NO COMPROMISE ON RACE ISSUE

President Johnson warns America

ODINGA CRITICISES WEST ON SURVEY
The Odinga Government has been criticized for its survey of the West African continent. The survey, which was conducted by a team of American and British experts, revealed that the continent is rich in natural resources but is being exploited by foreign interests. Odinga has criticized the survey, claiming that it is biased and that it does not take into account the needs of the African people.

AMERICAN segregationists were warned by President Johnson: "This time, on this issue, there must be no delay, no hesitation, or no compromise with our purpose." He was addressing a joint session of the Senate and the House of Representatives, which were debating the Civil Rights bill.

During what was called "his finest hour," the President received an ovation from Congress when he urged it to stamp out civil rights resistance and guarantee voting rights for Negroes. During the President's remarks, Mr. Johnson and his family sat in the Presidential box. With them were two leading Negroes, Mr. Roy Wilkins of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, and Mr. Carl Rowan, Director of the U.S. Information Agency.

And we shall overcome

President Johnson called on Congress to work long hours, nights and weekends to pass a bill which he said would bring to these today, despised by and restlessness the crippling legacy of bigotry and injustice. "And we shall overcome," he declared. "It is not just Negroes, but all of us, who must overcome the crippling legacy of bigotry and injustice. And we shall overcome." He denunciated the "attempts of the segregationists to obstruct the passage of this bill. They are not interested in the rights of Negroes. They are interested in the rights of the white man."

INSURANCE SCHEME MAY BE ENFORCED

KEVAYA'S Minister for Health and Housing, Mr. Othman, said yesterday that the national health insurance scheme, as presently being drawn up, may be compulsory.

Mr. Johnson continued: "I do not want to see the President who helped to end slavery and who helped to end Jim Crowism. I do not want to see the President who helped to end segregation. I do not want to see the President who helped to end the rights of the Negro people. I do not want to see the President who helped to end the rights of the white man."

Mr. Johnson continued: "I do not want to see the President who helped to end slavery and who helped to end Jim Crowism. I do not want to see the President who helped to end segregation. I do not want to see the President who helped to end the rights of the Negro people. I do not want to see the President who helped to end the rights of the white man."

Show a white skin

Many people of skin brown or black are being asked to show a white skin. This is a demand that is being made by the white man. The white man is demanding that the brown and black people show a white skin. This is a demand that is being made by the white man. The white man is demanding that the brown and black people show a white skin.

Slow process

Mr. Johnson said that the process of desegregation is a slow process. It is a process that will take time. It is a process that will take time. It is a process that will take time.

£20,000,000 plan for electric power

Standard Staff Reporter
 OVER THE next 10 years, we will need more than £20,000,000 to be spent on a massive plan to generate the electric power needed to meet the demands of Tanzania's rapid industrial expansion. Two of the most important projects under this plan will be the Wapiti scheme, with work starting in 1973, and £2,700,000 will be spent on the Pangani project after work starts in 1970.

Full details of these two schemes are not yet available, but Tanzania has initiated a considerable amount of industrial work which is due to start in the near future.

These projects have been approved by the Government of Tanzania, and the Government has agreed to provide the necessary funds to carry out the project.

The estimated cost of generating the electricity at Wapiti is £2,700,000, and the estimated cost of generating the electricity at Pangani is £2,700,000.

Film unit problem: What to do with their 21 lions

INTERNATIONAL film company making the story of a single lioness who celebrated the 25th anniversary of the United Nations. It is likely to end in a somewhat heated period on location as Kenya amid a controversy about how to dispose of the 21 lions.

Mr. Sam Jaffe, the co-producer of Bora Bora, the film based on Mrs. Joy Adamson's book, "Something of an Animal," which is about to be published in Kenya, said that the film unit of Bora Bora has been in Kenya since the beginning of 1962.

There is some discussion over whether the lions should be returned to their original owners, or, if not, to the Kenya Government.

OWNERSHIP TO BE ESTABLISHED

Naturally, George and Joy Adamson want to have as many lions as possible to be returned to their original owners. But they also want to make sure that the lions are well cared for. It is not clear whether the lions will be returned to their original owners, or to the Kenya Government.

Dr. KING'S TROOPS NEW MARCH id rejection clarified by Tanzania

Clubs and whips used in Alabama

Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr., has called on Negroes and Whites to take part in a march on the 100th anniversary of the Emancipation Proclamation in Montgomery, Alabama, to demand an apology for political assassination of the late Dr. King.

In Tuesday's clash, eight people including a girl student from Pennsylvania and two Negro sheriff's deputies were taken to hospital after mounted police charged. The cause was the march against the bill to amend the Constitution to allow the national government to take over the states' powers.

In Tuesday's clash, eight people including a girl student from Pennsylvania and two Negro sheriff's deputies were taken to hospital after mounted police charged.

Dr. King's call for a march was made at a rally in Montgomery. A federal judge in Tulsa, Oklahoma, on Wednesday ordered a federal judge to allow a march from Selma to the state capital of Montgomery, a march that would begin on Saturday.

The march is designed to dramatize the Negroes' demand for voting rights in the deep south. While Negro leaders wanted the judge to order a march, the federal judge ordered that the march be limited to 500 people and that the march be held on a Sunday, which was not to go better than the previous one.

New clash near court

An angry Judge Frank Johnson, in the U.S. District Court in Selma during the absence of the judge, called in the local police to look place only a short distance from the court on Wednesday. The march was apparently the result of a misunderstanding. The judge was apparently the result of a misunderstanding. The judge was apparently the result of a misunderstanding.

Air raids again on Uganda

The Prime Minister of Uganda, Mr. Milton Obote, said today that his government had been notified that the British Royal Air Force had conducted a series of air raids on Uganda. The raids were said to be aimed at military targets. The Prime Minister said that his government was determined to retaliate against the raids.

WEST German financial and technical aid to Tanzania which was from East German Government sources was not included in President Nyerere's instruction to the Bonn Government to withdraw and stop its economic aid, he explained yesterday.

In a statement he said that there appeared to be some confusion over his instructions which allowed the East German Government to continue to supply military aid to the United Republic of Tanzania. The East German Government's aid was not affected, he emphasized.

The end column

Officials have ordered the East German connections cut off. The East German Government is expected to be expelled from the area.

Looking for something different? Try another sea.

Israel offers a wide selection: Galilee, the Red one and the Dead one. Try them all.

They're quite accessible now. All you have to do is take an El Al flight. You will find it's a Boeing 720B, the Fan Jet, any Thursday morning from Nairobi, and you will be in Israel on Friday morning.

On Galilee, you can swim, sail, and water-ski. Or, if you like to take your water lying down, go and recline on the Dead Sea (which is so buoyant that even a stone finds it difficult to sink like a stone).

But you'll probably spend some of your time by the Red Sea at the popular winter resort of Eilat.

Ever since the Queen of Sheba stopped there on her way to visit King Solomon, Eilat's perfect climate and beaches have attracted beautiful women from distant lands. There's also a marine museum, and glass-bottom boats, if you prefer that sort of thing.

Of course, after you've tried them all, you may wonder if there's not one sea quite like the Mediterranean. It's all right. We have that one, too. Why not have a good swim with your travel agent about this.

SAFE LANDING FOR 'SUNRISE' Army guard for Selma marchers

Both men well after record 17 orbits

RUSSIA'S "Sunrise" spacecraft, Vokhod II, from which the first man went into outer space, landed safely yesterday. Both cosmonauts were stated to be well after the craft's commander, Col. Boris Yegorov, landed.

According to Tass, the spacecraft landed at two minutes past noon in the area of Perm, west of Col. Belyayev, but there was no immediate explanation as for why it was not landed in that area. It was expected to land in its intended spot nearly five hours after the event took place — some 250 miles off the coast of the Vokhods program — where they had been committed to orbit and were doing well.

President Johnson has announced that he would order the Alabama National Guard to protect civil rights marchers there next week if the State was unable or unwilling to provide protection.

He acted after Governor George Wallace of Alabama appealed for Federal civil help to guard the demonstrators during a march to Montgomery, the State capital.

President Johnson, who has been advised by both the State and Federal departments that the march would have a peaceful character, has also announced that he will send 10,000 troops to the State to assist with the march.

While Johnson reports to the Governor that he will send 10,000 troops, he has also indicated that he will send 10,000 troops to the State to assist with the march.

President Johnson said the Federal Government will have this number of troops available in the State.

Gov. Wallace, who has been advised by both the State and Federal departments that the march would have a peaceful character, has also announced that he will send 10,000 troops to the State to assist with the march.

COUNCILS SHOULD ADVISE ON NEEDS

Local councils that are required to lay out the plans for the Minister for Land Government, Mr. James P. O'Rourke, has announced that they should advise on the needs of the people in their areas.

Some fears of mishap

The craft, completed 17 orbits before the launch, spent eight orbits in 24 hours with three men on board. The 17th orbit, which was the last, was completed on Saturday afternoon. The craft was launched on Saturday morning at 10:30 a.m. and was in orbit for 24 hours.

A new step in space connected in the launching spacecraft only by a thin ribbon. This is the Russian television view as Col. Boris Yegorov, commander from Vokhods, II, 200 miles above the earth and travelling at 15,000 m.p.h. Col. Yegorov stayed aloft for 20 minutes in the "Sunrise" spacecraft. The craft was launched on Saturday morning at 10:30 a.m. and was in orbit for 24 hours.

CANADA MAY AID TANZANIAN AIR TRAINING

Standard Star Reporter. Ottawa — The Canadian Government has agreed to provide the Tanzanian Air Force with military training and equipment. The agreement was announced by the Minister of Defence, Hon. Gordon Phillips, in a speech to the House of Commons.

The training will be provided by the Royal Canadian Air Force and will include instruction in flying, navigation, and air operations. The equipment will include aircraft, engines, and other air force hardware.

The agreement is part of a larger aid program for Tanzania, which is one of the poorest countries in the world. The Canadian Government has pledged to provide a total of $10 million in aid over the next five years.

Autosilo building an example of confidence

LACK OF MAIZE COULD BE AVOIDED

PRESIDENT Kenyatta yesterday said that as "yet another example of confidence in Kenya's building industry" the Autosilo building in Nairobi "is an illustration in the effective partnership between State and private enterprise."

The 2,500,000 building, one of its kind in Africa — the most advanced design in the world — was opened on the President's behalf by the Minister for Commerce and Industry, Dr. Kioko.

At the ceremony, high above Queen's Road, Nairobi, President Kenyatta was seen in a message from the State. He said that the new building emphasized Nairobi's increasing importance, both in the site of the city and in its communications. The Autosilo building, he said, was a technological achievement.

With all the signs and confidence that has been shown supporting the construction of the Autosilo, it is clear that there is nothing to be feared. I feel certain that at the start of the official opening, Mr. George Pirochatti, president of the Autosilo, said that only his personal "love affair" with Kenya had caused it to be built.

HISTORY IN THE DUST...

I'm now arrived, thanks to the gods.
Through pathways rough and muddy.

THE true history of the Mombasa-Moroni road is not written in books but in the memories of men who have travelled over the road and its drifts in the last 40 years in the broken stages and rugged trials, and preserved links used by motorists by the preservation of the road.

It has never inspired a poet to write about it, although the story is material reaching the end of a journey on the road from a holiday ride on what would have been, in the 19th century, the Scottish coast.

The East African Road is a road that has been built in 15 years and had to be built in 15 years.

It is a road that has been built in 15 years and had to be built in 15 years. It is a road that has been built in 15 years and had to be built in 15 years.

Why are Caterpillar machines invariably chosen for the world's big projects? Because they have proved their superiority many times by being the most dependable, economical and productive on tough jobs. But this leadership was not easily won. Caterpillar produce more because they have been tested thoroughly — at design stage, in selection of raw materials, in assembly, and even in machine performance before they leave the factory. Caterpillar engineers have a term for this rigorous control. They call it 'Uncommon Quality'. It is built into every machine in Caterpillar's most comprehensive earthmoving line. It is the reason why Caterpillar are the largest suppliers of equipment for the world's earthmoving assignments.

Tunis talks on complaint

The Africa Football Confederation will meet in Tunis in June to consider a complaint by Stephen Baraza that he has not been allowed to play for Kenya national football team. The complaint was presented by the Kenya Football Federation and Uganda has promised that the two players are not eligible to play for Uganda in previous years and they have not been involved.

Uganda, headed by Kenya in the first leg of the Africa Cup competition, made the first approach to the Africa Football Confederation, which is the governing body of the African team which was also beaten by Kenya in the second leg. The complaint was presented by the Kenya Football Federation and Uganda has promised that the two players are not eligible to play for Uganda in previous years and they have not been involved.

Kenya's athletes team in the 1960 Olympic Games in Rome is likely to be the best ever. The team was led by Peter Rono and won several medals. The team's success was a result of the hard work and dedication of the athletes and their coaches.

TWO SUGGESTIONS

Two suggestions have been made for the improvement of the Kenya Olympic team. The suggestions are to provide better training facilities and to increase the number of athletes who are trained.

Rodent-in-one

A new rodent-in-one has been developed. The device is designed to catch and kill rodents in a humane and efficient manner. It is a significant advancement in rodent control technology.

BEST OLYMPIAN

The best Olympian has been named. The winner is a young athlete who has shown exceptional talent and dedication. The award is a recognition of their hard work and achievements.

PATHFINDER CANCELLED

The Pathfinder program has been cancelled. The program was intended to provide training and support for young people, but it has been discontinued due to budget constraints.

UNITED ARE FAVOURITES

United are the favorites in the upcoming tournament. The team has a strong record and a talented roster of players. They are expected to perform well and win the championship.

K.N.F.L. MEETING

The K.N.F.L. meeting was held in Nairobi. The meeting was attended by representatives from various organizations and discussed important issues related to the organization's activities.

NOW OPENED

The new building has been opened. The building is a modern and spacious facility that will provide a better environment for the organization's operations.

Slow times in swim finals

Swim finals were held in slow motion. The athletes showed a lack of energy and focus, which was unusual for a final. The officials are investigating the reasons for this.

Last games in league cricket

The last games in the league cricket season were played. The teams showed a high level of skill and competition. The season was a success and the players enjoyed the challenge.

Coaching school in May

A coaching school will be held in May. The school is designed to provide training and support for coaches and is open to all interested parties. It will cover a range of topics related to coaching and sports management.

NEW DELHI TEST

The new Delhi test was a success. The team performed well and showed a high level of skill and determination. The test was a highlight of the season and the players were proud of their achievement.

LAITON HOCKEY

The Laiton hockey team has been formed. The team will be competing in the upcoming tournament and is expected to perform well. The players are excited and ready for the challenge.

Kindie sets sights

Kindie has set his sights on the upcoming tournament. He is a talented athlete and is determined to win. He has been training hard and is ready for the challenge.

Cavina swimming

Cavina has been successful in swimming. He has won several medals and is a top performer. He is a role model for other athletes and is admired for his hard work and dedication.

Poplum Down out

Poplum has been down out. He has been injured and is unable to compete. He is expected to be back in action in the near future. The team is hoping for a quick recovery.

Harambee Kenya na Amerika

The Harambee Kenya na Amerika event was a success. It was a celebration of the achievements of Kenyan athletes and a display of their skills and talent. The event was a highlight of the season and the players were proud of their performance.

Sense of the infinite expanses'—Leonov

YURI G. G. LEONOV, Soviet cosmonaut, was asked how he felt about his first space flight. He replied: "I did not experience any fear, only the sense of the infinite expanses of the universe."

He said he was surprised to find that people on earth and in the presence of the ship's commander, G. G. Leonov, were not nervous.

"I could see everything very clearly. The view from the window was very beautiful," he said.

'No-one there I knew'

Leonov said both cosmonauts, wearing headsets and speaking through the flight helmet, in a state of shock and surprise.

"I was very surprised to find that there was no-one there I knew," he said.

After breakfast at the airport, the cosmonauts flew to the airfield in Kazakhstan, about 1,000 miles to the south.

Leonov, who was the first cosmonaut to be launched, was launched on a Soyuz rocket.

Leonov said he was surprised to find that there was no-one there I knew.

SHAPING THE FUTURE

The growth of literacy in East Africa and the movement of millions to industrial centers has created a strong demand for education of postal and telegraphic services... The Administration is also providing more opportunities for the collection and delivery of mail in rural areas... under which the range of services provided at sub-post offices will be extended, and new standards and fully new sub-post offices will be opened.

NEW PHASE IN VIETNAM WAR Bombing at will as U.S. admits teargas attacks

Motorcade planned for cosmonauts

A U.S. military spokesman in Saigon said yesterday that American and South Vietnamese troops had used gas of a temporarily disabling type against Communist Vietnamese guerrillas in the past.

The spokesman, who was replying to questions, declined to identify the gas, and would not say where or when it had been used or if it was a "form of teargas which causes nausea" and it was of a type used to question those who had been given any further details.

The U.S. Air Force jets made an aerial reconnaissance over North Vietnam yesterday, bombing and strafing military targets selected at will, a U.S. military spokesman acknowledged that the operation represented an extension of the air war against North Vietnam.

U.S. and South Vietnamese planes have previously struck at pre-selected military targets, including barracks, ammunition and supply dumps and naval installations.

AS Russia's two cosmonauts yesterday told reporters of their experience in outer space, Moscow was preparing a hero's welcome for them. They are due in the capital today, flying from their cosmonauts' north-east of the Caspian Sea to be greeted by dignitaries, families and friends.

A motorcade will take them from Bakh to Red Square from the airport — a route which has been a traditional path of glory along which Russian cosmonauts will drive for the eighth time. A Government reception is planned in the Kremlin Palace in the evening.

Yuriy Gagarin will take his last flight from the air to his home in Vladimir, 300 miles from Moscow. The flight will be a triumphal one, and Gagarin will be accompanied by his wife and children. He will arrive in Moscow at 10 p.m. on Saturday. He will be met at the airport by his family and friends.

No contact with guerrillas

An F-104 Thunderchief was lost, but the pilot was picked up by helicopter and brought back safely to South Vietnam.

The plane in yesterday's raid followed an established ground route in North Vietnam, bombing and strafing targets of opportunity, which could include military convoys, gun installations or troop detachments.

In South Vietnam, Government forces launched a large-scale search, against Communist guerrillas, starting mainly only five miles south-west of the strategic town of Da Nang, 173 miles north-west of Saigon.

But American military reports suggested that guerrillas yesterday contacted the U.S. with the guerrillas, but the army had two hours before 80 U.S. and Vietnamese troops were in the air.

S. KOREA'S TOP AWARD FOR MR. KENYATTA

THE President, Mr. Kenyatta yesterday received the Order of Merit for National Foundation, South Korea's highest award given to any kind of State — at Daegu, in the South Korean capital, Seoul, today.

It was presented to him by the leader of a South Korean goodwill mission touring Africa, which is now in Kenya. Mr. Soong Young Lee, on behalf of the President, presented the award to Mr. Kenyatta.

Mr. Lee said that it was being awarded to Mr. Kenyatta in recognition of his "role in the struggle for the national independence of Kenya."

The end column

THE Congolese Prime Minister, Mr. Thombe, yesterday called on Uganda to detain and disarm all Congolese nationals taking refuge in Uganda territory.

President Mureithi of Ghana told the Parliament yesterday that the Government would not be involved in the Congo crisis.

U.K. studies economy of E. Africa

OXFORD (U.P.)—A study by the Kenya Government, which is the first of its kind, into the economy of the East African region, is being published in the form of a report by the Kenya Planning Commission. The study is the result of a survey by the Kenya Planning Commission, which was set up in 1961, to examine the economic situation of the East African region and to recommend measures for its development.

The study, which is the first of its kind, is the result of a survey by the Kenya Planning Commission, which was set up in 1961, to examine the economic situation of the East African region and to recommend measures for its development.

Letters to the Editor

INTO THE 'ENGLISH' FIELD AGAIN

I HAD expected the Government's report on the English language to have provided some firm ground on which to build. In fact, the report is so full of qualifications and caveats that it is almost impossible to see any basis for a policy on the English language.

Mr. Casson's article in the Times is a good example of this. There has been considerable discussion about the English language in the past, but the Government has been reluctant to take any action.

Crucial seed

It is often held that improving the genetic make-up of animals is a task that can only be done by selective breeding. In fact, it is a task that can be done by a number of methods, including the use of artificial insemination.

The Kenya Planning Commission has been studying the economic situation of the East African region and to recommend measures for its development.

LOW ACTIVITY ON LONDON MARKETS

ACTIVITY remained at a low level in the London Stock Exchange yesterday. The new account opened with a slightly firmer look for some share prices, but there was not any real demand for new issues.

The London Stock Exchange reported that the total value of transactions was £1,125 million, compared with £1,000 million the previous day.

AUSTRIAN EXHIBITION WILL OPEN TONIGHT

The Austrian Exhibition, Tuesday, March 22, 1945.

KENTIA Minister for External Affairs, Dr. Sturmer, departing for President Keryvats, will officially open the Austrian Exhibition at Nairobi tonight at 8 p.m. today.

The exhibition is the first of its kind held by Australia in East Africa. East Africa and Australia have been trading partners for many of products and services.

Trade between them is steadily expanding and will continue to Australia's Deputy Prime Minister and Minister for Trade, John McEwen, says...

Thirty years ago in 1913-14, Australia bought East African goods worth £2,000,000. By 1940-41, the value had increased to £10,000,000.

Dr. Sturmer said that the trade between the two countries is steadily expanding and will continue to grow.

AUSTRALIA has a wide variety of products to offer the people of East Africa. These include wool, wheat, meat, and other agricultural products.

The exhibition will show the latest in Australian machinery and equipment, including tractors, trucks, and other heavy machinery.

The exhibition will also show the latest in Australian machinery and equipment, including tractors, trucks, and other heavy machinery.

'We are partners in trade'

I AM very pleased to have this opportunity to make a personal message to the people of Kenya and the other independent countries of East Africa.

Trade between Australia and East Africa has gone on steadily and the range of products is growing wider every year.

East Africa sends to Australia wool, wheat, and other agricultural products. Australia sends to East Africa machinery, equipment, and other goods.

The exhibition will show the latest in Australian machinery and equipment, including tractors, trucks, and other heavy machinery.

The exhibition will also show the latest in Australian machinery and equipment, including tractors, trucks, and other heavy machinery.

PICTURES MIRROR AUSTRALIA OF TODAY...

AUSTRALIA is a rapidly developing nation of land of contrasts. Pictured left is a panorama of Sydney, capital of the State of New South Wales. It is Australia's largest city (population more than 8,500,000). In the past ten years Sydney's skyline has changed considerably. By reconstruction and development schemes are in progress and buildings of a total value of more than £450,000,000 are rising every year.

Steel output rises to more than 300 tons a year

AUSTRALIA made a record in 1952 when it produced 300,000 tons of steel for the first time in its history. The output was a 100 per cent increase on the 300,000 tons produced in 1951. The increase was due to a combination of factors, including a 10 per cent increase in pig iron output and a 10 per cent increase in steel output.

The steel industry in Australia has been growing rapidly since the end of the war. The output of pig iron rose from 1,000,000 tons in 1945 to 2,000,000 tons in 1952. The output of steel rose from 1,000,000 tons in 1945 to 3,000,000 tons in 1952.

Past two decades have witnessed industrial revolution

WITHIN the past two decades Australia has undergone an industrial revolution which has transformed it from a predominantly agricultural country into one where agriculture, raw materials and manufacturing industry, both light and heavy, have attained a healthy balance.

The steel, aluminium and heavy engineering industries, with their production and sophisticated manufacturing industry, both light and heavy, have attained a healthy balance.

The steel, aluminium and heavy engineering industries, with their production and sophisticated manufacturing industry, both light and heavy, have attained a healthy balance.

AUSTRALIAN SUPPLEMENT

ALUMINIUM follows next in importance as an export in other economic activities.

Although Australia is the world's largest wool exporter, wool has lost its former position as the country's largest export.

Great importance

However, in the recent economy of 1964, the steel industry has become the backbone and service industries are of more importance than the farming industries. Australia has become a manufacturing country, producing everything from iron to atomic energy. From steel to plastics, chemicals, from bicycles to aircraft, and from rubber to iron-piling machines.

The occupational distribution of the work force is one of the most important indicators for a country's stage of economic development. Sixty per cent of Australia's total work force is employed in the manufacturing industry. This is a significant increase from 1942 when 33.8 per cent of the work force was employed in manufacturing.

Australian manufacturers of steel, on a regular basis, are able to supply 100 per cent of their own requirements. Australian manufacturers of steel, on a regular basis, are able to supply 100 per cent of their own requirements.

An allied phenomenon is that Australia has developed one of the largest numbers of motor vehicles in the world.

Largest employer

Thirty-two major vehicle manufacturing plants are located in Australia and the industry employs more than 100,000 people.

Of the 100,000 people employed in the motor vehicle industry, 70,000 are employed in the manufacturing industry.

Generation of electricity has increased from less than 5,000,000 kW in 1942 to over 15,000,000 kW in 1964.

Domestic production has risen from 200,000 tons in 1942 to over 1,500,000 tons in 1964.

The last 10 years also saw a great increase in the export of iron ore from Western Australia.

Iron ore exports were valued at over $1,000 million in 1964.

Here, there and everywhere industry is on the move with products of the CLYDE GROUP OF COMPANIES

Performance-proved products of Clyde of Australia are contributing to industrial, commercial and domestic efficiency in many countries of the world. Whether your interest is in heavy, medium or light engineering the chances are that there is a Clyde manufacturer to meet your requirements — as the following list of Clyde equipment shows:

- Diesel electric locomotives, diesel hydraulic locomotives, rail tank cars and general rolling stock
- Bridges, cranes, pressure vessels and bulk storage tanks
- Steam raising equipment
- Suburban electric railway passenger coaches
- Road transport trailers, tankers, volume cars, refrig. rated vans, timber jinkers and low loaders
- Road, rail and sea flexi vans
- Aluminium and stainless steel kitchenware
- Automotive accessories — mechanical and hydraulic jacks, storage batteries
- Materials handling equipment
- Hydraulic pumps and valves, water supply pumping and irrigation equipment
- Food processing equipment

Road-rail motor vehicle — models of Fiat-type from 100 to 1500 cc. (Patented in Australia)

Storage Batteries — 12 volt models, 100 ampere hours capacity. (Patented in Australia)

The first train to run without break of gauge from Sydney to Melbourne, Australia's biggest State capital, is welcomed on arrival at Melbourne. Diesel electric locomotives and railway rolling stock are among Australia's heavy engineering products.

ENGINEERING SKILL ABLY SHOWN AT HOME AND ABROAD

Australia's heavy engineering plants are keeping up with the demands of industrial development throughout Australia and are meeting increasing export orders from overseas.

The ability of Australian engineers to turn out first-class work has been demonstrated in the recent past.

Australia has received many of the machines which carry out civil development work and their design and sturdy construction stimulates admiration.

The range of earthmoving machinery made in Australia includes excavators, trenchers, graders, bulldozers, rollers and loaders. All have been proved by test in the wide range of climatic conditions encountered in Australia. They have been found to be as efficient and reliable as the tropical north and the sub-tropical south.

Manufacturing industries, particularly in the motor car, bus, truck, and aircraft sectors, have seen significant progress and expanded capacity in the post-war years. The country's engineering will be greeted by the vast range of products from intricate high speed precision equipment to heavy machine tools.

Experiences and high skills at all levels from the university graduate who specialises in design, research, production or any of the other branches of engineering, to the job and tradesmen are among the strengths that aid us to vibrant design and craftsmanship in engineering products.

Through supervision through all stages of manufacture combined with constant management, will not allow product quality to be affected. This aids for a high degree of consistency and attention to detail by the customer of very different orders.

In the field that leadership in modern industry is based as much on human intelligence as on technology, sound design, expert maintenance staff, both in the shop and in the field, and a high standard of training receive.

Instruction is given to the trainee as well as technical training to fit the body and future responsible position. The training is based on the latest developments in the industry through which all these skills and materials handling equipment.

Food receives the highest attention

AUSTRALIA, as one of the world's major food-exporting countries, gives a high priority to attention to the quality requirements of all markets.

Food products related to temporary Federal Government inspection before export from Australia include: Meat and meat products, including mutton, rabbit, kangaroo, pig, poultry, eggs, margarine, lard, fish, bread, fruit, vegetables, canned and frozen fruits and vegetables, fish, shellfish and vegetable oils, including cottonseed, linseed, rapeseed, sunflower, soybean, and other oils, including honey, beeswax, and other products, including wool, hides, skins, and furs.

The most and processed fruit and vegetable section is by far the largest in most inspection requires the individual examination of every article slaughtered for export.

The Australian Government, for many years past, has been working hard to improve the quality of its food products. It has done this by providing a high standard of inspection in making its food products. It encourages the active co-operation of all producers in making progressive improvements in the quality of their products. A large amount of work is being done in making Australia's food products more attractive to foreign markets. This is being done by the Australian Government's research organization, the Commonwealth Scientific and Industrial Research Organisation, which is conducting a wide range of research into the problems of agriculture and industry in Australia. About one-third of its activities are devoted to the direct study of food products. The other two-thirds are devoted to the study of food production and distribution. The research organization is also engaged in the study of food preservation and food processing. It is also engaged in the study of food nutrition and food hygiene.

Food processing has closely followed the progress of science. The problems of increasing the productivity of the production of food products are being solved by the use of modern machinery and scientific methods. The use of modern machinery and scientific methods has made it possible to produce food products in much larger quantities than ever before. This has made it possible to meet the increasing demand for food products in all parts of the world.

The use of modern machinery and scientific methods has also made it possible to improve the quality of food products. This is being done by the use of modern machinery and scientific methods to control the quality of food products. WINEMAKING—AN AUSTRALIAN SUCCESS STORY

THE wine industry is one of the most successful success stories of Australian primary production.

By Continental standards Australia was a late-comer to the art of winemaking. But in the relatively short period of 177 years her claret, burgundy, port and champagne have acquired high reputations with overseas buyers.

For over 100 years past Australian wines have achieved a long list of victories in overseas wine exhibitions. Australian wines were awarded in London as early as 1841. They took more honours at the Vienna Exhibition of 1873 and the Paris Exhibition 1889 and the Franco-British Exposition of 1901. More recently, at the 1930 Pitts International Wine Fair at London, Philadelphia, Australian wines challenged their Continental counterparts to a gold medal and 28 silver medals. London last year, Australian wines won prizes at the International Fair for Wine and Viticulture at Montpellier, France, and at 12 exhibits in France, and 13 world championship cups, a grand gold medal and three other gold medals.

Australian vineyards have also to credit from the 1500 years' experience of other countries and apply modern, scientific methods in wine-making abroad from the beginning.

Debt to tradition

Australia openly acknowledges its debt to tradition. The pioneer vineyards were French, German and Dutch settlers who brought with them the secret wine culture from European vineyards.

The first imported wine under brand to Australia came from France, Germany, Spain and Portugal. That was in 1788. In the same year, 2,000 gallons of wine were imported from Madeira.

Australian vineyards today cover 12,000 acres and produce 30,000,000 gallons of wine annually. Winemaking has become the nation's fourth largest rural industry. Australia is now the world's fourth largest wine producer. More than 1,500,000 bottles are exported to 15,000 points in more than 100 countries. The United States, Britain, Canada, Japan and South Africa are further big markets for Australian brandy and wine of different countries.

Among the most recent

The vintage in Australia is the most important of February to early May and during the season the grape-picking teams include many districts and workers from other cities. In the warm part of the season the grapes are matured quickly. The workers are busy with the picking of the grapes and the wine is made up with the usual care and attention which has been recognized by being first winner of international prizes.

Family Home

Many Australian wine companies are still headed by the descendants of the first vineyardists. In three provinces, however, the vineyard companies are held by individuals who have acquired the vineyard and wine-making business.

Export wines are bottled and labelled for the home market, although some wine-makers are exporting samples of all varieties amongst are exported by Australian Wine Shippers' Association. Many exporters do not usually purchase wine directly from the vineyard.

Only the finest and the purest Australian wine and brandy can be exported and samples of all varieties amongst are exported by Australian Wine Shippers' Association. Many exporters do not usually purchase wine directly from the vineyard.

While each wine-maker has been laboratory for quality control, the industry is now being watched by the State Government. The industry is now being watched by the State Government. The industry is now being watched by the State Government.

There is a growing trend among Australian wine-makers to develop wines of high character and a definite personality of their own.

Winter in a vineyard in South Australia. The vines are not yet pruned.

THE BEST OF BOTH WORLDS

It is only by the use of the finest grapes and the best of both worlds that a wine can be made which is both of the best of both worlds. The wine is made from the best of both worlds. The wine is made from the best of both worlds.

Through more than a century and a half of grape growing, our experts have gone to the study of the vineyard which has been proved to be the best of both worlds. The wine is made from the best of both worlds.

Australian vineyards cover an area of more than 125,000 acres and produce some 30,000,000 gallons of fine quality wine a year. More grapes harvested in the Honorary Irrigation Area of the Murray River, South Australia, are being trucked to a modern winery and distillery.

From the very heart of the choicest grapes... of the choicest grapes...

From the very heart of the choicest grapes comes Tolly's Brandy... full-flavored and mellow. Tolly's Brandy is the proud product of 106 years of exclusive devotion to the distilling of fine brandy. Your first taste will tell you....

cuttings from Sicily were in Australia to relieve vine relations predominant in the early 19th century of heavy wine-burning in the Barossa Valley. Here, the Cyril Henschke goes down into the cellars built by his great-grandfather more than 160 years ago.

The battery of refrigerated pressure tanks, each of 30,000 gallons capacity, to be used in the production of white wine and pear wine at a large winery in the Barossa Valley of South Australia. The controlled fermentation made possible by these tanks enables production of all kinds of dry white wines with a more pronounced bouquet. Controlled fermentation fermentations from this cellar have taken gold medals at international wine competitions in Europe.

AUSTRALIAN TRADE EXHIBITION

GREAT OVERSEAS TRADE FOUNDED ON THRIVING AGRICULTURE

AUSTRALIA has always been acknowledged as a world leader in agricultural and primary production. As a world food supplier, she ranks second as a producer of canned fruits, fourth in the production of dried fruits and fifth in dried fruit and fruit concentrate production.

Australia is also one of the most important sources of wheat, one of the major sources of wool, and among the major leading producers of meat and dairy products, growing practically every known variety of fruit and vegetable, and has established valuable export industries in such commodities as sugar, oranges, peaches, and all other standard products.

The years since 1924 have witnessed a series of records on the output of the major commodities and in the volume of production, and an appreciation in the rate of increase of most of them. In the year from July 1, 1935, to June 30, 1936, it is reported that Australian rural production had increased by £2,500,000,000, an increase of 49 per cent above the year 1929-30. In the past two years, the production of wheat, sugar, oranges and peaches has increased by 100 per cent.

Much of the increase has been caused by the growing availability of a wide range of agricultural products has been made available to the rest of the world at a time when it is greatly needed, and of Australia's and capital goods, and the conditions for production of all kinds of foods. The great increase in the production of such commodities as wool, wheat, oranges, peaches, and all other standard products, has been the result of the fact that the Australian farmer has been able to produce more than ever before, and to export his surplus to all parts of the world.

Water schemes put new life into 'dead' soil

THE AFRICAN HORN OF AFRICA, Tuesday, March 22, 1965

DEVELOPING the D'Adda Irrigation Scheme in the highlands of the Blue Mountains, where there are very good soils, has been one of the main plans for the 1965-66 season.

The major irrigation has been achieved by installing the D'Adda water scheme, which will irrigate 2,000 acres of land in the Blue Mountains.

The scheme was first used in the Blue Mountains in 1962, when it was used to irrigate 200 acres of land. A greater area of land is to be irrigated in 1965-66, when it is expected that the scheme will be used to irrigate 2,000 acres of land.

Challenges are met successfully by being in the sugar cane harvest in Queensland.

Cane sugar industry goes ahead

Australians rapid mechanization of its cane sugar industry has been watched with keen interest by all the world's producers of cane sugar.

This has resulted in growing overseas orders for highly specialized Australian-made cane sugar harvesting and milling equipment, which has become recognized as equal to the best in the world.

The Australian sugar harvesting and milling equipment industry is widely admired in the middle of Australia's major sugar-producing State Queensland.

Latest ideas

This enables the industry to move ahead of the latest trends in cane sugar progress, including the growing, harvesting, processing and milling of sugar.

The Australian industry is prepared to meet the specific requirements of the cane sugar producer, by manufacturing equipment and plant to specification.

In most cane technical personnel will be pleased to advise the installation of the equipment and to assist in the operation of the plant.

The industry also supplies cane sugar mill equipment.

WELD IT YOURSELF

WITH A LINCWELDER DC 250BT MOBILE DC FARM WELDER

Owning a Lincoln mobile DC-250BT farm welder makes you self-reliant and independent of long assistance. You can weld it yourself! As more quickly as a hot iron and with a welder you can fix a broken part on the spot and so keep equipment in operation and save repair bills. You can reclaim worn parts by hard surfacing, build special equipment to suit your own needs: John Deere, holder, beat and cut all metals. No longer need you face a serious loss through delays in repairing equipment or the inability to do the job yourself - a Lincoln mobile farm welder will solve this problem. However, to keep your machines in good running order and reduce operating expenses, invest in a Lincolnwelder 250BT - it's the most complete construction and maintenance tool any property can have.

BUILDING INDUSTRY REFLECTS VITALITY OF NATION

VITALITY OF NATION

The building and construction industries daily provide visible evidence of Australia's vitality. Changing city outlines, suburban housing developments, new factories, shops, schools and churches, new roads, expressways, bridges, power stations, harbours and seaports, and the construction and civil engineering projects give testimony to the major country's continuing development.

In a 1966-67 Australia, the annual stage of which has been the 2nd stage, a 15-20 per cent increase in building activity is expected. The 2nd stage is a 15-20 per cent increase in building activity is expected. The 2nd stage is a 15-20 per cent increase in building activity is expected.

It is likely that of the fastest growth in the country to occur in 1967 will be in the building of residential and social housing developments which are in line with world trends.

Australia's high standard of living has been by means of building of building materials. The building of these industries in recent years has been their ability to cope with requirements in different areas than those of the world.

Building construction in Australia reached a new peak in 1966 with the completion of buildings worth almost $2,000 million. The value of new buildings began in 1965 was $1,800 million.

By 1967, Australia's added residential building worth $1,000 million is expected to be completed in the world's capital cities.

By 1967 it is a city with a population of nearly 25 million and a working population of 10 million. One of Sydney's most notable projects is the Naco!

Fine Australian products that keep your home cool and comfortable to live in — attractive to look at.

NACO louvre windows

Give your home all the sparkling glass (and light) you want, with instant ventilation control. A quick adjustment of the handle directs blades to catch the slightest breeze — channeling it into every corner of your room, without drafts. Lock! — and Naco's exclusive Weather Rib seals metal glass-holding clips to glass to seal out rain, completely. In and a working lifetime in each. One of Sydney's most notable projects is the — colourful, effective way to exclude sun-glare and wind. Particularly suitable for commercial buildings. NACO Sun Breakers require no maintenance. Adjustment is simple, positive and quick by either manual control or by NACO-Tekel's Remote Control Operating Gear. Installed as a window screen, Sun Breakers reduce the cost of air-conditioning, because they lower indoor temperatures. Two types of NACO Sun Breakers in aluminium or steel, to match the architectural requirements of any building. "Ellipsoid" and "Z" profile blades, finished in any of 37 bright, interesting colours, can be installed vertically or horizontally.

NACO sun breakers

NACO door louvres

— fitted to any standard door, give you privacy with effective additional ventilation. Standard 4 inch glass-holding clips are available in aluminium or steel, and insect screens can be quite simply fitted inside or outside. Louvres can be installed to any depth in your door, from a small bank at the top, to a full-length install. As with Louvre Windows, NACO's exclusive Weather Rib seals out the weather, and Door Louvres are available in NACO's standard range of 37 colours. Dress up your doors to be a distinctive, modern feature of your home or office.

Seven-nation project under way

THIS major seven-nation project is well advanced. It is the largest of its kind and represents the most important step in the space age.

The project, which will cost $2,000 million, is being carried out by the Australian Government and six other nations: the United States, Canada, France, the United Kingdom, Italy and West Germany.

The project is aimed at developing a satellite system for the Southern Hemisphere. It will consist of a series of satellites in orbit around the Earth, which will be used for a variety of purposes, including navigation, communication and scientific research.

In the first phase of the project, the Australian Government will be responsible for the design and construction of the satellites. The other six nations will provide the launch vehicles and the ground stations.

The project is being carried out under the leadership of the Australian Government. It is the largest of its kind and represents the most important step in the space age.

The Australian Government Trade Commissioner, Kenya, Mr. J. M. Keddie (left), discusses a detail of the Broken Hill Pty. Co. Ltd.'s exhibit of the Trade Exhibition during preparations at the weekend with the Special Exhibition Projects Officer from the Department of Trade in Australia, Mr. W. H. Mason, who is in Nairobi specially for the exhibition.

Mr. Keddie checks progress on the quality of the machines for the Nairobi exhibit. On the right is Mr. A. S. Roberts of the Australian company which is in Kenya for the exhibition.

Miss Patricia Brown, Commercial Promoter's Officer with Confront, arrived in Nairobi on Friday to set up an information office at the Trade Exhibition. She has travelled nearly 2,000 miles in the last six years visiting exhibitions in many parts of the world. She is seen here talking to Mr. W. H. Mason, the information desk at Nairobi Airport.

what has the kangaroo to do with Eastern markets?

When business in the Far East beckons - connecting services from Africa enable you to join the famous Qantas kangaroo route and get speedily to the Middle East, across Asia to Hong Kong and the Orient. Abroad Asia to Hong Kong and the Orient, the flight routes of the east are more direct, flight hours away. And if you'd rather fly right eastwards via Mauritius and Australasia, Qantas flies you - north, south, east or west, in fact around the world.

For bookings, consult your nearest travel agent, or East African Airways.

NO CALL FOR PANIC OVER DAIRY INDUSTRY

Position clarified

There will shortage need not in any way be held to reflect upon the farmers of this country — as fact, both the old and new farmers continue to serve Kenya well and milk production has risen as a result of their efforts.

Making this statement yesterday, the Minister for Economic Planning and Development, Mr. Mbitia, said in view of some misunderstanding and was a "grave shortcoming" of dairy produce, it was necessary to inform the public of the correct position.

Dry conditions had been severe since the usual high price of milk and the demand for milk had risen significantly. The demand for the dairy industry in 1952 was 1,000 gallons per day — more than at the same time last year, but the K.C.C. was managing to put on the market 1,200 gallons each day according to figures for March last year.

The Government considers there is no reason for panic in the country since the production of the dairy industry is 25 per cent above production for the same period in 1951 and is at least 50 per cent above the food intake of the country.

There is no reason to believe that there will be a shortage of milk in any part of the country.

RAINS EXPECTED SOON

Mr. Mbitia said that it was expected that the rains would break within the next three weeks and this would result in production back to normal in a fortnight. It was expected that there would be no hoarding or black-marketing of dairy products.

Continuity is new aim of Kenya's Guiding leader

A PART from the need for increased public support and financial help, the Guiding movement in Kenya is now concentrating on continuity in its schools.

This is because Guiding has been in a state of flux for some time. It has been in a state of flux for some time. It has been in a state of flux for some time. It has been in a state of flux for some time.

Children are also without sufficient teachers, and many have been transferred from one school to another. This is because Guiding has been in a state of flux for some time. It has been in a state of flux for some time. It has been in a state of flux for some time.

Her next duty as a Guide was to visit a school where she was to be a Guide. She was to be a Guide. She was to be a Guide. She was to be a Guide.
