Supersonic flight havoc forecast

THE shock waves created when planes are able to travel faster than sound in level flight will have grave consequences, according to Mr. A. H. Yule, senior lecturer in aerodynamics at the Cranfield (Hants) College of Aeronautics.

Following a statement, by the headmaster of the Cranfield College of Aeronautics, Mr. A. H. Yule, senior lecturer in aerodynamics at the Cranfield (Hants) College of Aeronautics, said that "there is no doubt in my mind that the problem of the supersonic flow of air will be probably in for some rather long years. As he has written to The Times pointing out that aircraft of the present type do not operate only in dives at high altitudes.

As the aircraft usually slow down to subsonic speeds, at which the shock waves are formed, before getting within three miles of our ears, the bang heard is not so much a shock.

Within a few years, however, some of these aircraft will be capable of sustained level flight at supersonic speeds. The speed of sound is 760 m.p.h. at sea level, but it decreases to 500 m.p.h. at 10,000 ft. The supersonic aircraft will have to operate at these heights.

Pressure rise

Calculations of the pressure rise caused by a shock' wave from an aircraft flying supersonically 1,000 feet above ground show a sudden change in the pressure one square foot above the shock wave has become 1.4 times the normal value.

"It is clear," he concludes, "that supersonic flying can be permitted only over the water at great heights, and that any action which would require flying near to the ground is a very real danger."

LYTTELTON TO STEP UP BATTLE

Announcement after talks with European members

THE Colonial Secretary, Mr. Oliver Lyttelton, who flew back to London this evening in a "quite determined" mood to the tempo of the battle against Mr. Mas and to the support of the Emergency Government, speaking on behalf of Mr. Michael Blundell, the Mas and his Chairman of the European Peoples' Organisation, made this statement last night.

It followed talks which the European Members had with Mr. Lyttelton at Government House early in the day. The talks went on for 90 minutes.

Measures designed to speed the end of the Emergency in Kenya were discussed. These included the relationship between the Colonial Office and the Government of Kenya.

The quenching of the process of the Emergency and the manpower situation in Kenya were also discussed. Mr. Lyttelton was obviously very sympathetic to the views of the European Members.

Mr. Lyttelton was also urged to consider the African situation in Kenya and to deal with the views of the African Members. He promised to do so.

It was pointed out that the African Members had expressed their views on the Emergency and the African Union. Mr. Lyttelton promised to deal with these views.

EGYPT STATES HER TERMS

No more talks unless Britain agrees to quit Canal Zone

MAJOR SALEM SAHLEH, a member of Egypt's Revolutionary Council, declared yesterday: "We will not sit with the British at a conference table again unless they accept our demand for immediate and unconditional evacuation of Egyptian territory." Major Salem, who helped negotiate the Anglo-Egyptian agreement on the Sudan earlier this year, told the Cairo weekly Rose El Youssaf that the exact position of the Egyptian Government is that we have suspended our meetings with British officials.

The Major added: "The British are moving their base in the Canal Zone to any place on the borders of the earth and we are prepared to help them to do it."

"They may also leave it if they like but it must be 100 per cent Egyptian and we must have complete sovereignty over the Canal Zone."

"For the past six months we have been in a state of preparation to meet any emergency which may arise in the Canal Zone."

"We shall enter into talks with the British only after the evacuation of the Canal Zone. We are in a state of readiness to meet any emergency which may arise in the Canal Zone."

They worked by night for a London exhibition

By Vicki Hvas

I HAVE recently met two artists, both with European reputations, newly arrived in East Africa. They are Fay Pearce and Robin Pearce, who with their daughter, Ann, are at Clover—surely one of the most travelled cats in the world since before coming to East Africa via the Red Sea in August. He had been all round the U.K. as a caravanist—and Robin their dog, the first Afghan Hound believed to have come here.

They have both lived eventful lives and do not strike one as conforming to the usual artistic life. They were to the credit of a small exhibition at the London and Galleries, London and Galleries, Canada House, Palace corner of Great Britain, official lecturer to the Festival of Britain Exhibition in London.

Mr. Pearce returned for the time being an exhibition in France under the auspices of UNESCO, in order to accompany his husband to country life. He and his wife, together with their children, have been exhibiting at the Festival of Britain and at the London and Galleries, which followed their joint show at the Leicester Galleries, London.

Mr. Pearce's work is very well known in the National Children's Home in London. He has a book and pamphlet on the subject of the children of the street, which he has written for the United Nations. He is also a member of the International Council of the Arts, and has been invited to give lectures in various parts of the world.

The Mainly-For-Women Page SILKEN MEMENTOES

By Jane Irving

It is inevitable that I should be asked to write you my opinion on the subject of the 'mainly-for-women' page. I have no doubt that you will be interested to hear what I have to say on this subject. I have no doubt that you will be interested to hear what I have to say on this subject.

A choice of six... In a Nairobi dress shop I found that the women who were most interested in the new styles were those who were most interested in the new styles.

THE basis of good dress sense in the fifties is to aim at looking like a teenager. Think of the styles which were worn in the thirties and forties. They were simple, clean, and functional.

By Judith Simons... Colour sense... It is difficult in the transitional stage between the thirties and forties to find a style which is both modern and functional.

Fay and Ann Pearce

ROBERTSON PROTECTED METAL

A quality zinc-plated roofing designed for long life

DURABLE • CORROSION RESISTING
STRONG BUT LIGHT • EASY TO CUT
SUPPORT AND FIX • FLEXIBLE PRE-FABRICATED • NON-ABSORBENT • QUITE CONDENSATION RESISTING FIRE RESISTING • IMPERVIOUS TO ALL CLIMATIC CONDITIONS

ROBERTSON PROTECTED METAL is a steel sheet fully coated by three alternate waterproof layers of bitumen and asbestos felt. It is the ideal covering for permanent buildings large or small. Can be supplied in Aluminium/Black or Black both sides.

Economy of R.P.M.
When the whole cost of a roof, including fastenings, paint, labour and maintenance is taken into consideration, the difference in cost between an R.P.M. roof and one of less durable material is not great while the difference in service is out of all proportion. R.P.M. does not require painting. Its corrosion resistance is unsurpassed and its insulating value higher than other forms of corrugated roofing materials.

'TYKES' MAKE A POOR START

Only 4 points from first two games

The 23-24 favourites, Yorkshire, have not made a very auspicious start to the championship cricket season, having gained only four points from their first two matches. They miss their England pace bowler, Freddy Trueman, who is still in the National Service and has only been able to help his county in a very limited way so far this season.

Yorkshire, scoring at a rate more than 40 runs on the second day, were held at Leeds against Lancashire, but might have scored a victory had they not been over-run by the visitors. However, it was not until the second day that the Yorkshire batsmen were able to put in their 21 runs.

Also bowed

Stain also rebuffed champions of the county to strengthen their lead at the top of the table. Having won their first two matches in the British side, they will place against Derbyshire, who have heavy rain on the Cheshirefield ground.

The Yorkshire batsmen were held at 28 points from three games. In the first game, they were chased by Middlesex, who are two points behind after taking first innings wickets from Essex in an exciting match at Westgate. Lancashire jumped into third place with 24 points when they whipped Kent off its stumps and their second win in three games. C. S. Smith, 29-over test senior fast bowler on leave from the Army, snatched three overs of saving the game when in an explosive spell of three overs, he took three wickets for two runs. Smith finished with match figures of eight wickets for 27.

Held five catches

Lancashire's wicket-keeper, Frank Parr, had five catches in the Kent's second innings, and claimed seven wickets in the match.

Middlesex made a great bid to take the championship away from Essex. Against Essex they would only 12 runs but they were held by the pair together. In the quarter hours, they were for the first time in 77 minutes, bringing his match total to 223 runs. After he left the Essex attack and with success against batsmen trying to face the pace. Hampshire gained a comfortable nine wickets victory over Lancashire to share third place with Lancashire.

Latest results

Latest results, the Cambridge and Oxford, the Berkshire and the Hampshire, were played on Tuesday, and the Middlesex and Lancashire, on Wednesday.

New company to run CDC Tanganyika mine

NEW CONSOLIDATED TANGANYIKA MINES, LTD., is to have technical control of the Kinabakari gold mines in the Tanganyika district, on which the Colonial Development Corporation has spent £25,700 in investigations in the past two years. This is revealed in the Corporation's annual report, which says a new company, Tanganyika Mining Company, is to be registered, with the C.D.C. and the company as equal partners.

A new exploration programme will be undertaken by the new company, with the object of establishing a reserve of five million tons of payable ore.

The 33 planned drillings completed to date in 1951 are estimated at one million tons, yielding 4.1 dwt. per ton. Payable mineralisation has been established at 500 ft. below the surface.

Useful notes

Promising leads are said to have been disclosed by the Corporation's £100,000 investigations in the Tanganyika mines, in the north Kilimanjaro district.

The ore reserves stand at 210,000 tons, but the report says that an accurate valuation is difficult to assess due to the presence of payable copper. The outlook on the whole is described as promising.

Mineralisation detected with outside interests with a view to participation.

Where we lead
—prosperity follows

In the last 10 years the Railways have handled a traffic increase of over 100%.

A vital contribution to this tremendous expansion has been made by powerful new types of articulated locomotive, specially designed to haul longer trains and heavier loads on light rails.

Latest of these Bayer Garratt locomotives is the '56' class, the most advanced of their type in the world.

Six of these fine locomotives are already in service and 29 more are on order, together with 34 of the new and even more powerful '59' Class now being developed. But they are only part of £25 million worth of railway equipment still to be delivered, including 146 mainline and 37 shunting locomotives, and 3368 units of rolling stock.

How the coronation story will be told to the world

—On One Day—

THE QUEEN ON Coronation Day will be the centre of one of the century's great news events. For just over five hours from the moment she appears for her drive to the Abbey till her last handshake on the balcony of Buckingham Palace, those minutes will belong to the millions. It will be an unforgettable moment in history, not likely to occur again for many years.

It is vital that the news will be made of this historic moment of colourful pageantry. For wherever they are. English-speaking people will want to have a part in it—by seeing, hearing or by reading.

For those who are unable to be there, the only way to see the Queen as she accepts the homage of the nation will be made of this historic moment of colourful pageantry. For wherever they are. English-speaking people will want to have a part in it—by seeing, hearing or by reading.

Torrent of words

It will be done on a scale never attempted. Out from the studios will come a torrent of words, written and spoken, that will be heard by four corners of the earth.

Week-long rush

On the streets, they will be responsible for controlling access of microphones and cameras to the working word.

B.B.C.'s task

Still little sign of rain, says fore- for Kenya

THE lack of high pressure which has persisted over Tanganyika and southern Kenya during the past week is likely to break down early in the period, but may be re-established by the end of the period. This will result in rather cloudy conditions over Kenya with occasional showers in the Highlands. Showers will only be very scattered in the East of Rift Area. On the Coast of Kenya there will be long fair periods with occasional showers.

Insurance not gambling: new Zanzibar Bill

THE Zanzibar Government has introduced a Bill providing for the compulsory insurance of motor vehicles against third party risks. The Bill is to be introduced in Zanzibar and introduced into the Tanganyika Parliament. It is intended to bring it into operation on January 1, 1954. It will be recalled that when the Road Traffic Bill was under consideration, exception was taken to the provision for compulsory motor insurance on the ground that it was gambling. Although the Government did not accept the contention that the Government was gambling, it agreed to defer the part of the Bill dealing with third party risks in order to investigate the objections raised. This has now been done, and the Government is satisfied that there are no valid objections on the grounds mentioned. Compulsory third party insurance is already the law in leading Middle Eastern countries, such as Pakistan.

This Week JOHN CHERRY Brings You The Story Of Some VERY IMPORTANT PEOPLE

THIS is a story of Very Important People and from a few days ago, if you look at the picture, you don't need to be a mind reader to guess whom and of what I am writing. Eileen and Kenya European Hospital Elizabeth Hospital for Women.

Since the incident reported at the meeting of the Kenya European Hospital on May 22nd, 1953, there have been 12 more twin-born sets in 1953, and 10 in 1952. There have been 12 more twin-born sets in 1953, and 10 in 1952.

sets in 1952 and one set for the year. Now, of the babies born so far this period have been reported as being twins. This is a Maltese 'Baptist' when the photographer first thing he did was to baptize him and call him 'John'. 'John's' small like a boy, but he is a girl.

His remark was unoriginal because exactly what Eileen and John, she visited the hospital in 1952.

It is at the hospital, the speaker's questions and the freer questions of the staff which give you the account you are reading.

BUT let us go on to the top born and before we go into the details of the story, there are a few things which you should know. The father of eight is a doctor, who normally works in the medical profession. And many of his patients are people who have gone through it all before.

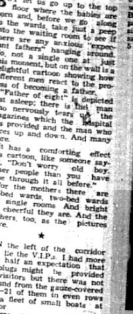

For the mothers there are six or seven more and their names are not given. And the father of eight is a doctor, who normally works in the medical profession. And many of his patients are people who have gone through it all before.

ONE baby recently spent 48 hours in the life-saving room. When she was born she weighed only 3 lb. and after three days she was down to only 2 lb. 11 oz. The patient was in the ward and the father of eight is a doctor, who normally works in the medical profession. And many of his patients are people who have gone through it all before.

On the left of the corridor is the V.I.P. I had more than half an expectation that for a visitor that was not a nurse from the ambulance like a fleet of small twin-born sets.

There was a reason, of course, for the normality of the situation.

in hospitals. It is a check-up like that—at the Princess Elizabeth Hospital—the mother stays in the hospital for ten hours a day. It is all done, check-up, and the best doctors of life of all those who work in hospitals.

The Photo Studio photographer, who took the pictures, had more fun than the writer. In the waiting room he found the anxious father pictured below.

Waste and musical notes. A dead lanky slip piano replaced on every "center" Men, we were ready to Mrs. Chamberling and I played backyard at the depot, just to ease.

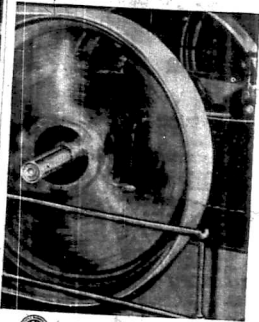

Fine response

STARVED of entertainment except for footballs over a week the troops responded enthusiastically to the show — and especially to Yvonne who could not have been more popular had she been a lassie from Lancashire. "You man" was encouraged by his pals to sing "Goodnight, Sweetheart" with Yvonne. As he brightly cheered his throat for a moment, rendering the thought a big laugh by singing "Goodnight, Sweetheart," I can see you enjoying.

There were sentimental moments when John Chamberling's old favorites which no doubt brought thoughts of home and friends and sweethearts to the men but it was with a hearty sing-song with top of last, while that the concert ended. And there was a rousing "Three Cheers" for the British.

Below we left on the long road home the Regimental Sergeant Major played host at a luncheon on his table. "But when I get back I'm ready to go anywhere and sing to the troops," he told me.

It's my guess she'll soon have a new title — "Kitty Furber Sweetheart."

THE QUEEN'S HOME LIFE

This is the third and final article of those specially commissioned from ROGER FULFORD, one of the best-known and most authoritative writers on the history of British Royalty.

ANYONE with imagination looking ahead to the life which faces a sovereign in the modern world can only do so with a feeling of trepidation at the task Queen Victoria, who had exactly what she thought in simple words, described her home life as "any much disliked that the only thing which made it tolerable was the happiness of her home life."

The same could with justification be said for the three Shers who were on the throne in 1901—thanks to her father, she had enjoyed a natural and normal upbringing in a family different from that of many of the royal women. But this freedom in her life with the Queen Victoria used to be a complete contrast to the life of the Queen Elizabeth II, who was crowned in 1952. Although in some ways more free, she was not free to pursue the life of a "royal" as they were called, in a distinct way.

The back way

THIS conception of Royalty as something apart from a normal life is an outgrowth of the upbringing which Queen Victoria received. Her "first knowledge" when she was only a child, was that she was to play with the children of her parents, but she was not to be seen in public. Her seven children were brought up in a family of a very different kind from that of the royal women of today. It is not easy and the following is a very small sample of what she was like.

Her marriage

THE question of the Queen's marriage was of course a matter of great importance to the public. It had been decided from the start that she was to marry a prince of the Royal House of Saxe-Coburg and Gotha. The marriage was a happy one, and the Queen and Prince Albert were very much in love.

At a moment when her grandfather, Queen Mary and the war had just broken out, she was waiting for her husband to be called up. She was a young girl, and she was very much in love with him. She was very much in love with him, and she was very much in love with him.

The children

PHILIP's experiences have naturally not been without their influence on the life of the Queen. She has had to face the same problems as her father, and she has had to face the same problems as her father. She has had to face the same problems as her father, and she has had to face the same problems as her father.
