INQUIRY INTO THE CAUSES AND ORIGINS OF MAU MAU MATRONS

Government accepts
 Member's demand
 REPORT'S FINDINGS TO BE MADE PUBLIC

A MOTION calling for an inquiry into the origins, methods and growth of Mau Mau was accepted by the Kenya Government in Legislative Council last night.

The Chief Secretary, Mr. R. G. Turnbull, said he was an examination by "a suitably qualified person" appointed by the Governor. A report of the findings would be made to the Government.

The motion had been moved by Group Capt. L. R. Brigg (Mount Kenya), who had urged that the Government should also consider whether deficiencies in the Government machinery had permitted Mau Mau to develop. If that had been remedied, the motion also said that the inquiry should have full access to Government documents, and also members of the public should be invited to submit memoranda.

Mr. Turnbull said that the Government intended that the findings of the inquiry should be made public, if any report of the inquiry should be made public. However, it was inevitable that part of the report would have to be withheld. The well-known statements of Group Capt. Brigg and Mr. Humphrey Brigg (Nairobi) would not be made public, but the Government would not have accepted the idea of a public inquiry, which would be held in public sessions, which would be held in public sessions, which would be held in public sessions.

Colour, New Silhouettes And Fine Finish

By DOROTHY FOX

THE Spring Collections of the members of the Incorporated Society of London Fashion Designers were outstanding this season for their colour values, for the establishment of new silhouettes by at least three of the designers and for the excellent quality of cut and finish on the part of all. Many of the designers, particularly those whose speciality suits, content themselves each season by producing the "best classic," a field in which you can touch them anywhere in the world.

This time was no exception. The new silhouettes, a rather shorter jacket balance, the new length which, too, has been shortened by about two inches.

Casual elegance
For the most part inclined rather than asserted skirt, particularly those of the Hasty dress, which were cut with the wide swinging lower half, which was certainly new, being introduced in this house by pocket tops which, but for the jacket to give the illusion of lengthening them.

In this, Michael showed the "Cinderella" line which was much has been written. The wide cut-away line of the which lower line of the which was certainly new, being introduced in this house by pocket tops which, but for the jacket to give the illusion of lengthening them.

Fitted coats
Bodices were being in some houses and Victor designed elegant some charming trend coats with a princess line. They were worn in the shirt-like of John Cavagnari and the straight bodice of high waist, in the full skirt house. The new lines shown by many of the designers.

Shawl print
"Elegant and well made, shawls have obviously come to stay, and this cloth was especially tailored to Michael with the new 'Cinderella' line in which white and worn with the jacket and matching line. The shawl print used it the shawl and approximately made use of the quality of the shawl print and original tailored shirt-waist dress.

Long bulky
Flatter silhouettes were much shown in wool, particularly the long shawl print with long sleeves and long skirt. The new lines shown by many of the designers.

Easy laundering
The second view of the dress has short sleeves and a small waist line. It is a very attractive dress, it is a very attractive dress, it is a very attractive dress.

The World Asks About The East-West Arms Race - WHO IS WINNING?

By Patrick O'Donovan

THERE is no doubt that there is an arms race as real and almost as alarming as that between Britain and Germany before the First World War.

But it is hard to tell whether Russia is the victor or the loser. The verdict will depend on your attitude to the present programme of the American Administration.

CRITICS SAY... Critics say the Soviet programme is a weapons programme, in which Soviet rockets are being built to be used in attacking the West.

Bulgarian Ambassador

It is in fact, it is believed on the part of some comparative arms experts, that the Soviet Union is in the lead.

NOT FAR BEHIND Russia has 400 submarines, of which 120 or so are of the more modern type. She has 100 submarines, and 100 aircraft carriers.

THESE HEADLINES COULD NOT GIVE THE WHOLE STORY

Only one man in Britain can tell what the disasters, the £5,000,000 setback and the long delay meant to the plans to produce the world's finest jet-liner. In today's article he reveals...

ONE DECISION SAVED THE COMET

THE telephone rang at my home on Sunday afternoon, January 10, 1954, with the report of the first mysterious Comet accident. The second occurred on April 8. After less than two years of operation, which had been full of promise all over the world, drawn and an investigation, unprecedented in its thoroughness, was immediately begun. No ordinary accident had been done. The investigation must have been adequate to the task. The only thing that was not done was to have more than one person on the job. The only thing that was not done was to have more than one person on the job. The only thing that was not done was to have more than one person on the job.

These Prisons Are Paradise

BREAKFAST in bed was, until recently, the order of the day in the prison at Pont Fréquent, near Desnoivre, in France. And it was a weekly occurrence for prisoners to take a day off to go to the nearby town to take the weekend off to the seaside. These circumstances were, of course, odd and unusual, but there are instances in various parts of the world, jails that, while not being exactly and humane, are lax, easy-going and indulgent. In the new government of the District of Columbia, the penitentiary outside Mexico City is making great headway in the direction of a more humane and more efficient system. The prison was once notorious for its inhumanity and its brutality. It was a place where prisoners were kept in the dark, where they were kept in the dark, where they were kept in the dark.

LIFE WAS GOOD Inside the prison, there are always several camps, one of which is for the prisoners who are in the process of being reformed. The prisoners are given work to do, and they are given work to do. The prisoners are given work to do, and they are given work to do. The prisoners are given work to do, and they are given work to do.

LARGER CELLS Inside the prison, there are always several camps, one of which is for the prisoners who are in the process of being reformed. The prisoners are given work to do, and they are given work to do. The prisoners are given work to do, and they are given work to do. The prisoners are given work to do, and they are given work to do.

THEY ENTERTAIN But it is all good things; this is a prison where the prisoners are given work to do, and they are given work to do. The prisoners are given work to do, and they are given work to do. The prisoners are given work to do, and they are given work to do.

KENYA RADIO: WHAT IS ITS FUTURE ?

By Henry Reuter

ON behalf of thousands of Kenya radio-listeners who have been left in the dark about what is to be the future of broadcasting in the Colony, I have been conducting inquiries into the subject. My first step was to find out what the Government had been trying to do in the past. It is not surprising to find that the Government has been conducting inquiries into the subject of radio broadcasting in Kenya since the late 1940s. In 1947, the Government set up a committee to study the possibilities of radio broadcasting in Kenya. This committee reported in 1948, and its recommendations were adopted by the Government. In 1950, the Government set up a second committee to study the possibilities of radio broadcasting in Kenya. This committee reported in 1951, and its recommendations were adopted by the Government. In 1953, the Government set up a third committee to study the possibilities of radio broadcasting in Kenya. This committee reported in 1954, and its recommendations were adopted by the Government. In 1956, the Government set up a fourth committee to study the possibilities of radio broadcasting in Kenya. This committee reported in 1957, and its recommendations were adopted by the Government. In 1958, the Government set up a fifth committee to study the possibilities of radio broadcasting in Kenya. This committee reported in 1959, and its recommendations were adopted by the Government.

THE ULTRA-RICH IN BRITAIN ARE DWINDLING

BRITISH taxation is slowly but surely doing away with the ultra-rich, while British property is the business executives who can afford a hobby farm in the shires, a luxury flat in London, and private schooling for the children and a fair amount of expensive holidays abroad for the family.

A surprise

What may surprise some of those to whom the general public actually are, compared to the public, is that the ultra-rich are actually a small group of people who are actually a small group of people who are actually a small group of people.

TEN YEARS OF PROGRESS BY ALL-KENYA FIRM

One Shop One European Employee £1,000

Now a £100,000 business!

KENYA is far from being short of success stories, but few can compare with the amazing progress of 'C.B.V.'

In 1946, three young local men, two the sons of pre-War One Pioneer, Mr. C. W. K. Campling, decided to pool their resources in business, and the 1st March, 1946, saw the birth of 'C.B.V.'

All these three, Freddie and Keith Campling and Hank Van der Wal, had between them was £1,000, but their greatest assets were to prove to be enthusiasm, energy, ability and a boundless capacity for hard work.

Taking over the small shop on the outskirts of Nairobi in Westlands in which Keith Campling had been conducting his one-man radio business since his release from the R.A.F., the activities of the Company started with radio sales and servicing, and a motor car repair station with an Italian helicopter however, had surprised from scratch.

Freddie, 30-year-old aircraft, obtained by Mr. John Carberry just before the War, taken over by the R.A.F. and used as a personal plane by the R.C.A.F. was the catalyst and it was rebuilt, painted and sent to his back garden, an engine imported from South Africa, and the plane finally towed to Nairobi West.

This started the Company's aircraft section. Mr. Keith Campling, realizing that this field offered opportunities in this field, decided the Company should give up motor cars and turn to complete.

The agency for "Piper" was obtained in 1947, two small Piper Cub motor transport craft brought up from South Africa, and with part-time work at flying school on a weekend basis, such as Douglas MacDonnell, Lee Oliver, then Dunmore, the Company started on the road which has led to complete supremacy of private aviation in East Africa, and its workshop handles not only most

MR. H. VAN DER WAL
A shareholder from "Zionia" is in charge of the radio and engineering sections. A Philips Hotted-rod radio receiver, the first set up in Kenya's radio business, was bought, and imported to Kenya in 1924 by an expatriate engineer for the "Preston Overseas Trading Co. Less romantic, perhaps, but well-deserving of notice in the progress of the electronic and information division under the care of Mr. Vanderwal. The policy here has been one of personal service and careful attention to ensure the provision of only the best equipment, backed by a maintenance organization of the first order. Mr. Vanderwal's intimate knowledge of electronics and electronic engineering has earned for him the reputation of being one of the Africa's leading authorities on the subject. By regular trips to the continent, Trade Exhibitions of Europe he keeps abreast of all important developments and ensures that these are made available to his customers as early as possible. In 1948 the Company undertook the agency for the first of the great Present C.B.V. WEEKEND SPORT COMMENTARY

by Charles Disney, Sports Editor

I MAKE no excuse this week for returning in these notes the results of the Kenya Olympic chances for, after James Schouler under the Colony Sports Officer, Mr. Archibald, has been decidedly more hopeful of the Colony's chances at Melbourne than was the idea of entering an Olympic team was originally.

Not that I think Kenya has any great models for the future in view of the conditions that would be asking for too much of the country's resources. It would be forgotten that even now Kenya's resources are stretched to the limit and it is not likely that any more will be added in the next few years. It is true that the country has a large number of sportsmen and that some of them are of a high standard. But it is not likely that any more will be added in the next few years.

It is interesting to note that the Kenya amateur record book for 1957 is only four years old. It is only four years old because the Kenya Amateur Athletic Union (K.A.A.U.) has virtually no record book. East Africa call upon Shell's world-wide resources

The business of bringing oil to the surface is long and complicated but the difficulties do not end there. The journey from one end of the earth to the other is accomplished in many different ways - tanker, railway wagon and not least, common, pipeline. This last method is often used between the oilfield and the pumping terminal, passing both overland and under the sea.

Are you getting all the power built into your car's engine?

Each short-circuiting spark Plug puts a cylinder out of action. Your engine runs roughly... loses power.

Champion's unique 5-rib insulator blocks short circuits... assures the full-firing spark that delivers all the power built into your engine.

Your engine depends on its spark plugs for the "spark of life". Short-circuiting kills that spark. You can depend on 5-rib Champion to keep short-circuiting out of your engine. A new set of Champion Spark Plugs will give you faster starting, greater fuel economy... smoother power.

Crushed lime soda is loaded onto conveyor

In Lake Magadi East Africa has a vast potential source of richness. There, from natural deposits, the Magadi Soda Company is producing salt for local markets and soda mainly for export worth more than £1,000,000 a year, and the factory is being modernised to step up production from 100,000 tons of soda a year to between 150,000 and 180,000 tons. All the factory's production is handled by East African Railways and Harbours on its journey to widespread export markets. Indeed, if, any, of East Africa's export industries could exist without the vital transport link between up-country areas and the ports, it is in providing that link that East African Railways and Harbours give one of their most important services.

Minister told of Kenya spending on African education

LOAN QUESTION ANSWERED

MR. JAMES JOHNSON (Labour) asked the Colonial Secretary in the House of Commons if he was aware that the Kenya Government had recently been granted a loan of £100,000 for agricultural while a similar request for the same amount for education had been refused. He was asked to give a reason for this decision.

Mr. Lawson-Boyd in a written reply to the request of Mr. Johnson referred to the report of the Kenya Government in 1951 as my predecessor said in December 1951 to the House of Commons that the Government had received £100,000 for the Kenya Agricultural Development Corporation from other African countries. The Government had spent a little over £40,000 on the account of the year, the territories in 1951 to 1952, and the remainder of the £100,000 was available for the Kenya Government to use for the purpose of the Kenya Agricultural Development Corporation.

NEW BRIDGE ON KENYA TO UGANDA ROAD

Straight approaches being built

ANOTHER step towards improving road communications between Uganda and Kenya has been taken with the building of a bridge across the Malaba River, on the border of the two countries near Tororo. Approaches are being built from the two sides of the river, to connect the bridge with the adjoining sections of road.

The new bridge is wider than the existing one, and has straight approaches instead of the winding ones.

HERE'S THE UNIT YOU'RE WAITING FOR

THE CATERPILLAR No. 955 TRAXCAVATOR

In every case, the No. 955 out-performed and out-produced its opponent. Through tests showed that even though the No. 955 has only a 16-hp diesel engine, its production equals that of large competitive rigs.

Here's what you're being asked for... A Traxcavator in the 1-1/2-cu-yard size, built completely by Caterpillar Tractor Co. — not a tractor — not a truck. The No. 955 — that will give its owner maximum production with minimum cost. The No. 955 surpasses the production of the RTV Traxcavator. Its construction includes many noteworthy features, a dozen of which are shown on left. Note these features:

1. LOW CHASSIS
2. 1 1/2-YD. BUCKET
3. W/ TIE-BACK AT GROUND LEVEL
4. RACKLEDRUM POWERED-DRIVE HAYD
5. A-POST ADVANCED HYDRAULIC LIFT
6. LARGE LIFTING CAPACITY
7. EXCELLENT BALANCE AND STABILITY
8. UNUSUAL OPERATOR CONFIDENCE AND VISIBILITY
9. FAST REVERSE TO CONTROL
10. ON-DECK STARTING
11. 60-HP. FLYWHEEL CLUTCH
12. HIGH PRODUCTION AT LOW FUEL COST

Most of what was said during the last of last week's meeting of the East African Council could be said in, and of, every country. The prices have been generated by the inflationary policy and development expenditure, increasing government outlays and dividends and a generally high level of living. Consequently, discussion tends to become a mere technical exercise, with the economist who explains but who is not academic, with the economist who explains but who is not academic, with the economist who explains but who is not academic.

HOW TO STOP A HEADACHE

Why Phenisc is better than aspirin

MEDICAL research has long shown that aspirin does not get to the source of the pain. It only masks the pain for a short time. Phenisc, on the other hand, acts on the brain to stop the pain at its source. It is a pain killer, not a pain reliever. It is the only medicine that stops the pain at its source. It is the only medicine that stops the pain at its source. It is the only medicine that stops the pain at its source.

It kills pain more effectively than aspirin. Self you suffer from headaches, try any other form of medicine, but Phenisc. Make sure you always have Phenisc with you.

A critical year for British civil aviation

BY SIR GEOFFREY DE HAVILLAND

WHEN it was said to me the other day: 1952 is the year of decision for British civil aviation, I could not help replying: "I seem to have heard that very phrase several times in my long career."

But I had to concede that year quite critical. At least after ten years of unimproved financial straits, the industry is now in a position to make the transition in an effort to recover from the ravages of the war and to begin to meet the rising demand for air services. It is a critical year for the industry as a whole, and it is a critical year for the individual operator.

It would be too simple to say that the industry is in a critical year because of the war. The industry has been through a critical year before, in 1945, and it has emerged from it with a new lease of life. The industry is now in a position to make the transition in an effort to recover from the ravages of the war and to begin to meet the rising demand for air services.

Taking music and mirth into remote villages

...LAUGHTER WHERE THERE WAS ONCE GLOOM

A TROUPE of African bandmen and comedians are invading Kenya's troubled areas with music and laughter, helping to ventiliate the gloomy forms of fear and suspicion which many tribesfolk have known since the start of children turning round in the lower branches of a tree in the centre of a village.

The lighter ones will be the entertainment today, as the troupe is in the evening. It is a troupe of comedians, dancers and musicians, and will be followed by the musical comedy "The Great Escape" which is being put on in the village of Mombasa.

They must be entering a new phase of their activities in the African continent. The troupe has been touring the East African continent since the start of the year, and has been successful in its mission of bringing laughter and mirth to the remote areas.

Since camps are being sprung up as a result of the recent fighting, the troupe has been able to reach the people in the most remote areas. The troupe has been successful in its mission of bringing laughter and mirth to the remote areas.

WHY SPEED CAN THE BODY STAND?

'BRAIN BARRIER' A NEW PROBLEM

WHEN the first locomotives, and later when the first automobiles, pulled and clattered across the 19th-century countryside, people used to throw up their hands and shake their heads, saying that no human being would be able to live travelling at so great a speed (about 20 miles an hour). And gradually, as speeds approached the mark, most of people used to say: "This fantastic speed will be of human endurance." At first, when the speed was slow, we still seem to have the same sort of barrier. The question is: "What is the barrier?"

The United States Air Force has been engaged in a series of experiments to find out the answer to this question. The facts so far are:

1. A man, a woman, a child, a dog, a cat, a rabbit, a pig, a horse, a cow, a sheep, a goat, a chicken, a turkey, a duck, a goose, a fish, a bird, a mammal, a reptile, an amphibian, an insect, a mollusk, a crustacean, a mollusk, a crustacean, a mollusk, a crustacean.

TALES OF HEROISM—AND A SAFARI

In spite of a protracted period of quietness on the book front it is possible to find a number of good books in the shops at present. Outstanding among these, I would say, is The Congo: A Story from Kolima by Mr. Arthur Campbell, who is already well known for his earlier book Jungle Green.

Mr. Campbell claims that Kolima, though far less famous, takes pride of place over Tiberius as an epic stage against overwhelming odds. In this he is supported by Lord Mountbatten of Burma who has said: "The Battle of Kolima was probably one of the greatest battles in history. It was in effect the Battle of Thermopylae."

In March 1944, the Japanese army in Burma set out to invade India. Crossing the Chindwin they suffered serious losses through tangle and mud which a month had surrounded Kolima almost completely.

In the face of this strength, the British soldiers of the Royal West Kent, mostly Terrifics, were left behind through heavy shell-fire from the enemy and within a few hours a division of Japanese soldiers, fully trained, nearly broke through.

Mr. Campbell admits that the existing records are scanty and that of the men who were left behind, he will admit to the greatness of the deed is the modesty of the soldier. Nevertheless, he has been content to observe "business and a brain-baking exciting war, the great odds, and there were five hundred. They were gallant, they were brave, they were brave and sturdy from adversity. When the odds were raised, they were brave and sturdy from adversity. When the odds were raised, they were brave and sturdy from adversity."

Less hotel expense—but no iced water

More United States visitors than ever before have come to Europe this year. But many more than usual will choose the less expensive parts of the season, such as October, 1949.

For many of the 500,000 American tourists who are expected to visit Europe this year, it will not be their first trip. They will already have made the round of London, Paris and Rome. They will be going to do something that is new to them. They will be going to do something that is new to them. They will be going to do something that is new to them.

AFRICAN STATES FIRM OVER CYPRUS

Vital interests to be protected

MOTION OF CENSURE BY OPPOSITION DEFEATED

SIR ANTHONY EDEN made it clear in the House of Commons that Britain will stand fast over Cyprus despite signs that the United States has some sympathy with the Greek view. The Prime Minister was speaking in a debate on British policy in the island.

He told the House that Britain had a duty to her allies and her own interests to stay in the island. The Government was concerned to protect the vital interests and the welfare of its own citizens. "Indeed the lives of our people take care of those interests—above all, oil."

An Opposition motion of censure by the Government for the handling of the situation in Cyprus was defeated by 317 votes to 253. A Government motion of confidence in its policy was carried by 317 votes to 201—a majority of 66.

Sir Anthony said he took exception to a statement by the Greek Prime Minister that the United States had renounced the rights of Greece when she was in danger of being overrun by Communism. It was the action of Winston Churchill and the war-time British Government in 1944-45 which saved the Greeks from being sucked behind the Iron Curtain, he said.

Mr. Edens, making his debut as Labour's Colonial spokesman, opened the debate by proposing a motion of censure on the Government for its handling of the Cyprus problem. The heart of the matter, he said, was whether Britain was anxious to have Cyprus as a base in Cyprus.

IMMEDIATE AIM TO END VIOLENCE

SIR ANTHONY said he never felt that Cyprus was an Anglo-Greek question or could ever be treated as such. It was not surprising that Turkey should have a strong interest in the status of Cyprus, he said.

He said the separation of the island, which he had made and made under the Lausanne agreement, was the only way in which Cyprus could be brought to a state of peace. He said he was not in favour of the Greek proposal to have Cyprus as a base in Cyprus. "All we want is to see Cyprus as a free and independent State, and a declaration against the use of force in any way," he said.

East Africa can call upon Shell's world-wide resources
The search for oil is not restricted to land operations. Exploring under the sea demands new techniques and special vessels fitted with workshops, warehouses, air-conditioning equipment, plant for distilling fresh water from sea water, heavy lift derricks, emergency operating theatres and refrigerating equipment. Oil is where you find it!

Tour of Kipsigis Reserve by European farmers

Appreciation Mrs. Winifred Medcalf

As I think I know you in this country, I would like to say for my memory that the Kipsigis Reserve was established in 1911...

The Kipsigis, who are the original inhabitants of the area, are now being resettled in the Reserve. They also have the advantage of the modern facilities available to the Kipsigis.

Wattle processing. The Kipsigis are now engaged in the processing of wattle for the paper industry. This is a new industry for them and they are showing a keen interest in it.

Absence of swarms. There have been no swarms of locusts in the Reserve since the last year. This is a great relief to the farmers and the people of the Reserve.

ZOOLOGY HAS A BIG ROLE IN DEVELOPING EAST AFRICA But scientists warn: Ruin for Kenya unless...

By June this year, scientists from all the East African territories will attend a conference to discuss rain, how to catch it, use it and preserve it, and finally how to direct it into streams and rivers. The problem is not a simple one and it is of supreme importance, for many of the scientists believe that unless a solution is found, Kenya will be ruined within a generation.

Good water supplies are being tapped to yield areas of extreme barrenness. In the past, however, many of the rivers and streams were used to irrigate pastures and cultivated farms, and rivers which formerly carried away the surplus water were used to irrigate the soil. The surplus water will now be used to irrigate pastures and cultivated farms, and rivers which formerly carried away the surplus water will be used to irrigate the soil. Where cosmetics can be fabulous — or faked

COSMETICS are top favorites in India. Latest sales figures show that importers are selling all they can obtain. Demand exceeds supply, and purveyors are making big profits, many of them operating over the border of Goa.

Most difficult to obtain is high-quality perfume, much of it French. Western firms manufacturing these small quantities in India have a big "monopoly" in the market. They are often filled with inferior, sometimes actually harmful, preparations.

THE WORLD'S MOST DREADED WEAPON

The nuclear missile, but America has now devised a system of defence based on radar

AT THE moment it is believed that one of the most important developments in the history of warfare since the invention of the atom bomb is the development of the nuclear missile. This is a weapon which can travel 3,000 miles an hour and is capable of carrying 5,000 lbs. of high explosive. It is a missile which is launched from a launch tube and is capable of travelling 3,000 miles an hour.

In the last few years, the United States and the Soviet Union have been working on this weapon. The United States has developed a missile which is capable of travelling 3,000 miles an hour and is capable of carrying 5,000 lbs. of high explosive. The Soviet Union has also developed a missile which is capable of travelling 3,000 miles an hour and is capable of carrying 5,000 lbs. of high explosive.

to almost half of the people without a single shot fired around the target.

Because of this staggering figure, the fact is that the latest development in the history of war is not the atom bomb, but the radar system of defence based on radar.

It is the Western side, however, which is the most advanced in the development of this weapon. The United States has developed a missile which is capable of travelling 3,000 miles an hour and is capable of carrying 5,000 lbs. of high explosive. The Soviet Union has also developed a missile which is capable of travelling 3,000 miles an hour and is capable of carrying 5,000 lbs. of high explosive.

Britain's problem...

SHOULD A MAN HANG?

ON Monday night the Continent, for the second time in three weeks, will witness the favour of abolishing of suspending the death penalty in Britain. The vote was 208-212.

The bill had gone into committee after the second reading, but it was found that it was not advisable that Britain should suspend the death penalty in the case of capital offences.

The Government has been asked to suspend the death penalty in the case of capital offences, but it is not clear whether the Government will do so.

The bill has been introduced in the House of Commons, and it is expected that it will be passed in the near future.

Ceremonial farewell of British frigate

U.S. EMBASSY ACTION SHOCKS LONDON

Archbishop Makarios, Bishop Kypranos and the two other Cypriot priests who were deported from Cyprus, arrived at the Seychelles in the British frigate Loch Fada, on Wednesday, after a 100-mile journey from Mombasa. They were met by police van and transferred quickly to the police van waiting at the port's Customs House.

Both the archbishop and bishop, in stowage laits and wearing headscarves, a ceremonial farewell to the other three Cypriots before they departed the frigate. They maintained their dignified bearing during their way. They maintained their dignified bearing during their way.

Opinion in London was shocked by yesterday's transfer from the United States Embassy in Athens. The Ambassador, Mr. Cavendish, had expressed the "pathetic estimate" to Cypriots of recent developments in Cyprus.

Immediate instructions were sent to the British Ambassador in Washington, Sir Roger Makin, to ask for an explanation. Meantime, in Athens, the Archbishop and Bishop Makarios, Bishop Kypranos and the two other priests, the Bishop of the Governor's jobs at Sara. This is the first time that a two-membered Bishop and Archbishop Makarios.

Seychelles approves deportees' entry

SPECIAL ORDINANCE PASSED

SEYCHELLES LEGISLATIVE COUNCIL on Monday passed a special Ordinance authorizing the entry and detention of the Archbishops Makarios and other Cypriots. The Archbishop was flown from Mombasa, arriving there on Saturday morning.

He left the Kenya coast on the East African Navy minesweeper, the Loch Fada for the voyage to the Seychelles.

The new Government legislation does not permit any conditional detention of political refugees. Warlike legislation on this subject was reported last week that the Government had decided to deport the Archbishop Makarios of Cyprus.

POOL FOR NURSES ADVISED
Eldoret hospital meeting

The establishment of a central pool of nursing sisters from which both Government and non-Government hospitals could draw, was suggested at a well-attended public meeting held at Eldoret on Tuesday to discuss recent troubles at the local European hospital.

Disturbed

Headlines in British newspapers help to improve the state of mind in the Seychelles, but it is not clear whether the news will be of any great value to the islanders.

Other suggestions put forward by a sub-committee appointed by the Local Authorities Commission and the Education Department included a proposal to increase the number of Government hospitals should be opened at the same time as the existing ones.

The meeting of the Council of the Seychelles had to do with the possibility of having its own newspaper. It was suggested that a newspaper should be established to cover the needs of the islanders.

The fire goes out under the cauldrons... 400 Kamba women renounce their belief in Black Art

FROM WITCHCRAFT TO WOMEN'S CLUBS

AFRICA has been ruled by witchcraft for many centuries. In the Kamba, with an exception and for generations the Kamba have refused to believe that things can happen naturally. Death, famine, sterility and accidents were all attributed to the evil machinations of an enemy.

This rooted belief in the powers of darkness made life a struggle for the Kambas. The Mashakoo coast, the black and red flags can still be seen, down in salubrious Kambani, said to be a tall, white spirit controller when a ghost possesses the body of a woman about to become a witch.

Headling that witchcraft was doing its best to hinder the advancement of this underdeveloped people, the Government has been making a determined effort to stamp out witchcraft and "superstitions" by the use of modern scientific methods.

CAMPAIGN BACKED BY TRIBESMEN

Chief of Police John Ntiring has undertaken an investigation into the evil forces of Kamba magic, but the first obstacle was to determine where sorcery existed and where sorcerers lived. The second was the valuable aspect of trying to end witchcraft, which was the semblance of a witch-hunt in the modern period.

Notice has been given to all sorcerers by what is what they did with their evil charms... And this is what they did with their evil charms...

A FIGHTING FORCE

Various techniques have been used to combat Kamba magic, but one of the most effective has been the formation of women's clubs in Wambuzi, where the women, led through the trials and tribulations of the club, have been able to overcome the powers of darkness.

The club has proved an excellent vehicle to combat the powers of darkness. With 120 members, it has 2,000 members in total and has been able to help and brighten the lives of many women and their children. The club has been able to help and brighten the lives of many women and their children.

The witches hurried their equipment into a fire. With it went the powers of darkness.
