SITUATION STILL SERIOUS IN THE FAR EAST

Japan's Dispute With Great Britain Alone

THREE POSSIBLE LINES OF REPRISAL

FROM THE FAR EAST OVER THE WEEK-END SHOWED NO SIGNS OF AN IMPROVEMENT IN THE SITUATION AT TIENTSIN. FOOD SUPPLIES IN THE BRITISH OCCUPATION ARE BECOMING VERY SHORT, AND THE POSITION IS AGGRAVATED BY EXCEPTIONAL HEAT MOST WEATHER.

The British remain adamant, an official communication emphasizing that the dispute is essentially one between her and Great Britain and that the rights and interests of other Powers are not in question.

MONDAY, JUNE 18, 1935.

The Case of Mrs. Wood

The Supreme Court of Kenya gave judgment on Saturday in a case which had aroused much public interest, and some not always balanced criticism. The judges who considered the case were the Magistrate was not interested in the publicity given to the original prosecution, and the judgment published this morning is an admirably detached examination of the evidence and grounds for the lower court, and statement of the reasons which caused the Supreme Court to acquit Mrs. Wood. That detachment is in accordance with the high traditions of the Courts in Kenya, and is necessary in disputes between members of one race and another in the interests of impartial justice.

The case of Mrs. Wood is not in itself important. It is only of value in our opinion, because it serves to re-assert and re-enforce to the public a clear warning that it arose from a system which, however admirable in practice, is not altogether admirable in practice. The protest which was made by the accused, and the public reaction to it, in an original sentence, will have served their purpose if they cause the Legislature to take steps to amend the law which officers who prosecute, and the Courts who hear the charges, to make every effort to maintain a wide and sane view of proportion. The Supreme Court found that the employer had not, in fact, discriminated against the servant, that the latter left behind his own accord, and that when his employer refused to make him back that refusal did not constitute dismissal nor did it provide the basis for a charge of dismissal. There were sufficient grounds in respect of wrong cost proceedings to have annulled the sentence of two months imprisonment in default of payment of the fine.

The acquittal will satisfy public opinion as well as the principle of justice in cases like this. It is necessary to see the lessons of the case ignored by the Government. It is important to remember that this was a dispute between an employer and a child involving only a few shillings, and reported as an incident which is quite common in the domestic life of a country like Kenya. That it should have caused so much fuss, and reference to the Supreme Court of the Colony for a ruling, is a reflection on the responsibility of the British system of justice. It is not evidence of a common-sense system. The District Magistrate of Nairobi is faced with a great deal of work in the handling of these petty disputes and in the great majority, if not all, his department makes an honest attempt to find agreement without resort to the law. There is even a use of a form which invites aggrieved employers to make a statement of the facts and to state the grounds of their own action alone, without regard to legal formalities. The Commissionary makes it possible to discover a basis of settlement.

But the question at once arises in the mind of the ordinary person whether it is possible at all for these misanthropic details of a very minor character ultimately to be brought before a criminal court. Surely the experience of a life in an African Colony which has reached the stage of Kenya should be sufficient to cause a person to be brought before a criminal court for a foolish crime, depicted in a different way? Justice, in court, must maintain the law. An African domestic servant is as fully entitled to his or her European employer. What is the principle of British rule relationships and public policy itself would deteriorate rapidly and dangerously. But we feel that somewhere between the machinery of the criminal court and the ordinary and the partial application of the law on the other, there is a point at which common-sense should be able to devise a happier method.

We would suggest, for the consideration of the public and of the Government, that there should be set up in centre such as Nairobi a special tribunal, staffed by a lawyer and more normal atmosphere than that possibly obtain in courts concerned with the public. We feel that if the tribunals are made to be public, and the Magistrate Forces. These tribunals would be established in the various districts, but would be advised by the British lawyer. The tribunals would be established in the various districts, but would be advised by the British lawyer. The tribunals would be established in the various districts, but would be advised by the British lawyer.

Announcement for Belgium

The Standard newspaper of Belgium has issued a statement to the effect that a contract to sell the motor car, which was built for the British Government, to the Belgian Government, has been cancelled. The Belgian Government has cancelled the contract on the ground that the car was not of the quality specified in the contract.

BASIS FOR CLAIMS ON COLONIAL FUND

After a long and interesting debate on the Report of Dr. Pole-Evans, the famous grass expert, who has made far-reaching recommendations with respect to soil, manures and topography of lands in Kenya, Legislative Council on Thursday carried out a division of opinion expressing appreciation of an able Report and trusting that Government will take steps to remedy the state of affairs discussed.

Dr. Pole-Evans favours an arid survey of reserves, and it was mentioned in Council that to cover an area of 50,000 square miles the work probably cost £250,000 in addition to at least £2,000 annual recurrent expenditure. This is one of the provisions on which Government hope to raise further claims.

The Report of Mr. J. H. Pole-Evans, C.M.S., Chief of the Division of Agriculture, Department of Agriculture, and Secretary of the Kenya Agricultural and Pastoral Society, was also discussed. The Council expressed its appreciation of the Report and trusted that Government will take steps to remedy the state of affairs discussed.

Dr. Pole-Evans made a statement which was an elaborate and interesting one. He stated that his Report was based on a study of the soil, manures, and topography of the lands in Kenya. He stated that his Report was based on a study of the soil, manures, and topography of the lands in Kenya.

JUDGES' REFERENCES TO EXCESSIVE SENTENCE

The appeal by way of case stated to the Supreme Court, of Mrs. W. Wood, Nairobi appealing against her conviction by Mr. T. Stanger, second-class magistrate, for failure to pay a servant's wages (a sum of Shs. 4/0) and sentence of Shs. 6/0-7/0 in default of two months' imprisonment, was considered by the Supreme Court on Saturday when the Chief Justice, Sir Justice Sheriden, allowed the judgment of himself and Mr. Justice Thacker allowing the appeal and acquitting the accused.

"We would observe," said His Lordship, "that had the conviction stood, the sentence of two months' imprisonment in default of payment was excessive."

INCREASED POPULARITY OF NAIROBI SHOW

At Prize-Giving Governor's Tribute

The last day of the Nairobi Show proved to be even more popular than ever, and it is confidently expected that the total gate receipts will be the highest of the year.

In his speech at the prize-giving ceremony last evening, His Excellency the Governor paid tribute to the Show both from the point of view of the standard maintained and the efficiency of the organization. He welcomed the visitors from neighbouring territories and commented on the special Trade Show.

The three day Agricultural Show at Nairobi closed on Saturday night. The first day of the Show was particularly popular and the gate receipts for the three days were a record for the Nairobi Show since it was first held in 1900.

CHURCH AND LIBELS

Scottish Proposal Criticised

Members of the General Assembly of the Church of Scotland, sitting at Edinburgh, were sharply criticised for proposing to set up a Judicial Commission, but their motion to go forward to the Preliminary Act committee...

The Rev. J. A. B. M'Neil, moving that the General Administration Commission be set up, stated that it would be an unnecessary piece of machinery. The Rev. J. A. B. M'Neil, moving that the General Administration Commission be set up, stated that it would be an unnecessary piece of machinery...

This ground is a violation of the rights of members of the Church. The setting up of a Commission will impair the authority of the supreme court of the Church and deprive its ministers of what has always been an undoubted right-vested in them.

A New Question Mr. M'Neil added—"A new question is a serious, further contribution of authority, and a resulting libel as it is of the character of the Church."

The Rev. J. M. Clark said that at a time when individualism had the whole world on the brain of the Church, it was not for any Church, or for a Christian, to be the slave of the Protestant, but to place its power more and more in the hands of a committee and bureaucracy.

Indian Ocean Flight

AN ALTERNATIVE ROUTE

All the newspapers publish details of the new flight, which is being made across the Indian Ocean to London.

Captain P. G. Taylor left Port Moresby, Western Australia, on June 11 in the flying-boat Gull on the first stage of a seven-stage across the Indian Ocean to London.

The route is approved by the Commonwealth Government, according to London, and the British Government has agreed to contribute a handsome sum of £100,000 towards the cost.

Reaction To Colonial Office Debate

Office Debate

"INTIMIDATION BY KENYA COLONISTS"

The Colonial Office debate was interesting without being especially making. The British Colonial Empire has a population exceeding that of Spain, Czech-Slovakia, Albania and Albania combined, and an area vastly larger than all of these put together. Parliament is directly responsible for the policy governing its administration—and undoubtedly it, on an average, is the day's debate in the year.

The House of Commons that the debate was very small—comparatively small in 1935, and comparatively small in 1936. The Minister of the Interior, Mr. MacDonald, said that the Colonial Office was not really interested in the debate, and that the Colonial Office was not really interested in the debate. The Minister of the Interior, Mr. MacDonald, said that the Colonial Office was not really interested in the debate, and that the Colonial Office was not really interested in the debate.

The Minister also discovered that he was not alone in his opinion. The Colonial Office was not really interested in the debate, and that the Colonial Office was not really interested in the debate. APRON STRINGS

A Colonial Problem

There has been so much talk during the past week or two about the Colonial Empire, the importance of developing it in the interests of the people on the spot, and the methods by which the Imperial Parliament, which means members of all parties, can get a firmer grip on Colonial questions and help the Government of the day to do his best for the Empire, and the Empire for the day, that it is almost impossible to pull it down. The author's pen is a rare masterpiece.

DEVELOPMENT OF TRADE WITH THE COLONIES

Vast Potentialities In Africa, Say M. P. S.

The vast trade potentialities of the Colonial Empire were stressed by several speakers in the recent debate in the House of Commons on the Board of Trade trade.

The Labour Member in the course of a long speech in which he urged the need for big development plans, especially in Africa, said: "I feel always that after dinner, when they are making business arrangements about it."

Mr. Lloyd George, the Minister of Finance, also referred to the vast potentialities of the Empire, and said that it was his duty to see that the Empire was developed to the full. He said that the Empire was a vast field for the expansion of British trade, and that it was his duty to see that the Empire was developed to the full.

It couldn't be Better..

Speakers never stop stressing the nation's need for something better, lighter and brighter. But no man has ever been heard to voice an appeal for a better factory than Afrikander. There's not a pipe-smoker worth his salt who doesn't get a full mark on every score... what more can man desire than such smokeless and coolness, such sober qualities that Afrikander gives. CORONA JUNIOR

CORONA is marvellously simplified. That is one reason why it is the world's greatest success, and why it is so easy to repair.

SIMPLICITY

This is an important point to consider in the purchase of a portable typewriter and results from twenty years of experience study.

It is almost impossible to wear out a Corona. Corona's guaranteed twenty years' run are built to endure - to last.

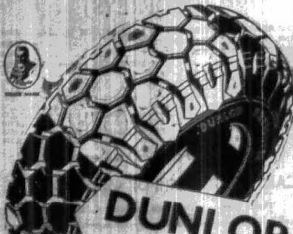

DURABILITY
 Always use heavy to write with Corona because Corona was designed with the needs of the business typist in mind. It is easy to learn.

ENGLAND'S "WELCOME HOME" TO HER SOVEREIGNS

Tumultuous Scenes In Southampton And London

After an absence from home of seven weeks, during which they carried out an exacting but highly successful tour of Canada and the United States, their majesties the King and Queen set foot on English soil again yesterday afternoon.

First to visit them of the Royal Family, they received a tumultuous welcome from over 10,000 people who thronged the streets of Southampton, and later from an equally enthusiastic multitude in the Metropolis.

The only important change in the programme was the cancellation of the reception by the Fleet of Southampton owing to the fog which had also caused the Emperor of Brazil to drop out on the last stage of his voyage.

London, June 22.—A great welcome was accorded the King and Queen on their return to Southampton on board the Royal Barge of the Empress of Australia. Their Majesty's arrival in London was greeted by a tumultuous throng of people who thronged the streets of Southampton, and later from an equally enthusiastic multitude in the Metropolis.

Britain Threatens Counter-Measures At Tientsin

An official statement in London yesterday declared that if the present Japanese attitude continues in Tientsin they must inevitably lead to counter-measures by Great Britain.

London, June 22.—A statement that the present position in Tientsin must inevitably lead to counter-measures by Great Britain.

Missed Opportunity

A rich man, who would have been very different poor man as his big — a small opportunity — in Lake see 1948.

Many had viewed interpretations of the story of Shere and Lawrence had been presented by present and past generations. It was that only the poor in this life can have the hope and joy of heaven, and that the rich will never be contented.

ENCOURAGING REVIEW BY CHAIRMAN

CAPITAL REARRANGEMENT TO BRING DIVIDENDS NEARER

The annual general meeting of Rosterman Gold Mines, Ltd., was held in London this week.

The "African Standard" London correspondent telegraphed to the position of the Chairman, who gave an encouraging summary of the financial state of the Company financially which he declared to be satisfactory.

It said that cash resources had increased from £17,000 to £25,000; a rearrangement of Capital was intended to enable payment of dividends to the extent of £15,000 per annum.

The Chairman said that the Board had decided to increase the dividend from 6s. to 7s. 6d. per share for 1938, and to increase it to 8s. for 1939.

He said that the Board had decided to increase the dividend from 6s. to 7s. 6d. per share for 1938, and to increase it to 8s. for 1939.

FINANCIAL REVIEW

The market, and consequently on the 10th instant when we saw a "revolving" of market prices to the same level, and most sections closed flat. Perhaps the one firm section has been profitable recently, which is the case with the London market.

It is interesting to note that the market has been able to maintain its position in the last week, and that it has been able to do so without any significant change in the price of the country's stock.

Forthcoming Amateur Championship

Although the Kenya Golfing Society did not intend to meet against Royal Blackheath in their annual match on Monday, they had the usual wonderful day. Blackheath's victory was a great blow. Blackheath I am told was very slowly run on the Saturday and the players were perfect.

The year at Blackheath, we had an addition to Tully Election, Dr. George Pury, who has been one of the most eminent of Home racing men in Home Turf, and who is now resident in England. He is a well known and successful horseman. I was amused to read this morning in your column that Mr. Pury had corresponded in reporting this match stated Blackheath was captured by father Election. I wish to point out that Mr. Pury is a well known friend of the Kenya Golfing Society and I am pleased to say that the Society has elected him to the position of Treasurer for the year 1939.

THE NAIROBI SHOW CONVERSATION PIECE

It matters not how hastily called a writer if he hath knowing and communicative friends.—CAMDEN

1939

By G. R. Morrison

THEY were the Agricultural Show held in Nairobi last week was a highly successful one. The gate money has been a record by accounts—over £1300. The Trade Show covered a greater area than any other and not only did it attract a very large number of exhibitors, but also a large number of visitors. The Government Department had more than 1000 exhibitors, and more than 1000 exhibitors. The Trade Show had more than 1000 exhibitors, and more than 1000 exhibitors. The Trade Show had more than 1000 exhibitors, and more than 1000 exhibitors.

RECORD ATTENDANCE

There were both brans and marks in the opening meeting. The opening meeting was held in the afternoon, and the attendance was a record. The Trade Show was held in the morning, and the attendance was also a record. The Agricultural Show was held in the afternoon, and the attendance was a record. The Trade Show was held in the morning, and the attendance was also a record. The Agricultural Show was held in the afternoon, and the attendance was a record.

More and more our Agricultural Shows approximate to Colonial Exhibitions. They were indeed Kenya Developments. Agriculture will remain the heart of the Show, but it will continue to be the Show's main source of wealth, but year by year its importance will fall and other will rise.

It must surely be better for the Empire, the Colony, and the nation, that a large amount of new goods at least, should be so manufactured. Better for the Empire, because in many of these imports our countrymen are better off than in the past. Better for the Colony, because the money would be retained within its borders. Better for the nation, because it would be a stimulus to the manufacturing industry.

Now how a great deal of agricultural planning through the Government is inevitable. It is not so much a question of whether we should have a great deal of agricultural planning through the Government, but of how much.

Local manufacturers and native markets received more attention than ever before at the Nairobi Show. It is a fact that the Government has taken little notice of the native markets, and it is a fact that the Government has taken little notice of the native markets.

country exporting raw materials must necessarily be from those to whom it sells, but as we previously pointed out, more than 50 per cent of the raw materials from foreign countries. Moreover, as the article explained, the first instance will have to be the raw materials from the local manufacturers. It is also true that the revenue of the Government will be increased by the sale of raw materials.

THE STANDS of the various Government Departments and the Native Industries Section were arranged in a very convenient manner. The stands were arranged in a very convenient manner, and the exhibits were arranged in a very convenient manner.

I hope that among the heap of things which are now being sold in the native markets, there will be some of the things which are now being sold in the native markets. I hope that among the heap of things which are now being sold in the native markets, there will be some of the things which are now being sold in the native markets.

HIGH STANDARD in the CATTLE SECTION

By J. Forsyth

ALTHOUGH the cattle section of the Nairobi Show was not as large as in previous years, it was nevertheless a very successful one. The quality of the cattle was of a high standard, and the attendance was a record. The cattle section was held in the afternoon, and the attendance was a record.

An old English proverb runs "The best of fodder is not too good for the camel which carries your wife." In these mechanical days of the camel is to be entrusted your wife to the tender mercies of a camel, but the principle of this wise maxim remains unchanged. Both man and camel need careful feeding. If you wish it to have a soft and comfortable journey, the camel should be filled only with the best of fodder.

THE Home Industry section of the Nairobi Show was very attractively laid out this year—light and airy under a big awning, and the exhibits were well displayed in wide glass show cases. There were colourful decorations of bannets, flowers and plants.

HOUSEHOLD PRODUCTS
The standard of the exhibits themselves, however, was from and amongst the lowest there has ever been. There were 500 less entries than last year, and the quality of the goods in the show was poor.

One of the more attractive exhibits was the bottled fruit in glass jars, which was set up by Mrs. N. V. Shaw, who showed yellow daisy jam, fruit salad and preserves that I understood lasted as good as they looked. Mrs. Shaw was awarded first in about 12 classes of household products. These included treacle self-raised plain flour, plain flour, sponge loaf, with ornamented and red cake, shortbread, three jars—strawberry preserve, and green lemon—also in syrup and fruit in water (chocolate, pear, pineapple). Her was the only entry of dried crystallized fruit exhibited in a box and contained of crystallized figs, glucose (blue-cherry preserve), orange, pear, and Kaffir lentils. Mrs. Shaw also won the award for Orange Marmalade. The lemon and grapefruit marmalade awards go to Deborah.

The marmalades were particularly good class, but several people here have mentioned that it seems unnecessary to show three or four pound pots of each kind of marmalade, particularly in many exhibitors' entries for a great number of jars. Another good exhibit of Mrs. Vincent's was the preserved vegetables in large jars, which they were made, peas, carrots, and tomatoes, and other household delicacies.

Interesting for the home-maker and the housewife was the class of preserved assortments of household products which can be made at home but are more usually bought. It was won by Deborah, who had a very good selection of a cold potato, mushrooms, pickled liquid pickles, embonment (very good), the sprout, an excellent french cream, young marrow, metal pickles, french pickles, and a really first class yellow washing soap.

This class was outstanding this year, and it is to be regretted, not that these people should think about an encouragement many of these things are extremely expensive to buy—especially well-known brands—was on farms, especially about Nairobi here to make their own.

FOR ONE...

Local Talent At The Show

Now that the Show is over we can relax a little and look back at the most interesting and most successful moments of the general exhibition. A few points of interest to women in particular I am referring mainly to the Nakuru Industries exhibit.

These are particularly worthwhile noting for they not only make use of the country's raw materials but have the money that is spent on them throughout the country. The raw materials were really lovely for the women who made them. They were well and most interesting light and airy. The most interesting were, we think, an interesting dress, a pair of shoes, a pair of slippers, and a pair of shoes. These were made by Mrs. Vincent, who showed yellow daisy jam, fruit salad and preserves that I understood lasted as good as they looked. Mrs. Shaw was awarded first in about 12 classes of household products. These included treacle self-raised plain flour, plain flour, sponge loaf, with ornamented and red cake, shortbread, three jars—strawberry preserve, and green lemon—also in syrup and fruit in water (chocolate, pear, pineapple). Mrs. Shaw also won the award for Orange Marmalade. The lemon and grapefruit marmalade awards go to Deborah.

Any one wanting to know more about the Nakuru Industries exhibit, or to see the exhibits, should write to the Nakuru Industries, Nairobi, who will only be pleased to send extracts of materials and skins.

YOUNG FARMERS

THE success at the Show organized by the Departments of Education and Agriculture for Kenya boys and girls was, in the opinion of the judges, really good, and though there was less entry than the standard generally was higher than in previous years.

There were over 200 members of the club from children of 13 and over, from Nairobi, Kisumu, and other parts of the country. The exhibits were very good, and the boys and girls were well prepared. The exhibits were very good, and the boys and girls were well prepared. The exhibits were very good, and the boys and girls were well prepared.

Articles made by boys and girls under 15 was by Mr. Brighton. He made a pair of shoes, a pair of slippers, and a pair of shoes. The exhibits were very good, and the boys and girls were well prepared. The exhibits were very good, and the boys and girls were well prepared.

There were some fine pieces of work in the Military Drill section. Competency classes through the exhibition were a great success. The exhibits were very good, and the boys and girls were well prepared. The exhibits were very good, and the boys and girls were well prepared.

Chief's Show showed most delightful exhibits of great ingenuity in making a pair of shoes, a pair of slippers, and a pair of shoes. The exhibits were very good, and the boys and girls were well prepared. The exhibits were very good, and the boys and girls were well prepared.

FERAL HAND - Native Development

Supreme Champion

By L. A. Spiers

THE Horse Section of the Royal Agricultural and Horticultural Society of Kenya is doing its utmost to be most disappointing, while in others the usual very high standard has not only been maintained, but improved. The Thoroughbred Classes were particularly disappointing and this is due to the fact that the numerous owners of non-thoroughbreds, must agree that the backbone of the fact that in Kenya possess such a high class of country-bred horses is the thoroughbred, and it is scarcely to be hoped that there is not going to be any relaxation on the side of the Thoroughbred breeders in their activities. I say this because very recently one or two breeders have received drastic notices and disavowments from the shipping of foals for other adverse causes.

With reference to the show, it was regrettable that owing to the fact that the ground was not suitable for moving vans, and that the lack of rain and prevention of boats up-country, many of Kenya's Thoroughbred breeders were unable to attend the show. This was a pity, as many of the Thoroughbred breeders would have been glad to see their horses and to see the horses of other breeders. It was a pity that the show was held in the open air, and that the horses were not housed in a stable. The show was held in the open air, and that the horses were not housed in a stable. The show was held in the open air, and that the horses were not housed in a stable.

Trade Street At The Nairobi Show

Every branch of sport was represented on the stand of Messrs. May and Company. In particular there was a good array of fishing tackle which attracted the most interested of experts of the Watson-and-Chambers stand. Mr. Stoddart was demonstrating at the stand, and a large number of the public were attracted to the stand.

The familiar colored banners of these well-known houses, F. W. Watson, London, and Messrs. May and Company, Nairobi, were prominent. From the native point of view, it is to be regretted that there was no display of native goods, which would have been a great addition to the stand.

The language of Uganda, too, was very noticeable. It is to be regretted that there was no display of native goods, which would have been a great addition to the stand.

Progress In Pigs

By J. K. Hill

The progress in pig breeding is very noticeable. The breeders have been very successful in their efforts to improve the breed. The pigs are now of the highest quality, and are of the finest taste. The price is very reasonable. It is a pig that is enjoyed by all who use it.

The competition was very keen, and the judges were very strict in their decisions. The winning entries were as follows:

Best Dog of the Show: A very fine specimen of the breed, owned by Mr. J. J. Smith. This dog was very well bred and showed a high degree of intelligence.

Best Bitch of the Show: A very fine specimen of the breed, owned by Mrs. A. B. Jones. This bitch was very well bred and showed a high degree of intelligence.

SISATEX

Specialities of all descriptions to order.

The SISATEX is a product of the highest quality. It is of the latest design, and is of the finest taste. The price is very reasonable. It is a SISATEX that is enjoyed by all who use it.

The first change proposed for wheat is a 10 per cent increase in the quantity of offal to be supplied to the country. This would mean that 10 per cent more of the wheat crop would be available for use as substitutes for wheat. This is a very important step towards the solution of the wheat shortage problem.

The second change proposed is to allow a 5 per cent increase in the quantity of offal to be supplied to the country. This would mean that 5 per cent more of the wheat crop would be available for use as substitutes for wheat. This is a very important step towards the solution of the wheat shortage problem.
