OVERSEAS PRASE CATTLE

High entry causes parade trouble

Visitors continued to pour into Nairobi show yesterday — in increasing numbers, the main agricultural show controlled on the largest scale of the show, the dairy cattle breeds.

Three overpass junctions in this section all spoke of the high quality of Kenya dairy cattle, not only among the top entries but among all the animals forward.

Learning from mistakes

Several cattle owners complained of the strain on their eyes and some asked for the parade to be postponed, but this was not possible because of the complex arena schedule.

Others also complained about another innovation — that of having a grand parade for the cattle on the same day as judging. Critics, many of whom are also exhibitors, said the second parade was not likely to have any effect on the cattle because there was plenty of time for them to be judged before the parade.

RHODESIA IN KAMPALA

RHODESIA was believed to be a major subject of the two-session talks starting in Kampala yesterday, which were concerned with arrangements for the forthcoming conference of the Organisation for African Unity in Addis Ababa.

One of the men here (left) who is due to be the first to be named as the recipient of the Nobel Peace Prize, seated by Mr. Robert Mugabe, Deputy Prime Minister of Rhodesia, under the cover of the Organisation for African Unity.

Mr. MUGABE AS ADAMANT AS EVER

BRITAIN, Commonwealth Secretary, Mr. Bowden, told the British Cabinet yesterday that there was still no sign that the Rhodesian regime was prepared to give up independence.

Mandatory sanctions call at U.N.

UGANDA's Foreign Minister, Mr. Okello, told the U.N. General Assembly yesterday that although the sanctions against Rhodesia were the surest method of forcing the Rhodesian rebel to give up his country, it was not sufficient.

He said the United Kingdom had not supported the economic sanctions against Rhodesia and that the United Kingdom should do so.

He said the United Kingdom should do so and that the United Kingdom should do so.

U.S. loses 970 men in a week

THE United States yesterday announced it was withdrawing 970 soldiers in one week from the Vietnam war — 970 soldiers killed, wounded or missing.

Nairobi Market picks up after slow beginning

A 1958 year which started with a slow beginning, picked up after a slow start, with prices recovering after the last two weeks. Prices were generally steady, but commodity prices fell to their lowest point in some cases, and overall the market closed above last week's level.

Upward pressure, caused by their developments, was seen in the market for copper, which rose to a new high of 11.00, and tin, which rose to 11.00. Other commodities, such as iron ore, zinc, and lead, were also up. Prices for various types of coal, oil, and gas were also up. In the stock market, the Nairobi Securities Exchange closed at a level of 11.00, up from 10.00 the previous week. The Kenya Stock Exchange closed at a level of 11.00, up from 10.00 the previous week.

PROGRESS REPORT ON GOVERNMENT AND MUNICIPAL FINANCE

The progress report on government and municipal finance, as prepared by the Ministry of Finance, shows a steady increase in revenue for the first half of 1958. The report indicates that government revenue has increased by 10% compared with the first half of 1957. This increase is due to higher tax collections and improved efficiency in the collection of revenue. Municipal finance also shows a steady increase, with most municipalities reporting a 5-10% increase in revenue. The report also notes that government expenditure has increased by 8% compared with the first half of 1957, but remains below the level of revenue.

GENERIC CATTLE GIVEN GENERAL PRAISE

...of the dairy with clean improved quality of the brought forward at this year's Nairobi Show, in particular judges said that the standard was high, not only at all the exhibitors.

The Jersey judge, Mrs. J. Wilson, from England, is well acquainted with the show, having lived in Kenya for many years, but was watching her first year as a judge. She also has larvae of her own cattle, and she was very keen to see the animals on the "Nairobi African" and British pedigree stock.

"I was extremely impressed to find that the quality of the animals was so high," she said. "I had heard that the standard was high, but I was not sure until I saw the animals in person. The Jersey breed is very popular in Kenya, and I was glad to see so many of them at the show."

The champion female was a Jersey bred by Mr. M. C. East—had been an outstanding animal, and her pedigree was traced to the famous "L.A. Cattle Co." of Vermont—was also a very fine specimen.

Mrs. Wilson said she had seen many other fine animals, and she was very impressed with the quality of the stock. She was particularly impressed with the quality of the Jersey breed, and she was glad to see so many of them at the show.

Three types

Considerable improvement had been made in the past few years, and the standard was high. The judges were very impressed with the quality of the stock, and they were glad to see so many of them at the show.

There were three basic types represented—Dutch, British and American—and in 1963 the judges were very impressed with the quality of the stock. They were particularly impressed with the quality of the Jersey breed, and they were glad to see so many of them at the show.

Africans given awards in farm competitions

AMONG the recipients of awards in the main areas were a number of Africans who had been judged to be the best in provincial farm competitions. Five of them received awards from the Commonwealth Development Corporation, which consisted of a cup and £10 each.

They were Mr. Paul Wadhwa of Mweri, Mr. Edwin Kiprotich of Kisumu, Mr. Frederick Mwangi of Mombasa, Mr. C. O. Ombaka of Mombasa, and Mr. Francis Njoroge of Mombasa. It had not been possible to award a cup to the winner of the Kisumu competition in the main areas.

Competitors in these events in the provinces did not judge the quality of the stock, but were judged on their farms for agricultural purposes.

Another four were also awarded prizes. They were Mr. Charles Kiprotich of Mombasa, Mr. Charles Kiprotich of Mombasa, Mr. Charles Kiprotich of Mombasa, and Mr. Charles Kiprotich of Mombasa.

Reminiscent of a cavalry charge, this exciting tent pegging event has riders thundering down the arena with poles aimed at ground markers. The sport did in fact evolve from a 19th-century cavalry tactic, in which horsemen rode through enemy tented lines, knocking about pegs and trapping soldiers in folds of canvas. Below: Men of the Kenya Army demonstrating night-riding tactics, the kind used when they hunt shifts.

Above: The arena area of the show rings to the sound of the martial music provided by the Band of the Kenya Army. At the end of their performances they were rewarded with cheering ovations.

Minister worried about reports of corruption

Reports of corrupt practices in the local authorities persisted, the Ministry of Local Government might be forced to take drastic action against better possession of public funds, the Minister, Mr. Saghai, said yesterday.

COURSE ON RELATIONS WITH CITY SUGGESTED

Mr. Mayor of Nairobi, Mr. George Ribba told the course on relations with city suggested that local authorities should be encouraged to work within the jurisdiction of their own powers.

Mr. Ribba said that the course on relations with city suggested that local authorities should be encouraged to work within the jurisdiction of their own powers.

He was addressing the annual meeting of the Association of Local Government Authorities at the Nairobi City Hall. Mr. Saghai said he had received information recently that in certain councils all was not well with the procedure for the acceptance of tenders for goods and services to be rendered to the council.

There are allegations of bribery and corruption on irregularities in the tender process. There is a serious amount of dissatisfaction among some traders who deal with local authorities, and generally I am far from satisfied, that all is well," the Minister said.

Mr. Saghai told members of the association that the report of the committee of inquiry which has been sitting recently had been presented to President Kenyatta, and that it did not meet with the Government's consideration of which would take more than a few weeks.

REVISED G.P.T. BILL

A revised G.P.T. Bill had been promulgated in the Kenya Gazette and would be debated in Parliament during the present session. He was hoping it would become law by October.

The new Bill envisages a few greater powers to those responsible for collection of the tax, and that they will make the collection more efficient. I hope you will understand that this either as an amendment or separate bills will let me say your comments," he said.

The Minister pointed out that the Bill would be revised, but to ensure that the Bill would be effective in carrying out public duties. He said that the Bill would be revised, but to ensure that the Bill would be effective in carrying out public duties.

Resettlement merely 'fiscal transfers'

FROM a purely economic viewpoint the settlement scheme in Kenya's Ministry of Agriculture, Forestry and Fisheries is a transfer of resources rather than a reallocation of resources resulting in the generation of employment, agricultural development and rural development at Kericho was told yesterday.

In a paper read to delegates, the head of the Development Division of Kenya's Ministry of Agriculture, Forestry and Fisheries, Prof. S. S. S. said that even if a decline in production had not been experienced, a transfer of resources would not be regarded as a transfer of resources.

Need for change in Uganda's backward region

Standard Staff Reporter
KARAMIA, in the north-west of Uganda, bordering the Turkish district of Kenya, has long been regarded by the rest of the country's inhabitants as the 'poor relation' and 'backward' development. It is a region of 100,000 square miles, with a population of about 500,000. The region is a vast, flat plain with a few scattered villages. The people are largely nomadic and are engaged in traditional occupations such as cattle rearing and agriculture.

It is a region that has been largely neglected by the Government. The roads are poor, the schools are few, and the health services are inadequate. The people are in need of development and progress. The Government has a duty to provide for the needs of all its citizens, regardless of their geographical location.

Tuskers' tour exposes Achilles heel of E.A. rugby

FROM CHARLES DISEY

LONDON.

When the tuskers returned to Britain on Thursday for a gruelling tour of the British Isles, it was to be a tour of discovery. It was to expose the Achilles heel of E.A. rugby.

The tuskers were visiting Britain for the first time since they left their country in 1955. It was a tour of discovery. It was to expose the Achilles heel of E.A. rugby.

"Hear! Hear!" said Sam, who was sitting on the bank of the river. "The crocodile has been spotted! It is only there every day. I want to see it. I must go down to the river. I shall bring home a big crocodile for my pet."

Little Masha knew of this river. She had heard that there was a crocodile in it. She had seen a picture of one in a book. She had been told that it was very dangerous. She had been told that it was only there every day. She had been told that it was very dangerous.

It was a bright day and the sun was shining brightly on the water. The crocodile was very large and had many sharp teeth. It was swimming slowly towards the river bank. The water was very clear and the crocodile was very easy to see. The people on the bank were very excited and were shouting and cheering.

JOHN ROBERTS discusses new African releases

As a change from the business of disc in my review, I am going to discuss in my review in Kenya that is a 78 rpm. Without being too critical or emotional, I can say that the local scene is not at all bad but Peter Roberts in the process, and one track in fact. This is a 78 rpm disc, and it is an appealing, crisp introduction to a heavy title in which both of the tracks are good. It is a good introduction to a heavy title in which both of the tracks are good.

A PERENNIAL problem facing every mother is what to do with her child on the occasions when it is just not practicable or kind to have him tagging along. One would expect provisions to be made for the staffing of any well-organised event and the Nairobi Club is no exception. With these well thought-out provisions in hand, following the custom of previous years, the Club has arranged for a special service for babies and young children.

The Orthopaedic Unit of the Kenyatta National Hospital at Nairobi.

She and her husband, who is a lecturer in obstetrics at the Kenyatta Polytechnic, formerly lived in Kilimanjaro's Zanzibar's Capetown. She estimates that between 50 and 60 children a day pass through the clinic.

This year is the first time that a change has been made for using the rubber, before a number of the ball incident, could make a voluntary donation to the Girl Guide Fund. However, the most thing which she does, it was found that some people shared the service and left their children in the creche all day, sometimes without food. The usual practice is to have a number of meals of the day, and to have a meal at 1:30 for the babies and 2:30 for the school children.

Everlasting Signs by TUMPECO

SAFE WITH TUMPECO

If you want only the best in signs and self-adhesive graphics, whether it be reflective "roadside" road signs for your commercial vehicles, directional signs for your premises, or signs for your private car, you can't do better than TUMPECO.

We make three main types of signs, proved clinically ideal for Africa, Brazil, Mexico, Persia. Road signs for maximum visibility, each one bright and white to death. Both reflective "roadside" signs, which show so brilliantly at night as well as being bright and clear to read by day, and "backlight" signs, which are self-luminous. "Backlight" signs are made of a special material, which is self-luminous and can be used in any weather conditions.

Don't forget to specify TUMPECO, the best you can buy, when ordering your life-saving "roadside" signs. Write for our catalogue and price list to TUMPECO, P. O. Box 3151, Kampala, Uganda. Tel: 40277. Telegram: "Yellow".

Management courses for Nairobi businessmen

COMPUTER, Administration and management training have been initiated in the capital for three courses being organized by Nairobi City Council. The first course starts next week.

This course, of four weeks, is designed to allow businessmen, of any staff, the various jobs which can be undertaken by a manager. A spokesman for the institute said that the course will be held in Nairobi. A lot of people think they have to spend thousands of pounds if they want to use one. The course will explain how to make use of the services.

The second course, which begins in November, will be for the firms which are wanting to improve their management. It will be an Administration course.

Finally, the third course, which begins in December, will be for the firms which are wanting to improve their sales and marketing. It will be an Administration course.

Jack Ruby may soon go free say lawyers

DEFENCE lawyers were confident yesterday that Jack Ruby, killer of Lee Harvey Oswald, would not be executed and would probably soon be freed.

They said the Texas Criminal Appeals Court might set aside the conviction which resulted in a three-degree murder charge against Ruby, who was shot in Dallas on November 24, 1963.

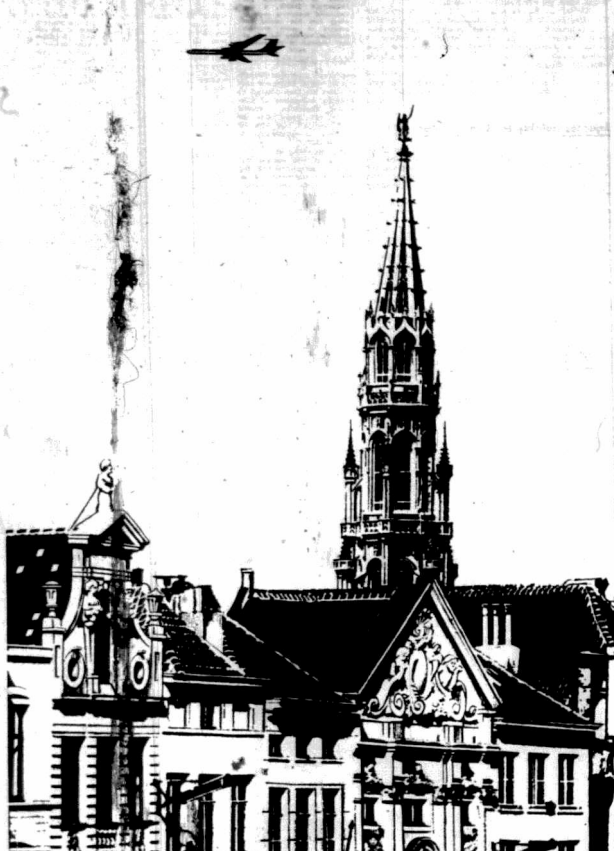

In March, 1964, Ruby was convicted by a Dallas District Court and sentenced to death. Ruby can walk free on a writ of habeas corpus if the Texas State Bar Association, which has taken up his case, succeeds in convincing the court that the maximum five-year jail term is appropriate.

Ruby's former Dallas night club owner has been in jail for nearly three years since he was charged with the murder of Oswald, killed by the Warren Commission in Dallas.

Dallas Mr. Harry Wainwright is expected to appear in court with evidence against Ruby. Mr. Wainwright is expected to appear in court with evidence against Ruby.

W. Kenya search for minerals

costing £400,000

being spent in a joint survey for minerals in the Western Kenya by the Ministry of Natural Resources and the United Nations Special Fund

Discussions this at the East Africa Standard yesterday, a spokesman for the United Nations Special Fund programme says that the surveys started in 1964 and covered South Nyanza, the Cape Nyman and some parts of the Western Province.

Some parts of the Rift Valley - particularly the Loitokitil area - have been visited by geologists for mineral potential. The areas covered for survey and feasibility studies had been chosen by the Ministry of Natural Resources.

There were three United Nations geologists, one prospector and one programme manager working on the Western Kenya project with the help of four geologists from the Department of Mines.

FELLOWSHIPS AVAILABLE
Service facilities like chemical assays needed for metallurgical tests have been made available by the field staff by the Department of Mines. Fellowships were also made available for Kenyans to enable local scientists to improve their technical knowledge.

One student and returned to the Department after a six-month attachment to a laboratory in Britain and another returned to the Department after a year.

QUALITY IS ANSWER TO COFFEE QUOTAS
It had been encouraging to note the emphasis placed by the Kenya Government on the necessity for coffee planters to concentrate on producing a quality product, the chairman of the Kenya Coffee Trade Association of East Africa said yesterday in his annual report.

He recalled that during a recent tour of Kenya he had seen coffee farms in Kenya which were producing a quality product, the chairman of the Kenya Coffee Trade Association of East Africa said yesterday in his annual report. He recalled that during a recent tour of Kenya he had seen coffee farms in Kenya which were producing a quality product.

There were still sufficient reserves to allow the Government to give a quality premium for a quality product. However, the quality premium is not a new initiative. It has been in existence since 1954 when it was first introduced. It was then a 10 per cent premium for coffee of a quality of grade 1 or better. Each year the Government would announce the amount of the quality premium. Each year the Government would announce the amount of the quality premium.

PLAN TO COPE WITH SURPLUS MAIZE CROP

Plans to cope with the surplus maize crop expected shortly were announced yesterday by the Ministry of Agriculture. They include long-term storage and an export program.

The crop has turned into a surplus because of the bumper harvest in the country that was the last year. The estimated 1.2 million tons of maize for export has been increased to 1.5 million tons.

The Government has started to store the surplus maize in silos and to export it to other countries. It has also started to process the surplus maize into meal and other products.

Council to seek ruling on staff pay rises

MEMBERSHIP

Standard Staff Reporter
Mombasa

Members of the Mombasa Municipal Council have agreed unanimously last night to send a delegation to the Local Government Adviser in Mombasa to urge him to advise the Minister for Local Government about wage rises for council employees.

The council agreed that if there was no forthright reply from the adviser, immediate steps should be taken to see the Minister. The move followed strong criticism of the Minister during a discussion of the go-down of municipal workers which yesterday developed into a sit-down strike.

Several speakers recalled earlier strikes by council employees regarding non-maintenance of the plant, Recommendations, and said the Ministry were to blame.

DELEGATION TO SEE MINISTRY

The council also unanimously passed a motion, tabled by Councillor Stephen Aidi that a strong delegation be appointed to meet the Minister for Local Government to see him to make firm arrangements for Mombasa to become a city by December 31, the second anniversary of the declaration of a Republic.

Coun. Aidi pointed out that Mombasa was the second largest town in Kenya, and status as a city had been requested by the council in 1963.

An application by the Kenya Bus Services in Mombasa for an increase in the fare structure was deferred, pending the settlement of a dispute between the company and the council regarding an earlier increase.

The Council opened a new council meeting and said to be held in the town hall tomorrow.

It was then that there was a clash between the animals 999 workers and the police.

PLAN TO COPE WITH SURPLUS MAIZE CROP

Plans to cope with the surplus maize crop expected shortly were announced yesterday by the Ministry of Agriculture. They include building bulk silos for long-term storage and an export programme.

In a statement the Ministry said that this year the surplus maize crop was estimated to be 1.5 million tons.

The grain has fallen fast since the start of the season and maize in the country thus has more than 100 per cent surplus.

Mechanisation plan will boost mbu cotton

Training of farmers linked to plan

A mechanisation scheme intended to give a boost to cotton production in the Nairobi District was unveiled by District Commissioner, Mr. J. M. Mbitia, at a meeting in Nairobi on October 1.

The plan, which is being implemented in the Nairobi District, involves the provision of tractors, trucks, and other motor vehicles to farmers on a hire purchase basis. The scheme is being financed by the Government and the Nairobi District Council.

Mr. Mbitia said that the scheme was designed to help farmers to produce more cotton and to improve their standards of living. He said that the scheme would be particularly beneficial to small-scale farmers who could not afford to buy their own tractors and trucks.

He said that the scheme would also help to reduce the cost of transport for farmers and to improve the efficiency of their operations. He said that the scheme would be particularly beneficial to farmers who were engaged in the production of mbu cotton.

ZAMBIA WIN HOCKEY SERIES

Kenya make team changes too late

ZAMBIA won the hockey "Test" series against the Kenya team by drawing 1-1 at the Nairobi City Park Stadium last night. The Kenyans had drawn the first "Test" and were the second to score goal in the new campaign. Kenya made some changes in their team for the last game but failed to get the vital goals to draw the first test.

First prize for Bernard Hunt

In the goal the Kenya team was not as good as they had anticipated before the start of the series. They had to make last changes from the team which they first met in the first test.

ENGLISH RACING

At the moment, even the best course has a certain amount of uncertainty in the West country which is expected to be a very dry season.

SOCCER RESULTS

In an F.A. Division 2 league match on Saturday, the Kenyan team drew 1-1 with the Kenyan team.

PARKLANDS TENNIS

At the Parklands tennis club, the Kenyan team drew 1-1 with the Kenyan team.

Life of police 'top dogs': Adventure and sometimes danger

by PETER MACDONALD

BRINGING a top dog to hand work... especially for a top police dog, who is on patrol night after night, often in crowded, often extremely difficult areas of the city.

Charles in his book... Hugs is the only dog found in the mess, which was the result of an accident responsible for her arrival in a stable one.

There is a very strong challenge... that is, if you are working yet, the way out last night was to get to the station where his handler waited.

A NEW LEASE OF LIFE FOR KISUMU AMATEUR DRAMA

I AM glad to be able to report that the Kisumu Amateur Dramatic Society is getting from strength to strength.

In its 20 odd years of existence the K.A.D.S. has had some periods and it was all but extinct in some years but these gradually they seemed to emerge in Kisumu a drama as an entertainment society producing amateur dramatics. British drama they then took to the theatre and they were able to produce a number of plays including a beautiful production of The Merchant of Venice by the late Mr. John Elgton a considerable production.

This was followed by Lawrence of Arabia, My Three Angels, Outward Bound, Eight Men Out and How To Succeed in Business Without Really Trying. This production is on the basis of Miss Mary Harris in British production Mr. Brian Harrison directed it. There is an original set also designed by Mr. Elton. Mr. Adrian Walters, a Mr. Neilson and a Lincoln manager is in charge of the period music.

A production of this season involved a great many people in a way that it is good to see tonight you are going to see King Lear and Twelfth Night.

The K.A.D.S. will stage 2 West Kenya and Twelfth Night.

Uganda crafts

I HAVE just received from Uganda a catalogue of traditional crafts and a list of the National Handicrafts Centre, Kampala, under the Ministry of Planning and Commerce (Development).

"Kenya is an island, entire of itself," wrote John Donne. The words apply to every industry; every industry is dependent on others, a part of the whole, which shapes the pattern of a country's development and progress.

Kenya industries, some large and some small, help Fitzgerald Baynes and Co. Ltd. to make Paper-Pulp-Coke, Canada Dry and Schweppes products. Different as these industries are in market and function — they have one thing in common — they nearly all help to build up Kenya.

Kenya's industry is still very young but if the courage and endeavour that the sterling companies tell us a guide, there can be little cause to worry about the continuing development of the industry here.

INDUSTRIAL EXPANSION

THE STORY OF SCHWEPPEVERESCENCE

"Taking the water" became a very fashionable occupation during the 18th century. The medicinal qualities of the water at the various fountains that sprang up in Europe were such that people came to believe that they would cure all ills. However, taking the water" was a costly practice and commercially minded people began to experiment at producing artificial medicinal waters.

One of these pioneers, a Swiss chemist by the name of Nicholas Pev, developed a method of producing soft-watered water continuously and he went into partnership with another chemist named Jacob Schweppe, who later formed himself in partnership with a soda water factory at Brno. By 1782 England set up a soda water factory and had started in London. The business was so well and had started in London.

ROYAL WARRANT

In 1826 the Duchess of Kent who was then in Queen Victoria's private confidence, the first best waitress, when Victoria ascended the throne in the following year she presented a warrant to J. Schweppe and Co., a custom which has been adhered to by every reigning monarch since then.

On becoming a public company in 1897, the name was changed to Schweppes Limited.

Today the Schweppes Group not only manufactures a variety of soft drinks in over 25 different countries but it also has interests in the brewing and preserve industries including Chivers, Harveys and Moretons, all of which belong to the Schweppes Group.

LOCAL LAUNCH

Schweppes (East Africa) Limited was launched in partnership with Alingo (East Africa) Limited, in 1934, at Nairobi. Fitzgerald Baynes and Co. Ltd. took control of the business in Kenya and Northern Tanzania in 1935 with the distribution franchise by Uganda and Southern Tanzania.

The present chairman of Schweppes (East Africa) Limited is Harold Travis, C.B.E., a man who has had a long and distinguished career in commerce and industry in Kenya. Having served some 20 years in 1925, having studied the textile industry at Manchester Technical College and worked abroad for several years, he settled in Nairobi in 1927.

Harold Travis came to Kenya in 1925, having studied the textile industry at Manchester Technical College and worked abroad for several years, he settled in Nairobi in 1927. He has been one of the leading lights in Nairobi's commercial community. He is chairman of some 20 companies including B. O. Hamilton Ltd. and Commercial Holdings of the United Bank, and he was largely due to his initiative in 1928 he was able to take over the then moribund local soda water factory and it was largely due to his initiative that the company as we know it today.

He has been chairman of Schweppes (East Africa) Limited since 1935.

For seven years Mr. Travis was also a member of Nairobi City Council and was three times mayor. He was intimately connected with the development which took place in Nairobi during that period of service.

CANADA DRY

Playground games have been associated with Canada Dry since 1914, when they obtained the franchise for bottling the famous Canada Dry products in Kenya.

Canada Dry itself has an interesting history. It was as long ago as 1899 that a chemist, Lehigh, started a small soda water factory in Toronto, H. J. Lehigh's sole interest in Toronto. He sold his soda water in siphons over the counter of his drug store, where it was used mainly as a mixer for fruit juice and sprouts. This led him to consider selling what he called Mr. Lehigh's Brilliant Style Grape-Air.

Later, he discovered a method of removing the brown color as well as most of the tartness from his grape air and "Canada Dry Pure Dry Grape Air" was the result.

"This," he exclaimed triumphantly, "is the best of the grape-fruit."

of Grape Air" which was introduced in 1915 retained by the company in 1927 the Canadian Authorities issued a certificate of approval for the trademark and the name "Canada Dry" was registered.

In 1926 Canada Dry Grape Air started being exported to New York from where it was marketed. That a subsidiary company was formed in Canada in 1927, the name of which was "Canada Dry Pure Dry Grape Air" was the result.

WHAT'S IN A NAME

However, capital was not immediately available for the purchase of new equipment but a month after taking over the Schweppes and Canada Dry business, the company had secured the necessary funds. The new factory which will hold the best and which has been largely responsible for the healthy state of the company's affairs that exist today.

SPEEDING UP

Specifications for the purchase of a new 100-horsepower boiler, paid from the new factory, were received in the United States, ordered in 1934 and with the help of the firm's American associates, Fitzgerald Baynes and Co. Ltd., Africa's most modern boiler works, capable of producing more than 200 tons an hour — built in 14 weeks.

Since 1934, the new factory, with its new boiler, has been working at full capacity. The new factory, with its new boiler, has been working at full capacity.

J. Fitzgerald Baynes, F.R.I.A., who designed the present factory. The layout of the factory was designed to give maximum efficiency and it has been completely re-arranged to suit the working of the plant. One of the major alterations of the new factory is the transfer of the entire work from the ground to the upper store by means of a lift. This lift is built by gravity through to the existing factory, thus saving away what was originally intended as a lift. It is a unique feature of the plant, which is a tribute to the skill of its architect, Mr. Baynes.

Fitzgerald Baynes is very much a man of many talents and the organization has been largely built up through the efforts of local staff. The company has some 140 staff of all ranks, and the majority of the staff are African, several of whom are holding senior posts, which may mean that the Schweppes Group has the advantage of a well-trained African staff.

TRANSPORTERS TO EAST AFRICA

When Pioneer Lines' cargo ships were fitted with the provision of mounting six tons of their new high-speed fueling plant, they were ready to transport Pioneer Transport's new 100-ton, 100-horsepower fueler for the East and combine the 100-ton-hour journey in five days. This is a far cry from the 100-ton-hour journey that was made in 1915 by Mr. Edith Fisher and the brother Charles, transporting fuel to the East and back.

STRONG CASES FOR SOKT DRINKS

Pfizer's Sokt drinks are being sold in Kenya by the Dohia Trading Store. This firm had its headquarters in 1937 on the farm of Captain J. R. Beilage at Limuru and, in spite of its name, owed its foundation to the fact that at that time Kenya had very few saw mills or transport companies. It was mainly to supply these needs that the firm built its empire.

From its humble beginnings the business started to grow and twenty years later moved its headquarters to Nairobi in 1957 as the firm of Captain J. R. Beilage at Limuru and, in spite of its name, owed its foundation to the fact that at that time Kenya had very few saw mills or transport companies. It was mainly to supply these needs that the firm built its empire.

THROUGH THIS MAN'S HANDS PASS 56 MILLION SHILLINGS A YEAR!

Of course, not all of this fifty-six million shillings is in hard cash. It could be in the form of cheques, money orders or banker's drafts. And don't think that the money that is being paid into the bank will remain dormant in some strong, underground safe. Much of it will see the light of day again as investments in the nation's roads, agriculture, building projects, business and myriad other schemes. In fact, this banker is not just handling money. # FROM ACROSS THE SEAS

It is thanks to the serenity of one man that Twentische Overseas Trading Company can now claim to be the biggest single organization of its kind in East Africa. Early in the 1920s, Dutchman Max Westerdijk came into Kenya by way of a high sea from India, trucking down a debtor. Having arrived at Mombasa he realized the enormous trading potential of the East African countries and decided to settle down and open a branch for his company. The story goes that Max Westerdijk, like many a poor Dutchman, had a strong predilection for pipes, and in the days when East Africa did not have a chain of hotels and tourist lodges stretching across the country, Westerdijk made sure he did not run short of his favourite brand by sending a runner ahead of him bearing adequate supplies.

Max Westerdijk, who died only a few months ago, was the founder of the company. He was a man of great energy and initiative, and he carried out some of the most important work in the history of the company. His ideas and his energy have been the driving force behind the company's success.

The Dutch company Twentische Overseas was founded in Holland in April, 1920, by a group of textile manufacturers who felt it was important to have a company operating in East Africa and Pakistan. The head office was in Bandoeng, in the district of Tjantung, and hence the company's name - which is the Dutch name of the Netherlands' textile manufacturing industry.

Twentische now has a total of 17 branches throughout East Africa and East of Africa, with a large number of items, chief among which are Philips radio and electrical equipment, textile products, Canon cameras, Amstel beer and Mischief Ayres. Their agricultural department also deals with Bayer chemicals for plant protection and veterinary products, as well as Class combs, David Brown tractors and Colson cranes.

In the East of Africa, Twentische Overseas has installed a Philips transistorized intercom system, operating between the airport tower and the precincts.

WIDE-RANGING INTERESTS

However, the company does not confine itself to importing only. There is an important export department in Mombasa dealing with the country's vital agricultural products, the bulk of which are exported to Europe and also to other parts of the world.

Twentische Overseas has also initiated an interesting experiment in retail outlets for its products. Throughout Kenya, Uganda and Tanganyika the company has set up a chain of Aljman-managed shops called Philips radio, also called other Twentische branches.

From the small beginnings of one man, Mr. Westerdijk, has sprung an organization which, virtually autonomous in East Africa, is contributing to the growth and evolution of Kenya, not only importing goods which are of vital importance to the raising of living standards, but also exporting East African products, all over the world.

Results of the fact that the water from Bayonet's line conforms to the highest sub-saturated standards, further chemicals and filtering treatment are necessary to ensure that the water used in the preparation of soft drinks is 100% free of impurities. Here, Quality Control Supervisor Harvey Paul makes a filtering test.

Don Pilgrim checks the spray level on the electrically operated Tri-mixer sprayer unit, which mixes the spray with the treated water, carbonates and chills the mixture.

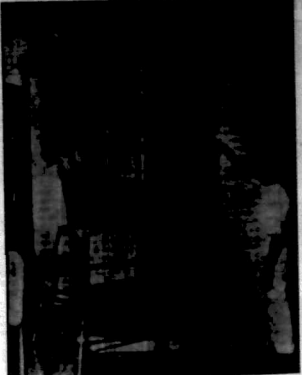

Emerging from the washing unit after being completely sterilized, the bottles are checked for flow by operator Nathan Shapira.

Only 12 feet from the washing unit, bottles move into the filling and capping machine. The automatic soft drink bottlers make the bottles safe as only have performed in the automatic electronic mixer, where spray and carbonating water combine in a refrigerated unit. The adjustments of this unit are so exact that it is impossible for it to produce a mixture that does not meet the rigid standards established by the franchise principals.

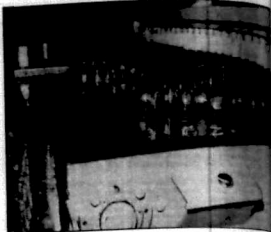

To clean and sterilize bottles are well planned Fitzgerald Baynes attention must follow an organized plan of action. Here, route supervisors discuss the day's sales campaign with area salesman.

Syrup manufacturer Harold Edwards and his assistant, Opala Opala, check to see that the syrup is mixing properly. The syrup, consisting of the sweetener and sugar, is mixed in the most exacting technique specifications.

Quality Supervisor Harrell Paul checks the sugar content of the syrup on the refractometer. Regular quantity checks on sugar content and the water are taken from the mixture passing through the process unit.

The only process carried out by hand is the transfer of the bottles to the conveyor belt to the washer, where the bottles are immersed in a 3,000-gallon tank containing a boiling caustic solution to remove the film of any impurities remaining. If a bottle inadvertently gets into the moving line, the whole machine stops and the operator must see that the bottle moves on.

General Manager Don Pilgrim watches Production Manager Fred Furman check the unit's control panel, where lights and wiring tell the immediate indication of any mechanical mishap.

Key men at Fitzgerald Baynes are the Production Manager, Vibe Vibe (left), and the General Manager, Don Pilgrim, who here examines the day's sales report.

LONDON SHOWS NO SIGN OF DROP IN HEMLINES

Report EDITH TEAGUE

THESE is an important statement being made all nearly every fashion show that the buyers who are now thronging in London to choose what they will show in their stores and shops in a few months' time gives like this: "Although our model girls are wearing the garments 64 to 68 inches long, they may be ordered in all to 56 inches."

But make no mistake, if you are not doing so, you are not doing so. It will take just a few days' work to make a conservative estimate.

If it is the fashion of the year which the buyers should be there in plenty of choice in the shops for the coming season. There are lots of beautiful evening frocks, even more elegant suits, black and white combinations, and many more in the same line.

Swing to flare

It has been widely said that we have had enough of straight lines to stand on. But it has been widely said that we have had enough of straight lines to stand on. But it has been widely said that we have had enough of straight lines to stand on.

Black line used as the lining for a long, slim suit. The traditional skirt with a flared hemline and a white skirt turned up at the hemline. Fashion designers in London showed a black line used as the lining for a long, slim suit.

For evening wear, whether dresses were short or long, the most widely used fabric was crepe, tulle or chiffon, with many making use of the new material called tulle. Crepe is a general name for a material which hangs right down in fashion.

It is a mistake to think that the fashion of the year is a simple matter of straight lines. It is a mistake to think that the fashion of the year is a simple matter of straight lines. It is a mistake to think that the fashion of the year is a simple matter of straight lines.

But whatever the choice, whatever the fabric for evening wear, it will have to give the girl who is going to get the fashion, the girl who is going to get the fashion, the girl who is going to get the fashion.

It is not that the fashion of the year is a simple matter of straight lines. It is not that the fashion of the year is a simple matter of straight lines. It is not that the fashion of the year is a simple matter of straight lines.

FROM BOGUS TO REALITY

By JOHN ROBERTS
MIDNIGHT COWBOY, by James Leo Herlihy (Cape, 25c.)

HANDSOME brutes in fiction — including many there are — are usually treated as elements of the sort of another standing for instinctive man, or our hazy notions of the past and our anxious expressions have just as rarely as they are treated as people in their own right.

Mr. Herlihy achieved something that has almost never been done before in a novel which makes a complex, wholehearted report of the individual.

The characters and plot are so well handled that they have led to one of those rather long-winded novels that are so common in the market. The novel is a study of the life of the artist, and the second volume is a study of the artist's work.

PROPOSALS SENT TO RHODESIA

'loss of face' for Mr. Smith's regime

The proposals were taken to Salisbury yesterday by the Premier, Mr. Smith, could accept with a loss of face, taking into consideration that his régime is the Commonwealth Secretary, Mr. Bowden, said yesterday in London.

He added that he did not envisage majority rule being achieved in Rhodesia for perhaps two or three general elections, and then only if the Africans who became entitled to vote decided to register instead of boycotting the rolls as in the present.

The proposals were taken to Salisbury last yesterday by Sir Maurice James, a senior Commonwealth Office official, and was to be presented to the Governor, Sir Humphrey Gibbs.

Mr. Bowden, who was speaking to the Commonwealth 'Propose' Association, said he hoped the proposals would then be given to Mr. Smith by the end of this week and that in a matter of days Britain would get the first reaction.

Decisions must come soon

"There is not a limitless amount of time. We have to get some fairly firm decisions on the basic points by the end of this month and the first part of next month, or else in terms of the Commonwealth Prime Ministers' conference coming at the end of this week and that in a matter of days Britain would get the first reaction."

These steps were to take for selective mandatory sanctions. He believed that if the mandatory sanctions aimed at the break-down in the present voluntary sanctions, it would be pretty deeply after a month or so.

Asked whether there was any danger of Mr. Smith to accept them, Mr. Bowden said that he did not think it was likely that Mr. Smith would accept the proposals in their present form. He said that the proposals were to be sent to Mr. Smith by the end of this week and that in a matter of days Britain would get the first reaction.

Lisbon calls camp charge 'shocking'

PORTUGAL yesterday again denied before the United Nations Security Council that there were foreign necessary troops in Angola plotting the overthrow of the Congolese Government. The Security-General, U. Thant, was invited to investigate the charge for himself.

The Portuguese delegate to the Security Council, Dr. Antonio de Miranda, strongly criticized an Afro-African resolution before the U.N. as a "shocking" document. He said the Portuguese Government could not accept it, and if it was approved it could "only lead to very grave consequences for which Portugal again disclaims all responsibility."

Mr. Miranda also attacked the Security Council's decision to call upon all States "to refrain from involving themselves in the domestic affairs" of other States. He said that this was an attempt to prevent the free world from interfering in the domestic affairs of the Congo.

Fair turnover in Nairobi although buying remains selective

THESE there was a fair turnover on the Nairobi Stock Exchange, buying was selective and there were a few shares transacted yesterday. In comparing the market with a 1978 earlier.

The Nairobi Stock Exchange had been operating on a scale which will reduce the volume of trading in any given time. This was due to the fact that the market had been slow to recover from the slump which hit the stock market in late 1977 and early 1978. The market has since been recovering and has been able to attract a fair amount of business. The volume of trading has been increasing steadily since the beginning of the year and is now at a level which is comparable with the volume of trading in 1977.

Rail ferry service on Lake due to start

The East African Railways and Harbours Commission has announced that it will be commencing a Kinross to Monday.

The ship, the largest ever built in the country, for carrying a number, has a service speed of 12 knots. Ferry terminals are already operational at Kinross, and it is expected to be completed by mid-1987. Construction is about to start on a fourth terminal at Mwanza. These operations are expected to cost £1.5 million.

The wagon ferries themselves are 30ft long and 14ft broad and are capable of carrying 40 loaded wagons or 100 tons of cargo. They will be used to transport iron-ore from the Mwanza area to the Lake Tanganyika. The first wagon will be completed by the end of 1987.

Among the guests expected at the opening are the Prime Minister of Kenya, Mr. Daniel arap Moi, the Minister of Transport, Mr. Joseph Ndeti, and the Minister of Railways, Mr. Joseph Ndeti.

CHEAPER AIR FARES

SUGGESTIONS ABOUT REDUCED air fares to and from East Africa have come from the conference of the International Air Transport Association this week at Manchester, but not only to the airlines.

At one point, it was reported that there had been agreed, although full details were unknown, it was believed the airlines to which lower fares would apply included those from Europe to the Middle East and Africa. Reductions to the order of 25 per cent were expected during the period September 15 to June 15, omitting the three months of peak travel, for tickets having validity for 60 days, including a minimum stay of 14 days.

In addition, the present fares of approximately £280 to London would be reduced to about £180. Whether comparable cuts can be expected in the 10-14 day's excursion, currently priced at £136, is not clear, neither is the effect lower fares for scheduled services will have on charter flights and communications for those on "affinity groups" and for students. At this time contact was written, no firm report had been received. Airline representatives in East Africa were waiting for news, hoping for the best.

It has been an open secret that they have been recommending a substantial reduction, some of them proposing a return fare as low as £180 for scheduled flights. The advent of the bigger planes, with their more economical load carrying factors, supports the case for reduction in fares, provided, of course, they early economical load.

Super VC10 more economical

The first of three Super VC10s ordered for East African Airways had its "inaugural" flight yesterday. The aircraft carry 14 first and 111 economy class passengers, with room for 6,000lb of freight, so it can regularly be chartered to carry combined passenger-freight planes. Their time for the London-Nairobi flight is 8 hours, 45 minutes. No profit is made while a plane is standing on the ground. Only when flying does it turn revenue, so a quick turn-over and additional flights will make the Super VC10s even more profitable than the Conqets—provided the seats are filled.

Because of developments tending to make modern jetliners operationally more economical, fares can be expected to decline to a certain extent, despite rising costs in other directions, and even if air fares are about the only costs to decrease in contemporary life. It is considered by those anxious to increase tourism that East Africa have been maintained a reduction for too long between Europe and East Africa. A reduction in the cost of scheduled flights, welcome though that will be to the travelling public, travel agencies and, oddly enough, to most of the operators in the end of the story.

Now that a breakthrough has been made, in order to stimulate the tourist industry to ever greater heights it is necessary to bring down overall costs of holidays spent in East Africa—inside the sterling area. The fare complement is about £60 for the £150 package tours flown from Germany and Switzerland. There are proposals to lower the charges from Britain but the support of the British Government is essential if package tours from British operators are going to reach the point of mass attraction.

British operators will have to be enabled to follow the example of Lufthansa and Air France, if it is to be achieved, operating cheap package tours through a subsidiary company not bound to conform even to the charge fares for scheduled flights which are stipulated in the IATA conference.

FESTIVAL OF YOUTH ONLY A BEGINNING

ORGANISERS of the Kenya National Youth Week, which is to be held at Jamhuri Park on Sunday afternoon, do not expect to be the beginning of something very much bigger.

Some would say that anything which involves some 1,000 participants is quite big enough already, but the Youth Council of Kenya, which is staging the festival, hopes that in coming years it will be possible to hold provincial festivals throughout the country, and that the National Youth Week will be a regular feature of the calendar.

The first of the youth camps of the National Youth Council of Kenya will be held at Jamhuri Park on Sunday afternoon. The camps will be held at Jamhuri Park on Sunday afternoon.

LAMU

The special problems that face Kenya's district with a foot in two ages outlined by ANTHONY HUGHES.

Island of the past with a stake in the future

Why the Lamu can be seen in the picture above, a narrow street and right before your eyes, is due to the fact that the Kenya House of Representatives Ltd.

It is not always appreciated that while Lamu District takes its name from its most important population group, it is a multi-ethnic island. Its total area stretches inland for 40 miles and runs for nearly 100 miles along the Somali border. Although it comprises a large area of mountains, there is some agricultural land in its soil, mostly the staple crops of sorghum, maize and beans. The region has a rich history, and its name has been mentioned in the Arabian Nights. It was the starting point of the Indian Ocean trade routes, and it has been a center of commerce since the 10th century. A.D. 1497, when Portuguese explorers first reached the island.

At the end of the nineteenth century, with the abolition of the slave trade, the island of Lamu was a small settlement. The British Government took an economic decision, its relative importance fell further as Mau Mau grew and its chief centres expanded in the interior. At about most of the Kenya Coast, the abandonment of settlement standards is not difficult for the people of Lamu. Churches and various civic and social organizations are mainly of the colonial period. The island is a small, fertile, and fertile land.

No road

The lack of a road to the island is a major problem. The island is a small, fertile, and fertile land. The lack of a road is a major problem. The island is a small, fertile, and fertile land. The lack of a road is a major problem.

In spite of Lamu's special characteristics and drawbacks there are plenty of signs of progress and development. Great emphasis is being placed upon education. The school of earlier days that taught the children and the school of today that is being broken down. The school of today is being broken down. The school of today is being broken down.

Religious freedom and respect for all faiths are enshrined in the Kenya Constitution. The Muslim religious schools should continue to develop. The Muslim religious schools should continue to develop.

Among the agricultural products of the district are maize, wheat and sorghum. Another important export product of the district is cotton. The district is rich in minerals and has a large number of factories.

"The zebra was the only one left in the herd," said the boy. "I saw it when I was walking home from school one day. It was very thin and looked very sad. I went to see it every day and it never seemed to get any better. I was very sorry for it." The boy's name was Peter and he was a boy of ten years. He was from the village of Nairobi. The zebra was the only one left in the herd because it was the only one that had been spared when the other zebras were killed by the hunters. The boy had seen the zebra when it was still in the herd but it was so thin that it looked like it was about to die. The boy had seen it every day and he had seen it when it was still in the herd but it was so thin that it looked like it was about to die. The boy had seen it every day and he had seen it when it was still in the herd but it was so thin that it looked like it was about to die.

BARGAIN OR BURDEN? KENYA COST OF LIVING ASSESSED

By ANN MARSHALL

WITH so many Kenyans studying in England, and people spending their holidays there, a comparison in the cost of living between the two countries has become relevant. The term "cost of living" is one which has been bandied about to a considerable extent, and it is difficult to approach the subject with any realism when conditions in general vary so much.

It is well stated that clothes are much cheaper in Britain than in Kenya. In fact, certain dresses in the former country are a mere shilling, while in the latter they may cost as much as 10/-.

Markets and groceries in Kenya are also much cheaper than in Britain. In fact, certain items are a mere shilling, while in the latter they may cost as much as 10/-.

There is no doubt that most of the goods which are much cheaper in Kenya, compared with those in Britain, are those which are not produced in Kenya. The goods which are produced in Kenya are those which are more expensive in Kenya than in Britain.

There is no doubt that most of the goods which are much cheaper in Kenya, compared with those in Britain, are those which are not produced in Kenya.

Two faces which are well known to Voice of Kenya television viewers are those of Miss Margaret Wanjiku (left) and Miss Ruth Semeyo.

WOMEN'S WORLD

Do businesswomen make good partners?

There is no training for a wifehood which reveals that which a girl gets in a business office, and it is a pity that every woman has not had the experience of earning her own living for a year or two before she gets married.

There are many reasons why the business girl makes a better wife than those who have not worked for money. But she always had a great love for the office. The office is a world of its own, and it is here that she learns to be a woman.

Another reason why the business girl makes a good wife is that she understands the demands of the modern world. She knows that the very fact of being a businesswoman is a sign of a woman's independence.

Britain's gift to hospital handed over by Princess

Princess Marina presented medical equipment worth £20,000 to the General National Hospital yesterday afternoon on behalf of the Government. Earlier she attended a luncheon at State House, given by the Government of Kenya. She flew to Britain last night.

The Minister for Health, Mr. Omond, received the equipment and expressed the nation's gratitude to the British Government. Kenya had a task, he said, to ensure the long-term independence, which had been achieved at the cost of considerable blood and treasure.

ONE SCHOOL INADEQUATE

Mr. Omond went on to talk about the new medical school project for Nairobi. It was abundantly clear that one school alone would be totally inadequate to provide facilities for three countries with a total population of over 20,000,000.

It was considered that at least one medical school was needed for every 2,000,000 people, which means that Kenya would need at least three medical schools for her own medical requirements alone.

Prof. James Mwangi, who was present, said that the Government in Kenya has to be a model for the other two.

While it was intended to deal with expansion and development, it was also intended to provide the country with a major medical school. The National Hospital would be a model for the other two.

This would tend to emphasize the need for the Government to be a model for the other two.

Prof. Mwangi, who has been in charge of the hospital since its opening, said that the hospital was a model for the other two.

FARSIGHTED

"The way in which Britain is a farsighted, not only in the fact that we are the only country which has not broken with your Government."

In the light of what Mr. Omond said, it was clear that the Government was farsighted in the fact that it has not broken with your Government."

IRISH CAMBRISESHIRE LIKELY

Big field for second leg of Autumn Double

The Cambridgeshire Handicap, second leg of the Autumn Double, will be run over the farthings at Newmarket tomorrow and a huge field of some 150 horses are expected to line the first of these days.

There are no French challenges this year because of the severe frore, but the Irish, who have won this handicap three times, are strongly holding for a fourth victory. American owners have good chances for the best year.

An British in sole of their own. Among the highest and best of the race is the Irish. There are no French challenges this year because of the severe frore, but the Irish, who have won this handicap three times, are strongly holding for a fourth victory.
