Kenya Lifts Ban on African Politics

Encouraging simple development

DISTRICT ASSOCIATIONS THE FIRST STEP

The Kenya Government has decided to withdraw its Emergency ban on African political organisations. The move comes two years after Kenya was declared an unlawful society and follows discussions with African Union and Members of Legislative Council.

The new proposals envisage a means for ventilating and drawing the views of the African in the district and will, it is hoped, encourage a simple and orderly development of African political life.

As a first step, it has been agreed that there should be set up district associations, membership of which would be open to all adults living in the district which would call on to pay entrance fees and subscriptions.

The associations would be registered as societies. Each would have its approved constitution governing the election of officers, committees and so on. Once these district associations have been set up, the Government will be in a position to establish a convention of district associations for particular areas. The members appointed to represent each of the district associations would be in accordance with a formula worked out within the area concerned.

A convention of district associations would be presided over by the Minister of Legislative Council representing the Government.

After area conventions had been held, a national convention would be held for the purpose of discussing the views of the various areas and a national convention would be elected to discuss the views of the various areas and to discuss the views of the various areas.

Sir Winston's warning

Sir Winston Churchill's warning in his speech to the House of Commons last night that the world is in a state of "cold war" is a warning that is well worth listening to. He said that the world is in a state of "cold war" and that the danger is that it will become a "hot war".

French ranch on order

The French have on order a ranch in the East African highlands which will be used for the purpose of raising the standard of living of the local population.

MULTI-RACIAL SUPPORT FOR DECISION

'Preferable to intrigue'

There was general support last night for the Government's plan to permit the formation of African political societies. The decision was particularly welcomed by African Union leaders, who said that the move was a step towards the establishment of a multi-racial government.

'Commensurate restraint'

Mr. Mathias said that he hoped the African people would be satisfied with the Government's decision to lift the ban on African political organisations. He said that the Government's decision was a step towards the establishment of a multi-racial government.

'SHOCKING WASTE' IN EDUCATION DEPLORED

Few children in East Africa finish their schooling

The waste in education in East Africa, caused by pupils who begin but do not finish school, is the most important educational problem for the Governments to tackle.

The report deplores the different social problems which it is responsible for giving to the Commission was that only 200 out of every 200 children entering primary schools passed school leaving certificates at the end of secondary school training.

Financial help
The Commission suggests that the Government should be allowed to raise the amount of the grant which it pays to the schools to cover the cost of the books and other materials which are needed for the children.

Liberal salaries
Secondary school education should not be free, but the Government should pay for the cost of the books and other materials which are needed for the children.

Tribute to mission
The members may tribute to the missionaries in East Africa and the Government should pay for the cost of the books and other materials which are needed for the children.

Plural features
The report also says that the Government should pay for the cost of the books and other materials which are needed for the children.

against attacks that they exclude the best of the country from the East African education system. They say that they have been successful in providing a good education for the children of the country.

Acfrican talent
It is estimated that the Government of Kenya has spent £2.5 million in the past five years on the education of its children.

Indian straits deepening to cut sea route
The Government of India is spending £10 million on the construction of a new sea route between India and East Africa.

Reduce costs
If the Government is to be able to provide a good education for all its children, it must reduce the cost of education.

Cattle feed cheaper
The Government of Kenya has decided to reduce the price of cattle feed to help the farmers.

Girls' schooling
The report emphasizes that the Government should pay for the cost of the books and other materials which are needed for the children.

Financial help
The Commission suggests that the Government should be allowed to raise the amount of the grant which it pays to the schools to cover the cost of the books and other materials which are needed for the children.

Underwater city being explored by British team

The discovery of a submerged city has begun in the Mediterranean Sea, near the coast of the island of Rhodes, says a British team.

A preliminary report of the expedition, which was led by Commander J. G. Cooper, of the Royal Naval School of Diving, is being published in the Journal of the Royal Society of Marine Biology.

The team, which was made up of British and American divers, spent several weeks in the area, and discovered a large number of ancient buildings, including a temple, a theatre, and a city wall.

The team also discovered a large number of ancient coins, and a number of other objects of interest.

The discovery of this city is a major archaeological find, and it is hoped that further excavations will reveal more of the city's secrets.

FINE YORKSHIRE WIN IN VITAL GAME WITH SURREY

Champions' first defeat in 16 successive games

YORKSHIRE won their vital county cricket championship match against Surrey by six wickets at Leeds on Tuesday, but the champions still head the table by 12 points with a game in hand. This was the first defeat in 16 consecutive games since July last year when they were beaten by Glamorgan at the Oval, but they were down fighting in the first innings.

The match was a hard-fought one, with Yorkshire leading by 118 at the close of the first day. Surrey, who were batting first, were dismissed for 118, with the fall of the last wicket at 118. Yorkshire then scored 118 in reply, with the fall of the last wicket at 118. The match was a hard-fought one, with Yorkshire leading by 118 at the close of the first day.

FOUR NEEDS FOR THE FUTURE OF KENYA

Nairobi address by Lord Portsmouth ONE-DAY CONFERENCE OF EUROPEAN UNION

KENYA needs a more just and equitable taxation system, better communications, steady European immigration and the general economic development of the whole of East Africa. This was stated yesterday by the Earl of Portsmouth at the presidential address at the opening of the European Union conference in Nairobi, when the constitution and rules were approved.

It is believed he is on the verge of a tremendous tour of Africa, having been called to discuss the Union's new constitution. There was a big gathering of delegates from the United Kingdom, France, Germany and the Benelux countries, who had been in the room for several days.

He said that the first need for Kenya is a more just and equitable taxation system. He said that the second need is better communications, particularly in the form of roads and air services. He said that the third need is steady European immigration, and the fourth need is the general economic development of the whole of East Africa.

Plan for villagers to meet terrorists

S. NYERI RESTRICTIONS EASED

HEAVY restrictions on the movements of Kikuyu to the South Nyeri Reserve, which were put into force on the day after the recent surprise talks broke down, are to be lifted in three weeks, starting today. This step has been taken by the Nyeri District Commissioner, Mr. C. J. W. Jordan, in an attempt to re-establish contacts between villagers and terrorists so that Government's surrender offer can be accepted before the 1st of August.

The terms of the offer were, in effect, that villagers who were not armed, and who were prepared to accept the Government's offer, could return to their homes in the reserve.

All villages were already grouped by Home Guards and a Closing scores in 2nd Test.

Everywhere in Africa there was a great awakening in the spirit of nationalism. It was up to the Europeans to help in this process, which was directed to good rather than to evil. He said that the British Government was determined to help in this process, and that the European Union was determined to help in this process.

'BIG 4' TO AVOID PROPAGANDA

Final acceptance by Russia of four-point talks plan

A FOUR-POINT plan of procedure for the "Big Four" meeting in Geneva next month was disclosed by a Russian official in Moscow after a luncheon at which the Russian Foreign Minister, Mr. Molotov, indicated his final acceptance of the plan.

The plan was proposed by the United States Secretary of State, Mr. Dulles, and was designed to avoid "propaganda" by the "Big Four" in the lead-up to the Geneva talks.

Mr. Dulles said that the plan was designed to avoid "propaganda" by the "Big Four" in the lead-up to the Geneva talks. He said that the plan was designed to avoid "propaganda" by the "Big Four" in the lead-up to the Geneva talks.

Minister stresses farm training need

CESS IN POWER RIFT OPERATION general gives information

Minister stresses farm training need. The value of a technical and scientific education of the young people of the country is being stressed by the Minister for Agriculture, Mr. F. W. Carr, in a speech at the opening of the Open Day at the College of Agriculture, Nambour, Queensland.

He said that it was probably more essential in a young country than anywhere else for farmers to have a good knowledge of the various branches of agriculture, and to be able to make all the difference between success and failure. The Minister was introduced by the Agricultural Commissioner, Mr. J. G. Carr, and Mr. J. G. Carr, who said that Mr. Carr had been playing the part of a guiding hand through all the changes that had taken place at the institution during the past few years.

The Minister stressed the importance of a technical and scientific education of the young people of the country, and said that it was probably more essential in a young country than anywhere else for farmers to have a good knowledge of the various branches of agriculture, and to be able to make all the difference between success and failure.

Gang convicted of murdering boy

NINE SENTENCED TO DEATH

Twelve African boys yesterday found guilty of murdering 15-year-old Geoffrey Danby. Nine of the boys were sentenced to death. The other three—two of whom are under 18 and were ordered to be detained in the Government's juvenile reformatory, Geoffrey Danby and his brother, Christopher Twohey, were sentenced to 12 months' imprisonment.

The boys were convicted at the trial of the murder of Geoffrey Danby, who was shot on the beach at Nambour on April 27. The boys were accused of murdering Danby because they had been seen with a rifle which was found near the boy's body. The boys were also accused of covering up the murder.

The boys were sentenced to death by a court of three judges. The judge presiding at the trial, Mr. Justice G. B. Stewart, said that the boys were "guilty of a heinous crime" and that their actions were "beyond the pale of civilization."

The boys were also sentenced to 12 months' imprisonment for their part in the murder. The boys were taken to the reformatory to serve their sentences. The reformatory is a government institution for young offenders.

Police 'saw man in red sweater stab constable'

Assistant Chief of Police, Mr. B. J. Kelly, said in a statement that a man in a red sweater was seen stabbing a constable on the beach at Nambour. The man was seen running away from the constable after the attack.

The man was seen running away from the constable after the attack. The constable was injured and taken to hospital. The man was later identified as the same man who was convicted of the murder of Geoffrey Danby.

CRITIC OF ELECTION EMOTIONS

Minister's advice to Asians

A MORE sporting and less emotional attitude in election campaigns by Asian candidates was urged by Mr. R. B. Patel, Minister without Portfolio, in an address to members in support of Mr. R. B. Patel, a candidate in the Municipal Council elections.

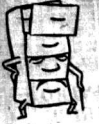

"We are much more emotional than the English," he said, "and that is the reason why we are not so successful in the field of politics. We are much more emotional than the English, and that is the reason why we are not so successful in the field of politics. We are much more emotional than the English, and that is the reason why we are not so successful in the field of politics."

Mr. Patel mentioned the case of the late Mr. J. B. Kariuki, who was elected as a member of the Municipal Council for two or three years. "An 'X' was put in front of his name on the election sheet because of the action of the police who arrested him and he was kept in jail for some time. He was released and he was elected as a member of the Municipal Council for two or three years. He was elected as a member of the Municipal Council for two or three years. He was elected as a member of the Municipal Council for two or three years."

NAIROBI FACTORY TO PRODUCE MEDICINES

Foundation stone-laying ceremony

PHARMACEUTICAL medicines are to be manufactured in a factory, the foundation stone of which was laid by the Minister for Commerce and Industry, Mr. Joseph J. Njoroge, at the Nairobi Industrial Area on Thursday. The factory, owned by the Kenya Overseas Co. and its products "will fill a great need in the Colony and in East Africa."

The Minister commented that he was glad to see further progress being made in the country at a time when the people have and will be confident in the future of their country as we have here.

High standard vital

He was interested to hear that the firm was searching out the best proprietary medicine to manufacture and that these pharmaceuticals should be in local ownership. He said that every citizen should be interested in this.

The general director, Mr. Ramesh Chandra Patel, told the members of the Kenya Overseas Co. that the firm had started to build a small factory where it opened a small factory where it started to make medicines, hair oils and perfumery. He said that the firm had started to make medicines, hair oils and perfumery. He said that the firm had started to make medicines, hair oils and perfumery.

Living costs denial by building society head

MR. T. W. TYRELL

general manager of the First Permanent Building Society said in Dar es Salaam: "It has been stated that the introduction of foreign building societies in Kenya with slightly higher rates of interest would have an adverse effect on the cost of living generally."

"This, of course, is completely untrue," he stated. "I would like to point out that the building society has no control over the cost of building materials. The cost of building materials is controlled by the market. The building society has no control over the cost of building materials. The cost of building materials is controlled by the market. The building society has no control over the cost of building materials."

Not excluded

"A further point which must be mentioned is that the building society has no control over the cost of building materials. The cost of building materials is controlled by the market. The building society has no control over the cost of building materials. The cost of building materials is controlled by the market. The building society has no control over the cost of building materials."

REVERT TO RUSSIA OVER COLD WAR PLAN

Mr. Dulles outlines 'simple method'

CALL FOR OBSERVANCE OF U.N. CHARTER

AMERICA'S Secretary of State, Mr. Dulles, denounced 'international Communism, the 'unnatural division' of Germany and the subjugation of East European nations to 'disposition' in a speech at the United Nations tenth anniversary meeting in San Francisco.

Mr. Dulles, replying to the spot-point plan for ending the cold war proposed by the American Foreign Minister, Mr. Acheson, five days ago, said there was no 'simple' method of bringing it to an end.

He said that the Charter of the United Nations, of international relations, and from the support and direction which it has given to the world community.

INEFFICIENT STATISTICS DANGER TO EAST AFRICA

Criticism by Royal Commission

THE "unsatisfactory and uncertain" relationship which exists between the East African Statistical Department and the Territorial Governments is criticised in the report of the Royal Commission. The Commission considers that the relationship requires clearer definition.

Emphasising the value of statistics, the Commission states that some of East Africa's problems have now become so urgent that policies formulated on the basis of inaccurate data, or on the general impressions of observers without sufficient standards of reliability, may be inefficient, or even dangerous. Regular collection and publication of statistics is essential to the Government to be able to make decisions which are based on reliable data and against the misinterpretation of reliable data.

In developed countries, the multiplicity of agencies and overlapping responsibilities have caused confusion rather than the orderly and systematic collection of data and against the misinterpretation of reliable data.

Recommendations

The East African Standard enters this significant history as it is the first time that the usual statistical methods of the world have been brought to bear on the continent of Africa.

The report, which is the work of the East African Statistical Department in co-operation with the heads of the various departments concerned with the collection of statistics in the territories, is a landmark in the history of the continent.

The report, which is the work of the East African Statistical Department in co-operation with the heads of the various departments concerned with the collection of statistics in the territories, is a landmark in the history of the continent.

Examining positions

It is to be noted that the Commission considers that the East African Statistical Department which is the most technically qualified agency in the East Africa should be an effective and efficient agency to improve the standards of the continent and that the Commission should have to cross the territories.

In these circumstances it is recommended that the Commission should be empowered to exercise the functions of the East African Statistical Department in the territories and that the Commission should be empowered to exercise the functions of the East African Statistical Department in the territories.

STUDENTS ON HOLIDAY NOT CALLED UP

Students on normal university vacations in Kenya and Uganda are not being called up for military service, it is stated in a report drawn up by a committee set up by the Ministry for Internal Security. The committee was set up by the Minister for Internal Security, Mr. J. H. K. Grogan, to investigate the matter.

The committee found that the students were not being called up for military service because they were on normal university vacations. The committee also found that the students were not being called up for military service because they were on normal university vacations.

A group of 12 Ugandan children, aged between 10 and 14, visited Britain to see the Royal Family and other members of the British Royal Household. The children were accompanied by their parents and a teacher.

The children were very well received in Britain and they had a very enjoyable visit. They saw the Royal Family and other members of the British Royal Household and they also saw many other interesting sights in Britain.

Case for grant

A case for a grant of £100,000 for the East African Standard is being made by the East African Standard. The grant is for the purpose of improving the standards of the newspaper.

The East African Standard is a leading newspaper in East Africa and it is one of the most important sources of news and information for the people of East Africa. The grant will help to improve the standards of the newspaper and to make it a more effective source of news and information for the people of East Africa.

City's African homes

POLICY DEFENDED

Reply to election speech criticism

The City of Nairobi has defended its policy of providing African homes for its African population. The policy has been criticised in an election speech but the City has defended it.

The City has defended its policy because it believes that it is the best way to provide housing for the African population of Nairobi. The City has defended its policy because it believes that it is the best way to provide housing for the African population of Nairobi.

'Alarming' fall in Zanibar pupils

The number of African pupils in Zanibar schools falls with "alarming rapidity" from 10,000 to 6,000 in a year, it is stated in a report drawn up by a committee set up by the Ministry for Internal Security. The committee was set up by the Minister for Internal Security, Mr. J. H. K. Grogan, to investigate the matter.

The committee found that the number of African pupils in Zanibar schools had fallen from 10,000 to 6,000 in a year. The committee also found that the number of African pupils in Zanibar schools had fallen from 10,000 to 6,000 in a year.

Tragic waste

It is claimed in the report that although some of the pupils are being trained in agriculture, the majority are being trained in other subjects which are not in demand in the country. The committee also found that the majority of the pupils are being trained in other subjects which are not in demand in the country.

The committee also found that the majority of the pupils are being trained in other subjects which are not in demand in the country. The committee also found that the majority of the pupils are being trained in other subjects which are not in demand in the country.

SPRINGBOKS CHANCE OF VICTORY IN 2nd TEST

With eight wickets in hand they require 166 runs

VICTORY at Lord's—a glittering prize—a within reach of South Africa in the second Test against England, which moved towards a tremendous victory on the third day on Saturday, bowling and fielding like the Springboks dismissed England for 253 in their second innings, leaving themselves good to win themselves a good day's rest at the close of South Africa's shut at their opening party for a week.

In both South Africa's first innings there was a certain amount of confusion, but in their second, when they were not so well served by the weather, they were better than in their first. They were not so well served by the weather, they were better than in their first. They were not so well served by the weather, they were better than in their first.

The wicket was still a good one for the batsmen, and the South Africa batsmen were not so well served by the weather, they were better than in their first. They were not so well served by the weather, they were better than in their first.

Empire's voice in Britain for African Society post

'International bill of rights'

CELEBRATIONS END AT SAN FRANCISCO

With the close of the 10th anniversary of the United Nations Charter, the British Empire's voice in Britain for African Society post has been heard in a special ceremony at the University of London.

MEMBER NATIONS reaffirmed their adherence to the United Nations Charter and their common determination to avoid war when the 10th anniversary celebrations ended in San Francisco. They took place in the same house where, ten years ago, the Charter was signed.

In a declaration it was stated that the new year was a day of reflection on the past and a day of hope for the future. The declaration was signed by the representatives of the 48 member nations.

It was noted that the hope of enduring peace rested on the Charter and that the purpose and principles of the Charter and its spirit were the same as those which were embodied in the Declaration of the United Nations.

The declaration was signed by the representatives of the 48 member nations. It was signed in the same room in which the Charter was signed in 1945.

Looking for London
Mr. Walter Anderson, Secretary of the British Empire's voice in Britain for African Society post, said that the organization was looking for London to be a centre of African studies.

North keeps London dockers on strike

400 MARCH IN CAPITAL

FOUR HUNDRED striking dockers from the North of England marched through London's streets today to protest against the Government's refusal to accept their demands for a 10 per cent wage increase.

The march was held in London's Trafalgar Square. It was led by the General Secretary of the National Dockworkers' Union.

The Government has refused to accept the dockers' demands for a 10 per cent wage increase. It has offered a 5 per cent increase instead.

The dockers have threatened to continue their strike unless their demands are met. They have also threatened to go on a general strike.

The Government has said that it will consider the dockers' demands if they are reasonable. It has said that it will not accept any demands that would be a burden on the economy.

The dockers have said that they will accept a 5 per cent increase if the Government will accept a 10 per cent increase. They have said that they will accept a 5 per cent increase if the Government will accept a 10 per cent increase.

Union attitude to U.N. criticised

HUMAN RIGHTS VOTE IGNORED

MRS ELEANOR ROOSEVELT, widow of President Franklin Roosevelt, stated yesterday that "the human rights in South Africa and nothing at all had been done in South Africa."

VARIED VIEWS ON COLOURED LABOUR

Resolutions for an union conference on the colour bar are expected to be presented at the conference of the Transport and General Workers' Union starting in Bishopscourt on Friday.

One branch of the union, because of its views on the colour bar, has decided to hold a separate conference on the subject. A demand that the conference should not be held in the docks came from another branch.

Immigrant control The lack of control of West Indian immigrants into Britain is criticised by one branch of the union. It is pointed out that the present law is not sufficient to deal with the influx of immigrants from the West Indies and other countries.

The branch advocates a policy in connection with the Immigration Act and the Control of Labour and the Immigration Act.

Several other branches deplore the attempt to impose the colour bar in certain districts and insist that the union's policy opposing the bar be carried out by all sections. (Sector)

Sir Winston to receive U.S. Honour

NEW FASHIONS FOR THE JUNIOR MISS

By Betty Wilson

At last British designers are entering specifically for the silhouette neglected teenager. Within a few weeks designs throughout Britain will be displaying special collections of dress for the 16 to 20 age group. By and large, the models are extremely attractive. Made to wear some in style-conscious wool dachas, which will either wash or stand up to countless cleanings, the new summer clothes are being available in all the colour schemes for the Paris and London House covers. London designers for buyers of teenage fashions have made it clear that the old idea that a girl should be in a dress that didn't matter is long ago and has been replaced by a new one that is both chic and feminine.

Another dress which rings the changes is a pair of Eton school-style dresses. These are made of one of the new fabrics, which are being used in the third skirt. It is shown with an orange wool blouse, but there are possibilities of other colour combinations of wearing it with a blouse made of one of the new fabrics. The dresses are made for the air-conditioned office, but they are also suitable for wearing in the street.

Modest prices If teenage fashions had no fear of London's anxiety, the new clothes are designed to turn the new summer teenager into a "pistachio." Another "pistachio" dress is a high-necked, long-sleeved dress with a white collar and a white tie. It is made of a light-colored fabric and is suitable for wearing in the street.

A TRUCE TO TOLERANCE

The News Chronicle yesterday published an article headed "A Truce to Tolerance" in its four-column article under the heading "Father intolerance says it is time we showed the children's side."

South Africa's attitude to the children's side is "How tolerant are we?" asks the article. It asks the parents to be tolerant to the children's side. It asks the parents to be tolerant to the children's side. It asks the parents to be tolerant to the children's side.

BRIAN STATHAM ECLIPSES SPRINGBOK TEST HOPES

Dramatic finale at Lord's; England two up in series

DRAMATIC bowing by Brian Statham gave England victory in the second Test match against South Africa at Lord's yesterday by 71 runs. Having won the first Test by 100 runs, the English have now taken a 2-1 lead in the series. South Africa were handily beaten by the injury to their captain, Chappell, who had a sporting chance to win, but lost the match, and Statham, however, with 31 yesterday, carried out their duties with a vengeance. They had a final analysis of 7-20.

The South Africans started the 20th day's play with the first wicket taken at the 10-minute mark when South Africa were bowled out for 100 runs. England were bowled out for 100 runs in the 10th minute of the 21st day.

NEW SYSTEMS OF LAND USAGE AN URGENT TASK

Effect of nomadic tribes and shifting cultivation

EAST AFRICA'S most urgent problem—over a wider range of territory than many might believe—has been aware—was kept the question of alienated land, but the need to discover and apply systems of land use by the indigenous inhabitants which would be both productive and aesthetically satisfactory to the pastoralists. The present totally unsatisfactory customary usage here is too basic to be able to do so.

The East Africa Royal Commission reached this conclusion after its study of present land use. Its recently published report says: "On the one hand, the law and the custom and in many places, the mental outlook of the community are still conditioned by attitudes of tribalism and race which determine the use of land."

On the other hand, the growing population, the growing demand for higher standards of living, and—unsuitably in many areas—on the way of the modern individual for his own personal habitation, have made the settlement by the pastoralists and the shifting cultivators a problem of the greatest importance. The report states that the present system of land use is a real tragedy.

Living for all

The problem was how to re-use the land. The Commission which gave an initial report in 1951, gave an opportunity to the land to be used in a more productive and aesthetically different manner of today.

And an essential condition of the report states that the land should be used in a way which would provide a living for all within the limits of the land in our modern society.

The report refers to a "nomadic" system, from the pressure and the need to move on. There were serious reasons for this, according to the Commission. These included the fact that the land was being used in a way which was not in accordance with the needs of the people. The report states that the land should be used in a way which would provide a living for all within the limits of the land in our modern society.

REMARKABLE SPELL BY CIVIL SERVICE BOWLER

D' Cunha's undefeated century

CIVIL SERVICE CRICKET Club bowler, D. S. D' Cunha, made a remarkable spell of 11-0 in the first innings of the match against the St. Albans Cricket Club on Saturday. D' Cunha bowled 11 overs, taking 11 wickets for no runs. This is a remarkable feat in cricket.

A brilliant innings by Hutton v. Notts.

A BRILLIANT innings of 194 by Len Hutton was the highlight of Monday's county cricket programme. Hutton scored his third century of the season, being caught at the close with 115, while R. Sibbald, who scored 112, was the highest individual. Hutton's innings was a masterpiece of batting, showing great control and technique.

STEAMSHIP FARES TO BRITAIN INCREASED

Higher operating costs responsible

AVERAGE RISE OF £1 TO £4 ON ONE-CLASS SHIPS

MANY steamship companies, including Lloyd-Triestino and Union-Castle, yesterday announced increases in fares for passages from East Africa to various parts of the world.

Official spokesmen stated that the reason for the increase was the higher cost of wages, fuel and repairs to the vessels and also mounting general operating costs. This would not be affected, said the spokesmen, by the fact that the cost of fuel would be between £1 and £4 per ton, and the cost of maintenance would be up to £2 and £7 for first-class fares for medium-sized cables increased by 22 per cent.

Increases had been kept at moderate at present, and some grades of accommodation were maintained at the present level or slightly reduced. The company's passenger fares had only doubled.

An official of the agents for Lloyd-Triestino said their increases ranged from £2 for a single adult first-class fare on the Mombasa-Ialy service.

The Lloyd-Triestino increases apply to bookings for the New Year. Only in Israel
