Mr. Wilson meets leaders privately

Several days ago...
 Prime Minister, Mr. Wilson, yesterday began a series of private discussions with delegates in London for the Commonwealth on the subject of Commonwealth immigration.

SALISBURY HAS NO COMMENT

His aim is to forge a common policy on the subject of restricting immigration into Britain in co-operation with the Commonwealth nations most directly concerned — India, Pakistan and the West Indies — but the three East African leaders are also taking part in the meetings.

President Kérékou and Mr. Wilson had a brief meeting yesterday. The President has made it clear that his Government are not backing to Britain, he believes there is a wider moral principle involved — a refusal to let Britain's new immigration restrictions.

Mr. Wilson's delegation leader, Mr. Richard Adair, Minister, Mr. Bourke, and the Viscountess Prime Minister, Mr. Oche, are also scheduled to meet Mr. Wilson at this time. Both have already expressed concern at the recent methods of racial discrimination in Britain.

AFRICA UNITED ON ASIA FRONT

Kenya demands set date for talks

Standard Staff Reporter LONDON. The British delegation got under way at the Commonwealth Prime Ministers' Conference at Manchester yesterday. It was clear that the three East African States had not submitted proposals to the first draft on Rhodesia.

Kenya would not sign the final communiqué unless a dispute over Rhodesia was settled. Kenya's satisfaction. Insisting on a specific date for a constitutional conference to settle the future of Rhodesia, Kenya wanted a conference within three months.

A number of the African leaders have already warned that failure to agree on the Rhodesia problem could mean the end of the Commonwealth.

WE MAY LEAVE OUR OWN

The Prime Minister of Uganda, Mr. Obote, has said that the British delegation was treating the Commonwealth as a threat to its own interests. He stated that the British were not coming out with any proposals.

Another part of Kenya's statement suggested that a conference should be held immediately to create the right atmosphere for a settlement. As it stands the report of the conference was thought worthy to go over the old ground that negotiations are proceeding and nothing is being done.

The Kenya delegation found the draft far too weak and wanted it spelled down in specific proposals, otherwise there was no chance of agreement.

More investment and jobs hoped for

REDS PUT TROOPS INTO VIETNAM

The chairman of the standing finance committee of the Nairobi Chamber of Commerce, Mr. S. Lee-Brown, held a meeting yesterday, at which it was hoped that 'due to the stability of Kenya's anticipated improvement in investment and employment opportunities would continue.

It was hoped Mr. Gichuru would be able to interpret the control regulations liberally so as to allow the export and import of business with a minimum of delay."

Taxes were anticipated

Thoughts being given on such things as motor vehicles, beer and licences were not serious and were less than anticipated. Coming from the official Economic Survey, Mr. Lee-Brown said that the country's gross domestic product was estimated to have risen by 7.5 per cent in monetary terms, and that the highest rates of growth achieved in the last ten years."

Development Nations stressed

INTERNATIONAL effort on a 12-point basis for rapidly establishing a world of peace and stability is being urged by the Economic Planning and Development, the United Nations Secretary-General, in a report to the General Assembly in New York.

The report, which is the first of a series of reports to be published in the next few months, is a plea for a new world order, one in which the needs of the developing nations are given priority.

INDUSTRIALIZATION URGED

Since primary products were now facing grave problems, it was necessary for the underdeveloped nations to industrialize and to develop a diversified economy. This would mean providing employment for increasing numbers of their people.

The industrialization process, however, cannot be undertaken unless the underdeveloped nations are able to develop a diversified economy. This would mean providing employment for increasing numbers of their people.

TANZANIA MOVE ON ROAD TO AFRICA

Proposals drawn up for conference

ALTHOUGH Britain's Prime Minister, Mr. Wilson, has made it clear that she should consider her relationship only with the Omani and not with the Commonwealth, Tanzania is understood to be making a cleverly-hand attempt to draft proposals on the Rhodesian question which will certainly come up at the Prime Minister's Conference starting today.

BOTH EAST AND WEST ON TRIAL IN AFRICA

UNDAUNED Prime Minister Mr. Wilson's decision, that the Rhodesian question should be considered only with the Omani and not with the Commonwealth, Tanzania is understood to be making a cleverly-hand attempt to draft proposals on the Rhodesian question which will certainly come up at the Prime Minister's Conference starting today.

Proposals are being drafted by a Civil Servant in the Tanzanian Ministry of Home Affairs, Mr. Herbert Chitanga, who is a Senior Law Officer in the Government, and has a Rhodesian background.

For once Mr. Chitanga's views in London might also be stated regarding the value of British aid and Commonwealth membership to the African continent, and his proposals are understood to be submitted to President Nyerere for approval.

Carry much more force

It is hoped that the memorandum will be completed in time for circulation to all East and Central African leaders at the time of the conference on the continent in a few days - in which case it will carry much more force than if it is merely presented to the Prime Minister.

However, it will be a vote against time to achieve a united front, for with a host of conflicting engagements, it will be difficult to convene an East and Central African conference in any form.

However, East African sources in London emphasize that the desire, even at this late hour, to submit proposals to the African delegates will, in the long run, carry more force than any similar approach to the continent.

It is certain from his recent visit to the United Kingdom that Mr. Wilson would wish to see the Rhodesian question dealt with in a separate context, rather than as part of the general African conference.

Mr. Wilson's visit to the United Kingdom was a success in many respects, but it is clear that the Prime Minister's decision to deal with the Rhodesian question in a separate context, rather than as part of the general African conference, will be a vote against time to achieve a united front.

M.P.s walk out of meeting

End to union feuds urged by report

THE Kenya Government, in a matter of urgency, should find ways of ending the rift in the union movement, if it is to be successful in its efforts to bring about a general election, particularly in the industrial sector.

The memorandum is contained in the report of the Commission of Enquiry into the Industrial Disputes, which was set up by the Government in 1964. The Commission's report was published in 1965.
