COUNCIL PLANS WAGE REVISION

Mayor outlines move for members of African staff

THE Mayor of Nairobi, Ald. R. S. Alexander, told the board of inquiry into the dispute between Nairobi City Council and the Kenya Local Government Workers' Union that, whatever the outcome of the inquiry, there will be a salary revision for the council's African staff.

The dispute arose after the council's alleged refusal to meet the union's demands for a revision of the council's African staff salaries. There had already been considerable discussion on the subject.

The Mayor said that the council had already agreed to a revision of the council's African staff salaries. There had already been considerable discussion on the subject.

World trading profit totals £70,095,000 for Unilever

The boards of Unilever Ltd. and Unilever N.V. have resolved to recommend to the annual meetings of their respective companies—which will be held on May 26—the declarations of final dividends on the ordinary shares in respect of the year 1955 of £10.50 per share for Unilever Ltd. and 10.50 guilder for Unilever N.V. as follows:

In the case of Unilever Ltd. a dividend of 25 per cent actual (12s. 6d. per £1 of stock) is recommended, and in the case of the ordinary shares of 10s. per share, the dividend will be paid on May 26, 1956. In the case of Unilever N.V. a dividend of 41 per cent actual (10.50 guilder per share) is recommended for the year ended December 31, 1955.

The total dividends are at the same rates as for 1954, but are payable on the ordinary capital as increased by the ordinary share issue in December, 1954, and in the case of the ordinary capital issued during 1954 to meet the needs of Unilever Ltd. the dividend for limited and ordinary shares is payable under the terms of the Equilibrium Act, 1954.

The N.V. Agents included in the profits and taxation for 1955 have been adjusted to the same as used in 1954.

TAX REDUCTIONS LIKELY IN U.K. BUDGET

Mr. Butler expected to be generous after 1954 surplus

BRITONS are confidently expecting to have more cash in their pockets after next year's Budget, says the Chancellor of the Exchequer, Mr. R. A. Butler, at noon today.

Financial experts are predicting that at least he will probably knock something off the beer and entertainment taxes. It is possible that he will cut also income tax and the heavy tax (30s. 6d. a gallon) on petrol. All the signs are that Mr. Butler's Budget will be generous, and it seems to have reverberated through the country.

There is the first time that a Labour Prime Minister has asked the Treasury and the Chancellor to be more generous than the Conservative Government. It is expected that Mr. Butler will also announce a 10 per cent increase in the standard rate of income tax, and a 10 per cent increase in the rate of tax on dividends.

Suggested help for Lancashire

British newspaper editors, particularly those in Lancashire, are suggesting that the Government should consider a special measure to help the cotton industry.

There is no doubt about what the Chamberlain Government intended to do in 1954, but the Conservative Government was not able to do so.

Dividends shown

For the first two years the Chamberlain Government has been able to do so. It is expected that Mr. Butler will also announce a 10 per cent increase in the standard rate of income tax, and a 10 per cent increase in the rate of tax on dividends.

MAY 26 ELECTION DRIVE OPENS IN BRITAIN

Labour attack on cost of living

CHANCELLOR FINISHING 'POPULAR' BUDGET

BRITAIN'S politicians fired the first shots over the weekend in the May 26 General Election campaign, with Labour MPs charging the Conservatives with calling a poll because the country was leading for economic troubles.

Sir Anthony Eden, in his two-minute broadcast from Queens announcing the election, stated that the decision had been taken now because 'uncertainty at home and abroad about the political future had for its influence in world affairs, had for trade and unifying in many ways'.

The Labour Opposition leader, Mr. Clement Attlee, said one of his Party's main arguments during the campaign would be that the Conservative Government failed in its promise to reduce the cost of living. The Labour Party would renege its promise and undo 'some of the mistakes' in the steel industry. Asked what he thought of Mrs. Thatcher's speech, Mr. Attlee said he thought they were 'very well prepared... We always go in expecting to win'.

The Conservatives on the other hand, said they did not press point to the fact that sterling is currently stronger than any of the markets of the world and that there are signs this major that the Bank of England has been gaining dollars.

The major concern of most politicians, however, is the effect which the newspaper strike and a possible rail stoppage will have on the poll. They fear that apathy among the voters will be a big factor to combat.

The key figure in the election campaign, is the Chancellor of the Exchequer, Mr. R. A. Butler, spent the weekend putting final touches to the Budget which he presents to Parliament tomorrow. Sir Anthony has called a meeting of the Cabinet, to hear the Chancellor's proposals for this afternoon.

Mr. Attlee's former opponents expect the Budget to give them fuel for their attack on the end of the war.

BRIBES TO THE VOTERS

After warning the Labour Party members that he would not be in the region of the ordinary voters, the Chancellor has gone out to see what the voters are like. He is reported to be talking to voters in the suburbs of London.

Under a new regulation, Parliament will be able to give the Chancellor a list of voters to visit.

NATIONAL RAIL STRIKE CALLED FOR MAY 1

Newspaper workers continue strike

BRITAIN faces the possibility of a General Election campaign waged without trains or national newspapers. This was the situation of the British rail and newspaper workers called for a national stoppage of members of the Transport and General Workers' Union to continue their 23-day pay dispute.

The fight on 5th decision in the newspaper dispute by 90 machine mechanics and electricians threatened a prolonged suspension of publication by 20 of the nation's biggest newspapers.

The chief of the Associated Press of America, Mr. Arthur Hays Sulzberger, said he would be in London to see Mr. Attlee on the 18th.

SOLVING EAST-WEST PROBLEMS A 'DUTY'
COLONIALISM ATTACKED BY DR. SOEKARNO

SIR JOHN KOTELAWALA, Prime Minister of Ceylon, suggested at Bandung yesterday that the 29 nations represented at the Afro-Asian conference should offer their services as mediators in the dispute between the giants of Communism and anti-Communism.

Delegates to the conference represent more than half the world's people. The hall yesterday was in meeting in the Indonesian President, who attacked colonialism "whether in its traditional form or its modern dress of economic and other forms of control by an alien group within a community" and said it must be eradicated from the earth.

He urged that Asian and African nations should demand a revision of the United Nations Charter to make it an effective instrument.

He said a common will also should open the United Nations to those countries, whatever their political complexion, which are presently being kept out by the exercise of a veto by one great power or another.

English spoken here—official

Dr. Soekarno spoke in English at the Bandung conference, and said that the Indonesian Government would accept English as an official language.

Sisal industry warning on rising costs

PRICE AND PRODUCTION FALL IN EAST AFRICA

Drop in production, the fall in market price, labour and increased railway rates, port dues and other factors were mentioned by the chairman, Mr. A. Lawrie, in his address in Nairobi yesterday at the annual meeting of the Kenya Sisal Growers' Association. Mr. Lawrie stated: "In common with the producers of sisal throughout the world, the Kenya producers have had to accept—but not without protest—increased costs without any corresponding increase in the price to the consumer. An industry, the income of which depends on a single export product, is particularly vulnerable to fluctuations in the world market. The power of competition is particularly marked in an industry such as sisal, inasmuch as the product of all the producers in the world is available to all the buyers of the product."

23 THIRTY terrorists were arrested in the Mau Mau area, said the Government. The 23 were arrested in the area of Mt. Kenya, where they had been active in the past few months. The arrests were reported yesterday.

'Settling Down Blues' And Some Ideas For Defeating Them

By MARGERY MENDELSON

IT'S a man's country" one often hears a woman exclaim in the course of a lecture on the grim statistics which show that Kenya, indeed, it may be said it is rapidly becoming a great island of men.

For her, I think that the idea of settling down is entering as far as possible into the life of her husband and neighbours. The best thing is to make some money. It may be as simple as being heavy on the telephone or as complex as being a business woman.

It is understandable that too much depression becomes a problem for the girl who has been married for a long time. She may be a housewife, but she may also be a business woman.

ONE of the world's greatest scientists, Professor Albert Einstein, died at the age of 76 in a hospital at Princeton, New Jersey, last his body and brain to medical research.

Dr. Albert Einstein, who died on Monday, is the outstanding example in this century of the value of the world of the freedom of human thought in his own generation.

Dr. Einstein first developed his famous theory of relativity in a paper he wrote in 1905 when he was only 26 years of age.

He was the "traditional" physicist of the 19th century, with a great deal of force and imagination, and a genuine belief in the scientific method.

NEWCASTLE HAS SECOND 'MENACE'

Left-winger Mitchell's ball juggling leads to success

IN my last article in this series, writes Harry Johnston, I dealt with the way in which Newcastle has been in the news during the past few weeks, and the development which has led to the formation of the club by Hugh Mitchell, the Scottish left-winger. Mitchell forms a complete contrast to the club's previous manager, the late, great, Mr. J. J. Johnston, who was a right-winger. Mitchell, who has been playing for Newcastle since he joined the club in 1924, is a left-winger of the first order. He is a hard worker, and has a great deal of experience in the game. He has been playing for Newcastle for several years, and has been one of the club's best players.

RELEGATION STILL THE FOOTBALL 'BOGY-MAN'

Monday's matches concerned mainly 'lovely placed sides'

MONDAY'S League football matches in Britain were more concerned with the relegation danger than in those struggling for promotion. In a championship challenge in Division II (North), where York City are the top of Division II, they also encountered a side which may yet offer a serious threat to their position.

Manchester, who have been in a relegation struggle since the start of the season, were again in the firing line in the P.A. Cup. They drew three goals, but were beaten 4-1.

TANGANYIKA COUNCIL

First session under new Constitution

CONTINUANCE OF BRITISH CONTROL EMPHASISED

THE Governor of Tanganyika, Sir Edward Twining, yesterday opened the first session of the newly-constituted Tanganyika Legislative Council, which consists of 31 Government Members and 30 Representative Members.

On the Government benches eight officials Members, six Non-official Members of the Executive Council and 17 Nominated Members, some Official and some Non-official. On the Non-official side of the council, nine constituencies were each represented by three Members, European, an Asian and an African—while an additional three Members have been appointed by the Governor to represent the general interests of the territory.

Sir Edward emphasised statements of the former Colonial Secretary, Viscount Chandon, that it was the intention of the British Government to continue to administer the territory until the ultimate goal of self-Government had been reached, when it was hoped Tanganyika would remain within the Commonwealth.

He referred also to statements by the present Colonial Secretary, Mr. Lennon Boyd, that the British Government could and would continue constitutional development alone.

It must march in line with the economic development of the country. He also stated that the Government was not prepared to accept any proposals for a federal system with the introduction of a ministerial system. Sir Edward stated that this was his personal view and that he believed they should see how the experiment worked.

Commenting that some people had interpreted the Government's statements as a desire to give the Executive Council a role for a considerable period of time, Sir Edward stated that he was not prepared to accept any proposals for a federal system with the introduction of a ministerial system. Sir Edward stated that this was his personal view and that he believed they should see how the experiment worked.

The increase was due to a rise in the prices of foodstuffs, clothing and other necessities.

Rifle Bde. lose to Nakuru in floodlit football fixture

A MAKURU side beat the Rifle Brigade by 3-1 in a friendly floodlit match at the Stadium on Sunday. The game, which attracted a large number of spectators, was refereed by the Brigade, caused some rearrangement of local fixtures and gave the men from Nakuru their welcome break from forest patrol.

A day's work has been a more equitable result for the Rifle Brigade than they had anticipated, particularly in the second half. It was a very good game with the goalkeeper well beaten. More interesting on the night were the forwards, who might have had a few more goals.

CAN COCKLE GAIN THAT WORLD CHAMPIONSHIP?

No British boxer had done so for almost 60 years

By the Sports Editor
A BRITISH boxer has not held the world heavyweight championship since "Heavy" Jim Fitzsimmons topped James J. Corbett (Cleveland Jim) in the 14th round at Carson, Nevada, U.S.A., on March 17, 1897. His famous "side punch" — which was nothing more than a hard jab to the "mark." That was nearly 60 years ago and despite heavy odds against him, he was crowned, but he was the first to win the title. James J. Corbett, the legendary Irish "goat head," had been a champion for 11 years before he was knocked out in the 11th round on June 18, 1890.

Now that the world record book has been opened to the name of a black British boxer, it is interesting to see how far he has come. The nearest his name has come to the world heavyweight championship has been in the hands of a black British boxer, it is interesting to see how far he has come. Some quiet reflections upon a most successful 'Easter'
Standard Golf Correspondent
NOW that the "shouting and the tumbling" has died down in the Easter golf tournament, it is possible to regard the event in a more objective and contemplative mood, and to realise that once again it has lived up to its reputation as the most important of the Colony's outstanding events. As usual, it gave old golfers a chance to retrace their steps — had some of them been so fortunate as to have been present at the 1957 tournament, they would have been able to compare their own performance with that of the previous year.

Hold up Marciano
The boxing world was shocked by the news that the great champion, Rocky Marciano, had been held up by a group of hoodlums in the streets of New York City. The incident occurred on the night of his victory over the champion of the world, and it was a most unfortunate event.

PRESIDENT RAGES AT WAST AID PROGRAMME

Major share for Asian nations

NEW FUND PROPOSED TO ASSIST DEVELOPMENT

President Eisenhower has asked the U.S. Congress for $1,280,000,000 for global aid — most of it to meet "the immediate threats to world security and stability now centred in Asia."

His proposals did not mention a separate program for the original Marshall Plan countries of Western Europe, for a total of $714,000,000 to be set aside for Asia signed by a "President Fund for Asian Economic Development" to develop the abundant resources and fertile lands of the region.

Apart from proposing the creation of the special fund, the President did not give a regional breakdown for the $1,280,000,000 requested for economic and military aid to overseas allies.

He said that the Asian programme would encourage private overseas investment and private enterprise, foster and increase co-operative effort, and emphasize loans rather than grants wherever possible.

"I consider the programme an indispensable part of a realistic and enlightened national policy," the President declared. "The focus, nevertheless, of that policy is that just, prosperous and enduring peace."

TRUSTEESHIP PLAN FOR FORMOSA SUGGESTED

THE Ceylon Premier Sir John Kotelawala, told a Press conference in Bandung yesterday (20) that a trust-ship plan would be handed over to a trusteeship until a plebiscite could be held in the island.

The Premier, who is leading his country's delegation to the Asian conference, confirmed that Ceylon had invited Communist China, Pakistan, Thailand and the Philippines to send delegates to the meeting to decide the question.

"As Prime Minister of a former colony I can understand the positions of Formosa," he said.

Act of brigandage

At the end of the Second World War the victorious powers divided the world into two spheres of influence. Indonesia, Thailand and the Philippines were left to the Americans. Formosa should be given to the United States, he said.

"I consider it an act of brigandage that Formosa is being partitioned by the victors. This is in violation of the Potsdam conference table and the Atlantic Charter. It is an act of brigandage which I find it impossible to support in the smallest degree."

The Premier said that the People's Republic of China is a sovereign nation and should be treated as such.

Atomic energy

The economic committee of the Atomic Energy Commission decided to recommend the Government to withdraw from atomic energy.

The recommendation is contained in a five-page pamphlet which is to be published in the next few days.

The committee said that the Government should not spend money on atomic energy at the present time.

The eye of a Beetle is too small for even a Volkswagen, but its powerful position of handling and deep angle forward vision make it ideal for darting through city traffic and parking in tight places.

The size of the Volkswagen is just plain common sense.

Over the mountains on air and on gasoline too, of course, but on gasoline too, of course.

Thanks to air-cooling on mountainous inclines, and on long hard stretches, Volkswageners can breeze merrily by larger cars which have to slow down to keep their radiators from boiling. Air is the ideal cooling medium — it cannot boil or freeze.

As trim as a dainty slipper...

The Volkswagen is "bigger inside than outside." A small car, although actually it has the capacity of a much larger one.

Uncle Arthur says:

“I am satisfied that I can be helped”

Late many of you, I have occasionally had to go without my Allsopp's Pale Ale recently, so I got on to Allsopp's about that and explained the position. It is just this. Their beers have such a remarkable popularity that in spite of all efforts a full demand is really beyond the capacity of the breweries to be met. I was glad to learn, though, that plans are being made to increase their output, for while they are delighted at the success of their products they are also distressed at having to limit the time to dispossess them of my good friends in East Africa, they have asked me to apologise on their behalf.

Actually, we could have all the PALE ALE we want today - but they tell me that this might affect the quality of something they would not even consider. I suppose, as I said, one must expect a shortage occasionally and for the moment I have resigned myself to taking what I can get and hope Allsopp's PALE ALE as an even bigger test than before.

KENYA STILL THE LAND OF PIONEERING

A COUPLE of dozen fruitless years have found themselves a corner of the Commonwealth, where they pioneering in not dead and where they have literally carved out a new, exciting life from the bush.

Near a mile and three quarters above the sea in the Kenya Highlands, where the weather runs between these are developing 12,000 acres of more or less virgin

Mr. A. J. Storror and Brigadier V. K. H. Channer of Nakuru are now in England trying to encourage young men to come to Kenya to take up farms under the European Agricultural Settlement Board's tenant-farming scheme.

This article by ALASTAIR MATHESON and the pictures by TED MULLIS are part of the publicity material which they have taken with them to show intending immigrants that despite the Emergency, Kenya is still developing her European farming areas and needs still more settlers.

map-by-land from their own intention.

Colonel Hamilton, 24, ex-mercantile farmer who has been in Kenya for some time, but is now in England to be lured by the head office and acquire machinery before they become available.

When wheat crop and white maize average 100 and 150 respectively, Mr. Hamilton is the latest recipient of one of the latest available tractors which will transfer up and down the hillside.

Two hundred yards above the sea level, the hillside is steep and the soil is heavy. It is the best of the hillside that the tractor is used for.

Two years ago this land of the Maasai herds on the other side of the fence, with thick clumps of indigenous bush here and there, the Maasai did not normally live at such heights. Today on the European farms, rolling fields of wheat stretch to the horizon and pastures support fine herds of cattle and flocks of sheep of European breeds.

All this has been accomplished within a few years—a transformation in the middle of the century. It is a great feat, and it is a feat that will be remembered for years to come.

These farms of Maasai-Nakuru are on the edge of Kenya's emergency zone, but little serious activity has occurred here since the emergency zone was declared, for they have had their work cut out in starting their farms.

Developing a farm here means taming part of Africa, and Africa is not easily tamed. In many of the roughly-levelled farm homesteads, the Maasai are the fiercest and most numerous of the Maasai tribes in the country.

Mr. Tim Hamilton Fletcher, who came from Dar-es-Salaam, is the first to have run the tractor before setting up his farm.

The climate may be much the same as in Britain with a good rainfall, good weather and plenty of hours in the sun. In Britain the sun does not shine down vertically and being 9,000 feet above sea-level is a different proposition from East Angles.

There is much still to be found out about farming in this temperate zone almost on the Equator and, these pioneers have to find it out the hard way.

Kenya Children Will Make Theatre History

By JOHN CHERRY

children? Some of them we know from local productions. There's Ann Kato, for instance, for whom I have done a number of articles, and Wiko Mwangi for whom I, too, will soon be writing.

One of the greatest NINE Kenya children stand tall in world's back pages for they are the makers of the theatre's history. They are the heroes in The Nairobi Puppet Theatre's production of J. M. Barrie's wonderful story Peter Pan, and it is believed that this is the first time they have been staged as a puppet show.

For Barry Sykes left the Government school in the right of the play, in the role of Peter Pan, the boy who is producing the show, who is producing the show, who is producing the show.

in relating their parts. But these youngsters, who have been chosen for their competence, for whom I have done a number of articles, and Wiko Mwangi for whom I, too, will soon be writing.

That, of course, is all in the spirit of the play. The theatre in the Alberton school, for several years now, has given a number of children a chance to show their talents. It is a chance to show their talents, and it is a chance to show their talents.

THE THINGS THEY SAY...

KNOWLEDGE far from being the key to success, very often leads to disaster. It certainly is at a discount in the Army. Anybody here familiar with paper work? The sergeant would snigger and off our hapless band of propagandists were trapped into picking up papers in the parade ground.

It is being to go to a good show, and that is what we are going to see in the play. They are going to be a good team, and that is what we are going to see in the play.

EVERY improvement in the primary education has resulted from the recognition that the boy and girl must be given between them. After that, the only way to improve is to give them a full range of subjects, and that is what we are going to see in the play. They are going to be a good team, and that is what we are going to see in the play.

A god lady on a night when I was writing. I am writing a number of articles, and Wiko Mwangi for whom I, too, will soon be writing.
