and it still determined to see that good things at least do not suffer too harshly from the influence of factors with which they are unacquainted.

Round the Shops.

NAIROBI Christmas shopping has dragged a little this year but is showing signs of brightening. The remaining days of the week should see the usual throngs of nervous and anxious shoppers swarming through the shops. Of course there are numerous parties, too, and the opening hour large a volume of trade is done quite before-hand in preparation for the cheerful gatherings in gardens and at homes.

Lady Byrna.

Lady Byrna returned to the Club at the weekend and was met at the Club by Mrs. E. K. Kelly, the Governor. They are now in the Capital on Sunday. Lady Byrna, who has greatly benefited from her holiday at home, was accompanied by her daughter, Mrs. Smith, and the latter's sister.

At Home.

At home in a hectic period of shopping and social play a large number of ladies are busy with their Christmas preparations. A number of these are at the home of Mrs. J. C. Kelly, the Governor's wife, who is spending the Christmas holidays at the Cathedral. Presently, too, there will be the Queen of Ladyland.

Sport.

In the realm of sport there is of course the Race Meeting, the Polo Tournaments—always a weekly occurrence—summers and engagements and something new by the bright young things called the Hippic Polo Gymnasia or something with blonde veils and nettes and private tennis courts and other ideas for cheering up the holidays. Every week, too, the very fine Flower Show in Nairobi, was organised almost exclusively by the ladies who added further laurels, roses, carnations and things to their credit.

THE WEDDING

THE WEDDING took place on Saturday at St. Andrew's Church of Scotland, Nairobi, between Miss Helen Brown, daughter of the late Mr. Wm. Brown of Hamilton, Scotland, and Mrs. Brown, of Mr. Daniel Thomson, of the firm of Messrs. Gwynn and Roberts, Ltd., Nairobi, and son of Mr. and Mrs. G. L. Thomson, of Glasgow, Mr. William Hamilton acted as best man, the bride, who was given away by Mr. D. McDonald of Nairobi, was dressed in white satin and in princess style with a long train of white silk and lace, with an apron of white satin and lace, which she wore a veil with, eye fabric. Her shoes were also of white satin and she carried a bouquet of white lilies. The bridesmaid, Miss W. Parker, wore a dress of blue tulle with a train of white satin and lace, and shoes to match and carried a bouquet of white carnations. Mrs. Hamilton, who was given away by Mr. D. Round the Shows.

Here is a little potpourri of interesting events and a list of visits to several of the leading shows below.

The Young Men and certain members of the—our leading show—of the evening, and are having them made in the style we associate with Fairy Queens at Christmas. Tactfully. Lovely things, they are, but with the exception of the one finishing as they are in the floating display, they are all in a big way.

Five to twelve firms show signs of departing this season. They are mostly small-scale, gift-made usually of course, in black, purple, and other colors. There are a few new and pastel-colored ones. Useful dresses, it is worth a stop on for late tea and kept on for a friendly dinner or a three-to six-course party.

Household Hints.

Washing Sinks at Home.
High sanitation calls for the highest possible standard of cleanliness after being washed.
Try this new way of washing. Pour a pint of boiling water over a handful of bran in a wash tub. Sprinkle the tub with soap. Then add a can of yellow soap, and boil it for an hour. This is a disinfectant and will kill all the germs in the water. It is also a good way to wash your hands and face.

Useful Addition.

Channels of various kinds will help and work well dissolved in water poured over the sink in which they are used. They are made of a soft material and are very easy to use. They are also very effective in removing dirt and grime from the sink.

Notes of the Week.

HAVING been away from my desk for some time, I am sure that my readers will be glad to hear that I am back again. I have been very busy with my work and have not had time to write for some time. I am sure that my readers will be glad to hear that I am back again.

Practical Hints - Earths and Earthing Systems.

In a damp climate the construction of earths and earthing systems is a matter of little difficulty on account of the high conductivity available but in places where the soil itself may become very dry matters take on a different complexion. Furthermore, in many cases it is probably better to dispense with an earth altogether and to use an insulator. An indifferent earth, one that has varying electrical properties, may give rise to the most peculiar troubles resulting in complete inability to transmit a station or if this is achieved the impossibility of loading it. A really good earth on the other hand may completely eliminate a tendency to instability, land conductivity and so on, and in cases where such an attempt should be made to express them by this

In a damp climate the construction of earths and earthing systems is a matter of little difficulty on account of the high conductivity available but in places where the soil itself may become very dry matters take on a different complexion. Furthermore, in many cases it is probably better to dispense with an earth altogether and to use an insulator. An indifferent earth, one that has varying electrical properties, may give rise to the most peculiar troubles resulting in complete inability to transmit a station or if this is achieved the impossibility of loading it. A really good earth on the other hand may completely eliminate a tendency to instability, land conductivity and so on, and in cases where such an attempt should be made to express them by this

NOVELS

Official Crop Report for November.

COFFEE TREES BENEFIT FROM GENEROUS RAINS.

But Poor Current Yield.

Although in some areas the trees have shown a marked improvement as a result of the recent rains, the Department of Agriculture again emphasises in the crop report for November that a large proportion of the coffee is of low quality and may not be worth shipping to London.

The Colony's wheat yield is estimated at 4.4 bags to the acre as compared with an average of 2.1 bags per acre last season.

Dry weather throughout the main maize area is causing considerable harm to the later sown maize.

The Wheat Position.

Following is the Department of Agriculture crop report for November:— Keeping of cereal crops is now in progress throughout the Colony. Earlier sowings have on the whole done well, but however, depends on the effect of the dry weather on the later sown crops, so that production estimates of cereal crops should be made with reserve until the position of the wheat is clearer.

Table with columns for Wheat, Barley, and Maize, listing areas like Nairobi, Nakuru, and Kisumu with corresponding yields.

COFFEE.

Following is a statement of the estimated coffee crop for the year:— The slight decrease in the estimate of the December crop is accounted for by a very large quantity of the coffee is of low quality and may not be worth shipping to London.

Following are the estimated average and total yields:— The total yield of coffee for the year is estimated at 328,685 cwt., a slight decrease on last month's estimate. It is quite evident that a very large quantity of the coffee is of low quality and may not be worth shipping to London.

COFFEE PESTS.

Antestia was significantly lower in the only field which was planted before the start of the experiment than in the other fields. This is due to the fact that the number of Antestia is still a major pest during the whole of the year, but they are considered essential during the period of the experiment. The condition considered unfavorable for the pest is the rain. The experiment demonstrated the superiority of predominate extract spraying over other means of control.

Hand-picking.

This is another very general method used in attempts to control Antestia. It is usually done by the workers on the estate, but it is a very expensive method. The cost of hand-picking is estimated at 100/- per acre per year.

A Possible Danger.

It seems up to date in a danger of the increase of my coffee pest due to the destruction of its natural predators. The danger of an increase of certain coffee pests due to the destruction of their natural predators is a very real one.

Reliable Control.

Prevention of spreading has been proved an absolute necessity. The best method of control is the use of predominate extract spraying.

Twenty Years Ago.

The following extracts are taken from the 'East African Standard' (November 1904) for the week ending December 20, 1910:— Three thousand Municipal employees at London have gone on strike. Mr. Milner is the favorite candidate for the post of Governor of the Colony.

brilliance, and when he was 23 years of age a daily paper said of him "At the present moment he appears to be a soldier, but that has nothing whatever to do with his interest in the public eye." No one would say that Churchill is an exceptional brilliant man.

There was once a little girl in the village of St. Albans, according to Miss J. Stoddart's account of his early years he was "a bright child, with a keen interest in Joseph Chamberlain. Further back there was a boy who at the age of seven was described by his mother as "an impatient little fellow."

In the present position the Society cannot claim to be a representative body of all communities. Years ago, KHAI-UD-DRAIN, Nakuru, December 12, 1936. The East African Standard is informed that the Society is a private one formed by a group of European and African businessmen but there is no reason why the members of the Society should not form their own Radio Club. TEACHING THE NATIVE Old Modelling Giving Way to New Ideas.

REWARD OF PATIENCE

The clearing do have a little compensation. This was the message to Kenya's native farmers in a large Agricultural Department stand, situated in that section of the show held by the Royal Agricultural and Horticultural Society of Kenya, which was devoted to African development.

Did the native can be disheartened, especially in the case of those who are not yet able to get the best of their own soil. What is the goal of heavy without a loss of the soil? In his outstanding address in the Agricultural Department Officers who would urge him to capture his losses by instead of clearing it with the loss of the fertile lands of dead but he allows to remain in the disintegrating nature to get worse.

Lands and the Coast.

The first part of the country's agriculture which is introduced into the lands was that of the Lami and the Coast. The latter is the attractive garden of Lami work, it contained an interesting variety of a Virginia-type tobacco which is being planted in a very large area in and on the coast. It is felt that that industry could be developed and experimental work is now actually being conducted.

There were displays of the many things for which the Makindu plants was useful when worked into material, and the interesting fact was revealed that one of the major industries of the Coast was the making of soap from this product for sale to Zanbari's clove trade. Cashew nuts can fetch as much as £100 a ton in the United States. Beans in America, and also a greater amount of 20,000 tons of its product after manufacture, yet it was a paying crop, and is being quickly developed. The case of rubber trees which the Department has planted within the last few years is just about the same. It is a coming industry.

Main Experiments.

Small sections of the lands was set aside for the experimental material, and for instance, that the maize which is being produced in many of the Coast areas is a product of the climate, and a full display of maize that are being carried on. It is already reported in the East African Standard, in dealing with the agricultural lands, which is assuming first-rate importance in Kenya Province, and again, in this article, the product was fully displayed and explained. It was interesting to see that water-grown improves the soil; it fits the silty; whereas seasonal crop impoverish it. The improvement of the soil by the introduction of Kenya was one of the biggest lessons pointed out in the simple elements of soil.

Mr. F. F. Brangan going to Tanganyika.

Mr. F. F. Brangan Crown Council Kenya has been transferred on promotion to Dar es Salaam where he will replace Mr. Ralph Hoop, M.C., Crown Council, who has been appointed Attorney General at Gibraltar. Mr. Brangan leaves in about a fortnight's time.

Mr. Houston came to Kenya in August, 1931, when, as his first appointment on the Colonial Service, he went to the Attorney General's office. Prior to that appointment he was practising as a barrister in Dublin. He was called to the Irish bar in 1928, and is today 72 years of age.

Well-known case.
Mr. Brangan's name has become well-known to the Kenya public for having served in this country he has acted for the Crown in most of the important criminal trials. He was junior to the former Attorney General, Mr. D. A. Macfarlane, in the most notorious case that appeared for the Crown in the Justice member trial, and at the Wynne murder case when at Edward the jury delivered two contradictory verdicts which secured considerable attention and in which Mr. Brangan acted as the Crown's counsel. He also prosecuted the case of the young girl in unlawful marriage case. Further, Mr. Brangan handled what became known as the Hilditch case and the Melnyk and Reid case which concerned the kidnapping of two children.

It is not yet known who will be appointed to succeed Mr. Brangan, but it is anticipated that his successor will arrive in Kenya some time in either February or March.

AFTER 22 YEARS.

Mr. Charles Francis Bristol, Headquarters Superintendent of the Kenya Police, ceased to be in the office on 31st, and is on leave pending retirement. Mr. Bristol is spending his first portion of his leave in the Islands. He is understood to have left for the United Kingdom last, but will return and settle in the Islands.

Mr. Bristol joined the Kenya Police as an Assistant Inspector in January 1913. He was promoted to be Inspector in March 1918, and to be Superintendent in April 1924 and to be Superintendent on January 1, 1935. During his service he has been posted at Mombasa, Nairobi, Fort Hall, Kisumu, Eldoret, and has been in charge of Stores and Accounts in Nairobi since 1926.

Mr. Bristol served in the War as an Inspector for a period of six years in the South African Constabulary.

DEATH SENTENCES REVERSED.

Two Natives Saved by Appeal.

Three natives, sentenced to death for the murder of a Somali at the Pangi Mara trading centre in the Mts. District in July last, appealed against this decision. Mr. Justice Lane at the Court of Appeal for Eastern Africa. Judgment was given yesterday. They were ordered to be discharged as there was no common intention to kill anybody when all three acted together, but the appeal of the first man was dismissed. Mr. Justice Lane said the second was not a party to the murder. It was alleged that the first native shot at the Somali with a poisoned arrow, which caused his death, and that the other two were associated with the first in the act and were therefore liable equally with him.

AN ALIBI DEFENCE.

Point in Appeal by Young Arab for Life.

The Court of Appeal for Eastern Africa, sitting at Nairobi yesterday, discussed the appeal of the young Arab, Ahmed bin Abdul Wadid, sentenced to death for the murder at Pangani village, Nairobi, last August.

The defence, the court pointed out, was an alibi, but the alibi witnesses were not brought forward until the trial. The appellant was defended in the lower court last November by a counsel who had been said in strong terms by the Court of Criminal Appeal in England, the judges said, that a defence of this nature should be disclosed at the earliest possible opportunity. The court then said that the appellant was young and inexperienced and had applied to reserve defence in the lower court by the advice of counsel himself.

A fractured skull which had allowed crude oil to percolate through the ground into the bare-bones, has polluted the whole of Sherborne's water supply and had almost a shortage of water in the town.

FORTUNATE ESCAPE.

Baby Car Which Overturned.

When a car turned completely turtle at Bourton on Monday evening the two Indian occupants escaped unscathed. They were merely scratched on the hands, but were able to right their most damaged vehicle a few minutes afterwards.

They were driving a baby touring car towards Nairobi on the stretch of main road about a mile from the junction to Kenya Breweries Ltd. Having overrode violently from side to side of the road several times, the car suddenly jolted the road and turned turtle on its top. Although none upside-down and greatly cramped both Indians were able to crawl from beneath the wrecked vehicle.

In the meantime, having heard the great many hundreds of yards away, several Europeans hastened to their cars to the scene and parked on each side of the road near the damaged car.

This nearly resulted in another accident a few minutes after. A car, driven by a Portuguese woman, approached the scene from the direction of Bourton. Having successfully negotiated the first corner which were parked alongside the road she failed to pass unscathed one of the cars she met subsequently. Her car struck this one glancing blow, hardly causing it so damage. She then stopped and on her way back to the car which had been struck, she discovered her license lying in the road.
